CITY AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, a petition of Jos. H. Thacher and others, asking that Bridge street be graded and repaired with crushed stone and gravel, and that the sidewalks on said street be raised to their proper grade, was accepted and adopted. Conductor Charles Wyatt of the Concord Railroad appeared before the Board and advocated the repairs, stating that in the Spring and Fall of the year he had seen the water ankle deep on it.

Petition of E. G. Peirce, Jr., and others, asking that the bill in relation to the licensing and governing of hacks, etc., be taken from the table and passed, was read, and the bill was taken from the table and referred to a special committee consisting of the Mayor and Ald. Sides and Norton, to report.

Report of the Mayor on the claim of Wm. H. Grant was taken up and considered, and the recommendation of the report was adopted.

Petition of J. D. Goodrich, administrator, for leave to construct a drain, was referred to the committee on drains, with power.

F. W. Miller's proposition to sell stone to the city was referred to the committee on streets with power.

Subject of building a shed for carts at the city farm, was referred to the committee on city lands and buildings, to report at next meeting.

Ald. Betton and Norton were appointed a committee to confer with the Eastern Railroad Company relative to the Ham house at the Creek.

Communication of J. K. A. Hanson in relation to wells, was referred.

The resolution reported by the committee on streets, for raising the grade of Vaughan street, was taken up and an amendment was offered by Alderman Yeaton, striking out the words "at least one foot deep" and inserting the words "to proper grade." The amendment was voted down and a motion to commit to the committee on streets to ascertain the best kind of paving and report at next meeting, was carried, after which the meeting adjourned.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, July 6th.

Mary Sullivan, a young woman from somewhere out of town, was brought up, charged with having been drunk and otherwise misbehaving in the yard of the High School on Thursday. She was fined $3, costs $6.90.

JOTTINGS.

Prof. E. C. T. Krauss to-day takes possession of the premises at Miss Morgan's seminary, preparatory to opening his German Conversational School next Wednesday.

Mrs. Frances Preston Blair, widow of the late Francis P. Blair, and a daughter of the late Hon. Levi Woodbury, died suddenly at the family mansion near Silver Spring, Maryland, at two o'clock Thursday morning. She was out riding on horseback on Wednesday.

The contract for the brick work of the new opera house has been awarded to Andrew J. Locke & Co., of this city, and the walls have already commenced to go up. Mr. Locke also did the stone work for the foundations of the building. The future patrons of the house will have no cause ever to fear its walls tumbling down or its foundations giving way, for Mr. Locke is not only a careful and conscientious workman but a master of his business.

They say there was a gay old time down to Portsmouth yesterday. Lots of fellows got balmy and didn't know their head from their heels and couldn't get along worth a rod either end up and finally got stowed away in the Station House down there. Among that neat and hilarious lot was that distinguised high Special Policeman Sir James Howard of Dover. The immortal Jim had a real good time, and now he means to get square by locking up under ground the first Portsmouth policeman he ever catches in Dover. So those Strawberry Bank fellows had better look out for the redoubtable James, if they ever come this way.—Dover Democrat, 5th.

Mr. Seymour W. Tullock, of this city, a recent graduate of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, N. Y., is employed in Arkansas as Assistant Engineer to the United States Hot Springs Commission, of which Ex-Senator Cragin of this State is chairman. Mr. Tullock has also been offered the position of Assistant in Engineering at the University of Wisconsin, located at Madison, and has accepted. He will enter that institution at the ensuing Fall term.

The Concord correspondent of the Manchester Mirror writes that paper describing the members of the Senate, and thus alludes to Hon. Marcellus Eldredge: "Mr. Eldredge, the democratic Senator from Portsmouth, is a brewer who has had too much business on his hands to take much part in politics, for which he has no great relish. He was nominated last spring because it was thought he was the only man who could beat the republican candidate. He is a genial, shrewd business man, something after the Frank Jones pattern, and, if the First Congressional District don't turn from the error of their ways, is liable to take Frank's seat in Washington before many years."

The following item appeared in the telegraphic news from Europe, Friday: "Referring to the statement that the Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Light Artillery has accepted the invitation of the Mayor of Portsmouth, England, to visit that city and partake of its hospitality, the Mayor says that he knows nothing about any invitation to Portsmouth, N. H., volunteers." The records of the company show that on September 29th, 1876, at a meeting of the company, "Captain Marvin, [then commander of the company] read an invitation from Mayor Kent of Portsmouth, England, inviting his command to visit that city, which was accepted, and it was ordered that the clerk publish the proceedings of the meeting in the Journal, and that copies of the same be forwarded to Mayor Kent." The explanation probably is that the gentleman who was Mayor of Portsmouth, England, last September, and who sent to Capt. Marvin the pictures of that city and its harbor now in the City Rooms, is not now the Mayor; but this will have nothing to do with preventing the command making the proposed excursion.

We are pleased to announce that Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, of Kittery, were not drowned after all, but were met near the mouth of the harbor by the relief boat under command of Boatswain McCaffery, Thursday evening, the "missing" couple being engaged in quietly paddling homeward with their catch of lobsters, happily oblivious of the anxious sensation occasioned by their absence. It seems they did not start out on the afternoon of the 4th, as was supposed, but waited until next morning, and then had a very pleasant day's excursion.

The American House, Boston, has waterfonts in every chamber, and we believe there is not a dark room in the Hotel. That's what travellers want this time of year — fresh air and plenty of running water!

The officers attached to this naval station, with ladies and invited guests, had a clam-bake at Dover Point on Friday, and it was pronounced by all present—including several connoisseurs in clam-bakes—to be one of the best they had assisted at for years. [Providence Journal will please stop "blowing" about Rhode Island clam-bakes.] There were about eighty persons present; music and dancing helped to make the time pass agreeably, and all participating proclaimed the affair a perfect success. Commander Erben and Paymaster Guild arranged and carried it out in all its details.

Andrew J. Roberts, Jr., stole a horse last April in Raymond and sold him in Haverhill, Mass. The horse was found soon after, but the thief escaped arrest until Thursday evening, when he was found in a house near his home, having arrived there that day. Deputy Sheriff Shepard brought him to this city Friday, and lodged him in jail to await the action of the grand jury. After stealing the horse he enlisted on the school-ship Saratoga, to which he now belongs.

The Catholic society are to have a picnic next Wednesday at Pinkham's Grove, near Dover Point. The Reform Club are to have a picnic at the same place about the 26th of July.

New Hampshire Items.

A building that was being removed, at Keene, fell over Friday forenoon, and buried three workmen. Henry Eames was killed, and A. O. Brown and Henry Lowlar probably fatally wounded.

The barn of John Foster, in Merrimack, was struck by lightning on Sunday evening, killing a cow and ten sheep. The barn was not set on fire.

A girl in Manchester, who had stolen a watch chain, swallowed it when she saw the police after her.

Ira Moore, Gilman Moore, Treat Potter and Samuel J. Hayes, well-known sportsmen of Manchester, were out hunting woodcock Thursday, when Gilman Moore got in range of Hayes' gun and received a full charge of shot in various parts of the body. Being some distance away he escaped fatal injuries.

William O. Averill, son of Albert Averill of Exeter, met with a fatal accident on Wednesday of last week, while on a visit to his grandparents in Orland, Me. He was assisting another boy in carrying sawdust upon some kind of rigging which they carried upon their shoulders, when he lost his balance and fell, the frame striking him on the head, tearing off two-thirds of the scalp. He died on Thursday at the age of fifteen years.

On the night of the 3d, as L. J. Tebbetts of Manchester was going across Merrimack Common on his way home, he was accosted by three men, strangers, who asked him for a smoke. A few words ensued, and with an oath one of the men, assisted by his companions, caught hold of Tebbetts and threw him head first into the pond. As soon as he could emerge from the unwelcome bath he drew his knife, and the men coming for him a second time, he stabbed one of them about the stomach and then fled. Tebbetts had thirty-five dollars about him, which he thinks the men were endeavoring to get hold of. The police, on going to the spot, found a rope made into a slip-noose, which it is supposed the men intended to tie about Tebbetts when they threw him into the water, but the struggle being sharper than they had anticipated, it could not be brought into use.

A Hinsdale farmer recently set out over 3000 tobacco plants, and in less than three days cut worms had destroyed all but a single plant. A like number was set out again and again with similar results. The fourth setting is now ready for the insatiable destroyers.

While Superintendent Ray of the State Reform School was giving meritorious inmates a ride Wednesday, a few unruly boys, who were left behind, made a desperate assault upon the overseer, disarming him of his revolver and keys, and made a bold strike for liberty. Several doors were opened and the boys gained the railroad track. All have been recaptured, excepting a desperate youth named Early.

Political.

The Louisiana bull-dozers, having conciliated all the republicans out of the State government and the courts, and filled their places with reliable democrats, now propose to show the republicans (what indeed they have long known) that a murder committed by a democrat is a less crime than the voting by a republican of his party ticket. Ex-Gov. Wells and Gen. Anderson have been arrested for perjury and forgery, and other prominent republicans are "to be taught their place" by the unhung assassins of Colfax and Feliciana. It is announced that "Gov." Nicholls protests against this flagrant violation of democratic pledges, and announces that he will instantly pardon any one convicted under such circumstances,—from which it would almost seem the man must have actually thought there was some dependence to be placed on democratic promises. If he did think so it shows he knows nothing about his own party.

There is a howl all along the civil service line for the removal of Jim Wilson, one of the Government directors of the Union Pacific, because he was conspicuous in the late convention in Iowa, which refused to endorse Hayes. Why is all this wrath centered on a man whose official duties do not demand his daily attention, and nothing is said about Secretary of War McCrary, who left his post at Washington and went to Iowa in order to secure the indorsement of Hayes, or at all events to prevent hostile action? According to the new civil service rules it is McCrary who needs disciplining. Is it possible that the "independent press" discriminates?—New Haven Union (dem.)

It is better to have been a Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives than to have dwelt in the tents of Tammany. Fitzhugh, he of the effusive but misspelled letter, resresenting himself as a "biger man than old Grant" at Washington, has secrets in his possession, and with them he can make Congressmen tremble. One of them has leaked out, and it reveals Sam. Cox in a light that is not far from ridiculous. Fitzhugh says that once upon a time Mr. Ely wished to obtain from the Doorkeeper an appointment for a friend of John Kelly, the big chief of Tammany. Cox, hearing of it, sent a letter to the Doorkeeper to copy and send back to him addressed "My Dear Sammy Cox," and signed "Fitzhugh," expressing great pleasure at the opportunity of serving his friend Mr. Cox, by doing a favor at his request for Mr. Kelly. Cox having got this letter, used it as to him seemed good to advance himself in favor with the great men of Tammany, but Fitzhugh receiving a grateful response from Kelly himself, thought he smelt the pilfering rodent and declared that this was not right, as the appointment had been made at the request of Mr. Ely. He was finally persuaded not to write to Kelly about it, but he lets the story out now because it is so good he can't hold it any longer.

How to Choose Pictures for Rooms.

Most people know that light colors make rooms look larger than dark ones, though it is probable that few can entirely realize the wonderful difference between them until they have seen walls painted dark or the reverse. A light picture by the same law makes a room look larger, and a picture darker than the wall it is hung upon will reduce the size of the room, unless the lightness of the frame is sufficient to compensate for the difference. Perhaps the present decided taste for light pictures is partly due to this. A rule in the arrangement of interiors may be deduced from these observations, which is, that when a room is smaller than we should like it to be, we ought to hang very light pictures in it, and when it is uncomfortably large we should reduce it with dark ones. But there are other things to be considered. Pictures which represent narrow interiors do not enlarge rooms much, because they convey a feeling of confinement; but landscapes with vast distances enlarge rooms immensely. In engravings and water-colors the margin has an important effect. The whiteness of it may be ample compensation for the darkness of the print itself.—Hamerton.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of humanity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative no could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trving climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago indvised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Wishes had him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling about in hopes of finding relief, but suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. Some told me I never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have given applications to speak for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel. Sulphur Springs, Hopkins County, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1874.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

—o—

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

—o—

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH,
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

THE citizens of Portsmouth are respectfully informed that any person can obtain permission to set out one or more Trees in the Park, on application either to a member of the Board, or to Mr. GEORGE E. SMART, Keeper, at No. 2 Mt. Vernon St. Or any citizen, or Son of Portsmouth resident elsewhere, may have a Tree set in his name of such variety as he may indicate, by sending $5, or any larger sum he may feel disposed, to the Treasurer or any member of the Board—as has already been done by many, and their names and trees placed upon the roll.

☞ Trees which are dead may be replaced by others in the same positions, by the same parties who planted the first.

The funds which were placed in the hands of Trustees by citizens and others have been entirely expended in the improvements thus far made in the Park. They, therefore, would hereby inform all interested that they are ready to expend in further adornments and improvements of the grounds, such sums as may be donated for the purpose; and contributions of any amount are hereby solicited to be sent at any time to the Treasurer or either of the other Trustees.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

—A righteous Louisiana Judge, in a horse case, ruled out both plaintiff and defendant and decided that the animal belonged to one of the witnesses.

—He said he hadn't been in swimming. He had on the Brown boy's shirt, but he accounted for that by saying that he and the Brown boy had been wrestling and it was likely the garments got changed that way.

—To be able to sample the length you will have your hair cut is a good thing. One of our barbers has the hair of his assistants cut different lengths and it is only necessary to point out which length is wanted, and trust to the honor of the hair cutter.—Ex.

—A man has been questioning his son, who has just returned from an expensive school, and says the boy answers four questions out of five correctly in every branch of his studies. To four questions out of the five, the boy says, "I don't know," and the answer is always a true one. When he hazards any other, it is apt to be wrong.

—A fond parent who bought a cow for his summer residence in anticipation of the delight that the product would cause his little daughter, was somewhat chagrined when Miss Pert, looking upon a pan of nectar, exclaimed: "Oh, the horrid yellow scum. It isn't half so good as the nice blue milk we get in Boston."

—A young man sat down and wrote on the back of two postal cards, and then turned them over and carelessly addressed them. The result was that a short carpenter received an invitation to go to ride and visit some parties in the country, and his young lady received an order for "samples of the stuff your shirts are made of."

—It is one of the odd phases of the labor question in St. Charles parish, Louisiana, that the freedmen object to working under overseers who carry umbrellas to keep off the sun, after the fashion of the overseers in slavery times. The freedmen either consider the umbrella a mark of degradation, or have a superstitious belief that it foretbodes their return to slavery, and their employers have to respect their wishes.

—The name of the terrible "Mollie Maguires" comes from Ireland. Some fifty years or more ago a poor old woman in Ireland had her cottage pulled down over her by her landlord. Her name was Mollie Maguire, and she died of grief and exposure. Thereupon her sons and some neighbor lads formed and took fierce revenge on Irish landlords in general. The band spread rapidly, and they called themselves the "Mollie Maguires," and Irish coal miners brought the name to America.

—Packard does not appear to interview readily, though he is the soul of courtesy. A Chicago reporter assailed him at night, and his card and pressing request for an interview received the following reply: "Say to the gentleman who sends this card, my sable brother, that I am at present in bed and very soundly asleep, and have been for some time; shall be so for an indefinite period, with a copy of his valuable and interesting newspaper under my pillow. Au revoir."

—Gen. Sickles' daughter Laura has only lately heard of the blot on her mother's name, and the poor girl has taken it so much to heart that she has entered a French convent, where she is now expiating her mother's sin. Laura was a mere child at the time of the tragedy, and never knew of her mother's disgrace. She was carefully educated, and when her father was appointed Minister at Madrid, Laura went with him and did the honors of her father's house. She is a very lovely woman, almost the image of her mother. Gen. Sickles married a Spanish lady at Madrid. Afterward his daughter went to Paris, where she for the first time accidentally learned of her mother's disgrace.

—"Oh, why was I born?" said he; "why did they yank me by the hair out of eternal nothingness into concrete existence, to buffet the storms of this rude world with no postponement on account of the weather? What, then, is this problem of human destiny with which Science has impotently wrestled for so many centuries?" But she told him, all the same, that there was no base ball for him that afternoon; and if he didn't get the kindling split before his father came home, there'd be some wrestling that would make Science open her eyes when she struck that woodshed.

—Australians, it appears, never saw a post-hole digger until it was placed on exhibition in the American department at Sydney, nor a scuffle-hoe, nor yet a corn-sheller. That is not strange, perhaps, for the people of Vienna never saw a watering-pot with more than one sprinkling hole in it until Jackson S. Schultz showed a workman how to make one at the exhibition of 1873, nor had they seen a hundred of the little familiar household inventions so convenient and in such general use in this country. At all the world's fairs, no objects excite such wonder and attract so much attention as the innumerable variety of small Yankee notions which have sprung from the fertile brains of our people. One can in an hour's time collect scores of small things which no one can do without in America, and yet which are almost unknown in Europe, and if known, for which there would be a lively demand. In future world's fairs don't neglect the Yankee notions.

MONDAY, JULY 9, 1877.

"Water, Water, Everywhere."

Charley Gaffney of Rochester, who seems to have wrested from Ruel Durkee the sceptre of the lobby at Concord, has succeeded in bull-dozing the Legislature, including the retained lawyers of the Amoskeag Co. on the banks of the Merrimack, into passing a child-like and bland measure which taps the supply of the Lake Company and invites the waters of Merrymeeting Bay to flow towards the Cocheco, by means of a legislative enactment quietly put through the General Court while the vigilant retainers of the Manchester Corporations slept on their arms.

The result is, the supply that was intended to turn the wheels at Manchester, Nashua, Lowell and Lawrence, will now flow down the Cocheco and seek the bosom of the ocean at the mouth of the Piscataqua, instead of passing the bar at the Merrimac. The corporations on the Merrimac are considerably exercised at this coup d' etat, and will seek to have the Legislature do something for them this week. Failing in this they will try the Courts and show that irreparable injury will follow, ask injunctions, orders, decrees, decisions and determinations without number, while the legal profession will vote Gaffney a service of plate as the best friend of the profession in New Hampshire.

A Maryland "Blue Law."

A correspondent at Washington writes us as follows: Recently the District Commissioners solicited proposals for the publication of the delinquent tax list. The Sunday Herald was the lowest bidder. Its competitors at once raised the issue that it being published exclusively on Sunday, the work could not be legally given to it. Finally the matter was referred to the United States Solicitor General. He decided against the Sunday paper, basing his decision on an antiquated Maryland law, enacted in 1723, "in the ninth year of the Right Honorable Charles, Absolute Lord and Proprietor of the Provinces of Maryland and Avalon, Lord of Baltimore." It is entitled "An act to punish blasphemers, swearers, drunkards and Sabbath-breakers," and among its penalties are the following: "If any person is found guilty, wittingly, maliciously, and advisedly, of blaspheming or cursing God or of denying our Savior Jesus Christ to be the Son of God, or shall deny the Holy Trinity, the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, or the Godhead of any of the three persons, or the unity of the Godhead, or shall utter any profane words concerning the Holy Trinity or any person thereof, either by verdict or confession, shall for the first offense, be bored through the tongue, and forfeit £20 sterling; for the second offense, be branded with the letter B, burned in the forehead, and forfeit £40 sterling; and for the third offense shall suffer death without benefit of clergy." It appears that this barbarous enactment is still in force in this District, or at least has never been repealed. Its rigid enforcement would mutilate half the tongues in the District, and the other half of the people would go about marked in the forehead like Cain, or like the President after having been partially cremated after the plan advocated by Professor Dana of the New York Sun; and it is safe to predict that through the fines incurred we could entirely discharge the national indebtedness in one decade.

Captain Howgate's Expedition.

The invitation of Captain Howgate to the merchants in the large cities of the United States, to assist pecuniarily in his polar explorations, has been responded to very liberally. The contributions have been so generous that he has been able to procure the vessel necessary to the inaugural movein his endeavor. This vessel is the Florence, and she will sail on the 20th of this month from New London, where she is now being thoroughly fitted out for her voyage. The officer who has been selected to command her is Captain Tyson, of the merchant marine, whose experience and ability peculiarly qualify him for his important position. He was navigator of the Polaris, and has been on several polar expeditions. Captain Howgate deserves great credit for his indefatigable energy, and it is hoped that Congress will aid him in his laudable enterprise.

Concord Correspondence.

CONCORD, July 6.

The House yesterday spent most of its time in speech making upon important legislative bills, and more hours were spent in work than has been any day this season thus far. House bills 41, 44, 46, 47, and 51 were passed; No. 19 was laid upon the table; No. 21 referred to the special committee on Constitutional amendments; No. 43 indefinitely postponed; and joint resolution No. 1 referred to committee on education.

The second matter called up in the morning was House bill No. 41, relating to the encouragement of the destruction of noxious birds and animals. This is the same bill which was passed last year almost unanimously in the House but was defeated in the Senate. It favors the destruction of the fox, hawk, and crow. Mr. Colony of Keene moved it be put back upon its second reading so that he could make an amendment. Then followed a discussion which lasted until nearly one o'clock. Mr. Colony's motion was debated by Messrs. Colony, Whitcher, Barton, Sanborn, Brown and others. A division was called for, and it resulted in eighty-five in the affirmative, and 101 in the negative. Mr. Langdon of Portsmouth called for the yeas and nays. The roll call resulted in yeas 103, nays 133, and the motion was lost. Mr. Batchellor of Littleton moved to reconsider the vote. Mr. Mann, of Haverhill, advocated the reconsideration as the bill did not state what kind of hawks. This was further debated. It was then reconsidered and the amendment to place "then hawk or pigeon" before the word hawk was adopted. Mr. Hank of Woodstock moved to amend by adding the word "hedgehog" after the word fox; rejected. Mr. Grant of Auburn moved to strike out section three, that fixes the bounty on crows. This was debated by Messrs. Barton of Newport, Hanson of Rochester, Haley of Milford, Colony of Keene, and Whitcher of Strafford, and then the amendment was rejected. Mr. Dow of Concord then offered an amendment that the killing of these birds and animals on Sunday should not be rewarded, which was adopted, and the bill was put upon its third reading; and the first thing in the afternoon it was passed by the House.

After this bill was passed House bill No. 19 was put upon its third reading; this is an act to provide for a topographical and hydrographical survey of the State. Mr. J. S. Hayes of Dover moved to lay the bill upon the table. By unanimous consent Mr. Patterson of Hanover explained the bill in a lengthy, classical, and logical speech. It was further debated—in favor of it by Messrs. Hackett of Portsmouth, and Barton of Newport, and against it by Cross of Manchester, Pillsbury of Concord, Topliff of Manchester, and Ordway of Warner. It was then tabled and there it is likely to remain, but if it does come up again it will never reach the Senate chamber, as it cannot by any means be passed in the House.

The committee on National affairs reported a joint resolution in regard to the communication of the Governor of Vermont and the Bennington celebration committee, which was ordered to a second reading. The joint resolution is as follows:

1st. That the legislature accept the invitation of the Governor and committee.
2d. That $5000 be appropriated toward the Bennington monument.
3d. That $2500 be appropriated for the expenses of such of the New Hampshire militia as may be designated by the Governor.
4th. That the Secretary of State transmit a copy of these resolutions to the Secretary of State of Vermont and the Bennington Centennial committee.

The same committee reported the bill in favor of the representation of New Hampshire in the National Gallery at Washington, in a new draft, as follows:

That the Governor and Council be authorized to contract with artists for the statues of John Stark and Daniel Webster at a cost not exceeding $6000 each, to be placed, when completed, in the National Gallery at Washington. This bill was ordered to a second reading.

CONCORD, July 7.

Agreeable to a previous vote the "act providing for the erection of a new state prison" and the minority report of the state prison committee came up yesterday at 11 o'clock A. M., as the special assignment. The bill was debated for four hours and was characterized by good sound logic, facts, and common sense on both sides. The speakers in favor of the bill were as a general thing the leaders on both sides of the House. The following gentlemen advocated the erection of a new state prison: Hitchcock of Newport, Sise of Portsmouth, Ordway of Warner, Barton of Newport, Sawtelle of Lyme, Goodell of Antrim, Dow of Concord, John S. Hayes of Dover, Topliff of Manchester, Sinclair of Bethlehem, Kairy of Medford, Clatur of Manchester, Hanson of Rochester, and Durant of Lebanon. Messrs. Batchellor of Littleton, Morgan of Andover, Mann of Haverhill, Colony of Keene, Hitchcock of Hanover, and Sanborn of Campton spoke in the negative. The principal arguments in the affirmative were the unhealthiness, the insufficient and unsuitable accommodations, want of repair, and unsightliness of the prison. Those opposed said the prison was not unhealthy, that it could be repaired, if a new one was erected an immense debt would be incurred and that it could not be built for $200,000.

There were ten different amendments offered, all of which, with the exception of three were rejected. The three adopted were offered by Mr. Topliff of Manchester, Sinclair of Bethlehem, and Brown of Canterbury. Before the discussion the members were almost two to one against the bill. The adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. Topliff of Manchester changed more votes to its favor than any other thing during the debate. The amendment was nearly as follows: "the sum named in the bill shall cover land and right of way thereto, the erection and completion of the prison proper, walls, fences, gates and guard houses, shops of equal capacity of these now in use, store houses, grading of the grounds, sewerage, drainage, outside buildings for gas and water, steam works, appurtenances for heating, and for an abundant water supply, suitable furniture for the prisoners and for the families of the warden and deputy warden." Mr. Brown's amendment was that "no outlay whatever shall be made until satisfactory bonds and guarantees to the amount of $200,000 shall have been filed with the Governor." Mr. Ide moved to recommit the bill, which was lost and this closed the discussion. The bill was then ordered to a third reading. By a happy stroke of good fortune Mr. Sise of Portsmouth gained the floor and amidst loud applause moved that the rules be so far suspended that the bill be put upon its passage at that time which was carried.

A vote, viva voce, upon the adoption of the bill was declared in the affirmative when Mr. Colony of Keene called for the yeas and nays which resulted in a vote of 214 in the affirmative, 105 in the negative, and 58 absent or not voting. Portsmouth voted six yeas, three nays, one absent; Dover nine yeas, two absent; Concord every member present and all yeas; Manchester 23 yeas, one nay, two absent; Nashua six yeas, four nays, one absent; Keene all nays. Cheshire County voted almost solidly against the bill, and before Mr. Topliff's amendment it was the intention of all the members with the exception of two to vote against the bill. Clatur of Manchester, one of the members of the state prison committee, who signed the minority report, voted for the bill.

Mr. Stevens of Nashua offered a joint resolution that the present session of the Legislature be brought to a close on Saturday July 14, which was adopted.

The Senate passed the bill concerning the observance of Decoration Day as a legal holiday. The Senate deemed it inexpedient to legislate upon the act to increase the efficiency and reduce the expense of the State militia and an act to encourage the destruction of noxious animals and birds. Alas for the farmers who suffer from the depredations of the crow, hawk, and fox!

This morning the House upon the motion of Mr. Hackett concurred with the Senate in the amendment to the bill to provide for a Board of Instruction for the city of Portsmouth, the amendment is to the effect that the Board of Aldermen and not the Mayor shall choose by lot those members of the Board who are to serve for one, two, and three years. The House adjourned to Monday night at 8 o'clock. Yours, A. B.

News and Notes.

Messrs. William H. Ashton of San Francisco, Geo. W. Marston of New York city, D. Horace Holman of Lewiston, Maine, and Henry S. Vanderbilt of Washington, D. C., have purchased the "Belcher" and "Crown Point" mines at North Castle Creek, Dacotah, which is thirty-two miles south of Deadwood and three-quarters of a mile off the stage road between Custer City and Deadwood. The "Belcher," which has a tunnel projected under it, shows $40,000 worth of ore (quartz) in sight, projecting from six to ten feet from the ground. The mine is to be immediately incorporated and put upon the New York stock board —100,000 shares at ten dollars par value. The Superintendent predicts handsome dividends on its par value within the year. Mr. Ashton is the owner of thirteen other mines at North Castle Creek, which with the "Crown Point" and "Belcher" are located on "Bullion Hill."

For the year ending June 30, the public debt was reduced $39,000,000. The reduction last month was $3,219,000. The entire reduction of the public debt, from its highest point in 1866, is upwards of seven hundred millions of dollars. We have paid one fourth of the entire debt, and taking the interest accounts as a test we have paid a full third of it.

A. W. Goodrich, undertaker, was arrested in Lawrence, Mass., on Friday, for firing a gun loaded with shot at small children who were picking cherries beneath his trees. Theresa Noonan, Michael Callapy and John Maskett, two and a half, four and five years old, were wounded, but not seriously.

A San Francisco dispatch says a detachment of Gen. Howard's troops have been defeated by Josephs Indians, with a loss of twelve men and one officer.

The National holiday at the Exhibition building in Philadelphia was a grand affair, and the total admissions to the main building during the day figured up to a total of nearly 60,000. The success of this enterprise does not appear to depend upon its novelty but upon its substantial attractions, of which the general public is becoming more and more convinced.

The War.

Turkish advices say a battle was fought Thursday in the vicinity of Biela, which lasted twelve hours. The Russians were repulsed with considerable loss and fell back on Sistova. It is officially announced that the Russian losses in crossing the Danube at Sistova were 300 killed and 400 wounded. A Bucharest despatch says: The 120,000 Russians who have crossed the Danube at Sistova include 20,000 cavalry and 250 cannon. About 80,000 more Russians are concentrated between Simnitza and Turnu Magureli. The army which crossed at Sistova has been divided into three bodies, the principal of which is marching on Rustchuk, and the other two towards the Balkans and Nikopolis respectively. Gen. Ignatieff has arrived at the headquarters of Grand Duke Nicholas at Sistova.

That the Russians have met with serious reverses in Asia Minor is not to be doubted; whether their armies are being driven across the frontier, as the Turks claim, cannot be positively stated.

It is stated that Austria recently proposed joint mediation of itself and England between Russia and Turkey after a battle, which proposition was accepted by England. All efforts are now being made, it is reported, by Germany to prevent any such mediation by such a combination, and an effort is now being made to have the Emperors of Prussia and Russia meet. Bismarck is reported to be corresponding with Andrassy with this view. The fact of a close alliance between Germany and Russia has had considerable weight with England.

ROCKINGHAM, SS. Law Term, June, 1877. No. 12.
EDWIN T. RICE of New York respectfully represents that ARABELLA RICE, late of Portsmouth, deceased, in 1872, testate, having in her will nominated your petitioner executor with two other cousins to be Executors of her will: that both of the other persons nominated declined to accept the trust, and have since deceased.
And your petitioner having nearly completed the distribution of the residuum of said estate, upon the petition of Samuel E. Sewall, administrator of one of the residuary legatees who lived and died in Russia, at the Probate Court, holden at Portsmouth, September, 1876, was removed from his position as Executor of said will.
He further represents that his counsel was in Court when said removal was announced, and then and there in open Court asked an appeal to this Court which was then and there allowed, and further requested the Register of Probate to prepare the proper papers to transfer said appeal effectual to this Court, and to hand the papers to the Clerk for entry; but, owing to some misunderstanding between the counsel of your petitioner and the newly-appointed Register of Probate, and not through any neglect, the proper papers were not seasonably filed to effect said appeal.
Wherefore, he prays that this Court will give him leave to appeal, according to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided.
EDWIN T. RICE, by
W. H. Y. HACKETT, his Att'y.
Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner notify all persons interested in the subject matter thereof, to appear at an adjourned law term of our Supreme Court to be holden at Concord in our County of Merrimack, on the thirteenth day of August, 1877, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in our County of Rockingham, the last publication thereof to be at least thirty days before said thirteenth day of August next.
Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

Saturday, July 7th.

John E. Lydston, for brawl and tumult, was fined $3, costs $8.81, which he paid.

William Quinn, 4th, was charged with having been drunk. He pleaded guilty, but in consideration of its being his first offence —or at least the first time he had appeared before the Court as defendant—he was let off on three months' probation.

Mary Sullivan, the young woman from Great Falls who was convicted of drunkenness on Friday and sentenced to pay $9.90, telegraphed to her father for money to get her out of her trouble. The telegram was received and paid for at the other end of the line, but no answer whatever was returned, from which it was inferred that the father did not care $9.90 worth about having his erring daughter back. She went to Brentwood on Saturday.

STOCK SALES.

The auction sale of stocks on Saturday was in sympathy with the depression in investments, and bidding was less spirited than usually an such occasions.

Concord & Portsmouth Railroad brought $121; at the last auction sale previous, $119.75.

Bank of New Hampshire stock was withdrawn.

National Mechanics' & Traders' Bank brought $108.50.

First National Bank brought $141.25, a decline of $15 from the price paid in January last.

THAT MARINE "MYSTERY."

Under the heading of "The Mystery at Portsmouth, N. H.," the Army and Navy Journal of June 23d published the following communication:

Sir:—Have marines no rights that Portsmouth is bound to respect? It would seem so in the case of the unfortunate man McCarthy, who was recently found dead near the Portsmouth bridge, under a suspicion of having been foully dealt with. It is known that bad feeling exists between the roughs of that city and the marines of the yard; from time to time, several of the latter have mysteriously disappeared, and last year one was left for dead on the bridge. It is strange that no inquest was held upon the body of this man, neither was there any medical examination; he was not removed to the Navy Yard to which he properly belonged (unless claimed by relatives), but hastily buried the next morning by order of Colonel Field. Altogether the object seems to have been to cover up an outrage, and this unseemly haste to get rid of a body, on the part of the civil and military authorities, deserves investigation. T. J. W.

In the same paper of July 7th, under the same heading, is a communication dated Portsmouth, N. H., July 2, and reading as follows:

Sir:—Under the above heading, in your issue of June 23, you publish a note which does injustice to this city and its authorities, and even to its "roughs." The writer intimates that a marine found dead, "under a suspicion of having been foully dealt with," was hurried under ground, by "the civil and military (marine) authorities," "to cover up an outrage." The facts are that the unfortunate man was last seen, alive, crossing Portsmouth bridge, and very drunk; eleven days later his dead body was found in the river, taken in charge by the police, and viewed by a coroner (who is a physician in good standing); but there were no suspicious circumstances to call for an inquest, so the mayor simply notified the marine commandant of the finding of the body, and it was buried next morning by a detail of marines. As to the marine "left for dead on the bridge last year," our police secured proof that he was assaulted by a comrade, and it was not their fault the would-be assassin was not punished.

JOTTINGS.

Mr. James M. Knapp of this city has been appointed foreman blacksmith in the Department of Steam Engineering at the Navy Yard.

The first weekly deposit of fifty dollars in the Portsmouth Savings Bank by the Light Artillery, in accordance with their plan for accumulating funds to defray the expenses of their trip to Europe next year, was made on Saturday.

The Secretary of the Navy has issued the following notice: "The proper business of the Department is obstructed by personal applications for positions. The Secretary notifies the applicants that the time for applications for positions in the Department is closed, and that the persons seeking places at the Navy Yards must hereafter apply to the commandants thereof. The Secretary declines to interfere in any way with appointments to places in any other of the Departments. The commandants of the various Navy Yards have full authority to employ all workmen needed, and, according to the circular issued a few days ago by the Secretary, persons will be employed on account of their skill and efficiency and without regard to political or other considerations."

Mr. L. J. Jennings writes from London as follows: "I suppose you will notice that the existing cables between England and America are all to be amalgamated, and that Mr. John Pender, President of the Direct Cable Company, is to be the boss of the Atlantic. The scheme is being rapidly pushed to completion, and, of course, the tariff has been raised again, and will be raised still higher before you receive this letter. This will cause great discontent among commercial men and the public, and will probably lead to the laying of a new cable under circumstances which will render any more of Mr. John Pender's neat operations impossible. A great row is going on here over the matter at this moment. It is probable, however, that Mr. Pender will not long be allowed to keep the telegraphic communication between England and the United States in his own hands, even if he should swallow all the companies now competing with him. There are rumors afloat which, if they reach Mr. Pender's ears, may serve to check his ardent hopes, and serve to remind him that the deepest laid plans are mighty 'onsartain.'"

Admiral J. C. Butler announces unusually cheap excursions to the Shoals on the steamer Appledore this season, for every other Thursday, commencing this week. They are destined to be popular, of course.

Mr. J. S. Lowell, who has been night operator of the Eastern Railroad telegraph at the depot in this city for some time, has been appointed to the day office in Newburyport made vacant by the recent suicide of Mr. Frank Dodge. Mr. George Wallace takes Mr. Lowell's position here.

United States Senator Bayard, of Delaware, and Hon. Heister Clymer of Pennsylvania, are the guests of Mrs. S. Bigelow Lawrence, at York,—though they are now on a brief trip to the White Mountains, in company with Hon. Frank Jones of this city. Gen. George B. McClellan is daily expected at the Marshall House, to remain a few weeks.

A ROW AND MURDER!

Rum, the probable cause!

THE VICTIM DIES IN TWENTY MINUTES!

On Sunday morning at half past one o'clock a sailor named Eldad L. Hankins stabbed and killed a shipmate named Wm. Daly on board the schooner Sellie Mair, Capt. Jacob Powell, lying at E. R. R. wharf, Noble's Island. The cause of the murder is not fully known, although it is believed to have resulted from an old feud that has existed between the deceased and Hankins for a number of months past. It seems that Capt. Powell on Saturday evening about six o'clock gave Hankins ten dollars, Daly five dollars and another one of the crew, Thomas Sullivan, five dollars with permission to go ashore. They went down into the city and were met by the captain in Market street near the Square about 8 o'clock, two hours later. They saluted him pleasantly, and as he says, did not seem to have been drinking, and appeared on the utmost good terms with each other. Capt. Powell went directly to his vessel and about nine o'clock turned in. At about half past one he was startled from his slumbers by the cries of Hankins at the companionway exclaiming, "For God's sake, captain, turn out, or they will kill me!" The captain was at once on deck, where a scene of horror met his gaze. Daly was lying across the entrance to the forecastle having fallen fainting with the loss of blood that was fast running his life away from a fatal wound about an inch from the heart and just below it. Sullivan and Hankins were rushing wildly about the deck, the latter holding on to his head which was bleeding quite freely from a wound made by a water bucket in the hands of Daly, as Hankins tells it.

The captain at once sent for a doctor and the police. Dr. Jones came, but too late to be of any service, as the man lived but twenty minutes after the thrust of the knife. Hankins and Sullivan were at once arrested and locked up, and the body of Daly was removed from the schooner's deck and placed in the corridor of the station house. An inquest will be held held on Monday afternoon at half past two o'clock by Coroner Whittier.

William Daly the murdered man was an Englishman 36 years of age; hailing from London, England. Eldad A. Hankins is also an Englishman, 40 years of age, from Cedarville, N. J. Thomas Sullivan is an Irishman, 26 years of age, a native of Boston. Neither of these men have families, as far as known by the captain or their friends.

Capt. Powell is wholly at a loss to account for the murder, as neither Hankins nor Daly were drinking men (that is, he says, "they never got the worse for liquor") and both were even-tempered, mild-mannered men, especially Daly, who was a rarely pleasant person, and never had any trouble, but was rather a favorite among the vessel's crew. The examination, which will be held this Monday morning in the presence of County Solicitor Small, may develop some facts that will serve to lift the cloud that at present envelops this affair in a mystery.

The prisoners were removed from the Police Station to the jail on Sunday morning in charge of Sheriff Kent where they will doubtless remain until the October term of court.

P. S.—Since the above was in type an autopsy has been held by Drs. Folsom, Whittier and Parsons, disclosing the fact that the knife entered the heart without touching the vital portion, thus prolonging what would otherwise have been an instantaneous death. The examination also revealed an incidental fact that the deceased was troubled with ossification of the heart. The jury of inquest, selected to sit upon the body aforesaid, are Dr. S. C. Whittier, Coroner; Dr. John W. Parsons, Messrs. Gideon H. Rundlett and Lewis G. Davis.

New Hampshire Items.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council, George L. Wentworth, sentenced to Dover jail for six months for selling liquor, was pardoned. George A. Kibby, sentenced to the State Prison for eight years for burglary, was also pardoned. He had served three years.

Considering the fact that the Granite State furnished over half of the troops as well as the general who fought the battle of Bennington, her proposed appropriation of $5000 toward the erection of the monument is very modest. Better make it ten thousand, gentlemen of the Legislature. Massachusetts gave that amount.—Boston Globe.

A boy at Enfield Centre, who was half killed by an eagle two or three weeks ago, has had his revenge. He found a nest in the woods, built on the lower limbs of a large beach tree, some thirty feet from the ground, as large as a two or three bushel basket. He climbed to the nest and captured the two young ones. The largest of the young measured three feet and two inches from tip to tip.

Willis L. Beard and Willard Eastman were drowned in a pond at Loudon on Friday, by the upsetting of a boat.

A Superb Blood Depurent.

Upon the action of the kidneys, bladder and bowels depends the depuration of the blood. It is by promoting the activity of these organs that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters ensures purity to the circulation. In its passage through the kidneys, impurities which beget rheumatism, gout, and gravel are strained from the blood, but when these small but all important organs grow inactive, these impurities of course remain, and inevitably produce the diseases mentioned. Hostter's Bitters rouse the kidneys to renewed activity, by which means the blood is depurated. It likewise purifies the blood when contaminated with bile by promoting a gentle but effectual action of the bowels, and has the further effect of regulating the action of the liver, thus counteracting a tendency to biliousness. Dyspepsia, malarial fevers and urinary complaints are also conquered by it.

Probably there has never been known to the world so efficient and successful a remedy for diseases of the Throat and Lungs, as Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Its success as a popular remedy is remarkable, and it has proved a blessing to the thousands who have used it. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

Plain Talk.

There is a preservative principle in Sozodont that effectually preserves the teeth from decay. Chemists pronounce it wholesome. Rich and poor endorse it. No lady ever tried it without approving its cleansing and purifying properties. It outsells all other dentifrices. Ask for it, and take no substitute.

Daily Chronicle.

—Extract from an eloquent address of a lawyer in the prosecution of a swindling financier, given in a Paris paper: "Yes, gentlemen of the jury, the defendant has carried to their ultimate limits fraud and rascality toward his unfortunate share-holders. Not only did he seek to attract them by the most infamous falsehoods, but—depth of degrading deception!—he had recourse to the most devilish artifices. Gentlemen, he wilfully, maliciously and with intent to defraud, declared and paid a dividend!"

—The London weeklies tell a singular story concerning the Duke of Edinburgh at Nice. While there he attended a ball given in his honor. Thither also went a young Italian lady, the daughter of one Cambouri, a girl of very great beauty. The Duke paid her marked—too marked—attention, and the father was highly delighted for the nonce. But his delight was changed to wrath when he subsequently discovered that his daughter had clandestinely met the Duke, and, being a man of the old Italian school, he sent the Duke a challenge. This was, of course, refused, and the Duke left Nice almost immediately.

—Three young gentlemen planned a burlesque serenade to three young ladies in Raleigh, N. C., last week. One had a violin, another a bass viol, and another a banjo, and each instrument had a single string. Entering the front yard at midnight they screened themselves from sight beneath the foliage of magnolia trees and opened the serenade. Now the young ladies had a facetious father with a noisy shot-gun. Sliding noiselessly from his bed, he took out the shot from a shell cartridge, and, aiming his gun at the magnolia, fired. He confidently expected a stampede, but he was disappointed. The overture was not broken off; the players scraped and picked each on his own string, and a voice cried out, "Shoot lower, old coon." "Now, girls, I'll try the hose pipe," said the facetious father, and soon there was less music in the air.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the blood, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e sufferance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are once out of the way, disorders produce disappears, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa resulting from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

"A Fascinating Work on an Entrancing Topic.

HE WILL COME;

BY STEPHEN H. TYNG, Jr., D. D.

This work is not prophetical. It discusses the topic as a Divine promise. Its plan is to follow the narrative of a Christian's experience of the revealed facts to the next dispensation. There is not a line of controversy in the volume. Yet it is full of bold and original thought, elegant diction, and forcible writing, and it is a work which no one who is "watching and waiting" for the Lord can afford to miss. 16mo., 216 pp.; $1.25 in Cloth; $2.50 in Morocco. The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy, Malaria, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past two years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you 9 February, with wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-one pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with neuralgia in the face and neck. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case to be incurable, and doubtless that they tried had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and avoid the cold, as the only remedy for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anything. I have been applicated to for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Lever Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,

is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative we could procure, and after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and nor knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "wailking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. He offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CITY HEALTH REGULATIONS.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of house, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city, nor shall any seller of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the tidal ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

—o—

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

—o—

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, writes as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

The Girl Valedictorian.

The Bates College valedictorian was a girl. To her classmates, many of whom still remain in town, and who are found properly, if somewhat unexpectedly, enthusiastic upon the subject of her many and varied talents, she is known as Jennie North and is described as a "perfect brick of a girl," whose career in college has been a continuous justification of the co-education of the sexes. Miss North entered the Class of '77 four years ago, at the age of seventeen. She found as her classmates thirty-eight young men and a single representative of her own sex. What stand this other young lady took in the class does not appear, and indeed need not be mentioned, for from the very moment of her entrance Miss North bent her energies solely to the task of defeating the thirty-eight young men her timid gaze had discovered sitting on the college fence.

She was the daughter of a physician in Bristol, Conn., and from the inauguration of her teens had taken kindly to Greek roots at the hands of a Yankee schoolmaster, so that she was well prepared for the ambitious task; and to do justice to the young men, though they magnanimously ignore the advantage, it must be admitted that the cruel sophomore favored her studious intent with a partiality not shown any of the male freshmen. Miss North, however, early showed that her talents were not confined to "grubbing."

She modestly refused an invitation to join the ball club, but developed a liking for the gymnasium, and is said during her junior year to have swung the Indian clubs as well and more gracefully than any man in the class. During the four years there were times when the tender conscience of this fair student was a serious hindrance to petty rebellions against class discipline, but even these unpopular characteristics are now related by her chivalrous classmates more in admiration than in bitterness.

Being the youngest member of "'77," it is to be supposed that Miss Jennie was the pet of the class; certain it is, she was present at all the the class contests; waved her handkerchief, some say her hat, at every class victory on the ball ground or elsewhere, and in every manner prominently identified herself with the interests of her classmates. There were a few young men malicious enough to assert that "Jennie would spoil her complexion," but Miss North seems to have feared none of the dangers incident to a collegiate education.

At what time it dawned upon the male mind that "the little girl of the class" was in a fair way of carrying off the highest honors, is not definitely known, but it is stated on good authority that when this discovery was made a united effort on the part of a dozen young men in the class attempted to defeat her, putting Miss North to the inconvenience of studying late into the night, by which means she triumphed.

Miss North leaves college with the intention of teaching school for awhile, as she has two little sisters to care for, but hopes eventually to become a practicing physician. It is an interesting fact that Bates College was the earliest (in 1875) to open its doors to and (in 1869) to graduate a woman, Miss Mary W. Mitchell, who is now a professor at Vassar, and it has now secured in Miss North the first female valedictorian. At the present time the New England colleges receiving women are Wesleyan, Waterville College, Vermont University, and Bates.

A Tilt in Magic.

There was a comical encounter between two noted professors of magic in San Francisco a few evenings since. Heller, fresh from the East, casually dropped into an evening exhibition given by a rival magician named Cazeneuve. When the latter illustrious conjurer invited some of the audience to step upon the stage and enter the dark cabinet with him, Mr. Heller, who was entirely unknown to his confrere, immediately ascended the platform and was ensconced with him. Cazeneuve on these occasions beats drums, blows fifes and fires pistol-shots close to the ears of his companion, and, as a general rule, scares him half out of his senses by the imposition on his head of spirit hands and other supernatural demonstrations. He also makes a practice of abstracting the watch of his victim, which is presently discovered secreted in the pocket of one of the audience, who is, of course, overwhelmed with confusion at being apparently detected. On this evening, however, the interest of the performance was considerably enhanced by the circumstance that whilst Cazeneuve removed Mr. Heller's watch from his pocket the rival magician spirited the dapper little Frenchman out of the cabinet altogether, and thereafter removed himself also to the street outside. Mr. Heller then, using his extraordinary powers of ventriloquism, threw his voice right across Bush street to the stage of the theatre and gave, in Cazeneuve's voice, the word to draw open the cabinet curtains. The gentlemanly interpreter who assists M. Cazeneuve obeyed the command, and, with the audience, was astonished to find the interior untenanted, whilst Heller and Cazeneuve at the same moment floated through the ambient air from the upper part of the house on to the stage. Mr. Heller's watch simultaneously disengaged itself from the pocket of Senator Sharon in the stage-box, and advanced with loud ticks of welcome to meet its owner. The foregoing yarn we find in the San Francisco papers, and we have no objection to any one believing it who chooses.

TUESDAY, JULY 10, 1877.

"Gobble" Grover's Election.

The Senate committee sent to investigate the circumstances under which Gobble Grover was elected U. S. Senator from Oregon, find that there was a remarkable smell of greenbacks in the air at the State capital the night before Grover's election. The following testimony was given by State Senator Goodman, in relation to a conversation between him and J. H. Mosier, a member of the House:

Mosier said to me the night before the Senatorial election, "How is this Senatorial question going?" I said, "I don't know." He asked, "Why won't Grover do?" I replied, "Well, Grover is a good man, but he is not my choice." He said, "There is a chance to make some money; a man can get $1000 for his vote." Said I, "Who has the money?" He answered, "I know where the money is, and you can get a thousand dollars for your vote; they want three more votes, and they have got three thousand dollars to pay for them." To the question of who offered it witness said, "You will have to judge of that as I did."

W. J. McConnell of Yamniel county testified that Wilson, a member of the House from Tillamook county, who voted for Grover, after being elected on a pledge to vote for Nesmith, and whose property was heavily mortgaged before the meeting of the Legislature, paid off some of his debts and cancelled his mortgage immediately after the adjournment; that he was seen to display considerable sums of money and changed $20 pieces frequently in Portland just after the Senatorial election.

W. J. Miller of Wasco testified that Butler, a member of the House from that county, who was supposed to be in limited circumstances before the election, immediately after purchased a half-interest in a steam saw-mill for $3000, which occasioned surprise and remark among his neighbors.

Mosier of Wasco county, who approached ex-Senator Nesmith and wanted money for his vote, and afterward voted for Grover, and who told Goodman, Senator from Linn county, that money could be had, and that it was right to take it, is keeping out of the way of the United States Marshal. When last heard from he was more than 100 miles from home, in the mountains. It is not believed he will be found. It has not yet been possible to find Butler, Mosier's fellow-member, and it is feared both will elude the Commission, who are making every effort to secure the attendance of these persons.

W. H. N. Stiles testified that he was a democrat, acted with that party in Salem, organized a Tilden and Hendricks Club and was Secretary of the club during the campaign; was in favor of S. F. Chadwick first and after that Grover, and worked for him some among the democrats who were in favor of Nesmith; never was in Grover's private rooms; saw Grover in conversation with Gilfrey at a hotel in Salem, on the night before election; heard Grover ask if Goodman could be depended on for the next day; Gilfrey answered "yes, but it costs him $1000," Grover answered "good; if we do not succeed on the first ballot to-morrow we are lost;" all this was in a low tone; know Mosier; saw him in Gilfrey's office; after the Senatorial election saw him come out of the Governor's office; he had some money in his hand; he counted the amount of $750; had a talk with Goodman before the election and asked him why he would not vote for Grover, and he said "I don't think Grover is an honest man, for he promised me one of the highest offices in his gift if I supported him;" asked Palmer of Benton county, what the people would say if he voted for Grover; he replied "he did not care—had a better thing;" subsequently told me he was to have charge of the penitentiary; Gilfrey was Grover's private secretary.

The Indian War.

Advices from Lewiston, Idaho, under date of July sixth, say:

On the 2d inst. Whipple's command, with volunteers under Randall, came across Looking-Glass' band at Clear creek. The Indians told Whipple they were prepared to fight, and opened by firing the first shot, when the order was given to the soldiers to fire, when the Indians broke and fled to shelter. It is not known how many were killed or wounded, as they scampered in all directions. The command captured the Indian camp, burned the provisions and plunder, and took about 1000 horses. No citizens or soldiers were killed or wounded. Capt. Elliott of the Idaho Rangers captured seventy-five of Joseph's cattle and forty horses. They had a skirmish on the Nimnana. Capt. Elliott does not know how many were killed, as they had to retreat. The Indians are mostly between Snake and Salmon rivers, and are now reported 900 strong and well armed. Col. Perry, with thirty men, while on the way to the Cottonwood, was attacked by hostiles. Lieut. Rains, ten soldiers and two citizens were killed. Col. Whipple joined Perry and drove the Indians off.

The Chiselm Tragedy.

A report on the killing of Angus McLellan, a British subject, in Kemper county, Mississippi, at the time of the Chiselm massacre has been presented to the Attorney General and by him given to the Secretary of State. The evidence confirms all the facts thus far published in connection with the tragedy, and at the same time develops some new facts, which show that the murder of Judge Chiselm was the result of a deliberately planned conspiracy and that it was intended to kill other parties arrested with him at the same time.

The killing was not the result of any sudden outburst of popular passion or frenzy, but was a deliberately planned and cold-blooded murder, the purpose of those perpetrating the scheme being to remove the victims of their conspiracy in order that they might not be witnesses against them for offences for which they were indicted in the State and Federal courts. The parties directly concerned in killing and those who aided and abetted them and who constituted all the actors in the tragedy, did not number over fifty persons. Of this number twenty-one were indicted for offences against the election laws in November last, and twenty-six were members of the Gully family. During the Presidential campaign a large number of outrages were committed upon republicans, black and white, in Kemper county, and for these offences twenty-one persons were indicted as stated above. Indictments were found against them in State courts and also in Federal courts. The trials in the State courts were to have been held prior to the massacre, but the indictments were all stolen from the clerk's office, and in consequence they could not take place.

The trials in the Federal Courts were to take place in May last, and the witnesses against the parties to be tried were Judge Chisolm, Rosenbaum, the Hopper brothers and Gilmer. All those indicted were democrats and the witnesses were republicans. It was to prevent these trials that the conspiracy was hatched, its deliberate purpose being to kill all the parties named above as witnesses, and the assassination of John Gully on the 26th of April was used as a pretext for the action of the conspirators against Judge Chisolm and his friends.

Concord Correspondence.

CONCORD, July 9.

In reviewing the proceedings of the past week I find a few things here and there which may be of interest to your readers. Last Thursday Mr. Cummings of Exeter introduced a resolution which seemed to strike the House favorably, for it was almost unanimously passed. It was as follows: "Resolved, that the revenues of the National Government should be used for the sustaining of an efficient, creditable, and economical administration, and for the payment of all honest and equitable debts due its citizens, and the surplus be exclusively and sacredly set aside for, and devoted to the liquidation of the public debt; and that the National Government should not undertake any new obligation, assume any new liabilities, or lend its credit for the furtherance of any speculative schemes under the guise of internal improvements, that may be for the advantage of any particular locality or corporation." This aims at the subsidizing of the proposed Texas Pacific Railroad.

The petition of Frank W. Miller of Portsmouth and thirty-seven others for the equal political rights of all American citizens, irrespective of sex, and seven other petitions of a similar nature, were referred to the committee on judiciary.

The Senate tabled the act for the relief of the Rockingham Ten Cent institution.

The House has made Wednesday, 11 A. M., the special assignment to consider "an act to reorganize and equalize the Senatorial Districts according to the amended Constitution." Quite a hot political fight may be expected on this question.

During the debate on the bill to encourage the destruction of noxious animals and birds Mr. Barton of Newport called the crow "a bad animal."

The basin of the fountain in the State House yard contains over a hundred fish, and nearly twenty different varieties.

The father-in-law of one of Portsmouth's fair daughters keeps one of the most popular boarding houses for the members. He has the largest private club outside of the hotels, he having twenty members. The Eagle Hotel has twenty-five, and the Phenix has twenty of the members.

When the bill came up to regulate the sale of cider Mr. Boyle of Manchester offered an amendment that the words "400 hogsheads" be substituted in place of "ten gallons," and that "all the apple trees in the State with the exception of those in the town of Warner be cut down." This was rejected and the bill was finally tabled.

The following bill is to be considered this week:

An Act defining the representation of towns of less than six hundred population, as shown by the Census of 1870.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:

SECTION 1. That the towns of Pittsburgh and Clarksville, neither of them having the requisite number of population required by the amended constitution for a representative in the General Court, are hereby classed for the election of a representative.

SEC. 2. That the towns of Berlin, Randolph and Success, neither of them having the requisite number of population required by the amended constitution for a representative in the General Court, are hereby classed for the election of a representative.

SEC. 3. That the towns of Franconia and Lincoln, neither of them having the requisite number of population required by the amended constitution for a representative in the General Court, are hereby classed for the election of a representative.

SEC. 4. That the towns of Ellsworth, Waterville and Woodstock, neither of them having the requisite number of population as required by the amended constitution for a representative in the General Court, are hereby classed for the election of a representative.

SEC. 5. That the towns of Carroll, Hart's Location, Livermore and Jackson, and Nash and Sawyer's Location, Crawford's Purchase, Thompson and Meserve's Purchase, Martin's Location, Green's Grant, Bean's Purchase, Cutt's Grant, and Chandler's Purchase, neither of them having the requisite number of population as required by the amended constitution for a representative in the General Court, are hereby classed for the election of a representative.

SEC. 6. That each of the remaining towns of this State, having less than six hundred population, as shown by the census of 1870, being so situated that they cannot conveniently be classed, are hereby authorized to elect a representative to the General Court, such proportionate part of the time as the number of its inhabitants shall bear to six hundred.

SEC. 7. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect and be in force on and from the first day of October, eighteen hundred and seventy-eight.

The War.

A despatch from Bucharest states that the encounters at Biela and on the river Joutra were mere skirmishes and that no battle has been fought yet. The heads of the army of the Russians are massing at Tirnova.

A despatch from Erzeroum says the Russians were entrenched on the eastern side of Kars, and had renewed the bombardment of that place. A vigorous fire from the west would soon open. A telegram from St. Petersburg states that the Russians still hold the citadal of Bayazid. The cause of the dangerous position in which the Russian army in Armenia was lately thrown was chiefly the fact that Persia allowed a Turkish corps from Lakesvou to pass through Persian territory. This corps was thus enabled to surprise the rear of the Russians at Bayazid and jeopardize the position of a great portion of their army. The effect was all the more embarrassing as the Russians did not anticipate any such action on the part of Persia and were entirely unprepared for it. Reprisals of the most serious nature are considered inevitable, and the situation is likely to become further complicated. It is not yet known whether an irresponsible official, prompted by his Mohammedan feelings, acted without instructions in permitting this breach of neutrality, or that the responsibility can be directly fixed on the Shah's Government. In either case the consequences are likely to be very serious.

A cable dispatch says the abandonment of Montenegro by the Turks is confirmed, and of 15,000 Bashi-Bazouks who entered Montenegro with the Turkish army fully 11,000 are dead or missing.

The Emperor of Brazil and Gen. Grant are the two champion sight-seers of the period, and it is a doubtful matter which gets through the most in the course of a day. The General does a good deal more than is recorded in the newspapers. He is very fond of driving about London and the suburbs with his wife and son, and has been pretty nearly everywhere and seen everything that the "intelligent foreigner" cares much about.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock M. of Tuesday, the 16th day of August, 1877, for building the shells of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Miantonomoh," now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap-iron for the work to be furnished by the Bureau.

These turrets are to be 22 feet and 9 inches external diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 5 feet broad, and 10½ inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 20th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the rerolling of the iron.

2d. For all the labor of building these turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be provided by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plates to be bent and planed according to plan.

Proposals will also be received under this advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets; the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plan, to be equal to the best quality of English turret iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware river, in such position as to be readily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building shells of the pilot houses required for the same vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. d jy10 17 24 31

To the Supreme Court.

ROCKINGHAM, SS. Law Term, June, 1877. No. 12.

EDWIN T. RICE of New York respectfully represents that ARABELLA RICE, late of Portsmouth, deceased, in 1873, in a codicil having in her will nominated your petitioner together with two other persons to be Executors of her will; that both of the other persons nominated declined to accept the trust, and have since deceased.

And your petitioner having nearly completed the distribution of the residuum of said estate, upon the petition of Samuel E. Sewall, administrator of one of the residuary legatees who lived and died in Russia, at the Probate Court, holden at Portsmouth, September, 1876, was removed from his position as Executor of said will.

He further represents that his counsel was in Court when said removal was announced, and then and there in open Court claimed an appeal to this Court which was then and there allowed, and further requested the Register of Probate to prepare the proper papers to render said appeal effectual to this Court, and to hand the papers to the Clerk for entry; but, owing to some misunderstanding between the counsel of your petitioner and the newly-appointed Register of Probate, and not through any neglect of the proper papers were not seasonably filed to effect said appeal.

Wherefore, he prays that this Court will give him leave to appeal, according to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided.

EDWIN T. RICE, by
W. H. Y. HACKETT, his Att'y.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner notify all persons interested in the subject matter thereof, to appear at an adjourned law term of our Supreme Court to be holden at Concord in our County of Merrimack, on the thirteenth day of August, 1877, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in our County of Rockingham, the last publication thereof to be at least thirty days before said thirteenth day of August next.

A true copy. Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

GRADUATION DAY.

The graduation exercises of the High School will be held at Franklin Hall on next Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The class numbers nineteen, — twelve young ladies and seven young gentlemen, —as follows: Flora B. Dow, Lizzie M. Flagg, Etta B. Flanders, Annie G. Garrett, Mary L. Moran, Susie H. Shackley, Ida M. Varrell, M. Lizzie Varrell, Nellie L. Whitcomb, Ida F. Blaisdell, Mary E. G. Canty, Carrie A. Craig, J. Herman Emery, Samuel W. Foss, Arthur E. Gage, William D. Grace, E. Fred Owen, E. Scott Owen, Ira A. Stevens.

The Alumni reunion and reception by the graduating class in the evening promise to be the most interesting ever held here. The literary exercises are to commence promptly at half-past seven and will consist in part of a violin and piano duet by Willis E. and George Nowell, the reading (by a graduate of the class of '76) of an original poem written by James T. Fields, five minutes' remarks by Rev. E. A. Rand of Franklin, Mass., Rev. James DeNormandie, S. W. Clarke, principal of the school, and others. The singing of an original class ode by the graduating class, conducted by Mr. Coles, will be an interesting part of the programme. The words and music of the ode were composed by two of the members of the class. Mr. Henry C. Barnabee has accepted an invitation to be present. Harlow's orchestra is to furnish music for the occasion, which promises to be a most enjoyable one. Dancing will commence at nine o'clock. The graduates of the Dover high school have been invited to be present.

THE DALY HOMICIDE.

The inquest on the body of William Daly, the sailor who was killed in the drunken row Sunday morning on board the schooner Sallie Mair, was held at the Court House on Monday, commencing at eleven o'clock. Dr. Whittier, coroner, Dr. John Parsons, and Messrs. Gideon H. Rundlett and Lewis G. Davis constituted the board of inquest. Some fifteen or more witnesses were summoned, many of whom could give but little material testimony relative to the cause in hearing. The most important statements were made by the prisoners, Sullivan and Hankins, and the captain of the vessel, Jacob Rowell. The drift of the whole of it went to show pretty conclusively that the parties were considerably intoxicated, in just the condition to get easily provoked, and from tauntings they went to harsh words, these leading to blows, culminating in the stabbing and murder. As stated by the prisoner, Hankins, "rum was at the bottom of it all!" The inquest was concluded at about three o'clock, the jury taking time to consider their verdict.

The victim's funeral services took place at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, at the Police Station, Rev. E. M. Grant officiating. The body was placed in the receiving tomb at the South Cemetery.

THE EASTERN R. R. LITIGATION.

The Eastern Railroad filed in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of the United States in this city, on Monday, a demurrer to the Bill in Equity of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, originally brought in the State Court of this county.

The grounds for the demurrer are, in brief: that the mortgages of the Eastern Railroad Co.'s road, franchises, and all the corporate property of the defendants, are necessary parties to the Bill, inasmuch as it is therein stated that the defendant has accepted the provisions of the act of the Massachusetts legislature by which it has agreed to mortgage the whole of its corporate property; and that in fact a mortgage of the road and franchises, and of the corporate property of the defendant, has already been executed in accordance with the terms of said act; but the complainant has not made the mortgagees parties to the bill. This proceedure on the part of the defendants will probably cause some delay as the question upon the demurrer must be decided before the defendants file their answer, and the parties proceed to make their proofs.

POLICE COURT.

Monday, July 9th.

George M. Smith and William Brooks, for drunkenness, were fined $3, costs $6.90. Both will work it out at Brentwood.

Eldad L. Hankins was arraigned for the murder of William Daly, pleaded not guilty, and was committed for examination on Thursday at ten o'clock. A large number of witnesses, including Policemen Johnson and Webster, who arrested Hankins and Sullivan, were held in their own recognizance to appear at the examination.

Thomas Sullivan, for aggravated assault on Hankins, was likewise committed for examination on Thursday.

JOTTINGS.

U. S. Revenue Cutter "Grant" arrived at this port Monday, having inspected the life-saving stations at Plum Island and Rye Beach on the way down from Boston. Secretary of the Navy Sherman, Capt. Walker of the Lighthouse Board, S. S. Kimball, Supt. Revenue Marine and Life Saving Service, and Webb C. Hayes, son of the President, are of the party travelling along the coast in the "Grant." They left her in Boston on Sunday, and came down by rail to rejoin her, Monday evening.

Ten hours is a day's work on the navy yard now.

Congress Hall was filled with a large and fashionable audience, Saturday afternoon, on the occasion of the close of Mr. Lamprey's dancing school for young people. As has always been the case with Mr. Lamprey's classes, the parents and friends of the pupils were more than satisfied with their proficiency in all the dances taught; but the principal attraction was the minuet, and we hear what seems almost extravagant praise of the stately beauty of the dance and the graceful dignity with which it was performed.

An Irish woman, very drunk and furiously driving a horse attached to a beach wagon about the streets, attracted considerable attention Sunday evening. A little girl in the carriage with her displayed great terror, and begged her mother not to drive so fast. The drunken woman had several narrow escapes from a smash-up, but no particular harm was done, the horse being finally stopped near the Commercial House on Vaughan street by Mr. Henry R. Stoddard. The woman and team were taken to the police station, where the team was delivered to a sober man to be taken home, and the woman allowed to go.

The South Parish Sunday School picnic will occur to-day in Wendell's woods. Wagons will leave the chapel on Court street at ten and eleven o'clock, A. M., and two o'clock P. M., for those who may wish to spend a part of the day in the grove. Tickets for those not connected with the Sunday-school can be had of the Sunday-school Treasurer, at twenty cents for the round trip. Refreshments will be sent to the chapel from eight to ten o'clock this (Tuesday) morning.

New Hampshire Items.

The Ranlet Manufacturing Company's dry house, at Laconia, was damaged $500 by fire Saturday. Insured.

The committee appointed by the last convention of the Protestant Episcopal church of the diocese of New Hampshire to make a report concerning a location for a boy's school, on Saturday examined the old Livermore mansion in Holderness. The school will probably be located there or at Drewsville.

The house and adjoining buildings on the Champion farm in Enfield, owned by John C. Tupper, were struck by lightning during a shower Sunday night and entirely destroyed, with a portion of the contents. Loss $2000; insured $1000.

The house of Charles Parcher in South Whitefield was burned Sunday night. Loss $1500; insured $870. The fire caught in a straw shed.

News and Notes.

The First National Bank of Keesville, New York, was robbed by masked burglars on Friday night of bonds and currency to the amount of $200,000.

Seven horse thieves, all members of the old James brothers' gang, have been shot to death in Ohio by a vigilance committee.

In a game of base ball Saturday at Wappinger's Falls, N. Y., between the Actives of that place and the Clippers of New York, the catcher of the latter club, John Quigley of Harlem, was hurrying to catch the ball, when a base-runner was coming home from the third base, and as Quigley stooped to catch the ball, the base runner's knee struck him in the forehead, crushing his skull. He is dying.

Rev. H. N. Wright was with his furniture ejected from the Congressional parsonage of Northville, L. I., Friday, by the trustees. The church was burned last May and he was tried as the incendiary, but discharged.

Stephen MacDonald was waylaid on Main street in Biddeford, Me., Thursday night, by Charles Riley and three other roughs, and frightfully beaten. Riley and one of the others were arrested and locked up. Mr. MacDonald being in a precarious condition their examination was postponed.

Officers and criminals have many exciting encounters in Arizona, but few that are more thrilling than that between a sheriff's party and four stage robbers near Eureka. There was a long chase on horseback, an exchange of about twenty revolver shots, and finally a hard fight with knives. One officer and two robbers were killed, and wounds were numerous.

A number of boys and young men found a half keg of blasting powder in a quarry near St. Louis, Mo., on the Fourth, took it to an open lot, put part of it in a tight box, covered the box with hay, which they fired, and withdrew a short distance to watch the result. The explosion was terrific and disastrous. John Ryan, fifteen years old, and James Gallagher, nineteen years old, were fatally hurt. Several other boys were injured, but none seriously.

A special to the Boston Post says there have been some whisperings of late over in Brooklyn that there was to be, ere long, a grand reconciliation of all the parties to the recent suit of Tilton vs. Beecher. The story goes that overtures to that effect have been made by a party authorized to act for the pastor himself, the only motive on his part being the Christian obligation to forgive enemies. The story further goes that similar overtures have been made by parties friendly to Theodore Tilton, and that the negotiations have proceeded so favorably that the reconciliation will probably be accomplished upon Tilton's return from Europe, whither he goes with his two daughters Saturday. It is also understood that Mrs. Tilton is to be a participant in the reconciliation, and this will lead to the restoration of her broken home.

Capt. John A. Webster, senior officer of the United States revenue service, died on Thursday at his home in Harford county, Md., aged 91. The deceased was a brave and gallant officer. He commanded the famous six-gun battery on the Ferry Branch when the British fleet bombarded Fort McHenry, and repulsed the enemy who passed the fort during the night in barges and light vessels. He was presented with several swords for gallant services in this action. Capt. Webster retired from active service a few years ago, but with full pay, and was understood to be waiting orders of consignment to duty.

The Catholics in New Rochelle, Ind., demand that the Catholic Bible shall be read in the public schools, styling the present Bible a mutilated and uninspired version of the Scriptures.

A company of infantry left Covington, Kentucky, on Saturday evening for Grayson, Carter county, under instructions from the governor to report to the sheriff of the county, to assist him in arresting a band of horse thieves and desperadoes, who have long been a terror to the citizens. The thieves are numerous, and well organized and armed, and it is expected they will offer a desperate resistance.

It is stated that Postmistress Van Lew of Richmond, Virginia, declined to be party to a plot by which she was to refuse to give up the office on the ground that the appointment of her successor was null, because Hayes was not legally elected.

Jesse Grant, the second son of the General, thinks dining every evening at a Duke's, or at an Earl's, and every afternoon at a Lord's, is all very fine to read about, but to experience it is to be horribly bored. He's tickled, however, at his own treatment. They regard him as a Prince, and at all the dinner parties he sits ahead of all the noble fellows; is addressed by the waiters as "His Excellency." Jesse has had to make several speeches, and altogether, he says, he has had a miserable time.

A Superb Blood Depurent.

Upon the action of the kidneys, bladder and bowels depends the depuration of the blood. It is by promoting the activity of these organs that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters ensures purity to the circulation. In its passage through the kidneys impurities which beget rheumatism, gout, and gravel are strained from the blood, but when those small but all important organs grow inactive, these impurities of course remain, and inevitably produce the diseases mentioned. Hostetter's Bitters rouse the kidneys to renewed activity, by which means the blood is depurated. It likewise purifies the blood when contaminated with bile by promoting a gentle but effectual action of the bowels, and has the further effect of regulating the action of the liver, thus counteracting a tendency to biliousness. Dyspepsia, malarial fevers and urinary complaints are also conquered by it.

Probably there has never been known to the world so efficient and successful a remedy for diseases of the Throat and Lungs, as Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Its success as a popular remedy is remarkable, and it has proved a blessing to the thousands who have used it. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

Plain Talk.

There is a preservative principle in Sozodont that effectually preserves the teeth from decay. Chemists pronounce it wholesome. Rich and poor endorse it. No lady ever tried it without approving its cleansing and purifying properties. It outsells all other dentifrices. Ask for it, and take no substitute.

Another Speech by Grant.

General Grant, when he left England for the Continent, was presented with an address at Folkestone. In the course of his reply he said: "I thank you for what has been said in honor of my own great country. It has been a feeling of mine of many years' standing that the United States and Great Britain should be the very best friends. You have kindly alluded to my efforts as Executive of the United States to settle the questions that were existing between the two countries, and which were liable at any time to create a disturbance. Fortunately, however, these difficulties were settled in a manner creditable to both nations. There was no desire on my part, and I am sure there was none on the part of the thinking people of the United States, that England should be humiliated in any sense, and there was certainly a determination on our part that we should not be humiliated; but we wanted a settlement that should be honorable to both nations. That was my desire, at all events." The Lord Provost's committee of the Edinburg town council have unanimously resolved to recommend that the council offer General Grant the freedom of the city on the occasion of his visit in August or September.

—What man is allowed to sit before the Queen with his hat on? Her coachman.

—Mr. Benson was out in his garden, dashing a coat of tar on the trunk of a very choice cherry tree, when his next door neighbor, with whom he is not on very good terms, came out and industriously set to work nailing lath between the pickets on the line fence. "I thought I'd fix this tree so that your dog wouldn't be able to get into it when the cherries are ripe," sarcastically observed Benson, as the work went on. "Yes, I see," was the reply, "and it remieded me that if the space between the pickets of this fence was reduced, your cat couldn't reach through and pick my raspberries." A deep and profound silence followed.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alternatives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disease. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who a substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Irregular Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22nd, stating what relief they had given me, and that I continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS so well, I feel they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I induced him to get one of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, NOV. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians and got only temporary relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for about two years, unable to walk or travel, using visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; that I could live but a few months longer, and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headaches. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physic cians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

—o—

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

—o—

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

The Dynasty of Cooks.

A certain literary gentleman of New York, whose family had had a "little" difficulty in the matter of cooks, kept account of the rapid changes of down-stairs government, and called his document, when finished, "Culinary Dynasty of the House of Brown, from the Reign of Bridget the Pure down to the Present Monarch." Similarly embellished by incidental rhetorical graces, Mr. Brown's list read something after the following manner:

Bridget I., surnamed the Pure. Began to reign December, 1866; abdicated October, 1876, because contemplating a life of seclusion—and matrimony. Her reign was marked by great executive wisdom, clemency, and economy, and its cessation caused the most sincere regret. Succeeded by

Bridget II., a sovereign of considerable administrative power, but cursed with an irascible disposition. Insulted her prime minister (Mrs. Brown) when justly rebuked by that dignitary for her reckless consumption of butter. Popular opinion (Mr. Brown) being decidedly against her, she abdicated November, 1876, in favor of Katharine, surnamed the Flirt, on account of the multiplicity of her suitors. A giddy, good-natured queen, but wholly unfitted for her exalted position. Deposed November, 1876, and succeeded by

A Regency of Three days, during which Jane (a valued chambermaid) wielded with much ability the culinary sceptre. After which the kitchen was descended into by

Bridget III., a sovereign whose character previous to accession had been represented as stainless, but who early gave signs of the most revolting intemperance. Driven from the kitchen by an indignant people (Mr. Brown) after an alcoholic reign of only two days, and succeeded by

Mary Ellen, satirically surnamed the Skeleton, on account of her unnatural stoutness. Celebrated for intense laziness. Deposed December, 1876, and succeeded by

Margaret, popularly known as the Fiend. Threatened to kill her prime minister two hours after coronation. On the following day refused to abdicate. Resisted even the demands of the Army (a policeman) who unanimously indorsed the policy of the prime minister. Imprisoned for high treason, December, 1876. End unknown. Succeeded by

Bridget IV., surnamed the Lunatic. Her administration was chiefly distinguished by an attempt to subvert the usual methods of dining throughout her realm; causing soup to be served after fish and meat before either. Banished after a turbulent reign of twelve hours, and succeeded by

Ann, known as the Spoiler. * * And so through a terrible list of wrong and outrage, the chronicle continues, at last ending in the month of February, 1877, with the following happy item:

Bridget XV., the reigning sovereign, surnamed the Culinary Antoine. Modest of demeanor, gentle of speech, wise and economical in her rule. Beloved by minister and people. A slight difficulty with France (the children's foreign nurse) which occurred in the early part of her reign, has now been amicably settled. The realm is at present in a most flourishing condition, and the refrigerator has never been so prosperously administered. Long live Bridget XV.—Appleton's Journal for July.

Wrongfully Hanged.

Wiley J. Morris was condemned to be hung on the third Friday in May, 1861, in Kankakee, Ill., for the murder of Mary Murphy, a domestic, whose body was found near a railroad track. Morris was a colored man. His counsel, believing Morris to be innocent, fought desperately for him, and the very fact that so many people in Kankakee either believed him innocent, or that he was not proven guilty, gave him a renewed incentive to try and save his life. A petition for a reprieve or commutation of sentence to imprisonment was circulated, and received the signatures of a great many of the citizens of Kankakee who heard the trial. When it was carried to Springfield to be laid before the Executive, the Governor had been called away to Washington, and did not return to examine the petition until the day after Morris was hanged. The last words of Morris, with the cap over his head, the rope around his neck, his hands tied, and his feet pinioned, were, "You murder me, you murder me, you murder me," and with these words he was launched into eternity. It now transpires that the man was innocent of the crime, and that it was committed by three horse thieves, who captured the girl, kept her two days in confinement, horribly ill-treating and then murdering her. The affair creates a wide-spread sensation, and the bones of the unfortunate Morris, which had hung since his execution in a surgeon's office, have been buried with considerable display at the funeral.

—An alligator eight feet long, slain in the Twin lakes, Florida, when cut open was found to contain a turtle six inches across, as lively as if he had never been swallowed.

—Torpedo balloons are propsed by a correspondent of the Scientific American. The idea is to float the balloons over the enemy, and drop the torpedo by means of electricity sent over a wire. It is calculated that a city could be totally destroyed in this way by dropping a sufficient quantity of nitro-glycerine.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 11, 1877.

A High Toned Thief.

New York "good society" has been greatly excited and shocked over the sneaking dishonesty of one John Alfred Theriott, "a dapper little man of elegant manners, with a handsome brown moustache, waxed and curled, and who always dressed in the height of the fashion." He was at one time wealthy, but neglected business for amusement, and spent all his money—and all he could steal—for society pleasures, opera tickets, carriages and champagne suppers. He was also a military man, having at one time been a lieutenant in the Ninth Regiment N. Y. Vols., and later in the Seventh. He was quite a society pet,—a duck of a man; and he gobbled up such trifles as gold watches and diamond pins and necklaces whenever he found them laying around loose in houses where he had been invited to social entertainments. Among those who suffered from his pilfering propensities was Mrs. Mary B. Wendell, wife of Jacob Wendell, Esq., Theriott having one evening found his way to a bureau in her room and stolen the following-named articles; gold watch with chain, locket, and watchpin attached; set of stone cameo locket and earrings; set of Roman gold locket and earrings; one solitaire diamond ring; one diamond ring with four stones; one Roman gold shawl pin; one plain gold ring, (Mrs. Wendell's wedding ring), one moonstone ring, and other articles of jewelry to the value of $1,000 and upward. Theriott was arrested, but was admitted to bail, and "jumped his bail" and cleared out for Europe.

Theriott was well known in society, but he often visited houses where he was a stranger to the host and hostess. His elegant evening dress would secure his admission at the door. Once being in, he would accost any friend whom he happened to recognize with the remark; "George, do you know Mr.— (the host)? I know Mrs. — very well, and I wish you'd introduce me to her husband." The friend would do so, innocently enough, seeing him in evening dress at the party. Having talked a moment with the host he would say: "By the way, Mr.—, I think I know several friends of your wife. Won't you be kind enough to introduce me to her." In this way he would secure the best possible footing in a company of which he originally knew only one or two members.

Tornadoes.

Wisconsin had a tornado on Sunday night, which did much damage. At Pensaukee Station, on the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, it destroyed the Gardiner House, the largest brick hotel and summer resort in Northern Wisconsin. Eight persons are known to have been killed, and two are missing. Other buildings were blown to pieces. The place is a total wreck. A saw-mill, shingle-mill, schoolhouse and fifteen or twenty other buildings were blown down. A powerful gust of wind raised the railroad depot from its foundation and threw it across the track, preventing the passage of the Green Bay train for two hours. The bridge was misplaced and damaged. The steam tug Spray and a schooner were totally wrecked. The tornado was not over one thousand feet in width and lasted but two minutes. The velocity and power were terrific. The loss is estimated at $100,000. The town next in the course of the tornado was Coullordville, through which it passed in a track eighty rods wide, destroying everything in its course. Seventeen houses and barns were damaged in Coullardville, and the crops were badly injured. The total loss is estimated at $300,000.

Westfield, Mass., had a tornado at about four o'clock Monday afternoon. It came eastward through the gorge of the Westfield river and widened to half a mile, felling trees, scattering fences and demolishing buildings until its force was expended. It first struck the wall of the Salmon Falls paper mill, rebuilding from the recent fire, which fell, crushing in the engine-house, containing two men, one of whom was seriously hurt. Two men ploughing saw the storm coming and attempted to reach a barn near by; they and the horses were thrown to the ground and wounded by the flying stones; when they recovered their sight the barn was gone. A family of six persons in a house heard the whirling noise and knew nothing more until they found themselves on the floor, several rods from the site of the house. Two houses and a dozen barns were destroyed. Large quantities of crops, grass, and trees, were ruined. At Chicopee Falls the wind destroyed several barns, sheds and many large trees.

Mexico Invaded.

Telegrams received at the War Department from Lieut.-Col. Shafter (on duty in Texas) state that Lieut. Bullis chased Indian cattle thieves across the Rio Grande, had a fight with them and drove them into the mountains, and recaptured twenty-three out of fifty stolen horses they had with them. Col. Shafter will cross to support Bullis and also Lieut. Hunt, who also appears to be on the Mexican side following on the Indian trail. Harnesses, etc., were found by Bullis, which had been stolen from Gillespie county, Texas. This action is strictly in accordance with the orders given to Gen. Ord, commanding the Department of the Rio Grande, to follow Mexico marauders across the border whenever they make incursions into Texas. The President and Cabinet unanimously agree that this is the only way such outrages can be stopped. A Cabinet officer is reported as saying: "As often as a Mexican enters our territory on a thieving expedition, just so often will he be followed across the Rio Grande; and the next time our troops follow such a party of thieves they will probably bring back something besides a few horses. They will bring back some of the Indians who commit depredations on our territory, at the instance and for the benefit of the Mexican organizers of such cattle stealing expeditions." It is considered very likely that the Diaz Government will protest against this entry of United States troops into Mexican territory, but there is not the least probability that Gen. Ord's present instructions will be modified.

Kentucky Life.

The wholesale shooting of horse-thieves by vigilantes, already reported, took place in Carter county, Kentucky, and not in Ohio as at first stated. It seems that the population of Carter, Rowan and Fleming counties are a hard lot—ignorant, vicious and brutal, and most of them utterly opposed to the law; intermarriage has been so common that it is said there are not over fifty family names in three counties, if the imported iron and coal miners are excluded; and schools and churches are much scarcer than whiskey stills. As the horse thieves had proved themselves too strong for the law, that part of the population which gains a living by raising horses clubbed together to vindicate the majesty of the law by the assassination of the men who gain a living by stealing horses, and seven of the suspected thieves have already been shot down from behind trees and fences, or in their own houses or door-yards, in the interest of honesty and good government. It also appears that family feuds are at work, as in the Kemper county infamy; and altogether the state of society exemplified is hard for a New Englander to comprehend. Neither the State of Kentucky nor the counties named have ever been under "carpet-bag" or "radical" rule; but some people might prefer even the rule of the carpet-bag to that of the midnight prowler with his shot-gun and knife.

News and Notes.

Gen. Grant arrived at Cologne Monday and was received at the railway station by the American Consul, Vice-Consul and the President of the Police. The General visited several churches and the Cathedral, and made an excursion over the suspension bridge to Deutz, returning by the bridge of boats. In the evening he was serenaded at the Hotel du Nord by the military band.

Steamship Wisconsin on Monday arrived at New York with 723 Mormon emigrants, mostly women and young girls, for Utah. They comprised about 400 Danes, 150 Swedes, 112 German-Swiss, 80 English and 20 of other nationalities. They were clean, sturdy, industrious-looking people. They started for Utah in a special train at four o'clock on the evening of the day of their arrival.

Steamer Neversink, of New York, became disabled off Coney Island, Monday, with a large party of excursionists on board. She was towed to Fort Lafayette and the passengers safely landed by the tug Marion, whose owner only charged five cents salvage, with the proviso that the Neversink should always help any other disabled vessel.

At the annual examination of applicants for admission to the Naval Academy as cadet midshipmen, thirty-seven youths passed and have already entered the Academy. The whole number was seventy-five, but thirty-eight were found deficient, and the members of Congress who nominated them are now being notified to make other nominations.

The centennial anniversary of the adoption of the first constitution of Vermont was celebrated at Windsor on Sunday, the 8th, by commemorative discourses morning and evening. On Monday there were salutes and bell ringings, processions and speeches, illuminations and fireworks.

Steamer J. N. Camden, from Parker's Landing for Pittsburg, blew up and sank in the Ohio at Fish Creek Ripple on Monday, instantly killing four men and badly wounding three others.

The difficulty between the United States and Venezuela has been amicably settled, the Government of Venezuela having formally withdrawn the note of the 28th of January to Minister Russell, which was the occasion of his departure from Caracccas. Such questions as remain will now be treated by friendly conference and discussion.

The new reservoir at Athol, Mass., gave way Sunday, twenty-four hours after the town had voted to accept the water works. Eighteen feet of the west bank was carried away, in consequence, it is thought, of the gate to the high service-pipe being left open. The street was washed out so that an expense of several hundred dollars will be necessary for repairs, which the Water Company will promptly undertake. On reaching Beaver Brook the flood so increase the size of the stream as to carry away several small dams and injure the mill property on the bank. The total damage amounts to $1000.

The United States Supreme Court has finally rendered its decision in what lawyers have known for more than a decade as "The Great Jumel Case." Ever since the death of Mme. Jumel in 1865, George Washington Bowen, claiming to be her natural son, has brought suits in various Courts to obtain possession of the property left by her, which went into possession of William I. Chase, the son of Mary Jumel Bowen, reputed to have been Mme. Jumel's neice. These suits were mainly ejectment suits, and to rid himself of the annoyance they caused him, Mr. Chase instituted proceedings to decide the question at issue beyond appeal. The opinion delivered by Mr. Justice Bradley confirms Chase as the legal heir of Mme. Jumel, denying all of Bowen's claims and enjoining him from bringing any more suits.

Foreign papers say that the limit of cattle-raising has been reached in many parts of Europe and that that country can take as many as 2,000,000 head of cattle from the United States, every year. At $75 a head, this would be $150,000,000, in revenue to this country. These are figures on paper of course, but the end of this year will show a very handsome export of fresh beef from the United States.

Human nature is human nature. The prosecution of Charles Bradlaugh and Mrs. Besant in London for publishing an obscene book has increased the sale of a very objectionable work from five hundred copies in a year to one hundred and twenty-five thousand in three months.

That is a very delicate phrase used in the dispatch concerning Senator Grover's corrupt election in Oregon. It is stated that one Goldsmith, a banker and friend of Grover's, arrived in Salem the night before the election and "interviewed six backward members." Backward members is a new name for fellows with itching palms.

Cease Racking the System

With drastic cathartics and hurtful salivants, and use this rational and genial recuperant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the success of which in the eradication of disease and the building up of feeble constitutions has utterly confuted the preposterous medical theorists who insisted on the rationality of depleting the frame in order to restore it to health. Appetite, easy digestion, regular evacuations, a natural flow of bile, are as sure a result of the use of the Great American Invigorant as increased loss of power and irritation of the system were of the old exhausting method. The new era of treatment inaugurated by the Bitters is indeed a happy one for the sick and feeble, for it has not only placed health within their reach, but saved them from the hurtful consequences of an absurd fallacy.

CORPORATION MEETINGS.

PORTSMOUTH, GT. FALLS & CONWAY R. R.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway Railroad, was held at the Ward Room on Elm street, near the Eastern Railroad station, Tuesday forenoon at half-past ten o'clock. The meeting was called to order by Hon. Ichabod Goodwin, who presided in the absence of Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, the President of the Corporation. It was voted to proceed to the choice of Directors, and the following gentlemen were appointed by the chair a Committee to receive, sort and count the votes: William H. Rollins of this city, John W. Sanborn of Wolfboro' and Robert W. Hooper of Beverly.

While the process of voting was continuing a number of stockholders arrived in a train on their way to Conway. Having ascertained that their certificates would pass them only as far as this city, they came to the meeting in order to remonstrate with the authorities. One of the party, Mr. Currier, moved that the stockholders be transported to Conway and allowed to return next day on showing their certificates. This matter was debated for a few minutes. Mr. Currier, with his picnic basket in one hand and umbrella in the other, expressed himself very strongly in favor of the passage of the motion. But at this time somebody discovered that the train for Conway had already gone, so the motion was laid on the table.

The result of the balloting was then announced as follows:

Whole number of votes cast	5976
Necessary for choice	2989
Alfred P. Rockwell	5976
Samuel C. Lawrence	5976
Robert W. Hooper	5976
James W. Johnson	5976
George W. Burleigh	5976

And Messrs. Rockwell, Lawrence, Hooper, Johnson and Burleigh were declared elected Directors of the Corporation for the ensuing year.

The following resolution was then offered by Mr. Stevens of Boston, and unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That the thanks of this Corporation be tendered to Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett and Hon. Ichabod Goodwin for their services as Directors of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad—and that this resolution be entered upon the records of the Corporation."

Voted, That this meeting dissolve.

EASTERN RAILROAD IN N. H.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of this Corporation was at the Court House in this city on Monday. Hon. Moody Currier of Manchester, President of the Road, was in the chair. The call for the meeting and the records of the last meeting were read by the Clerk.

The report of the Directors, giving an account of the present condition of the legal controversy to gain possession of the road, which had been printed and sent to each stockholder, was accepted.

The act of the Legislature passed July 20, 1876, relating to proxy voting by stockholders in this Corporation, was accepted and adopted.

The article relating to a change in the by-laws was referred to the Board of Directors.

On motion of S. C. Eastman, Esq., the stockholders proceeded to choose Directors. A committee of three was appointed to receive the votes. The committee, consisting of Messrs. Samuel C. Eastman, C. H. Odell and Henry M. Bates, reported that 2450 votes were cast, all of which were for Moody Currier, of Manchester, N. H., Dexter Richards, of Newport, N. H., Walter Hastings, of Boston, Mass., Francis Thompson, of Boston, Mass., and Edward L. Giddings, of Beverly, Mass., who were declared duly elected Directors for the year ensuing.

The following vote, offered by Hon. Francis Thompson of Boston, was adopted with an amendment offered by Judge Odell:

"That the stockholders be requested to contribute one dollar for each share of the stock of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire owned by them, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the present litigation with the Eastern Railroad Company in Massachusetts to recover the possession of the road, and that the Treasurer be authorized to give a receipt therefor, payable out of the future earnings before any dividend is paid."

The amendment, that interest should be allowed them, was accepted by the gentleman who offered the resolution.

The meeting then adjourned. There was a large attendance of stockholders, many of whom came from distant cities and places in this and other States, who seem to regard the able report of the Directors as evidence that their property was worth looking after, and the doings of the Directors were endorsed by a unanimous reelection, and the passage of the last named vote without a dissenting voice.

After the adjournment of the annual meeting the Directors organized and reelected Hon. Moody Currier of Manchester, President; Thomas J. Lee, Esq., of Boston, (No 60 State Street,) Treasurer; and Col. William H. Hackett of Portsmouth, Clerk.

PORTSMOUTH BRIDGE CO.

The annual meeting of the proprietors of Portsmouth Bridge was held on Tuesday morning, when the following named gentlemen were chosen Directors: Ichabod Goodwin, Wm. H. Y. Hackett, William L. Dwight, George E. B. Jackson, S. Lothrop Thorndike, William H. Hackett and John Wooldredge.

THE VERDICT.

To Samuel C. Whittier, M. D., one of the Coroners of the County of Rockingham:

The State of New Hampshire, Rockingham, ss.

An inquisition begun at Portsmouth, in said county, the 8th, and concluded on the 9th day of July, in the year 1877, before Samuel C. Whittier, one of the coroners of said county, upon the view of the body of William Daley, there lying dead, by the oaths of Gideon H. Rundlett, a justice of the peace for said county, and of John W. Parsons, M. D., and Lewis G. Davis, all reputable persons, who being sworn, and charged to inquire for the State, when, how and by what means the said William Daley came to his death, upon their oaths do say that the said deceased died of a wound in his left side, extending to and penetrating his heart, received while engaged in a fight on board the schooner "Sallie Mair," lying within the city limits of Portsmouth aforesaid, near the hour of two o'clock, A. M., on the 8th day of July, instant, said wound having been inflicted with a knife in the hands of Eldad Hankins, one of his shipmates. So the jurors aforesaid, upon their oaths aforesaid, do say the said Eldad Hankins, in manner and form aforesaid, the aforesaid William Daley, then and there did slay, against the peace and dignity of the State.

In witness whereof the said jurors have hereunto set their hands the 9th day of July, 1877.

[Signed] G. H. Rundlett, J. W. Parsons, M. D. } Jurors
Lewis G. Davis, }

In witness of all above written the said coroner hath hereto set his hand and seal the same day and year. [Signed]

Samuel C. Whittier, M. D., Coroner.

CAUGHT AT LAST.

On the 4th of August, 1876, David Makin, of South Groveland, Mass., had his watch and chain stolen at Hampton Beach. Sheriff Kent has for some time been on the lookout for Edgar W. Warren for the larceny of this watch, and having located him in Massachusetts endeavored to secure him on a requisition on the Governor of that State some three weeks since, but failed. Not content, he arranged with a person there to watch Warren and telegraph him if Warren ever came into New Hampshire. At ten minutes past three o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, the Sheriff received a despatch that Warren had left Haverhill, Mass., for Dover, at twenty minutes to two o'clock. Mr. Kent immediately went to Dover, and in less than a half hour after his arrival had his man handcuffed and on his way to this city, where he lodged the accused in jail. At Dover, Warren met two Massachusetts parties, both of whom are well known to Mr. Kent, and one of whom was at Hampton Beach when Mr. Makin's watch was stolen.

A BOAT RIDE.

On Monday evening three sergeants of marines, who had that day jointly purchased a boat, took her out on the river to try how she worked under sail. She worked all right, and they had a very pleasant time for an hour or so; but they gradually got nearer and nearer to Portsmouth Bridge, and suddenly made the unwelcome discovery that their nice breeze had died away and left them uncomfortably close to the bridge, with a strong flood tide running. Finding it impossible to pull the boat against the tide or to reach one of the spans, they did the next best thing,—took down the mast, and tried to run the boat through between two rows of piles, which they would very likely have succeeded in doing in safety,—or, rather, without accident, for there is mighty little safety in running a boat through the piles of that bridge, even though it may be done successfully,—had they not unfortunately struck one of the timbers which stretch athwart the tide from one row of piles to another. When the boat struck the timber, under it she went, but fortunately it was far enough above the surface to let her go under without quite filling her, and two of the sergeants nimbly hopped over the obstruction and into the boat again, and floated away up river in the half-swamped craft. The third man, as the boat careened and began to take in water, clasped the timber in his arms, and the swift current whisked the boat away from beneath him, and left him hanging on to the timber for dear life, with half his body in the water and the tide swashing him about in the most objectionable manner. He is a stout, heavy man, but he hung on to that timber for half an hour, clinging closer than a brother, until a rope with a noose in the end was lowered down to him by men on the bridge, when he placed the noose under his arms and was drawn up to solid footing, with no further damage than a thorough wetting and a proper amount of scare. All's well that ends well; but we are willing to wager a small sum with the three sergeants that they can't take their boat through between the piles of the bridge again, at the same hour of the evening and the same time of tide, without some of them getting drowned; and if they will give the odds we will bet on all three going.

RYE LETTER.

Rye, July 9th.

The season at the beaches may now be considered fairly open. The first hop of the season took place at the Farragut House on Saturday evening, Harlow's Orchestra furnishing the music.

Services were held in the new Episcopal chapel, "St. Andrew's by the Sea," yesterday, and will be continued every Sunday as long as the season lasts. Bishop Niles officiated yesterday. There is to be a Fair at Little Boar's Head the latter part of this month, to raise funds to finish the chapel recently erected there.

There is considerable company already here, and it looks now as though business would be good for six weeks to come. These are upwards of a hundred guests at the Farragut, and the Sea View and private houses have as much company as usual at this time of the season.

Everything at the Farragut and Little Boar's Head seems to be what some might term "high toned." At the Farragut the colored bell-boys sport, in addition to a brush broom, a blue uniform with gold stripes on their trousers legs, etc. The waiters wear white vests, stand-up collars, with white neckties, black pants and coat, and starched aprons; and they are not allowed to appear in the dining room if their shoes are not well blacked, and no holes in them.

The Cornet Band have Mr. Harlow to instruct them at present, and it is said that they are improving finely under his teaching.

Fourth of July was celebrated by ringing the bell, firing a few crackers, and a display of fireworks at the Farragut. Nat.

Daily Chronicle.

—A beastly storm—When it rains cats and dogs.

—Japanese fans have taken a firm hold on the fancy of sweltering people.

—For writing, "These houses are built to sell, and in a short time they will also prove that they were built to kill," a London builder brought an action against a newspaper. The case ended in an apology from the latter and a verdict of £2 and costs.

—This is getting too bad. An unscrupulous New Yorker is publishing an enlarged imitation of ex-Treasurer Spinner's signature as the line of march of the Russian soldiers to the Danube. The large blotty dashes are supposed to be the mountain ranges.

—A landslide in Schodack, N. Y., filled a creek, and turned the water in a different direction. The owner of a mill further down sues the farmer who owns the land on which the slide occurred, to compel him to restore the stream to its former condition.

—The word "balance" is becoming a general nuisance. A letter writer says: "I remained the balance of the day." Why could he not say in English, "the rest of the day!" Most adult Americans know what a balance is; but a verbal insanity seems to be raging.

—London lawyers are in trouble about the costume proper to be worn by the bar on red-letter days. A few days ago Mr. Justice Field, while presiding in the Second Court of the Queen's Bench Division, objected to the wig of a counsellor, who rose to address him, on the ground that "it was not of those dimensions which the solemnity of the day required." The counsellor answered that he "hoped that he would not be supposed capable of any want of respect either to Her Majesty or the court, and that he would, without delay, attire himself in a full bottomed wig. He had understood, however, that the full bottomed wig should not be worn at nisi prius."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock and Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the destruction of these same humors in some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Dyspepsia of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa or whites, from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:
Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.
WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 7½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation, in the extreme form of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.
WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.
WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk only one day out of three, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship in the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.
Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."
EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.
MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving you a letter, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been an item from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all you, more than I have recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE
Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.
DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partial relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for two years, or winters, as I have been suffering and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they had advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Robbins, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure Neuralgia they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.
Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.
LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.
THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good, I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative we could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before we was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CITY HEALTH REGULATIONS.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 15. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds within city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, residing Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG: My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Mr. Train Speaks.

George Francis Train writes the New York Sun as follows:

As deadheadism disgusts all but the deadheaded, henceforth I intend to prove my sanity by refusing longer to D. H. the American people with my opinions except at Bohemian rates! For thirty years, through my ignorance of the laws of life, I allowed the people to vampire on my 200 years' inherited stock of vitality and treat me as their equal, when physically, intellectually, morally and socially I felt myself their superior. As orator, linguist, author, traveller, business man, my life is a record of continual success. As the intellectual Blondin of the times, the public, tired of waiting to see me tumble off that tight rope into Niagara, have suddenly stopped their sneers! Have they discovered at last that I am a born emperor, not a subject?—a noble, not a slave?—a monarchist, not a republican?—a patrician, not a plebeian?—an aristocrat, not a democrat? By allowing them to shake hands with me for a quarter of a century, no wonder they lost their respect. A leaf next the eye obscures a distant mountain. No man is great to his valet. Of course I was abnormal to them. Vice is always abnormal to virtue! truth to falsehood! manhood to cowardice! sanity to insanity, morality to immorality! The people's ways, passions, ambitions, appetites, desires, were not my ways. Did Alexander, Cæsar, Frederick, Gustavus, Philip, Napoleon, Washington, shake hands with every Congressional, church and club bummer of the pave? Yet all these chiefs combined did not possess the psychologic power over life and death held in one drop of my pure blood! No Anno Domini ignorance can stand against my psychologic era knowledge! No evangelical fanaticism against my evolutionary thought!

Having published many books in my time, and been an amateur correspondent of newspapers in two hemispheres for three decades, without ever receiving a cent, and not wishing to lose my magnetism by again facing the adult world on the lecture-stage, or by personal contact or conversation privately, I propose to earn my daily bread as a Bohemian writer on these simple terms: Acceptors of my articles on all subjects to pay me what they consider their value every Saturday, they holding the option of rejecting anything too strong for their columns, but to return me all unused copy. I am too little interested in my literary children to examine or correct proofs, and as I do not wish to come in contact with editors, correspondents, interviewers, reporters and newspaper men, a postal mailed to Madison square will receive prompt attention. I hope "friends," "relatives," "acquaintances" and "strangers" will have too much respect for me to intrude upon my privacy by recognizing me or speaking to me while luxuriating in this magnificent solitude of a public park. Either in satire or otherwise, my Presidential aspirations are often paragraphed. If the sentiments expressed in this card for bread do not stop the "delusion," let me end the joke forever by requesting the people to give me a wide berth on this subject. The idea nauseates me. The people's gift! Bah! Can their disease strengthen my robust health? Their misery add to my happiness? Their bankruptcy to my solvent condition of living on $2 a week? Their carbonic acid gas measure itself with my oxygen? Their perpetual discord with my twelve hours a day content with the music of birds and the kisses of children? Should the people "evolute" into asking me to lie down in the gutter with them, is it likely that I should soil my clean hands in their filthy sewer of party politics?

Who need be surprised that a nation besotted in ignorance, stupefied with superstition, soaked in alcohol, steeped in tobacco, and gorged with meat, should come to a disgraceful end in the delirium tremens of Presidential fraud? By publishing this card the Sun places me under such obligations that I will never bore it again with my contributions except professionally, and journals copying it can hedge against former unkind words, and be remembered when absolute dictatorship becomes an acknowledged psychologic fact!

Cheap Girls.

A girl who makes herself too cheap is one to be avoided. No young man, not even the worst, except for a base purpose, wants anything to do with a cheap young lady. For a wife, none but a fool or a rascal will approach such a woman. Cheap jewelry nobody will touch if he can get any better. Cheap girls are nothing but the refuse; and the young men know it, and they will look in every other direction for a life-long friend and companion before they will give a glance at the pinchbeck stuff that tinkles at every turn for fascinating the eye of any that will look. You think it is quite the "correct thing" to talk loudly and coarsely, be boisterous and heydenish in all public places; to make yourself so bold and forward and commonplace, everywhere, that people wonder if you ever had a mother, or a home, or anything to do! So be it. You will probably be taken for what you are worth, and one of these years, if you do not make worse than a shipwreck of yourself, you will begin to wonder where the charms are that once you thought yourself possessed of, and what evil spirit could have so befooled you. Go on, but remember, cheap girls attract nobody but fools and rascals.—McMillan's Magazine.

Daily Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JULY 12, 1877.

New Hampshire Legislature.

In the House, on Wednesday, the Committee on Incorporations reported an act repealing sections three and four of the act passed the present session to incorporate the Strafford County Manufacturing company. The effect of this will be to take away from the company the right to take water from Merry Meeting pond into Cocheco river. It was debated at length and ordered to a second reading.

The special assignment for the morning was taken up, being the act reported to reorganize and equalize Senatorial districts according to the amended constitution. By the bill reported the State is organized into 24 districts, which will stand 17 republican and 7 democratic districts. Mr. Sinclair of Bethlehem offered an amendment making substantially a new bill that would give 14 republican districts and 10 democratic. Mr. Morris of Epping moved that the bill and Mr. Sinclair's amendment be recommitted to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments. A long discussion followed and Sinclair offered an amendment to the motion of Morris, instructing the Committee to report a bill giving the republicans 14 and democrats 10 Senators. Mr. Sinclair's amendment was lost. The House then adjourned.

Another Spanish Outrage.

Another American whaling schooner, the "Rising Sun," Capt. Taylor, has been seized by a Spanish man-of-war and her mate held a prisoner for five days, at the end of which time another gunboat arrived and the vessel was released. At the time the first man-of-war appeared the captain and mate of the whaler had just killed two small whales and were pursuing others when the boom of a gun was heard, and a shot ricocheted over the waves and plunged into the sea ere it reached them. Though astonished at this unlooked-for occurrence, the whalers still continued their work. But soon two more loud reports and two hissing balls followed each other in rapid succession. Capt. Taylor, perceiving that something must be done, leaving the dead whales, started for his vessel, but he was intercepted by the enemy. His own person was demanded as a hostage until the other Spanish gunboat should make her appearance and examine his papers. He refused, and they demanded his chief mate, and were inexorable. In vain he protested, reminding them of the loss to his vessel, and claiming the validity of his papers. Mr. Atkins, the mate, was taken and placed on board, the captain being left alone to secure the whales as best he could, a difficult task in the heavy sea. For five days the mate was detained until the second Spanish gunboat arrived and declared the papers correct. This detention at this particular time, in the midst of a school of whales, was a serious loss to the vessel, and is but a sequel to the outrage perpetrated on the Ellen Rizpah and her captain.

News and Notes.

The engineer of the Brooklyn bridge gives the following notice to mariners: On and after July 11 the stranda of the East river bridge cables will be in a final position, which will be at the lowest point at the middle of the river 145 feet above high water.

Ex-Lieut. Gov. Stockdale of Texas, aged fifty-seven years, was married in Washington on Tuesday night to a daughter of Congressman Schleicher, aged sixteen years.

An accident that was almost fatal occurred in Rowley, Mass., last Thursday, at the public wedding of Rev. John Lowell with Miss Hattie Richardson. It was intended to fire a cannon just as the bridal party left the altar, but owing to some mistake it was not fired until some seventy-five people came from the church and stood in front of it, when the gun exploded with such force that it drove large pieces through the church, and other pieces, that weighed fifteen pounds, were sent nearly a quarter of a mile. But two persons were injured. Mrs. Henry Wade was struck in the neck, and Mr. George Smith in the knee, but both were quite comfortable at last accounts.

Fourteen persons, nearly all officials of the National Steamship Line, have been arrested in New York for the wholesale smuggling of silks and laces into this country from Europe. The superintendent and delivery clerk of the National Line piers received $25 for every barrel of smuggled goods landed. One man confesses to having received over 120 barrels of fine silks within three years; and the pursers and storekeepers of the various steamships of the National Line confess to having each landed from thirty to fifty barrels of silks and two to ten cases of costly laces, within the same time. It is calculated that $1,000,000 worth of goods have been thus introduced in the past two years, and the smuggling has been carried on for eight years.

The Northampton bank robbers, and Jey, the Rockport murderer, are now on trial in Massachusetts.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10.

There appears no diminution of interest in Mexican matters though the arrest of the Louisiana Returning Board now divides the attention recently devoted to them. There are no new developments of special significance to report. The Star charges that there is now here a large Mexican lobby, laboring to still further complicate our relations with that government and to precipitate hostilities. It is charged with having instigated many of the past raids from interested motives, and with a readiness to undertake another immediately to provoke an armed collision. Its character is generally understood as not the most reputable; but the matter and manner of its backing secures for it a quasi-respectability of character not accorded to the filibustering cabals that formerly honored the Federal Capital with their presence. Among other men known or believed to be more or less intimately identified with it, is Mr. Scleicher, member of Congress from the 6th Texas district. Great activity is noted in working up claims for indemnity, which are said to be sold for a very small consideration or given away in order to their wide distribution, thus insuring more general demand for war in case their payment is refused, as most of them likely will be.

Feeling ranges high over the arrest of Madison Wells and his Returning Board associates. The President is represented as much incensed at the alleged lack of good faith on the part of Louisiana democrats, who promised oblivion for offenses of the kind charged against Wells & Co. in return for the surrender of the State to their control. The indignation appears genuine and general throughout administration circles. Rumors as to the origin and purpose of the arrests are numerous and contradictory. On the one hand they are attributed to the extreme men of Nicholls' party, who are angry at his moderate course and are forcing this issue to rid the party of such as he. Pitkin, at present in this city and mysteriously busy, emphatically denies that he or Packard had aught to do with prompting the arrests as charged, but his manner renders it certain that he bears the administration no good will and that he, at least, will take advantage of every circumstance to vindicate himself and the cause he represented; and if the President were to be hurt thereby, it would not break his heart. In conclusion, I may venture to say that the most ingeniously vindictive could hardly hit upon a move seemingly more embarrassing to the administration, nor one that could more delight its opponents, and they are sufficiently numerous to make trouble, judging from present manifestations.

Advices from General McDowell reveal the same anxiety as is noticed about the War Department relative to General Howard's ability to successfully cope with the hostile Indians with the force now available for that purpose. His means for a rapid concentration are too inadequate to expect an early and a decisive victory. KNOX.

The War.

A Berlin despatch says: "At the last interview Lord Odo Russell informed Prince Bismarck that England would under no condition whatever suffer the Russian occupation of Constantinople. Prince Bismarck replied that he considered the occupation of Constantinople the best way to obtain the purposes for which the war was commenced."

It is stated that Constantinople is under a reign of terror. Crowds of lawless soldiers and bands of Circassians and Zebeks rob and murder with impunity. The streets are given up to these outlaws after nightfall and all cafes and public resorts close at sundown. The massacre of all Christians and foreigners in Constantinople is liable momentarily.

Louis Napoleon's Courtship.

Mr. Blanchard Jerrold, in his volume just published in London, tells the conclusion of Louis Napoleon's courtship. It was at the New Year ball in '53 that as the company were passing to the supper room, Mlle. de Montijo and Mme. Fortoul, wife of the minister of public instruction, reached one of the doors together. Mme. Fortoul, mastered by that jealousy of the fortunate lady which was general at court, rudely rebuked Mlle. de Montijo for attempting to take precedence of her. The young lady drew aside with great dignity before this affront, and when she entered the supper room the pallor and trouble in her face at once attracted the notice of the emperor as she took her place at his majesty's table. In great anxiety he rose and passed behind her chair to ask what had happened. "What is the matter? Pray tell me." The marked and sympathetic attention of the emperor drew all eyes upon the lady, who became covered with confusion. "I implore you, sire, to leave me," she answered; "everybody is looking at us." Troubled and perplexed, the emperor took the earliest opportunity of renewing his inquiry. "I insist upon knowing. What is it?" "It is this, sire," the lady now answered haughtily, the blood mantling her cheek, "I have been insulted to-night, and I will not expose myself to a second insult." "To-morrow," said the emperor, in a low, kind voice, "nobody will dare to insult you again." Returned home, Mme. de Montijo and her daughter, their Spanish blood thoroughly roused, made hasty preparations to leave Paris for Italy. On the morrow morning, however, the mother received a letter from the emperor, in which he formally asked the hand of Mlle. Eugenie de Montijo in marriage; and the ladies, within a few days, removed from their apartments to the Elysee, which was assigned to the emperor's betrothed. Within a month Mlle. de Montijo sat on the throne of the Tuileries beside Napoleon III.

—Palm leaf fans are popular with summer church goers, as they hide very effectually the most elastic yawn.

—When Thomas Crapo sailed out of the harbor of New Bedford a few weeks ago in a tiny boat bound for Europe, he had the consciousness of being the greatest ass in the world. It is unsafe to forecast the possibilities of human folly; for Crapo is to be out-Crapoed. Another Lilliputian craft is on the stocks in the same harbor; it is to be built of cedar with an oak frame, and is to have a centre-board and three masts; and is to round Cape Horn and possibly circumnavigate the world.

—Senator Spencer of Alabama was taken for a highwayman while he was journeying to the Black Hills, late in June. The Treasury agent who left Deadwood in the Bismarck stage had been cautioned to take no risks, and if any suspicious persons should appear on the road to "get the drop on them." The messenger, the driver, and another man employed by the company, all had rifles close at hand, when four horsemen were espied galloping down a mountain toward the stage. It was a lonely spot, and the messenger did not like the appearance of the strangers. As the four horsemen drove up and leapt from their saddles, they were covered by three trusty rifles. "Stop! we are honest men!" said the strangers. "Throw up your hands, then," cried the messenger; and the squad of four slowly approached under cover of the rifles, and finally convinced the guardian of the national treasure that they were not public plunderers, night-riders, murderers, but only Senator Spencer and friends.

Twenty Years a Sufferer.

DR. R. T. PIERCE:

Dear Sir—Twenty years ago I was shipwrecked on the Atlantic Ocean, and the cold and exposure caused a large abscess to form on each leg, which kept continually discharging. After spending hundreds of dollars, with no benefit, I was persuaded to try your Golden Medical Discovery, and now, in less than three months after taking the first bottle, I am thankful to say I am completely cured, and for the first time in ten years can put my left heel to the ground. I am, sir, yours respectfully,

WILLIAM RYDER,

Cease Racking the System

With drastic cathartics and hurtful salivants, and use that rational and genial recuperant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the success of which in the eradication of disease and the building up of feeble constitutions has utterly confuted the preposterous medical theorists who insisted on the rationality of depleting the frame in order to restore it to health. Appetite, easy digestion, regular evacuations, a natural flow of bile, are as sure a result of the use of the finest of America's invigorants as increased loss of power and irritation of the system were of the old exhausting method. The new era of treatment inaugurated by the Bitters is indeed a happy one for the sick and feeble, for it has not only placed health within their reach, but saved them from the hurtful consequences of an absurd fallacy.

JOTTINGS.

Candidates for admission to the High School will be examined at the High School building on Friday. Examination will commence at eight o'clock A. M.

Dr. Brainard Dearborn has rented the Haven House on Islington street, having returned to Portsmouth to resume the practice of his profession.

The two men arrested by the police of this city on Tuesday on suspicion of their having been engaged in burglaries in Rowley and Ipswich, Mass., were fully identified by officer Butler of Rowley as the men "wanted" at that place. The Massachusetts officer called the fellows William Parker and Fred Dalton; the names they gave here were William Brown and William Dalton. They were taken to Rowley in the evening.

The U. S. S. "Enterprise" was once more taken into the dry dock at the navy yard, on the 10th. The rumor that that she is to be sent to sea in the dry dock has no foundation whatever, as she has only been taken out of water this time to have her keel pasted on and her seams filled with glue. The "Speedwell," which had previously been in the dock, was taken out to allow the admission of the "Enterprise," the former having been overhauled all that was necessary to do in the dock.

The Secretary of the Navy has issued a circular to naval constructors. It fixes the pay of the various foremen, quartermen, superintendents, and others for a day's work of eight hours from $3.20 to $4.50 per day; also the pay for a day's work of ten hours, ranging from $4 to $5.50 per day.

The failure of Valentine Doane, Jr., fish merchant, is reported with liabilities amounting to $100,000.

A competitive examination takes place next Tuesday, of candidates for teachers of the grammar school now taught in the Academy by Mr. John Durgin. We understand that there are a large number of applicants for the position.

"Ideals Made Real," and "Haydn," poems by George L. Raymond, are published by The Riverside Press in one volume, gotten up in the usual excellent style of that establishment; price, $1.25. Professor Raymond is a vigorous writer and graceful versifier; we do not assume to say whether or no he is a poet, but we do say that we enjoy his poems, with their healthy, elevated sentiment and pure pathos, beautiful imagery and chaste language, far more than we do the slangy, slap-dash effusions of some of the "popular" poets of the day; and his poems will be read and admired years after the latter are forgotten, or remembered only to be derided.

A reception was given in honor of Ex-Gov. Noyes at Boar's Head, Hampton Beach, on the evening of the 10th, on which occasion he was presented with an ebony, gold-headed cane, by the temporary residents. A very large concourse of people assembled in the hotel parlor. Commodore Stevens presided and Hon. Daniel Needham delivered the address of welcome. Hon. Amos Tuck delivered the presentation speech. Gov. Noyes was deeply affected in his reply, the presentation being a perfect surprise to him. Remarks were made by Senator Rollins and Hon. J. D. Wyman. A serenade and ball closed the evening.

The new ship Governor Goodwin was successfully launched at East Boston, Wednesday morning. She is rated the highest that can be awarded any vessel by Lloyds; is 218 feet long, 48 feet beam and 24 feet depth of hold, and measures 1600 tons. Her owners are Messrs. M. F. Pickering & Co. of Boston, and she will be commanded in the San Francisco and China trade by Capt. William Lester. There was a large crowd in attendance to witness the launch, and about 300 went off in her.

"A WORHLESS SOUL."

NORTH HAMPTON, June 30th.

Publishers N. H. Gazette: I notice in your issue of June 21st an article entitled "A Worthless Soul." I will not stop to comment upon the first paragraph in that article, but proceed to the second. It appears, (according to the author's statement) that there is a very mean man in North Hampton (his name is not known) who has desecrated our cemetery in a most shameful way, by robbing the grave of one of the soldiers of our late war, of its flags, wreaths, and bouquets; scattering the flowers with destructive hand, and tearing the flags into strips, etc. That article has occasioned considerable stir in our community (as the author must have intended; and maliciously too, I fear) and doubtless throughout our State; and all sorts of comments and questions are heard, such as "Who could have been so mean?" "Wasn't it a shame!" "How badly the father must feel!" "Who wrote the article?" etc. Now, gentlemen, this last question is of more importance to us than the others. Does the Gazette ("The Oldest Newspaper In America") bear us any malice, that it does not take pains to investigate? I will tell the author of that article, that the crime of slandering the living, is greater than desecrating the graves of the dead.

THE FACTS.

Permit me to state a few facts in regard to this matter. Edwin D. Marston of Brookline (not Boston) decorated the grave of his soldier-son, with flags and flowers, on Memorial Day. Bunches of violets, fuchsias, and other humble but beautifully expressive tokens of love and affection, were placed upon the bushes, which are of themselves, an adornment to the grave. These flowers were not tied; neither were there any connected wreaths; all the flowers were loose. On the following day Mr. Marston took the flags from the grave and carried them into the house of Mr. Adna Brown, where they can be seen by any who so desire. Of course, the flowers would wither in due time, and be scattered by the wind, which was the case.

WHO WROTE THE ARTICLE?

And now, I repeat the question, who wrote the article? Please tell us, that we may know whether the author is a dweller in our midst or not. If he does dwell among us, we will try and save him. I believe that all men may be saved, even the author of "A Worthless Soul." Yours for the truth, D. B. MURRAY.

[Note—Explanatory and Penitential. As advancing years add to a man's avoirdupois and willingness to do less work for more pay, the caution of youth developes into timidity; hence, when we received the foregoing, we at first thought of flatly denying that we ever published any such article as the one referred to; then we thought of charging the authorship on some North Hampton man whom we dislike, that he might get scalped off hand, but we couldn't think of any such man; then we almost decided to say it was written by a former editor, who has since left the paper and the country and gone off with Capt. Tyson to hoist the stars and stripes on the North Pole; but when we noticed that the missive which so sternly demanded—in "small caps" and Italics—"Who wrote the article?" was signed with the name of a worthy clergyman (presumably a man of peace) and expressed the opinion that "even the author of 'A Worthless Soul'" may be saved, and said that the North Hampton folks were willing to tackle even that heavy job, we finally concluded to make a clean breast of it, and own up that we wrote the article in question. Having decided on this, we were more than half minded to say nothing in explanation, in order that the good people of North Hampton might wrestle mightily on our behalf; but this also we have reconsidered,—though our friends out there need not on this account remit their supplications for our improvement, as we think there is no danger of our becoming any too good, anyway. [We think we can get a certificate to that effect numerously signed in this city, if desired; but probably our brethren at North Hampton will not consider this necessary.] We would like to say that we are sorry we wrote the item; but it would not be true. We meant every word of it, at the time we wrote having no doubt the facts were as stated, our informant being a gentleman of unquestioned probity, and his informant a lady residing in the vicinity; and we still think the soul of a man who would desecrate a grave not worth the saving, even if it could be saved. But our correspondent has undoubtedly stated the facts, and we accordingly publish his letter, with this our apology. Further, we give an extract from a letter written by the soldier's father to a friend who wrote him on the subject, as follows: "All I know about the matter was what was copied in the Boston Traveller from the Portsmouth CHRONICLE. In all previous years I have allowed the flags to remain, so there is quite a number of them there in a dilapidated condition. This year when I came up on my way home I took up the flags and left them with a friend. * * I don't think that anybody in Little River felt that way toward my son Charley. I am inclined to the opinion that the reporter, whoever he was, as he saw things was honest in his report and felt as he wrote; but as I said before, the new flags were taken up by me." Thanking our correspondent for his letter, which has saved us the trouble of hating some unknown person as long as we live, we remain—The Editor.]

Sewing Machines.

One good effect in the reduction in the prices of sewing machines will be to diminish the proportion of sales upon the instalment plan. Prices have heretofore been so high that the poorer classes have been unable to pay cash down, and in many instances they have been two or three years in paying for their machines. There have been many cases of hardships resulting from the practical workings of this instalment plan, and it is gratifying that, while the reduction in the prices of sewing machines will bring these labor-savers within the means of nearly all who want them, it will also enable purchasers to obtain them upon conditions which will preclude the practice of such extortions and robberies as have frequently occurred in the past. Some sewing machine concerns have discontinued entirely the sale of machines upon the instalment plan, while others, that sell both for cash and on instalment, report that prices are so much lower than a few months ago that they are selling a much larger proportion of their machines for cash than formerly. There were some companies which were not directly protected by the patents which expired in May, but the result proves that they were all alike interested in them as far as regards sustaining the high figures which have until lately prevailed. Since the expiration of the patents the prices of all machines, whether the manufacturers belonged to the combination or not, have been very materially reduced. Some people had an idea that the prices of sewing machines would come down to $25, and this is, indeed, true in regard to some machines. There are high-priced machines and low-priced machines, and while the latter may now be purchased at $20 or $30, it will probably be a long time before we shall see what are really first-class machines going at these figures.

Sewing machines dealers now advertise their cash price instead of their instalment price, as formerly, and, great as the reduction has really been during the last few months, this change in the method of advertising prices is apt to convey an exaggerated idea of the decline. It seems like a decline of fifty per cent. to see a machine advertised for $30 which was formerly advertised for $60, but the $30 is cash price and the $60 the price on the instalment plan; and while the machine advertised at $60 could have been bought for cash at $45, the same machine now advertised at $30 would cost $37.50 if purchased upon instalments. Sellers, being obliged to make a large reduction, are anxious to make it appear even larger than it really is, and this change in the method of advertising their prices is well adapted thus to mislead purchasers.

They are very anxious to convey an exaggerated impression as to the decline which has taken place, in order that people may have an idea that prices have already touched bottom, and not insist upon still lower figures. The sewing machine manufacturers insist that present prices are so low as to afford a very narrow margin for profits, and that any future changes in price are more likely to be upward than downward. Everybody knows that the concessions which they have made were made because they felt compelled to take such a step, and if they think it possible again to put up prices they may be counted on to do it. It must seem very hard to the sewing machine companies, after extorting millions from the poor people of the country, to come down to legitimate profits and sell their goods for what they can really afford, and it is only fear of competition from new manufacturers that has constrained them to make any concession from their former extortionate prices. It is not probable, however, that anything like the old figures will ever again be established. The days of governmental protection against competition from outside parties are over, and the relation of supply and demand is likely in the future to be the regulator of prices. It might, indeed, be a good thing for the people in the long run if the companies should attempt to re-establish the prices which formerly prevailed. In this way competition from new sewing machine manufacturers would all the more readily be induced to enter the field—Sunday Herald.

—Chicago has at immense expense tunneled the lake for some miles, that she might obtain an inexhaustible supply of pure water, and then pours her sewage and dumps her garbage in the lake until the water supply is tainted.

—Daniel Webster and Jeremiah Mason, out driving the circuit together once, thought one Sunday they'd call on the Enfield Shakers, but friend Dyer said, inflexibly: "We cannot admit thee on the Sabbath." Mason became biblically emphatic in his language, and demanded if Dyer knew who he was. "Nay," said the Shaker, "but, judging from thy size and thy profanity, I take thee to be Jeremiah Mason."

Daily Chronicle.

Why She Was Angry.

She was fixed up in her prettiest, and had just started out to make her calls, determined to let her lady friends know that other people could wear new bonnets as well as themselves. The man who was going to wet down the street with the hose turned on the water just as she passed his store. For a moment she did not know whether it was a cloud burst or the second deluge; but when the man humbly said:

"Excuse me, madam," her emotion found vent in words.

"Excuse you!" she said. "Yes, I'll excuse you when you go down in your clothes and bring up seventeen dollars for a new bonnet. When you pay four dollars for this dress; when you yield up eleven dollars and a quarter for this polonaise; when it ceases raining down my spinal column; when you purchase me a box of bronchial troches, and six patent mustard plasters; when you recognize my claim to nine dollars damages for injury to my feelings, then I'll excuse you."

The man told her to make out a bill of items and he would settle it, if he had to use her husband for his store bill to raise the money.

—A family of children who had been brought up in poverty and ignorance in the interior of Wisconsin were brought to Milwaukee a few days ago. As it happened none of them had ever seen a picture, and when a chromo of a cat was shown to them on the wall they rushed to it and endeavored to take the animal into their arms.

—A prospective father-in-law in Paris makes inquiries concerning his prospective son-in-law of a friend. The replies are of the most satisfactory character, till the friend says frankly, "Still I must admit that he has one grave defect." "What is that? Does he play the accordion?" "He does not know anything about gambling." "Why, that is not a defect, it is a virtue." "Yes, but you see—he gambles all the same."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

"A Fascinating Work on an Entrancing Topic.

HE WILL COME;

BY STEPHEN H. TYNG, JR., D. D.

This work is not prophetical. It discusses the topic as a livelier promise. Its plan is to follow the narrative of a Christian's experience of the revealed facts in the next dispensation. There is not a line of controversy in the volume. Yet it is full of bold and original thought, apt illustration, and forcible writing, and it is a work which no one who is "watching and waiting" for the Lord can afford to miss. 8mo., 216 pp., $1.25 in Cloth; $2.50 in Morocco. CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors want them. I enclose $6.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years:

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and fifty, but am in good health and strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and do good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Iadvised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last packet I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatism for years, for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for some twelve years with Neuralgia in face and neck. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and got only partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for the last two winters, suffering and travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; my nerves had worn out my body and spent the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mayo, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Lizzie Patton, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the Proprietors, agents and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medi ca could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule o Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the inhe trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy eilef, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS, CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a County Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

Upon the walls of one of the most elegant of the palace mansions of New York, among scores of other things of a like nature, are two gems of art bearing the above titles, that tell as plainly as language could portray the story they are intended to illustrate. The former represents the interior of a two-roomed cottage in a village of France; everything around, though simple, is yet indicative of comfort, and not devoid of taste. Lying upon a cot, asleep, is a man who has lived apparently to see the seasons of three-score years, and whose fine head and well-formed features afford a study for the phrenologist and a subject for the skill of the artist. Bending over him as she touches with her lips his forehead, is a girl of seventeen, whose beautiful face and maturely developed form, though in the simplest attire, form the chief attraction of the picture. At the open door is seen a gentleman, in traveling costume, and through the casement a coach and horses are visible in the moonlight, the driver upon his seat and a servant in attendance. The second picture presents the same scene, but under a different aspect. In his long-accustomed chair by the hearthstone sits the old man with hands firmly clasped before him, eyes cast upon the floor, and upon his face an expression of unbending sternness. Before him kneels the same fair girl, but in the more mature womanhood that three years have given her, presenting her child, whose little hands rest upon his knees as she looks upward to his face—the perfect resemblance of herself, as none can doubt, when at a similar age, her little feet to him made music upon the cottage floor. Within the apartment, wearing an expression of deep interest in the passing scene, is the same gentleman, but a shade older, seen before, arrayed like his wife, for such she is, in traveling costume, and before the cottage are the carriage and horses, with the driver and servant. The following is the story that furnished a subject for these exquisite productions of the artist's skill.

At the period when the overthrow of Napoleon, upon the field of Waterloo, had restored tranquility to Europe, among the travelers who made a stopping place for a time of the pretty village above referred to, was George Roscoe, a young Englishman of large wealth and high position in a social scale, where fine form and handsome face drew upon him many admiring glances wherever he was seen in his journeyings. Of all the village maidens none was so fair in his eyes as Therese Dupre, whose acquaintance he had made in one of the rural rambles he was accustomed to take in the neighborhood unattended by his servant, when both had stopped to assist to the nearest cottage a lady who had been thrown from her vehicle by a runaway horse. She attracted him not more by her simple beauty and artlessness of manner, than the intelligence and culture she possessed, the source of which was readily apparent when he met her again and accompanying her home, received an introduction to her father as he sat at the door awaiting her return; for motherless as she was, they were all that remained of the family circle.

Pierre Dupre, though possessed of rare intellectual cultivation for one whose advantages of education in early life had been very limited, was a man of strong prejudices, and in no way was it more apparent than in his uncompromising antipathy to all of English blood; nor had the feeling ever reached with him so high a point as then, when the idol of his heart, under whom he had served in his prime of manhood, and shared with him in some of his most brilliant victories, was held by them a prisoner on the lone rock of St. Helena. It was in vain that his daughter tried to convince him it was a true and honorable affection professed for her by the first who had ever won her love, and that if she became the wife of George Roscoe, it would be their mutual wish that he should share with them their beautiful homes both in town and country; he would not believe that aught else than treachery could exist in the breast of an Englishman, nor would he listen to the idea of leaving the cot where he was born, even for a palace of royalty were it in a land whose people he so much detested.

After much solicitation, for her English lover had acquired, by persevering study, during a long sojourn in Paris, the language of the French as fluently as his own, Therese consented to take her leave of home with him on a designated night; trusting that her father would be reconciled to what she had done when the marriage tie was formed between them, and welcome her back with his wonted affection. If George Roscoe had ever contemplated for a moment a betrayal of the confiding girl who had trusted to him her all as she would to a brother, a single glance at the innocent face that looked up to his own in the morning light, and that had rested upon his breast through the livelong night, would have banished from his mind a thought so base. An hour's rest and refreshment at a village where they stopped at sunrise, enabled them to proceed on their way to the more populous place they reached by noon, where an English clergyman had made his home and gathered a flock of like faith around him, who formed the tie between them that death alone could part. Two days more found them in Paris, of which Therese had heard so much during the latter days of Napoleon's career, and the restoration of a Bourbon to the throne of France that succeeded, when she lost no time in writing to her father, announcing her marriage, and asking his forgiveness; but no answer came, nor a word of reply to the notes of affection through which she continued to keep him informed of all that related to her welfare in the three years that followed her departure from home.

In their journeyings from place to place, from one people to another of the various nations of Europe, and mingling with the most cultivated society that each afforded, George Roscoe never had cause to be otherwise than proud of the village girl he had taken to share with him his wealth and position in life. The Intelligent mind and refined tastes she inherited from her parents, though they had never known aught of the abundance and luxury that had fallen to the lot of their child in her marriage, rendered her the equal of all, whatever their degree, into whose society she chanced to be thrown. The only drawback to her happiness was the persistent continuance of her father in leaving her letters unanswered; but she was made acquainted with his well-being by a correspondence with one of the most valued of her former companions, and would not resign the hope that his iron will would at length give way, and she would be received by him with the affection of other days. How she wished his presence when looking upon some beautiful scene, some marvel of art of the great masters of old, or wondrous effort of the skill of the architect, that met her eye in her various wanderings, all of which she knew he had the mind and taste to appreciate, and hoped he would yet share with her, at some after day, in their enjoyment. She almost feared, sometimes, it was but a bright dream through which she was passing, as she thought of the happy lot that had been bestowed upon her; yet never forgetting to bless the kind Providence that had thrown such sunshine on her pathway, nor to ask that she might be made more worthy to receive such bounteous gifts.

Though mingling ever, when at home, with the most brilliant society his country afforded, the fortunate young Englishman had never the first thought of regret that his choice of a life-long companion had been made among those less favored than himself in worldly advantages; nor were it his lot to sit upon the throne of the sovereign to whom his allegiance was due, would he have asked other than Therese to share it with him. Had the "first gentleman of Europe," indeed, as he was termed by his flatterers, who filled the position, as regent, at the time, possessed but half his virtues and noble instincts, he would have been an honor to the land that gave him birth, instead of leaving but a name that serves at best but to "point a moral," though it can scarcely be said to "adorn a tale."

The youthful tourists were not of the class who rush with speed from one interesting locality to another, with neither the taste or capacity to appreciate that which to others gives present enjoyment and a theme for happy retrospect in after years, merely to say they have visited such and such places of note, without being able to recall the attractions they possess for more intelligent travellers. After a long sojourn in Italy, lingering for months together amid the attractive novelties of Rome, Naples and Venice, and the cities long buried beneath the lava and ashes of Vesuvius, they entered Switzerland over one of the great passes of the Alps, enjoying not less, though toilsome and rough the way, the dread heights and precipices, the roaring torrents, and the wastes of eternal ice and snow through which their route had led. From the beautiful valley where they stopped to rest, they could look back upon the craggy steeps, grey rock, and snow and ice-clad heights, that glistened like gold in the sunlight, over which they had so lately journeyed; the scene here and there dotted with spots of verdue, and picturesque cottages dwarfed to scarce beyond the size of toys by the towering heights that rose above them. Through the peaceful village where they sought repose, a little stream, spanned by a rustic bridge, passed on its way over broken rocks, making music to the ear of the lover of nature in the stillness around as it disappeared among the trees, while from the steeps above could be heard, at the sunset hour, the voices of shepherds as they sang their evening hymn. It was during the time of their stay in this quiet retreat, that the little Therese appeared to give an added joy to their hearts; nor was it until the first three months of her life was passed, that they retraced their steps across the Alps for a re-enjoyment of the scenes they could never forget, in the home of art and song, the sunny land of Italy.

Two happy years went by to George Roscoe and his much-prized wife, during which no spot famed for its classic beauty, or made memorable by deeds of old renown, passed unnoted by them in their journeyings between intervals of rest, and then, while at Venice, a letter came to Therese from the faithful correspondent who had kept her informed, unknown to him, of all that related in her absence to the well-being of her father, with the intelligence that his maiden sister, who had served him as housekeeper since her departure, had been called away to her long home. Therese, who had never ceased to write to her parent, without receiving a word of reply, with the ready acquiescence of her husband at once imparted to him her intention immediately to return to seek once more his forgiveness, and a fulfilment of the long-cherished wish of both that he would accept the bounteous home they would give him.

Ere another fortnight came to a close the scene was enacted in the little cottage with which the reader has been made familiar. With the same unbending aspect as presented by the artist, the old man sat as if changed to marble, unmindful of the tears of his child, as, kneeling at his feet, she presented as an intercessor between them the perfect resemblance of herself in her own infantile years, until the voice of the little one was heard as she said, while looking upward, with a happy expression, to the statue-like face above her, "I love you, grandpapa, will you not love me?" It was too much even for the iron will of the stern old man, nature at length held sway, and clasping the little innocent to his heart, he gave vent to a flood of tears. Nor did he resist when his child bent over him as she held him in her embrace, and returned the kisses she impressed upon his lips.

When Pierre Dupre had learned from his daughter how faithful and loving and true her husband had ever been to her from the hour of their union; how gently he had cared for her in sickness and health, and amid all their wanderings, he sought to make amends to her noble and generous-hearted companion for the injustice he had done him through prejudice against the nation to which he belonged. It was no slight struggle that he had with himself ere he could consent to leave his birthplace, and the cot, though lowly, where he first saw the light, but he became reconciled at length when the assurance was given him that everything within the humble dwelling should remain just as it was, and that he could revisit it as often as it suited his inclination to do so. He lived long to enjoy a peaceful and happy home with his children at their London abode, and the beautiful country-seat that was theirs in its suburbs; and what was to him one of the great events of his life, he survived to share and hold an honored place in the gorgeous ceremonials when the remains of his beloved commander were brought from the "lone barren isle" where they had rested so long, to repose beneath the dome of the Invalides.

The story, though happy in its ending, teaches no lesson to the young of disobedience to parents, when is considered the reverse of the picture—an unwedded mother, a worse than fatherless child—that in most cases would have been the result of such a departure from a parent's wishes.

Concord Correspondence.

CONCORD, July 11.

Late in the afternoon the motion to recommit the Senatorial district bill was debated by Messrs. Norris of Epping, Ordway of Warner and Batchelder of Littleton, and the motion was lost on the roll call by a vote of 121 yeas and 190 nays. Then the House was informed of a compromise which had been rumored all the afternoon. It agreed that the bill should be considered at 11 to-morrow morning, and that only two votes should be taken on the matter, one upon the substitution of Mr. Sinclair's bill for the bill now under consideration, and if this is rejected the other upon the bill under consideration.

The republicans have agreed upon some amendments to "an act defining the representation of towns of less than six hundred population, as shown by the Census of 1870," as proposed by the democrats, which will not materially alter the bill, and this bill will go through without much factious opposition.

House bill No. 59, which is "an act in amendment of chapter 99 General Statutes, in relation to trials of complaints and indictments for being a common seller of spirituous liquor, or for keeping the same for sale," Mr. Boyle made a motion to indefinitely postpone, and then called for the yeas and nays, which resulted in 53 yeas and 206 nays. The bill was then passed.

A joint resolution in regard to the proprietors of the Portsmouth Bridge was passed; also a joint resolution in relation to the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the battle of Bennington, appropriating $7500 in all—$5000 for a monument and $2500 for the celebration; also an act to incorporate the Manchester and Fitchburg Railroad Company; also a joint resolution for the appointment of a Commission to take into consideration matters relating to the Winnipiseogee Lake Cotton and Woolen Manufacturing Company. This Commission was the result of petitions signed by 1200 parties claiming to be damaged by the flowage and drainage of Lake Winnipiseogee by the company.

Mr. Barton introduced a bill for the destruction of noxious animals and birds, which is the same as the one which has just been defeated in the Senate, with the exception of the crow section being left out.

Considerable discussion arose as to whether $6000 should be appropriated to the N. H. College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, but it was passed. Yours, A. B.

The War.

A despatch from Constantinople states that the Sultan has sent a peremptory command to Abdul Kerim Pasha to advance, and a battle is liffely to open immediately at Rasgrad, on the Shumla line. The Khedive has sent the Sultan a reinforcement of $20,000 men. A telegram from Erzeroum says that the Russian garrison at Bayazid is expected to surrender, owing to the terrible sufferings of the troops, they having neither provisions nor water. The Russians acknowledge their campaign in Asia Minor a failure. Mukhtar Pasha has reached Kars, and the Russians have raised the siege of that place.

News and Notes.

The Georgia Constitutional Convention met at Atlanta on Wednesday, and organized. Charles J. Jenkins was chosen President. In his address to the Convention, Jenkins said "It is unnecessary to caution you against doing anything that would infringe upon the rights of the negro race." This was received with great applause.

Joseph E. Davis, Mayor of Tuscoloosa, Alabama, has been poisoned. He was a witness in the trirl of some counterfeiters, and while in the secret service arrested them. Another secret service officer, an important witness for the Government in the same case, was assassinated at Blount Springs, and Paul Boulton, who testified against the counterfeiters, was fatally shot at Tuscaloosa. Thomas Maxwell, another witness, was poisoned.

Mrs. Eliza O'Connell and her child, and Mrs. Mary M. O'Connor and her two children, were drowned at Baton Rouge, La., Wednesday, while trying to cross the river in a skiff.

On Wednesday afternoon a large number of men were overcome by gas in the mines of the Brookfield Coal Company, near Wheatland, Pa., on the Erie and Pittsburg Railroad, between Sharon and Newcastle. The number reported dead is seven. The coal from the Brookfield mine is hauled out by a locomotive engine. Wednesday morning the managers of the mine ordered that anthracite coal be burned in the engine furnace instead of soft coal heretofore used. About eleven o'clock the engineer passed into the slope. After being in a short time, the men in charge of the engine became suddenly affected by the gas from the hard coal, causing them to fall to the ground in a senseless condition. The engineer managed to make his way back to the mouth of the bank and gave the alarm, at which a large number of men rushed into the bank to rescue their comrades. One after another they passed in, but were almost immediately overcome by gas, and they too fell insensible. After several had thus fallen a gang was organized to rescue those who went in last, and squads of four or five passed in until they came to a fallen comrade, when they would take him in their arms and carry him out to the open air. In this way thirty-six men were brought out, six of whom were either dead before reaching the mouth of the bank or died immediately after.

The revenue steamer Grant, with Secretary Sherman on board, struck a rock at Sprucehead Wednesday afternoon and was detained several hours. Little damage was done.

The Times of Philadelphia reports the third acquittal of Frank Kelly for murdering colored republicans at the Philadelphia election in 1871. It says Kelly was implicated in the Ohio election frauds last Fall, and threatens serious disclosures concerning the democrats.

On Friday, July 6th, Mrs. John Green, living near Roanoke, Randolph county, Mo., was shot by her husband. Green claimed that it was accidental, but Mrs. Green declared that it was not, and shortly afterwards died. Mrs. Green's father caused the arrest of Green, and he was taken to Huntsville. On Monday night fifty men took Green from the Sheriff and hanged him. He left seven children.

On Wednesday, an extra engine and caboose running toward Greenfield, Mass., on the Fitchburg Railroad, at Wendell station ran into a team which was crossing the railroad at that point, killing Ira Davis, Mrs. Jonah Davis, his mother, Mrs. Ira Wakefield, Mrs. Eugenie Brown and Miss Nellie Lacey. Mrs. Brown lived half an hour. The others were killed instantly, and were badly cut up. The crossing is near the depot, and is a very blind one. Neither the engineer nor the persons in the team saw each other until one or the other was on the crossing. The locomotive was not running at a very great speed, as it stopped near the crossing. The party were returning home from berrying. The carriage was completely demolished. The horse was uninjured.

The University of London had to give this year the prize in applied mathematics and mechanics to Miss Ellen M. Watson, who also won the Meyer de Rothschild scholarship of $250 per annum, and the Professor who called out her name said she had the finest mathematical mind he had ever yet met with among his pupils of either sex. When we remember the prizes that have been borne off here this year by ladies in fair competition with the other sex, we must conclude that their claims to mental equality with men are not very ridiculous after all.

Experiments with electricity in London have succeeded in producing an electric light that is at once powerful, continuous and steady, the desiderata that have been much sought after but never obtained before. The new arrangement delivers currents of electricity to two strips of carbon bound together with "kaolin" and called the "electric candle." The light of each candle is estimated to equal that of 100 gas jets. The Russian Government has already introduced a variety of this light for the protection of garrisons on exposed coasts, which makes objects visible at night two miles off. This discovery may cause a revolution in the matter of illumination.

Harral, the slayer of Lieutenant Catesby Jones, has been admitted to bail in the insignificant sum of $15,000, and the friends of the murdered man are very indignant. He has engaged two of the best lawyers in Selma, Ala., and sets up the customary plea of self-defense. Their children had a pitched battle in the streets, and young Jones, who was in the wrong, had been sent to his playmate's house with a basket of fruit and an apology, but his overtures were received with such bad grace that another boys' fight was precipitated. Then Lieutenant Jones went over to his neighbor's house to remonstrate against such vindictive behavior, and was shot down at the door. Harral says that the lieutenant carried with him a huge stick, and attempted to use it. Lieutenant Jones asserted in his ante-mortem statement that he had not the least thought of stirring up strife. It was certainly a strange fate that the gallant sailor who commanded the Merrimac in her second day's fight should be shot down like a dog for playing the part of peacemaker in a child's quarrel.

Cease Racking the System

With drastic cathartics and hurtful salivants, and use that rational and genial recuperant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the success of which in the eradication of disease and the building up of feeble constitutions has utterly confuted the preposterous medical theorists who insisted on the rationality of depleting the frame in order to restore it to health. Appetite, easy digestion, regular evacuations, a natural flow of bile, are as sure a result of the use of the finest of America's invigorants as increased loss of power and irritation of the system were of the old exhausting method. The new era of treatment inaugurated by the Bitters is indeed a happy one for the sick and feeble, for it has not only placed health within their reach, but saved them from the hurtful consequences of an absurd fallacy.

Veteran Teeth.

It is pleasant to see in the mouths of the aged, teeth that have withstood the ravages of time.

All teeth may be preserved perfect and serviceable, pure in color, and underanged in position during a whole life-time, by the regular use of Sozodont.

Everlasting attachments are made with Spalding's Glue.

THE VANILLA CHOCOLATES of Walter Baker & Co., Boston, are considered "par excellence." Their goods have been a century before the world, and have won the highest position over all competitors in the exhibitions of London, Paris, Vienna, etc. Sold by grocers everywhere.

Probably there has never been known to the world so efficient and successful a remedy for diseases of the Throat and Lungs, as Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Its success as a popular remedy is remarkable, and it has proved a blessing to the thousands who have used it. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

"Sulphuret Oil of Roses."

A wonderful External Remedy, almost miraculous in effect. By absorption it eradicates Rheumatic pains, Neuralgic, Nervousness and Throat Diseases. Sufferers do themselves positive injustice by not giving this Remedy a trial. Price 50 cents and $3. FLAVILLE, BROTHER & CO., Chemists, 30 Franklin street, Boston. ☞N. B. POLICE COURT.

Wednesday, July 11.

Oliver P. Philbrook, of Rye, was charged with cruelly beating his horse. Case continued to Saturday, July 21st.

Thursday, July 12th.

Eldad L. Hankins was arraigned for the willful murder of William Daley, the sailor who was stabbed to death during a drunken row on board schooner "Sallie Mair," on Sunday morning, 8th inst. County Solicitor Small conducted the case for the State; Walter C. Harriman, Esq., appeared for the accused. The principal witness was Thomas Sullivan, one of the participants in the fatal row, who gave evidence similar to that which he gave before the coroner's jury, to the effect that Hankins, Daley and witness were on shore the night of the row, and drank large quantities of beer, but did not get drunk; that Hankins and Daley quarrelled on account of the latter's bantering the former about a dollar spent in a Water street den of infamy; and the next thing Sullivan knew of the matter was hearing Daley call out that he was stabbed. Witness did not hear Hankins say anything, nor see any blow struck by either party. The manner in which this witness answered the cross-questions of the prisoner's counsel gave the impression to the spectators that he was not anxious to clear Hankins or to criminate himself. Jacob W. Powell, captain of the "Sallie Mair," Joseph C. Powell, the mate, John C. Powell, (the two latter being the captain's sons,) and Frederick Sherman, the steward, testified as to what took place after Hankins called the captain, and to some trouble in Washington between Hankins and Daley on a former occasion when both were drunk. Dr. N. L. Folson, who made the post mortem examination, testified as to the cause of death. Sheriff Kent testified to some unimportant facts. No witnesses were examined for the defence, and the Court committed Hankins to Portsmouth jail until discharged by due course of law. Sullivan was ordered to find sureties in $1000 for his appearance as a witness at the October term of the Supreme Court; Capt. Powell and his two sons, and the steward, Sherman, were required to recognize personally in $500 each, and seventeen other witnesses in $100 each, for their appearance at the same time and place.

Thomas Sullivan was arraigned for an aggravated assault on Eldad L. Hankins. Hankins, who was the principal witness, was sworn; but it having been explained to him that he was not obliged to give evidence which might injuriously affect himself, he declined to testify, and the County Solicitor thereupon "nolled" the case. There was quite a large attendance of spectators at the Court House, where the Police Court was held.

HIGH SCHOOL EXHIBITION.

The annual exhibition of the High School was held at Franklin Hall on Thursday afternoon, commencing at half-past two o'clock. In order to avoid the uncomfortable crowding which has attended the exhibitions in years past, in the more confined quarters of the High School building, admission was this year regulated by tickets of which sufficient numbers to quite fill the Hall were not issued. A number of the front seats were reserved for the recent graduates of the Dover High School, and some other persons who had received special invitations to attend; but at the time set for the exercises to commence the doors were opened to admit enough of those who had not received tickets to fill the few seats remaining empty.

The stage and auditorium were decorated with beautiful flowers and evergreen arranged with creditable taste and skill. Besides the several class Nos. beneath the galleries, placed there with special reference to the re-union in the evening, and which are more fully described elsewhere, were exquisite clusters of flowers of brilliant and sombre hues temptingly set in baskets, urns and other receptacles, giving a pleasant fragrance to the air of the room. Nil Desperandum was lettered in evergreen and suspended upon the act drop of the stage, with the American Flag forming a back ground. The class of '77 was happily symbolized by an anchor of evergreen with the figures '77 ingeniously formed of prythian and cardinal flowers. The female portion of the class was dressed in muslin as usual, while the young gentlemen were neatly attired in dark coats and pants, white vests and white neckties. They all looked well and acted well their parts. It would be unfair to indulge in harsh criticism, and invidious to praise much, so we forbear. The following was the

The Salutatory was well written and pronounced by Arthur E. Gage.

Essay number two was a good composition and very well rendered by Miss Lizzie M. Flagg.

Essay number three was a pleasant narration of the experiences of a ride in the cars by Miss Lizzie M. Moran.

Oration on Chivalry was very gracefully delivered by Master Ira A. Stevens.

Miss Etta B. Flanders read interesting tributes to the Sketches of Sir Edwin Landseer.

The recitation of the Legend of Bregentz was finely rendered by Miss Susie H. Shackley.

George Washington Braxton, a colored youth, sang the Gypsy Boy very finely, having a pleasant, girlish voice, though lacking power.

The oration by Master E. Scott Owen, entitled Festina Lente, was a good production, and very well rendered.

Mary E. Canty read a delightful essay on the varieties of Flowers.

Miss Annie G. Garrett reflected credit upon herself in the producing of an agreeable bit of Alice Cary's life.

Samuel W. Foss delivered an amusing oration upon Growlers. Mr. Foss is the author of the Class Ode published in another column.

The Piano Duet, Mardi Gras Quadrilles, by Misses Flagg and Dow was pronounced by professionals to be very charmingly performed.

Miss Ida M. Varrell brought down the house by the naturalness of her imitation of the Irish brogue in her recitation of Mary Maloney's Philosophy.

The Two Paths in Life were clearly marked out by Master William D. Grace.

Miss Nellie L. Whitcomb's essay, Giotto, was carefully studied and well read.

E. Fred Owen's oration, entitled The Characteristics of the Times, was an ably written and instructive reminder of the peculiarities of the American people.

The prose rendering of Elaine by Miss Carrie E. Craig was creditably performed.

The song by Misses Varrell, Flagg and Taylor was finely executed.

J. Herman Emery displayed good oratorical qualities in his oration of The Study of the Classics.

Miss Lizzie Varrell recited the thrilling poem of How he saved St. Michael's in a manner that reflected much credit upon this young lady's dramatic powers; and her rendering of the piece brought forth the most vigorous applause from the audience.

The essay by Miss Flora B. Dow reflected the pleasant memories of the "last year at school" of class '77, and was racily written and prettily uttered.

The valedictory by Miss Ida F. Blaisdell was a fine production, and the young lady may feel greatly flattered by the encomiums bestowed upon her at the close of her happy effort.

This closed the exercises of the school exhibition, all of which passed off in an agreeable manner.

The Haven Medals were then awarded, as follows:

SECOND CLASS.

For diligent application, good deportment and general improvement in all the studies pursued: Girls—1st medal, Alice J. Newton; 2d medal, Ellen Gage. Boys—1st medal, Burnham Stickney. The boy entitled to the 2d medal, in point of scholarship, forfeited his right to it by demerits; it was therefore awarded to Edward H. Hilton, whose scholarship has been good and his deportment perfect during the year.

THIRD CLASS.

Best scholars in book-keeping and mathematics, including all the branches of the latter pursued during this and previous years: Flora Lydston, [this young lady also maintained the first rank in general scholarship,] Ira Leveen.

Best scholar in English composition, (only boys contend:) Daniel S. Broderick. [Master Broderick also maintained the first rank in general scholarship.]

For diligent application, etc.: Girls—1st medal, Lizzie W. Freeman; 2d medal, Mary F. Rand; Boys, Charles P. Brown.

FOURTH CLASS.

Young Ladies. Best scholar in English composition, Ida F. Blaisdell. [Miss Blaisdell also maintained the highest rank in scholarship.]

For diligent application, etc.: 1st medal, Flora B. Dow; 2d medal, Lizzie M. Flagg; 3d medal, Nellie L. Whitcomb.

Young Gentlemen. Best scholar in Latin and writing Latin, also in mathematics, Arthur E. Gage.

For diligent application, etc.: 1st medal, Ira A. Stevens; 2d medal, J. Herman Emery; 3d medal, Samuel W. Foss.

The compositions of Miss Nellie L. Whitcomb of the graduating class, and Master Charles Davis of the second class, were judged to be second in merit. Deportment is taken into account in awarding all of the medals. Following the award of medals came the presentation of diplomas to the graduates; and the exercises then closed with the singing of "America," in which the audience joined,—the assemblage broke up, and the High School year of 1876—77 was at an end.

The list of graduates contains seventeen names, as follows:

Young Ladies—Flora B. Dow, Lizzie M. Flagg, Etta B. Flanders, Annie G. Garrett, Mary L. Moran, Susie H. Shackley, Ida M. Varrell, M. Lizzie Varrell, Nellie L. Whitcomb, Ira F. Blaisdell, Mary E. G. Canty, Carrie A. Craig,—twelve.

Young Gentlemen—J. Herman Emery, Samuel W. Foss, Arthur E. Gage, William D. Grace, E. Fred Owen, E. Scott Owen, Ira A. Stevens,—seven.

We desire to express our thanks to Mr. Clarke, the Principal of the school, and all connected with him in the management, for the facilities afforded us for obtaining the foregoing report.

THE ALUMNI REUNION.

The reunion of the Alumni of the High School took place in Franklin Hall in the evening. The meeting was called to order at half-past seven o'clock, and James P. Bartlett, Esq., was voted to the chair in the absence of the President, Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett. The following officers were then chosen for the ensuing year:

President, W. H. Y. Hackett.

Vice Presidents, James T. Fields, Boston; Stephen W. Clarke, Portsmouth; Rev. E. A. Rand, Franklin, Mass.; Mrs. C. C. Akerman, Miss Lizzie S. Pray, Portsmouth.

Recording Secretary, W. R. Foster.

Corresponding Secretaries, Miss Mary W. Harratt, Miss Carrie E. Whitcomb.

Treasurer, George E. Hodgdon.

Directors, C. A. Hazlett, P. D. Norton, W. P. Benedict, Miss Georgie Hill, Miss Edith Gerrish.

Voted, That an amendment to the Constitution be adopted, to the following effect:

ARTICLE IX. The fee for admission to membership in this Association shall be the sum of one dollar.

The chairman then stated that any person who had graduated from the High School either as scholar or teacher, and no others, will be admitted to membership; also, that no persons except members in good standing can be admitted to the reunions.

The meeting dissolved at 7:45, and was followed by the LITERARY EXERCISES.

Cuckoo Polka, Harlow's Orchestra.
Recitation, Summer Storm, Miss Johnson.
Remarks by Rev. Jas. DeNormandie.
Duet, piano and violin, Willis E. and Georg Nowell.
Recitation, How he saved St. Michaels, Miss Lizzie M. Varrell.
Remarks by H. C. Barnabee, followed by a representation of a boy's first declamation; encore, a song.
Remarks by Rev. E. A. Rand and Stephen W. Clarke, Esq.

The literary exercises were closed by the singing of the following class ode (words and music by members of the graduating class) by the graduates, under direction of Mr. S. W. Cole:

Portsmouth High School, 1877.

Words by Samuel W. Foss. Music by E. Scott Owen.

Classmates, four years' recollections,
With their sad yet pleasant power,
Wake anew our soul's affections,
As we near our parting hour.
And the years that have departed
Leave their shadows still behind,
With their images imparted,
Strong and clear, and well defined.

But henceforth our paths must sever,
And our days divided be,
And like separate streams forever
Journey on toward the sea—
Journey on with ceaseless motion,
Toward that wide and boundless sea,
Toward the vast and shoreless ocean
Of the great eternity.

But where'er our feet may wander,
Or our fates may bid us go,
May we sometimes stop, and ponder
Of our school-days long ago.
And may neither time, nor distance,
Nor all life's corroding arts,
Blot our school-days' bright existence
From the tablets of our hearts.

As, to-day, our school course finished
Makes us stronger for the strife,
And with vigor undiminished
Fits us for the scenes of life.—
So, when closed our education
In the world's great school of strife,
May our second graduation
Fit us for a higher life.

Dancing followed, and in spite of the oppressive warmth of the evening was kept up with spirit till a reasonably late hour.

Several of the classes of past years sent in floral decorations to represent the year of their graduation, among them being—

Class of '57, evergreen spear-head, with border of pansies, and white figures (numerals) in centre.

Class of '59, a shield, border of blue flowers, centre white, with red figures.

Class of '62, crescent of evergreen, with red stripes and figures.

Class of '64, wreath of pansies, with gilt figures.

Class of '65, Maltese cross of evergreen, red border, white figures.

Class of '68, the two figures composed wholly of red and white flowers.

Class of '71, evergreen shield, white figures.

Class of '72, figures of variegated flowers, bordered with green leaves.

Class of '73, four floral stars enclosing figures 73, motto "ad astra" over the top.

Class of '75, variegated wreath enclosing red star, figures of white.

Class of '76, figures of evergreen and white candy-tuft.

Class of '77, evergreen anchor with red and white figures.

Nearly all the class decorations were arranged on the front of the balconies, and added much to the cheeriness of the hall and the brilliancy of the ball-room scene.

A few visitors came down from Dover to attend the afternoon exhibition, and about forty more came down in the evening, in big teams.

Altogether, the reunion of the High School Association was a decided success; and with the experience gained each year there is no reason we can see why these annual meetings should not steadily improve—as they have in the past—until they become perfect.

AN EXPLOSION.

At ten minutes past one o'clock this morning the residents in the vicinity of Market square were startled by a tremendous report and concussion, as of a heavy piece of artillery. The explosion was soon located; all the glass in the windows of Mr. George Rice's bakery on High street, and many panes in the house of Mr. Stoddard, on the opposite corner, were found to be shattered and strewn about the street, the gas lamp on the corner also being riddled; and the remnants of the contrivance which did the mischief were soon picked up. These remnants consist of the fragments of a large paper box, such as spool cotton is packed in, and some pieces of burned fuse; and on the bottom of the box, which is nearly whole, can be traced by a scorched line the position in which the fuse laid while it was burning. What the object of the perpetrator of this act could be is hard to see; but it is possible some idiot thought himself doing something funny in thus destroying property and imperiling life,—for any person passing at the time of the explosion must have been seriously injured, if not killed. The box was placed on the ground in front of Mr. Rice's store, and probably contained a dynamite cartridge.

Col. William H. Hackett, Hon. Frank W. Miller and Samuel Dodge, Esq., with ladies, start this morning to join the assembled Press Association of New Hampshire for the annual excursion. They will be joined during the week by other members of the Association from this city.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders.

Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from Internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

"A Fascinating Work on an Entrancing Topic.

HE WILL COME;

BY STEPHEN H. TYNG, JR., D. D.

This work is not prophetical. It discusses the topic as a Divine promise. Its plan is to follow the narrative of a Christian's experience of the revealed facts in the next dispensation. There is not a line of controversy in the volume. Yet it is full of bold and original thought, apt illustration, and forcible writing, and it is a work which no one who is "watching and waiting" for the Lord can afford to miss. 12mo., 216 pp., $1.25 in Cloth; $2.50 in Morocco. BLACKSMITHS' SUPPLIES.

I RESPECTFULLY invite the attention of Blacksmiths, Wheelwrights and others interested, to the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I never should get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have give applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherre, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins County, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22nd of wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and want others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative and could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule o Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung tring climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy eilef, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS, CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

THE BLACK HILLS.—LETTER NO. 2.

ACROSS THE PRAIRIE.

Fort Pierre is within the boundaries of the Sioux Reservation. The name comes from a Frenchman who once occupied this point on the Missouri river as a trading post; it has never been occupied by troops, and there are no fortifications now, if indeed there ever were any. Two large frame buildings and a few old log cabins comprise the settlement. We waded through the mud to the "hotel" (a small cabin which nothing but extreme necessity would compel one to patronize) and learned that the wagon trail was reported to be in a very bad condition—a report we believed, from the appearance of teams, stock and men about the place. A glance at the "stage" and a comparison of the rates of fare by the different modes of conveyance decided us that we would "have no stage in ours," and after a short council we concluded that the "Bull Wagon Line" was the surest under the circumstances. Next in order came the selection of the most promising "bull-whacker,"—most promising, in this connection, means (other things being equal) one who arranges his idiomatic expressions in the most sparkling and picturesque groups. We entered the bar room, and after a careful scrutiny of a group of strange looking creatures, who with serious regularity were repeatedly drinking something out of tumblers, Edward, the printer, exclaimed, "I tumble to that daisy, there"—pointing as he spoke. He had selected the tallest, lankest specimen in the lot. Its face, in color, resembled dried beef; its hair was long, flaxen hued, and of such wild, unkempt luxuriance that it fairly divided the honors with one of the most phenomenal slouched hats that mortal eyes ever beheld. Its costume was made up principally of a dilapidated buckskin shirt, and boots. [There was an intermediate garment which no sane person would attempt to describe, such was its nondescript character, both as to material and fashion.] In its hand it carried, coiled, a lively black snake (a terrible whip lash, fifteen feet long and more than two inches through at its largest part.) To the query as to how soon it could get us into Deadwood, it replied: "D—— my —— heart, I wouldn't give a whooping —— for the whole —— outfit if I don't pike you through in twelve days. —— —— ——!" That settled it, and we concluded our bargain on the spot.

While our baggage was being weighed two of the noble red men approached and watched the operation. They were tall, slim fellows with villanous looking faces. Each wore a high felt hat, decorated with a black feather tipped with red. A frock coat apiece (perhaps taken from the bodies of murdered whites,) moccasins, and blankets—made of cheap cotton carpeting—completed their costumes (unless I include a thick coating of dirt in which their occasionally-exposed legs were encased.) Soon after starting one of these "braves," mounted on his pony, passed us and was lost to sight on the distant prairie. Some of our party made an effort to interview the flying warrior, but he scarcely condescended to look at us, and passed on in sombre haste. The printers gave him scorn for scorn, and had their language been invested with suitable dignity, I should give a verbatim report of this one sided conversation,—but as it was, n'importe. The Indians, when mounted, slip their blankets from their shoulders to their waists and wind them around their limbs in a peculiar fashion, but how they manage to keep them there is a mystery I have not yet fathomed.

Our road, at first, lay over the bottom lands bordering the river. Here we first saw the strange and beautiful prairie flowers. With expressions of welcome and delight, each one of our party ran in among them, and each (no doubt in remembrance of a cherished love or memory whose home was in the far East or over the seas) gathered a little nosegay and fastened it to his breast.

Here too we saw for the first—but not the last—time the emigrant's bete noir, the "alkali," which, in places, formed a thick white crust upon the surface of the earth. The nutritious "bunch-grass," upon which large herds of cattle were feeding, was quite abundant; and the first time we sat down to rest we were introduced to the cactus. Why such insignificant and worthless things are armed with such long and exceedingly sharp spikes is one of those mysterious things of Providential wisdom that human intelligence cannot account for. The only thing one can do is to put them into the same class with mosquitoes and people who "get up and go out" before the finale of a "performance," and then pray that the lightning may strike the lot.

Last, but not least, upon the bottom lands we first encountered the "gumbo" of the prairies. A slight penchant for out-of-doors exercise,—indulged in at my leisure in the East,—had made me a little conceited; I thought I had run through the entire gamut of pedestrianism, but I must confess the "gumbo" humiliated me, and gave me a new experience. We attempted to hunt. In thirty seconds after one starts to "chase the antelope over the plains" one has the light and airy sensation of stumbling about with his feet encased in iron-clads of the monitor model. After five minutes of this sort of thing, one finds himself nearly jerking the top of his head off by his frantic efforts to disengage his feet from the quarter-sections of prarie land that have fastened themselves to the bottom of his boots. One does not covet antelope steaks at such a price, and as the antelope has generally skipped several miles away by the time the boots are cleared, it is just as well that one does not. In the meantime the wheels of the teams have become solid discs of mud and matted grass, and the bulls are slowly and wearily floundering along, stimulated to exertion by the "black snakes," which in the hands of the drivers are constantly whirling through the air and sending out reports like a quick succession of rifle shots. The "bull-whacker" and mule driver deserves a page in my letter, but want of time and space forbids a description of this unique creature. I will only say that, at work, he is thoroughly dirty from necessity; and at leisure he is the same, apparently from choice, (at least I have never seen one wash, even when there was ample opportunity). He is extremely cruel, generally, to his animals, as hundreds of skeletons and carcasses of oxen, horses, and mules, strewn along the prarie trails will testify. He has only one redeeming quality that I know of—that of being a good Indian fighter. Were it not for this I should not dare to again show myself to the president of the S. P. C. A. without the scalp or finger joint of one of this species, to show that I had rid the dumb animals of one of their most unrelenting persecutors. I would suggest, however, to the society which employes the colporteur whom I once saw distributing tracts upon an E. R. R. train, to send that individual out here. The field is immense. In the warmth of his zeal this good man gave one of Portsmouth's fair daughters a tract on "The Sinfulness of Swearing." Let him distribute those same tracts to the "bull-whackers;" no doubt but that it would result in some good. Either a reform in the use of words suitable to engineer ox and mule trains would be instituted, or—but I draw a veil over what might be the fate of the colporteur. The image of a number six selve appears "in my mind's eye, Horatio," as a possible photograph of the remains of that saintly person.

All our troubles, as well as other things, end somewhere, and in this case our worst fight with the gumbo ceased, in a measure, upon the top of the bluffs which marked the boundary line between the bottom land and the prairies. I wish I had the power to paint, in words, the strange loveliness of a prairie, and the emotions awakened in the bosom as one stands upon it for the first time. Like all great things, a prairie is but a combination of the simplest elements; the common things constantly about us. The prairies along the entire route are rolling, and are generally from eight to ten miles wide, terminating in a ridge or range of low hills, sometimes called buttes. Topographically, these prairies would represent a series of gigantic steps, as the altitude is constantly increasing from the river to the hills.

We reached Willow Creek on our first day's march. On account of a rain and thunder storm during the night, which brought on a fresh attack of mud, we named it "Camp Gumbo." Here we organized our party into three divisions, as follows: First, scouts and hunters; second, teat gang; third, wood and water gang. Our method of procedure was as follows: Immediately after breakfast the scouts (generally four in number) would move out of camp, and advancing in the manner of skirmishers, would keep from one to three miles ahead of the teams until about noon, when selecting a spot with an eye to defense, grazing, and wood and water for cooking, they would wait for the rest of the party and the teams to come up. After dinner the scouts would proceed as before, and upon going into camp for the night the teams were corralled. The tent gang would then unload the teams, pitch the tent inside the circle of wagons and "make the beds." In the meantime the wood and water gang had got supper ready, which would be despatched by the keen appetites of hungry men. After supper an hour would be spent in smoking and conversation; then the cattle would be driven up and fastened to the outside wheels of the teams; then all hands would turn in.

It is customary for parties like ours to stand guard at night, as a precaution against the Indians. I think our party would have done the same, had it not been for the following circumstance. At our first camping place, after supper, and when the boys had just settled down to have a comfortable smoke, our teamsters joined us, and began a series of the most harrowing tales of Indian massacres. Beginning with reasonable incidents and finding willing ears, they unwisely gave play to their extremely lively imaginations until they had worked up the grotesquely horrible in a manner as fascinating as the old-fashioned ghost stories to an urchin. Pretending to take in everything—as all good pilgrims ought—the boys brought in the applause and exclamations of horror in the right place every time, and at the end of the most sanguinary story of all, all hands arose, and quietly went to bed. This elicited the enquiry from the teamsters if "we were not going to stand guard?" and at the response, "No, I guess not; we aint afraid,—are you?" our unaccustomed ears were compelled to listen to some of the most shocking language. Late at night we were all awakened by the ex-confederate yelling loudly for "Bill," (this was the bull-whacker's name) and when Bill was sufficiently awakened to use a few words of his native tongue, the ex-confederate cried out, "I say, Bill! you just go out on the perrarie and catch me a Sioux buck, fetch him right yer in this tent, and I'll put him in bed with my 'pard,' an' if he don't get the stuffin' kicked clean outer him fore mornin' I'm a prevaricator—'deed I am." Thus was the precedent established of not standing guard, and we found it too comfortable to depart from it during the entire trip.

Again, in an Indian country, the main body of emigrants should accompany the teams on the march. This, not only for the safety of the teams and all they contain, but because the wagons can be used as a breastwork and are easily defended against a superior force. On the march our boys constantly straggled to the front, and at any time while en route, a sudden swoop of Indians would have destroyed us. Only once did the party assume the appearance of discipline. One afternoon the scouts met several horsemen returning to Fort Pierre, who said that several bands of Indians had been seen during the day. Shortly afterwards Indian signs were discovered, and the facts were reported to the main body of the party. The boys then "formed a company," and with a goodly display of revolvers, marched directly in front of the teams. Presently one of the boys began to whistle, "Pull for the shore, sailor;" all joined; and with measured tread, several miles were covered to the tunes of Hold the Fort, Garryowen, Marching through Georgia, The girl I left behind me, etc. The teamsters were delighted, but after an hour of marching it became monotonous; as one of them remarked, "there is no more variety to this sort of thing than there is to an eel crawling through a lead pipe." In an untoward moment a herd of antelope appeared, and this demoralized the army. The boys broke for antelope steak, and did not stop until they came up with the scouts, who had selected the camp. Undoubtedly in the matter of standing guard and straggling, ours was a reckless party. Murders which have been committed by the Indians, since we arrived, demonstrate this fact. Yet, only discipline, or unmistakable and close danger, will keep men in the irksome vicinity of slowly moving teams. The second day out, the scouts got so far ahead that the teams and the rest of the party failed to join them. [We suspect the bull-whackers had some spite to vent in this.] As we were without food or blankets, and the night was very cold, we were not particularly happy. The coyotes—which we here heard for the first time—entertained us delightfully; yet, notwithstanding their melodious howls, we welcomed daylight and hot coffee with considerable enthusiasm.

SATURDAY, JULY 14, 1877.

Orange and Green.

Thursday, July 12th, is the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, and the Orangemen of Montreal proposed to celebrate it by a procession, with bands, orange flags and streamers, and other things which seem to act on the Irish Catholics as a red shawl does on a bull. The Catholics announced their intention of breaking up the procession at all hazards, and a bloody conflict was feared, both parties having armed themselved to the extent of their means. But at the last moment the Orangemen, by a bare majority, voted not to walk in procession, though many of them attended church on the 12th. On the way home from church, two ladies wearing orange colors were assailed by a mob of roughs and badly beaten, and a young man who interfered to protect them was shot dead; several other Protestants were wounded, one of whom has since died; and one woman was shot in the leg. Nothing can be more absurd than for these Irish factions to keep alive in this country their rage over a battle fought two centuries ago in Ireland, and the Canadian authorities would do well to prohibit all street demonstrations of both parties; but if the Catholics are to be protected in flaunting "the Green" on St. Patrick's Day the Protestants should have the same protection in carrying "the Orange" on the 12th of July.

The authorities of Montreal seem to have given the city over entirely to the Catholic mobs, the police making no effort whatever to prevent their ruffianism or protect the objects of their wrath from murder. The conduct of the Montreal authorities, if the accounts given are true, was simply infamous.

New Hampshire Legislature.

In the House, Thursday afternoon, the act repealing sections three and four of the act passed the present session to incorporate the Strafford County Manufacturing Company, was passed. This stops the new company from taking the waters of Merrymeeting pond.

The bill reorganizing the Senatorial districts came up, and after a long debate the House adjourned to eight o'clock in the evening. From eight to twelve o'clock the democrats fillibustered, and the Speaker then declared the House adjourned, as there was no quorum present.

On Friday afternoon the Governor sent to the House a message vetoing the charter of the Magdelena River Railroad, and the House sustained the veto.

News and Notes.

Albert F. Joy was on Thursday convicted of murder in the first degree, in killing Charles H. Gilman in Rockport, Mass., in April last. He was sentenced to be hung October 19th, at Lawrence, Mass. Joy's bearing in the court was one of reckless levity. He is not twenty-two years old, but is said to be an old hand at crime. He is now charged, besides the murder of Gilman, with an assault on an old man at Lewiston, Me., and also with a rape case. His character has always been bad, and his numerous employers all speak ill of him. He is believed to have confessed the murder of Gilman to at least one person since the time of its commision, but evidence of this could not be introduced into court. Joy remarked to an officer that he is glad his time is so short.

Schooner M. P. Hudson, Lake, from Lingan, C. B., with 400 tons coal for Providence, sprung a leak on Tuesday, and sunk fifteen miles off Thatcher's Island. The crew pumped eighteen hours without avail. All hands were saved and arrived at Rockport Wednesday morning.

Since the first of the year a sort of a cheap pirate, named Charles G. Gray, has infested the Maine coast from Portland to Eastport, stealing sails, rigging, chains, anchors and fish. He has also successfully burglarized a store and the Post-office at Winterport, the Post-office and store at Bucksport. Sunday he put into Bucksport, and was captured after a hard struggle.

Senator Blaine, Chairman of the Republican State Committee of Maine, has issued the call for the Convention, to be held in Granite Hall, Augusta, Thursday, August 9th, to nominate a candidate for Governor. Why does not President Hayes issue an order prohibiting such conduct on the part of a United States Senator?

James Maguire and John Brennan, two New York roughs, got five cents as the proceeds of a highway robbery. Then the courts took the matter up, and the thieves got five years each in State prison—a total of ten years in prison for five cents. That's down to hard pan prices.

The accident to the revenue cutter Grant, near Rockport, Me., is more serious than was at first reported. She struck on Lower Gangway Ledge, knocked a hole in her bottom, and was beached to keep her from filling. She failed to get off next day, (Friday,) and tug C. B. Sanford, with steam pumps and wrecking apparatus, went from Rockport to her assistance Friday night. Secretary Sherman and party were taken off the Grant by the light-house tender Iris, and continued their trip to the eastward. The Grant is the finest vessel in the revenue fleet.

Scott and Dunlap, the two noted thieves who have been on trial at Northampton, Mass., for complicity in the robbery of the bank in that town, were on Tuesday convicted by the jury. They are also to be tried on a charge of breaking into Cashier Whittlesey's house—a much heavier crime, under the laws of Massachusetts, than burglarizing a bank.

New Hampshire Items.

Lightning struck the store occupied by Benjamin Morrill in Orfordville on Tuesday forenoon, passing down the chimney through an upper room, store room and into the cellar. No one was injured but Mr. Morrill, who was thrown prostrate, and spoke with difficulty. He was also rendered nearly deaf.

During a thunder shower on the 10th the barn of Hartwill Lawrence of Merrimac was struck by lightning and entirely consumed by fire, together with about thirty tons of hay, some farming tools and other property. The loss is about $2000, and there is no insurance.

During a severe shower on Monday the stable of James H. Waldron of Farmington was damaged, and a $200 horse killed by lightning, and Horace Drew's barn at Middleton was struck and burned.

Gov. Prescott is to be the guest of Trenor W. Park during the Bennington celebration. New Hampshire will send a regiment of militia to the celebration, consisting of eight companies of infantry, one of heavy artillery, and a light battery, under command of Brig.-Gen. Clough.

A daughter of the Earl of Gainesborough, who demeaned herself in the eyes of her family by marrying her music teacher, is now living with her husband at that boarding-house summer resort, North Conway, where he plays the organ in the little Episcopal chapel every Sunday.

The War.

An Erzeroum despatch says the garrison at Bayazid is expected to surrender. The troops are suffering for provisions and water. Another despatch from St. Petersburg says that a telegram received there, dated Bayazid, announces that the garrison of Bayazid citadel has been relieved by Gen. Tergukassof, who completely defeated the Turkish investing force, numbering 30,000, capturing four guns and eighty prisoners. The town of Bayazid is destroyed.

* —Some of the clergymen of Cincinnati made an attack on the Sunday opening of the Zoological Garden. The directors passed a resolution instantly to issue annual passes to clergymen. The result is awaited.

—That $300,000 diamond necklace that the Khedive of Egypt gave Minnie Sherman, now Mrs. Fitch, is in the vaults of the National Treasury Department, because Gen. Sherman says "he hasn't money to pay State and city taxes on it, and Fitch is only a lieutenant in the navy." Congress remitted the duty, but Mrs. Fitch has never been able to enjoy the wearing of the valuable jewels.

—The mistress of a most disorderly school in Skowhegan, Me., lost control of her scholars one day, and allowed the bad boys to throw wads of paper and balls of clay at the pretty girls. One of the girls finally "reported" a certain boy who was annoying her with pot shots from a popgun. The timid school-mistress sternly reproved her for tattling in school. The girl returned to her seat, and her persecutor, resuming military operations and firing at long range across the schoolroom, hit her in the face. "If the teacher can't lick you I can," said the pretty girl, and darting across the room she struck him with a big book, dragged him out of his seat, and beat him until he lay on the floor blubbering and begging for mercy.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

CITY AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, the petition of J. Howard Dodge and others in relation to the proposed highway from North street to Jackson Hill street, was presented and was being read by the mayor, when Alderman Hoyt objected to its reading. Alderman Norton moved that the petition be read, but the Board refused to pass his motion and it was tabled.

Petition of J. K. Nute, (who proposes to start the shoe manufactory recently operated by T. S. Nowell,) for exemption from taxes, was acted upon, and it was voted to exempt him for five years. Sent to Common Council, which body concurred.

Petition of A. B. Vennard, for relay of sidewalk on Richards avenue, was referred to committee on streets with power.

The Board heard several persons on the matter of the petition of Frank Jones and others for a highway from North street to Jackson Hill street. A message was received from the Common Council that the Council had concurred in the passage of the joint resolution empowering a joint committee to sell that part of the city farm lying west of the Creek road at a price not less than $175 per acre.

JOTTINGS.

The Franklin Journal says, "Miss Emma S. Barnard recently graduated at Miss A. A. C. Morgan's select school at Portsmouth. She will return next term as one of the teachers of the school."

We have received Nos. 41, 42, 43 and 44, of the new and revised edition of Zell's Encyclopædia, which is to be completed in sixty-four numbers. The work has been revised to-date, many new articles written and eighteen colored maps added, making it a complete library on all subjects; each number is furnished at the low price of fifty cents. Published by Zell, Davis & Co., 17 & 19 South Sixth street, Philadelphia.

A dog belonging to a Mr. Sullivan, living on Deer street, on Friday bit his owners' daughter, for which impropriety he was taken to the police station and shot, by request of Mr. Sullivan.

Mr. Dow, the proprietor of Gorham Hall, Exeter, vacates that hotel on Saturday, the 14th. This large building, which came into possession of Phillips Academy two years ago, has since that time been run strictly as a first-class hotel, in which students are permitted to board under certain regulations. Mr. S. H. Dunnas, proprietor of Boar's Head Hotel, Hampton, and late proprietor of the Arlington, Boston, is to take the premises during the coming year under certain restrictions. What these are we are not informed, but for the interests of the public in general, especially of Exeter, it is hoped that it will still be continued as a hotel, for its superior cannot be found in New Hampshire, excepting the Rockingham at Portsmouth.—Boston Globe, 13th.

A Seabrook correspondent of the Exeter News-Letter says: "On the morning of the 4th, a very smart and capable man, but one cursed with a rum-and-cider thirst, was seen to have his six quart pail filled with cider from the cellar of a prominent citizen of an adjoining town. Later in the day this man was found lying flat, face down, in a dry brook. It was the opinion of those who found him, that he would have been drowned if the brook had contained the water it does in the wet season. While he was being extricated from this situation by good samaritans, those who filled the pail stood by and laughed. Angels might weep at such a scene."

Somebody attempted to burglarize the house of Mr. Meshach H. Bell, in Raitt's court, at about one o'clock Friday morning. Mr. Bell was awakened by the fellow, who had forced the fastenings of a window and raised it far enough to admit a man's body when he was discovered by Mr. Bell, who fired two shots from a revolver at him, but didn't drop him. There's nothing like a shot-gun that scatters well, for night shooting.

A correspondent of the CHRONICLE wants to know where the "silly phrase" "all the world and the rest of mankind" originated, and says he cannot find it in President Taylor's inaugural or annual message. It came from there, nevertheless, and caused a very great cry over no wool at all. It was a double sentence, written in a sort of apposition, thus, according to our memory: "We are at peace with all the world, and maintain our relations of amity with the rest of mankind"—and as written, though perhaps somewhat tautological, is neither silly nor ungrammatical. It was transposed or changed to "the silly phrase" given above, as well known, and will go down thus through the ages, as long as the language lasts. The democrats made and used it for a joke against Taylor, and the whig papers were stupid and foolish enough to apologize for and explain it away, instead of supporting and defending it as it was or was meant to be. But General Taylor never said it as quoted against him, any more than our good citizen Capt. Marcy ever said "he was always born in Portsmouth,"—for neither of them ever lacked plain' words to say what they meant.—Weekly.

The dusty and weary traveller will find most excellent rooms with baths at the American House, Boston. The Hotel has no superior in New England, is situated in the heart of the city, and within five minutes' walk of everywhere.

Certificates of membership to the High School Association can be obtained of Messrs. Geo. E. Hodgdon or Chas. A. Hazlett, by any person who has attended the High School, on payment of the admission fee of one dollar.

Celia Thaxter, who has written so many sweet things, it is said has never penned anything sweeter than the "Robin's Rain Song," which is soon to appear in St. Nicholas. The critics who have seen it speak of it as exquisite of its kind, and full of true poetry; yet, just the thing for the little children who are to enjoy the Midsummer Holiday number of St. Nicholas.

In the case of Charles S. Symonds, assignee in bankruptcy of the estate of Davis, Moulton & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., (of which firm J. C. Carr of Portsmouth is a partner,) vs. A. F. Howard of this city, assignee of said Carr, the U. S. Court has at last decided that said Symonds must control and settle all the said business. Mr. Howard will act as his attorney here, and advertises all the valuable real estate interest of Mr. Carr for sale by auction August 3d. Of course a perfect title will in this way be given, and the sale is worthy the attention of capitalists and others desiring good premises. It is thought that this decision placing the settlement of affairs in the hands of New York parties, will considerably reduce the realization of creditors here on the assets, including the Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank. But there is no help for it, and the sooner the business is closed up the better for all concerned.

The President's Appointments in Ohio.

This is the way "Private Dalzell" talks about the Ohio gentlemen appointed to office by President Hayes:

"They all had done great political service for the President and were rewarded promptly therefor. For example, Mr. Sherman and his brother, the General, gave Hayes his first national send-off in those famous letters. The Treasury is the reward for that. General Comly, the comical old invalid of the Ohio State Journal, ran a spicy little paper for years in Hayes' interest, and, being in bad health, he is sent to Hawaii, at once to recruit his health, and to get his reward for partisan service and have his fun! It was due to him. He, like Sherman, earned it richly. Noyes worked like a beaver and manipulated the Cincinnati Convention for Hayes at a time when Stanley Matthews stood off and ridiculed the Hayes candidacy and said, "You are making d——d fools of yourselves." Noyes is poor and needs it, and gets his reward in Paris. It was a debt of honor that President Hayes could not ignore in the direst extremity of Mr. Noyes. No man in Ohio did more to nominate and elect Hayes and no man deserved more for that labor of him. Captain Lee was his private secretary, in wretched health, and had nearly worked himself to death in the Presidential campaign, and justly claimed and received Frankfort-on-the-Main for his pay without any civil service nonsense. Mr. Rogers did nothing indeed, but he was an old law partner and had those superior claims of personal friendship which are almost equal to the obligations of all. So he became private secretary. General Lee made or helped mightily to make the State Convention solid for Hayes last year, and is made a District Attorney for that. General Smith did nothing, but had the claims of friendship, and gets to be appointed clerk to Sherman. Tom McLain, briefly, ditto, and goes to Nassau. General Wikoff, Chairman of the Ohio Republican State Central Committee, had performed such eminent partisan and personal service that the pension agency at Columbus naturally fell to his lot. Stern earned the Assistant Treasurership in the same way, but in a more limited sphere of political activity."

—A Cincinnati woman asked a clergyman to christen her little dog, and seemed surprised when he refused.

—Two convicts in the prison at San Quentin, Cal., retired to a quiet part of the establishment to fight with knives. They bore an aggregate of seventeen cuts when their duel was stopped by officers. One had more than an even share of the wounds, and was nearly dead. The other was given twenty-five lashes on the bare back, by way of balancing the account.

—The first submarine cable was that laid across the Straits of Dover, twenty-seven years ago. It parted next day, and the first working cable was laid, in 1851, on the same route. The network of cable has now extended so far that when Asia is united to America by cabling the Pacific, the electric girdle around the world will be complete from east to west, as it now is between north and south.

Cease Racking the System

With drastic cathartics and hurtful salivants, and use that rational and genial recuperant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the success of which in the eradication of disease and the building up of feeble constitutions has utterly confounded the preposterous medical theorists who insisted on the rationality of depleting the frame in order to restore it to health. Appetite, easy digestion, regular evacuations, a natural flow of bile, are as sure a result of the use of the finest of America's invigorants as increased loss of power and irritation of the system are of the old exhausting method. The new era of treatment inaugurated by the Bitters is indeed a happy one for the sick and feeble, for it has not only placed health within their reach, but saved them from the hurtful consequences of an absurd fallacy.

Veteran Teeth.

It is pleasant to see in the mouths of the aged, teeth that have withstood the ravages of time.

All teeth may be preserved perfect and serviceable, pure in color, and undecayed in position during a whole life-time, by the regular use of Sozodont.

Everlasting attachments are made with Spalding's Glue.

WALTER BAKER & Co., received the highest awards at London, Paris, Vienna and Philadelphia for the Chocolate and Cocoas. The public endorses this verdict by a constant and ever-increasing demand for these excellent preparations.

Probably there has never been known to the world so efficient and successful a remedy for diseases of the Throat and Lungs, as Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Its success as a popular remedy is remarkable, and it has proved a blessing to the thousands who have used it. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR SORE THROAT, PULMOCINE CORDIAL is for sale at the UNION STORE, Market Street. Price 50 cents per bottle.

"Sulphuret Oil of Roses."

A wonderful External Remedy, almost miraculous in effect. By absorption it eradicates Rheumatic pains, Neuralgia, Nervousness and Throat Diseases. Sufferers do themselves positive injustice by not giving this Remedy a trial. Price 50 cents and $3. FLAVILLE, BROTHER & CO., Chemists, 30 Franklin street, Boston. ☞N. B. ROCKINGHAM, SS. Law Term, June, 1877. No. 12.

EDWIN T. RICE of New York respectfully represents that ARABELLA RICE, late of Portsmouth, deceased, in 1872, testate, living in her will nominated your petitioner together with two other cousins to be Executors of her will: that both of the other persons nominated declined to accept the trust, and have since deceased.

And your petitioner having nearly completed the distribution of the residuum of said estate, upon the petition of Samuel E. Sewall, administrator of one of the residuary legatees who lived and died in Russia, at the Probate Court, holden at Portsmouth, September, 1876, was removed from his position as Executor of said will.

He further represents that his counsel was in Court when said removal was announced, and then and there in open Court claimed an appeal to this Court which was then and there allowed, and further requested the Register of Probate to prepare the proper papers to render said appeal effectual to this Court, and to hand the papers to the Clerk for entry; but, owing to some misunderstanding between the counsel of your petitioner and the newly-appointed Register of Probate, and without any neglect, the proper papers were not seasonably filed to effect said appeal.

Wherefore, he prays that this Court will give him leave to appeal, according to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided.

EDWIN T. RICE, by W. H. Y. HACKETT, his Att'y.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner notify all persons interested in the subject matter thereof, to appear at an adjourned law term of our Supreme Court to be holden at Concord in our County of Merrimack, on the thirteenth day of August, 1877, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in our County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said thirteenth day of August next.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

This work is not prophetical. It discusses the topic as a Divine revealed. Its plan is to follow the narrative of a Christian's experience of the revealed facts to the antipodes of Infidelity. They strike at cause at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 7 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try your pills. I enclose $2.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and twenty, but I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would get so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for more twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines but got no relief. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been confined and vashing medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most obstinate they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter. I was too poor to spend the money for that, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. M. Molins, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to my address as follows: Laura Shierr. Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative we could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule o Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs. or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung irring climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy eilef, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Bachman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the diseases they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

THE BLACK HILLS.—LETTER NO. 2.

ACROSS THE PRAIRIE.

[Concluded from last Issue.]

On the fourth day's march the scouts killed many rattle-snakes, and one large "bull snake" over eight feet long. On the fifth day the roads were very heavy, and our teams could average only one mile per hour. We took dinner at Frozen Man's Creek, and camped for the night at Cottonwood. The fifth day is noteworthy for our first real encounter with a rattle-snake. For several days we had been killing them by knocking them in the head, as they were in the act of crawling away from us. They had been small and medium-sized reptiles, with from three to six or seven rattles; and as in no instance had they shown fight I had begun to look upon them with contempt. On this occasion McEnerey and I, who were with the scouts, had been to the southward of the trail since noon, and for several hours had been trying, in vain, to get a shot at a small herd of antelope. We had got about two miles from the trail, and as the hot sun had begun to get into the latter hours of the afternoon, we thought it prudent to strike back to it. We were going along with a swinging stride, and as we were passing over a large patch of stunted sage brush, our steps were suddenly arrested by the sharp shi-r-r of a rattler. A glance discovered a very large snake, close to our feet, coiled, and with its head drawn back, ready for a spring. He was so close to us that we could not bring our rifles to the shoulder, but throwing the muzzles toward him we fired. Our bullets nearly cut him in two, and ruined him for business. After despatching him, we detached his rattles and counted thirteen, showing that he was between thirteen and fourteen years old. I have considerable respect for the rattle-snake now. The instant I had for observing the snake as he was coiled, and in the act of striking, gave me the impression of a beautiful, dangerous, devilish creature. He was about six feet long.

On the sixth day, (Sunday, May 20th,) a terrible wind blew directly in our faces. Although this made the marching laborious, yet it dried the mud, and we made Buzzard's Creek—thirteen and one half miles—before dinner. After a hasty meal, and feed for the stock, the march was resumed, and camp made at Two Buttes Creek, twenty-five miles from our camp the night before. The night was very cold and windy, and shortly after supper the boys were under their blankets. Crude attempts at singing hymns were in order for an hour, after which Joe Snow, the printer, startled the camp by saying: "Just keep still, boys, and I'll sing something." A mock silence ensued, which would have been ominous had not Joe—to the surprise of everybody—in a beautiful, pure, tenor voice, began that simple, tender song, "Rock me to sleep, mother." With such true feeling and pathos did Joe sing, that even the teamsters drew near to listen, and the rollicking good nature which thus far had been the chief character of the party, gave way to deeper emotions. At the conclusion of his song, and after the low-toned commendations had been passed, Joe, with true sincerity, was requested to lead off with the "Doxology," in which all joined. Then each one snuggled up to his "pard," drew the blankets closer around him, and though the wind blew, and the tent shook threateningly in the gusts, such sleep as comes only to healthy, weary frames, fell upon the camp.

The next forenoon we passed Dead Men's Creek. Near the bank of the creek is a wide grave, at the head of which is a board rudely inscribed as follows:

SACRED TO THE MEMORY OF

Wm. H. Gardiner, a c.		32.
John Harrison,	"	32.
Edwin Sadler,	"	35.
"Texas Jack,"	"	24.

Who "Texas Jack" was, or where he belonged, is not known. Those who have ever seen him testify that he bore the stamp of gentle breeding, was educated, and except in reckless moods was a gentleman. The grave was covered deeply with prairie flowers, placed there by pilgrims en route to the hills. They were killed, scalped and mutilated by the Indians, who concealed themselves in the timber on the bank of the creek. At night we camped at Pinas Springs. Here an extensive ranche was being built for the accommodation of stagemen, and horses. Much care was being used to make the place defensible. [To-day, June 24th, the report comes to Deadwood, that this place has been attacked and burned, and an incoming train of eleven men killed by the Indians. These men had no guard out at night, when the attack took place.]

On Tuesday, May 22d, at 5 P. M., we reached the Cheyenne river. Here we saw the first real grove of trees (cottonwood) since we left the Missouri river. It was also like the sight of a dear face after long absence, to see—and smell—flowers exactly like those at home. And the sand! That was glorious. We actually revelled in that sand! We sat down and scooped holes in it; we took off our boots and stockings and ran races over it; we stood still and wiggled our toes in it; we kicked it into the air, and then we found a level place right on the bank of the river and played "hop Scotch." It was almost too much.

In the morning we stripped and forded the river, and pushed on again over the prairies. On the second day's march from the river, "Mac" gave us a specimen of his shooting abilities. Lying on his back, and using his feet as a rest, he shot an antelope at eight hundred yards distance.

On Friday we nooned at Box Elder Creek, and saw the Black Hills in the distance. Resuming our march we passed through Rapid City at four P. M., and camped in one of the most delightful valleys.

Saturday is noteworthy as being the hottest, hardest day's march of the trip. We also saw for the first time the mighty grasshopper. In some of the most charming valleys the ground was covered with them. They were just hatched out, however, and seemed to be taking exercises in flying, previous to their descent upon the farmers of Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, etc.

On Sunday, by starting at five A. M., we reached Crook City at noon. We passed through and camped beyond the town.

On Monday, May 28th, we broke camp at 5 A. M. and marched thirteen miles without a halt. After a hasty meal, a few of us started on, and after a few miles we took a trail leading over the mountains. We then began to see the Black Hills "face to face." It is a test of one's powers of endurance to climb them. After several hours of excessively hard work we came to the verge of a high ridge, and looking down the almost perpendicular face of the same we saw a gulch or canyon winding up through the steepest hills until a sudden turn closed the view in that direction. The first thing that struck our attention was the appearance of the creek, and earth at the bottom of the gulch. The creek was subdivided in a hundred directions, and a pretty stream was spoiled by what I afterwards learned were "sluices," "flumes," and "ditches." The earth was thrown up in ridges and mounds; boulders of all sizes were heaped about in what seemed to me the greatest confusion, and the whole presented to pilgrim eyes a most unsightly and "ripped up" appearance. Little huts were perched up on the hill sides, some of which, I afterwards learned, were the abodes of wealthy men. Men were scattered all over the bed of the gulch, hard at work with pick and shovel, and if the scene was lacking in beauty it was not devoid of interest to us who had walked two hundred miles to look at it. A moment to look at the scene was enough, however, to men eager to mingle in the new life before them. A lively and somewhat perilous scramble down the hill ensued, and when we made the last jump and landed on a huge pile of "tailings," we stood in the bottom of the now famous Deadwood Gulch. With eyes and ears wide open, we then slowly walked up the gulch toward Deadwood City. In my next I will give an inadequate description of the sights, sounds and social customs of a mining town.

In this hastily written sketch of a tramp across the plains I have necessarily omitted many things really worthy of mention, but before closing there are a few things I would like to say. The country over which our route took us is uninhabitable, owing to the scarcity of wood and water. The latter want frequently amounts to distress. There are but few running streams, and were it not for the frequent rains, the country would be a desert. For days the only water we had was the collection of rain in the beds of dry creeks, and this is frequently impregnated with alkali. Only once (at Waschita Springs) did we get spring water on the prairies. In the hills the water is superb. Two springs, we passed between Rapid and Deadwood deserve a more detailed description than my present time will allow. I would also like to mention the tameness of the birds and animals on the prairies. They do not appear to be afraid of man, until they are bewildered by being banged at with shot guns. Little birds would hop along in front of us, and just make room for us when they did not want to hop any farther; while snipe, doves, curlew and other larger birds would fly but a little way and then alight again. The antelopes were wild, however, and we were obliged to hunt them. We lived on their flesh entirely during the last seven days of our journey. AL.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.

Latest advices from General Howard's command rather confirm the gloomy view entertained relative to the prospects of the army engaged in an effort to suppress chief Joseph and his braves. The report in a morning paper to the effect that Colonel Perry refused to succor a little band of volunteers, in plain sight from his camp, until a portion had been wiped out by an overwhelming number of savages surrounding them, has increased the suspicion of a lack of unity of purpose among the officers entrusted with the duty of suppressing the revolt; and should the report be confirmed, the demand for the condign punishment of the offender would be general and imperative. Under any circumstances Joseph appears to have conducted hostilities with a degree of moderation not always observed by warriors professing a monopoly of chivalry and all the other Christian graces; and if true, as intimated by General Howard, that the present troubles had their origin in the aggressions of the whites, the restraints imposed on himself and his warriors seem all the more remarkable and will be remembered to his credit.

All the members of the Louisiana Commission heard from, appear to regard the prosecution of Wells & Co. as a real or virtual repudiation of the adjustment effected at New Orleans last April on the part of Louisiana democrats who personally gave in their adhesion to it or those who were "pledged" to its observance. It may be considered a legitimate inquiry to ask who had the authority to "pledge" them, and one very naturally suggested. The President according to the obsequious supplicant for favors, is calmly indifferent to the whole matter, holding himself aloof with great dignity from anything more than a mere reference to the matter; but outside of the White House the next step is awaited with undiminished interest as possibly involving momentous interests.

The passage of the Rio Grande by a portion of our forces in pursuit of some marauding Indians may bring Mexican affairs to a focus. It is said that Mr. Evarts has advised the recognition of Diaz, and that worthy would hardly fail to notice this, in his estimation, casus belli lest he turn against himself the tide of Mexican wrath now so impetuously directed against our Government because of its instructions to General Ord. But that officer's course is Presidentially, Cabinently and publicly approved, so that he is not likely to be reprimanded or his instructions modified.

Though not definitely fixing any corrupt bargain on Grover, the revelations of Stiles before Morton's Committee and through the Oregonian, have still further prejudiced his case here, even with many of his own party; and as Mr. Morton has a lively sense of the narrow republican margin in the Senate, he is not likely to leave any means untried to get at the truth, if he believes Grover guilty, which he probably does. KNOX.

News and Notes.

An Havana letter of the 8th says: It is reported in town that Gens. Maximo Gomez and Vincents Garcia, leading a very large and well appointed force, have forced Trocha and invaded Cinco, Villas Territory. A battle was fought at the crossing, in which over 600 Spaniards are said to have been killed. Among them was Brigadier Mendoina. Since then another encounter has taken place, of which there are no particulars, but considerable trepidation prevailed at headquarters here, and three men-of-war were ordered to sea in great haste, doubtless to relieve and pick up isolated detachments near the coast endangered by this reinvasion of the territory unexpectedly by a large force. Re-enforcements from Spain are being got ready. Yellow fever is raging among the 25,000 brought out last winter. Gen. Martinez Campos is reduced to masterly inactivity from the decimated condition of the troops. Discontent is very rampant here among all classes. The financial stringency is serious. Hardly a day passes that the failure of some grocer or jerked beef dealer is not recorded.

In the testimony of Edson, the Northampton (Mass.) rascal who informed on his associates in the bank robbery, was related this incident, as told to him by Dunlap: While Dunlap and Scott were in ambush behind some vines, back of Cashier Whittlesey's house, one night, several months before the burglary, Mr. Whittlesey's hired girl was visited by her beau, and the lovers, resorting to the spot, talked long and sweetly, as lovers do, unconsciously holding the burglars prisoners, while the moon breaking through the clouds, they were in momentary dread of being discovered. To make the situation particularly exasperating mosquitoes were feeding upon them; yet they could not stir hand or foot. Finally the lovers withdrew, and the burglars were glad enough to escape, but Dunlap's face carried the marks of this adventure for weeks.

Four seamen of the brig C. C. Sweeney of Harrington, Me., are imprisoned in Havre, France, awaiting transport to this country, for trial on the charge of murdering the mate of the vessel shortly after she started early last month from Havre for New York.

A letter from New Orleans says that Governor Nicholls, when on a steamer about departing from Baton Rouge, on the 3d of July, for Donaldsonville, was attended to the boat by all the dignataries of the city, but several bull-dozers, who oppose him, had got drunk and pelted the boat and passengers with stones, one of which smashed a lamp over Nicholl's head and struck him on the shoulder.

The Baltimore American asserts that a Custom House office-holder in that city, having in mind the President's order, actually refused to attend the funeral of one of his intimate friends, for the sole reason that the friend was an officer in the Ward organization.

Miss Chisolm's Bruised Face.

It was left for the New Orleans correspondent of the Pall Mall London Gazette to make known the fact that when Miss Cornelia Chisolm died, there was upon her face the livid bruise from a blow by a man's fist. In the melee in defence of her father, she was struck as well as three times shot. This correspondent of the Gazette, evidently an Englishman, has heretofore been noted for his denunciation of republicans and defence of the native democrats, even to the extent of misrepresentation, but the Chisolm outrage is too much for his sympathies and he denounces it as the act of barbarism, which it is, and charges it fully home upon the political hatred to which it belongs. This bloody deed will make known the name of Mississippi to the scorn of the civilized world, and no efforts of the Southern press can wash it out. The very fact that they attempt to excuse it, or to ignore it, spreads the responsibility for the crime over the whole South, and it taints the whole region to a certain extent, rather than is confined to its particular locality or State.

The revelation of the blow upon the fair face of the young girl gives almost a greater shock to indignation than her wounds or painful death. History has been more indignant at the blow by the hand of the executioner upon the cheek of Charlotte Corday, as he held up the bleeding head, than at her actual martyrdom, for that was the natural ending of her self-sacrifice, and the seal upon her glory; but the blow was a vile and needless insult, an indignity from which death, if nothing else, should have protected her. The man who slays a woman outright is often a less despicable wretch than he who strikes her, and it was to the man who inflicted this corporal insult upon woman, rather than he who killed her, that Shakespeare described as disgracing the name of coward. Iago, that spurns his wife, is worse than Othello, that slays her. A blow is the last mark of cowardice and barbarism.

The cowardice of the Kemper county ruffians in attacking a man in prison, whom they supposed to be without ammunition, their barbarism in overriding the law, their cruelty in shooting him through the shield of his young son and daughter, and killing them as well as himself, their utter savagery in blockading the house and refusing the admission of surgical aid by which the daugnter's life might have been saved, all go to make a picture of horror that will become one of our historic shames; but this mark of the blow upon Miss Chisolm's face adds a contemptible brutality to the story, which it had heretofore escaped. The social code of the Southern people taught them a sort of chivalry amid their violence and recklessness of life, and the fact that a blow was struck upon the face of a young girl defending her father is a worse sign of degeneration and the violence of party hatred than the killing itself. It is a sign that even their self-imposed rules of "chivalry" have ceased to prevail so long as that blow was inflicted, and has not been avenged. It gives the final touch to the barbarity of the Kemper county massacre, which places its perpetrators on the level with the Sioux. If there is a spirit of eternal justice, this deed will not always cry to heaven for vengeance, however exultant its perpetrators may now be in their impunity. —Providence Journal.

A Laundry Secret.

The following receipt for doing up shirts will be found of use to many housewives: Take two ounces of fine white gum-arabic powder; put it into a pitcher and pour on it a pint or so of water; and then having covered it up, let it stand all night. In the morning pour it carefully from the dregs into a clean bottle, and cork it and keep it for use. A tablespoonful of gum water stirred into a pint of starch made in the usual manner will give to the lawns, either white or printed, a look of newness, when nothing else can restore them after they have been washed.—Herald of Health.

—An improvement on dynamite is said to have been effected by M. Fahnehjelm, of Stockholm. For the infusorial earth used in making dynamite he employs a kind of wood charcoal, which not only absorbs the nitro-glycerine, but serves as an important factor in the explosion of the composition. In order to give a speedier action to the new explosive, which is called "sebastin," nitrate of potassa is added. The nitro-glycerine, charcoal and nitrate of potassa are combined in various proportions to suit the purposes for which the sebastin may be intended.

—When the editor of a daily paper receives a visit from a couple of editorial brethren, when he is right in the middle of an able article on the "Demonetization of Silver," he tries to make them feel "at home," but he observes with a deep sigh of relief, as they disappear out of the door, "I thought those darned bores were never going to leave!" and then a few hours later his paper comes out, containing a notice like this: "We had the pleasure this morning of a very agreeable visit from Messrs: Brown, of the Jeffersonville Banner, and Jones, of the Center Point Bugle. Come again, gentlemen."

—It is estimated by those who ought to know, that at present, in round numbers, there are about 1,250,000 Free and Accepted Masons scattered upon the face of the globe. Of this number some 150,000 are in England, 100,000 in Scotland, and 50,000 in Ireland. There are about 600,000 on the continent of Europe; 300,000 in the United States, and 50,000 in other parts of the world. In England there are two or three thousand persons initiated every year; and Papal allocutions and feminine denunciations notwithstanding, the Masonic body is said to be everywhere increasing.

—A young American who had been in Paris for a year studying medicine was visited by his father. Like a dutiful son, he parades the author of his being through the city, and points out to him its social and architectual lions. Finally they halt before a huge and many-pilared building, surrounded by a massive grating. "What palace or thingummy is that lordly pile?" asked the old man. "Dumfino," replies the youth, "but there is a sergent-de-ville; I'll ask him," and, accompanied by his sire, he crosses over to the officer and puts the question. "That, gentlemen," said the municipal guardian, calmly and in a clear, official tone, "is the medical school!"

—An exchange says, "Mothers should care to be admirable in the eyes of their sons. Not merely to possess characters which are worthy of respect, but to be beautiful and charming, so far as they can, in person and appearance." Verily, the times seem to be wrong end foremost. This reminds one of the countryman, who, securing a place in a city store for his son, assured the merchant, "He will be a first-rate boy, if you only keep the right side of him."

—A Boston editor says: "It ruins any kind of fruit to cook it." But he makes his wife bake his beans all the same.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus baldness, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

JOTTINGS.

The James H. Head house, on State street, has been sold to Mr. Augustus W. Odiorne, for $2500.

Some rascal has stove a window in, and bored a hole through the bottom, of the sail boat "Lady Waldo," at Kittery, and a reward of one hundred dollars is offered for information that will lead to his conviction.

At two o'clock Saturday morning the house of Mr. Joshua Emery of York, Me., was discovered on fire, and before any assistance could be rendered it was entirely consumed. Most of the furniture in the lower story saved. Insured for $600. Caused by a defective flue.

At the examination on Friday of candidates for admission to the High School, there were fifty-eight applicants—thirty-six girls and twenty-two boys. Forty-six of this number passed and were admitted, the others being conditioned. This will make the High School larger than it has been for several years past.

The North End coal-heavers had a marine picnic, chowder, etc., on Saturday, a large number of these hard-working men going down river in steamer Clara Bateman, in company with large baskets of provisions, a barrel of ale, etc., etc., etc. If any class of men by hard labor earn a right to take advantage of a lull in their business to enjoy themselves for a day, the "black-diamond lapidaries" do.

Harper's Magazine for August is out, and ready for delivery by Moses Brothers. It is as interesting as previous numbers, which is all that need be said, and contains one hundred and twelve illustrations. The first article is a beautifully illustrated paper on the White Mountains.

A case of mayhem occurred in Market street on Saturday, but as the parties are respectably connected, we prefer to withhold a statement of the matter in order to do justice to both sides. Without doubt the trial this morning before the Police Court will bring to light facts that we cannot now obtain and thus each participant will have a fair showing.

A correspondent of the Boston Post, writing from the Shoals, says: "For such Bostonians as cannot come to stay, and desire a trip out of town for a day or two, nothing can be better than the run down on the Eastern Railroad to Portsmouth, and the sail out from the Piscataqua to the Isles of Shoals. If you arrive at Portsmouth in the morning, by all means wait until the evening boat before coming out here into the ocean. There is plenty to be seen and enjoyed in that quaint and historical old city during the day, and for a number of days, for that matter; and mine host, Col. Hilton of the Rockingham, will tell you how to improve the hours or days you may have to spare. But those who have enjoyed the hour's ride from the wharves of Portsmouth down the broad Piscataqua into the Atlantic, as the sun goes down in the West, will tell you that it is one of the most charming of all their summer experiences. Italian skies cannot show anything more glorious than is seen from the deck of a Shoals steamer as a summer afternoon declines. It were folly to attempt to describe it here, but it is an act of kindness to tourists to tell them to ride to the Isles of Shoals at sunset."

POLICE COURT.

Saturday, July 14th.

Nathaniel Danielson, drunk, fine $3, costs $6.90.

Matthew Taffe, a young man from out of town who came here to find work, and John Sullivan, another young man from out of town, who came here to attend a funeral,—according to their own stories,—were up for drunkenness. Their united treasury contained just fifteen cents, so they were not required to pay costs, but were allowed to leave town, which they were glad enough to do.

Concord Correspondence.

CONCORD, July 14.

This closes another week of the session and one of great importance both in a political and legal point of view. One of the distinguishing features of the week has been the number of roll calls. There have been two night sessions both of them on political matters. In accordance with a previous agreement Thursday afternoon the act to reorganize and equalize the Senatorial districts, agreeably to the amended constitution came up under the head of unfinished business. Mr. Sinclair of Bethlehem withdrew all the amendments previously offered by him and offered a new bill in substitution for the present one. The amendment was rejected, on a roll call, by 199 nays to 136 yeas. It was then ordered to a third reading. Yesterday afternoon the bill was passed, the only opposition being the calling for the yeas and nays. Immediately after the ordering of the Senatorial bill to a third reading Mr. Stevens of Nashua moved that the bill for the classification of certain towns of less than 600 population, for representatives be taken up and it was so ordered. Some minor amendments were offered and accepted. Then commenced the filibustering of the session, which consisted of dilatory motions and roll calls. In the evening after the previous question was moved Batchellor of Littleton, Norris of Epping, Pierce of Hillsborough, Colony of Keene talked against time on the previous question until 11:30 when a division of the House was called for and the democrats and some of the republicans having left the hall no quorum was present and the House was adjourned by the Speaker.

Yesterday afternoon and evening the time was passed in voting down by the roll call the various portions of the amendment offered by Mr. Sinclair until the bill was ordered to a third reading. His amendment was all those towns having a population of, or in excess of 450, as shown by the census made in 1870, shall elect a representative to the General Court in the year 1878, and also in the year 1880; all those towns having less than 450 and in excess of 400, as shown by said census, shall elect a representative to the General Court in the year 1878, and the towns of Albany, Bennington, Orange, Roxbury, Shelburne, Hebron, Sharon, Litchfield, and Suny, shall elect to the said Court, in the year 1880.

By far the most exciting time of the session was last night. The House took a recess from half past six to eight o'clock. When the House assembled, after the recess, all was noise and confusion. Very soon it was rumored about that a compromise had been effected on the classification bill, to the effect that after two roll calls they were to pass it and then go on to the other business and adjourn early this morning. The object of this compromise was for the purpose of killing the bill, introduced by Mr. Ordway of Warner after a hard fight early in the afternoon, which had for its object the taxation of railroads according to the valuation of their stock. It was rumored that the railroad magnates told the leaders that the General Court must make its final adjournment this morning. The rank and file soon had indignation meetings and republicans and democrats alike without distinction of party said they would remain a month longer if necessary to pass Ordway's bill. Of course such determined opposition as this broke all compromise measures. Soon it was rumored that the compromise had been broken and then cheers and applause followed. All, then, good naturedly determined to stay in the evening as long as necessary to dispose of the classification bill and they did remain.

When Col. Ordway came into the hall in the evening rounds upon rounds of cheers greeted him. He is certainly the most popular man at this time in the Legislature. When his bill is reported back from the committee on finance there will be a hard fight and a determination to kill it. Mr. Ordway will have to fight the leaders on both sides and the railroad lobby, which is very powerful and it will leave nothing undone to kill the bill, but he has three-fourths of the House with him.

Early in the session Mr. Durant of Lebanon introduced a bill repealing the law of 1875 regulating the practice of medicine and surgery.

A number of petitions were received and referred to the committee on judiciary. That committee hold a number of meetings on that subject. Thursday the committee reported that the act in amendment of chapter 8 of the pamphlet laws of 1875, being an act to prevent incompetent persons from conducting the business of apothecaries and druggists in this State and the several petitions relating thereto be referred to the next session of the Legislature and that the commission to codify the laws report on it at the next Legislature. Mr. Durant labored hard to save the bill but the House by 152 yeas and 80 nays voted to adopt the report.

Any one would think that the whole city of Portsmouth is in favor of woman's suffrage to judge from the number of petitions presented upon that subject. The following were presented by Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth. Petition of Mrs. A. W. Hayden and 11 others of Portsmouth; of Mrs. Amanda S. Holbrook and 17 others of Portsmouth, and of Amos S. Foster and 17 others of Portsmouth, all praying for the equal political rights of all American citizens, irrespective of sex. Yours A. B.

New Hampshire Items.

The New Hampshire press excursion, which started from Concord Friday morning, arrived at White River Junction at 1.15, the party numbering about seventy. After partaking of dinner at the Junction House the company left for Stowe, where they remained over night, making the ascension of Mt. Mansfield on Saturday and dining at the Summit House, returning to Stowe in the afternoon.

If the Czar just wishes to perfectly annihilate the Turks, he should arm his soldiers with fire-arms "supposed to be empty." They do more damage now-a-days than any other weapon.

A Duluth editor got even with a contemporary by calling him a "gourd-headed baboon."

The schooner New Bedford, 20 feet long, which sailed from New Bedford, May 28, for London with Captain Crapo and wife on board, was spoken on the 6th instant, in latitude 46 north, longitude 28 west. All were well. The little vessel had encountered six gales.

—A year ago a college graduate read an essay entitled "The True Aims of Journalism." He is now editing a patent-outside newspaper, and last week called a brother editor an "abnormal idiot, whose deficiency of brains is more than compensated by a wealthy endowment of ears."

—A book-keeper has been detected robbing a music store at Columbus, Ohio, and will probably get five years accordeonly.

—Gen. John B. Hood, of New Orleans, the ex-confederate, has just been presented with his third pair of twins. So much for New Orleans father-Hood.

—Editing a paper is like carrying an umbrella on a windy dry; everybody thinks he could manage it better than the one who has hold of the handle.

—"Why didn't you insert my article?" asked a contributor. "Was it too long?" "No," replied the editor, "it was too narrow."

—"See them stylish cascades!" exclaimed Mrs. Veneering at Watkin's Glen, and straightway she fell over a 20-foot precipice and shook herself up terribly. She arose, arranged her furbelows, and said: "I ain't got no more enthusiasm for nature in me, you kin bet!"

—According to a Virginia paper's report of a college commencement: "At the conclusion of Mr. Hughes' remarks, Major Daniel arose, like a lion from his lair, threw back the rich locks from his large marble brow, and stood erect and majestic before the assembly."

Men swear by the objects which are most precious to them. The natives of New Guinea swear by the sun, or by a certain mountain, or by a weapon. The savages of the Brazilian forests raise the hand over the head or thrust it into the hair, or they will touch the points of their weapons. The New Guinea savage, holding up an arrow, calls on heaven to punish him if he lies. An Abyssinian Chief, who had sworn an oath he disliked, has been seen to scrape it off his tongue and spit it out. There are still places in Germany where the false witness reckons to escape the spiritual consequences of perjury by crooking one finger, to make it, perhaps, not a straight but a crooked oath; or he puts his left hand on his side to neutralize what the right hand is doing.

—A negro preacher had elaborated a new theory of the Exodus, to wit: that the Red Sea got frozen over, and so afforded the Israelites a safe passage; but when Pharaoh, with his heavy iron chariots, attempted it they broke through and were drowned. A brother rose and asked for an explanation of that point. "I'se been studyin' gography, and de gography say dat a very warm country—where dey have de tropics. And de tropics too hot for freezin'. De pint to be splained is 'bout breaking through de ice." The preacher straightened up and said: "Brudder, glad you asked dat question. It give me 'casion to 'splain it. You see that was a great white 'go—in de ole times, 'fo' dey had any gography—'fo' dare was any tropics."

ROCKINGHAM, ss. Law Term, June, 1877. No. 12.

EDWIN T. RICE of New York respectfully represents that ARABELLA RICE, late of Portsmouth, deceased, in 1875, testate, having in her will nominated your petitioner together with two other cousins to be Executors of her will: that both of the other persons nominated declined to accept the trust, and have since deceased.

And your petitioner having nearly completed the distribution of the residuum of said estate, upon the petition of Emma R. Sewall, administrator of one of the residuary legatees who lived and died in Russia, at the Probate Court, holden at Portsmouth, September, 1876, was requested from his position as Executor of said will.

He further represents that his counsel was in Court when said removal was announced, and then and there in open Court claimed an appeal to this Court which was then and there allowed, and further requested the Register of Probate to prepare the proper papers to render said appeal effectual to this Court, and to hand the papers to the Clerk for entry; but, owing to some misunderstanding between the counsel of your petitioner and the newly-appointed Register of Probate, and not through any neglect, the proper papers were not seasonably filed to effect said appeal.

Wherefore, he prays that this Court will give him leave to appeal, according to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided.

EDWIN T. RICE, by W. H. Y. HACKETT, his Att'y.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner notify all persons interested in the subject matter thereof, to appear at an adjourned law term of our Supreme Court to be holden at Concord in our County of Merrimack, on the thirteenth day of August, 1877, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in our County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said thirteenth day of August next.

Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

A true copy. Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

Cease Racking the System

With drastic cathartics and hurtful salivants, and use that rational and genial recuperant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the success of which in the eradication of disease and the building up of feeble constitutions has utterly confuted the preposterous medical theorists who insisted on the rationality of depleting the frame in order to restore it to health. Appetite, easy digestion, regular evacuations, a natural flow of bile, are as sure a result of the use of the finest of America's invigorants as increased loss of power and irritation of the system were of the old exhausting method. The new era of treatment inaugurated by the Bitters is indeed a happy one for the sick and feeble, for it has not only placed health within their reach, but saved them from the hurtful consequences of an absurd fallacy.

Veteran Teeth.

It is pleasant to see in the mouths of the aged, teeth that have withstood the ravages of time.

All teeth may be preserved perfect and serviceable, pure in color, and underanged in position during a whole life-time, by the regular use of Sozodont.

Everlasting attachments are made with Spalding's Glue.

WALTER BAKER & Co., received the highest awards at London, Paris, Vienna and Philadelphia for the Chocolate and Cocoas. The public endorses this verdict by a constant and ever-increasing demand for these excellent preparations.

Probably there has never been known to the world so efficient and successful a remedy for diseases of the Throat and Lungs, as Dr. A. J. Fingg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Its success as a popular remedy is remarkable, and it has proved a blessing to the thousands who have used it. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

"Sulphuret Oil of Roses."

A wonderful External Remedy, almost miraculous in effect. By absorption it eradicates Rheumatic pains, Neuralgia, Nervousness and Throat Diseases. Sufferers do themselves positive injustice by not giving this Remedy a trial. Price 50 cents and $3. FLAVILLE, BROTHER & CO., Chemists, 30 Franklin street, Boston. ☞N. B. —Brick Pomeroy is lecturing in Texas. At Sherman he remarked of the local paper, Register, that he cared nothing for its criticism, since he "could walk outside of its circulation in half an hour." The Register playfully retorted: "We have no doubt that Brick is swift on foot. He had that reputation during the war, especially while on the back track. We doubt, however, whether he should walk at 2.40 speed from now through all the ages of eternity, he could ever reach the plane of decency and respectability."

—A would-be suicide in Newport, R. I., lately left a note saying that the family would "find his body in a sistern." When found, a rope was tied around his body, but as it was tied to a wheel-barrow outside of the cistern, it did not lower him far enough to cover his head. He probably wanted to die because, though sixty-eight years old, he could not spell "cistern." Nevertheless, the local paper says he was "one of the oldest and most respectable citizens" of Newport.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock M. of Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, for building the shells of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Atlanta" now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap iron for the work to be furnished by the Bureau.

These turrets are to be 21 feet and 9 inches external diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 3 feet broad, and 10½ inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 20th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the rerolling of the iron.

2d. For all the labor of building these turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be provided by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plates to be bent and planed according to plan.

Proposals will also be received under this advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets; the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plan, to be equal to the best quality of English turret iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware river, in such position as to be readily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to be the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building the shells of the pilot houses required for the same vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. d jy10 12 24 31

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out and ride, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving my testimony, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I induced him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twenty Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for some years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for the last two winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn they had ever had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, as the climate was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Morfey, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative so could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before c was satisfied that the Materia Medi ca could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule o Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Bachman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG: MY DEAR SIR: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its result.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, Grindelia, Yellow Dock, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, produces a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very troublesome and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal improvements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weaknesses, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

The Flying Proa.

If a boat-builder is asked to construct a boat which shall be not only fast, but absolutely safe in all contingencies, which can neither capsize, swamp, nor sink, no matter if she strikes on the sharpest rocks in Hell Gate, he will frankly confess that he can not do it. Nevertheless, such a boat can be built, and with it two cool-headed girls can outsail the "Sappho" or the "Columbia" without risking any danger more serious than that of an occasional sprinkling of spray.

The hollow log and the solid log are the germs from which two widely distinct types of vessels have been developed—those in which, and those on which, the crew is carried. We have developed the hollow log through all the various stages that separate the canoe and the Cunarder, but have abandoned the solid log after having converted it into the cumbrous lumber raft. The South-sea Islanders, on the other hand, have developed the solid-log idea until the result is seen in their double war canoes—vessels that, although wonderfully swift and safe, are virtually nothing more than two parallel logs joined together with a platform, on which a mast is planted. The Feejee double canoe is not, however, the consummate flower of barbarian boat-building genius. It has been surpassed by the flying proa of the Ladrone Islands—a craft that combines to some extent both the hollow and the solid log ideas, and which merits a brief description here.

The hull of the flying proa exhibits on one side the graceful lines of a well-modeled boat, but on the other side it is perfectly flat. Were an ordinary sail-boat to be cut in two along the keel, and each half boarded up perpendicularly, either would present a rude idea of the model of the proa. Each end of the proa is precisely alike, and as the mast is placed exactly in the middle, the craft will sail equally well with either end first. Across the deck-run stout bamboo poles, which project beyond the rounded side of the proa, and are fastened at their extremities to a log of wood placed parallel with the boat, and fashioned so as to offer the slightest practicable resistance to the water. The weight of this log or outrigger acts as a counterpoise to the force of the wind, since by the peculiar manner in which the proa is sailed, the log is always on the windward side. Thus, although the proa is excessively long and narrow, it can never capsize, the outrigger answering the same purpose in this respect which the Feejeean accomplishes by using a double canoe.

The mast, although placed exactly halfway between the ends of the boat, stands in the bilge close to the gunwale, where it is fastened to the middle beam of the outrigger. The sail is a lateen, triangular in shape, but much wider at the foot and less lofty in proportion than are most lateen-sails. It does not seem large in comparison with the length of the proa, but in view of the extreme narrowness of the hull, and its want of stability apart from the outrigger, it is really an enormous sail. The fore end of the yard fits into a socket at the end of the boat, and the foot of the sail is laced to a boom. It is thus capable of being trimmed as flat as a board, and as it is reefed by simply rolling the boom until the desired amount of sail is wrapped around it, the shape of the sail always remains the same.

As has been said, the proa is sailed with either end first, but the outrigger is always kept on the windward side. The flat side of the hull being thus always the lee side, acts as a keel or centre-board, but with more effect than either. In fact, the proa is said to make scarcely any perceptible leeway. When beating against a head-wind the proa never tacks. She is merely kept away until her stern approaches the wind, when the yard is swung around, and what was the stern suddenly becomes the bow. It is credibly asserted that this product of barbarian genius often attains a speed of twenty miles, and it is certain that not only is the proa the fastest sailing boat in existence, but it will sail nearer the wind than any vessel known to European or American sailors.—Harper's Magazine for August.

—Artificial flowers are now made so skillfully that it is difficult to tell them from genuine blossoms, and as each is perfumed so that it exhales its characteristic odor, the deception is rendered all the more complete.

—Jennie June says of the voice of a singer, "Its quality is not to be appreciated by simply hearing her stand up before an audience and sing, but by seeing her use it in every day life." Jennie wrote that letter in a hurry.

—The Parsees are descendants of the ancient Persians who were expelled from Persia by Mohammedan conquerors, and who first settled at Surat about eleven hundred years ago. According to the first Indian census, they do not number more than 70,000 souls, of whom about 50,000 are found in the city of Bombay, the remaining 20,000 being in different parts of India, but chiefly in Guicrat and the Bombay Presidency. Though a mere drop in the ocean of 240,000,000 inhabitants they form a most important and influential body of men, emulating Europeans in energy and enterprise, rivaling them in opulence, and imitating them in many of their habits.

Concord Correspondence.

CONCORD, July 16.

The act defining the compensation of the justices of the Supreme Court provoked considerable discussion and lawyers and leaders were beaten upon this bill. It proposed to give the judges the sum of two dollars per day when away from home to pay their board in addition to the salary. This act, upon the motion of Mr. Sanborn of Campton, the House voted to indefinitely postpone. It was favored by Messrs. Stevens of Nashua, Barton, John S. Hayes, Hackett, and Sargent and opposed by Messrs. Sanborn of Campton, Sawtelle, Ide, Kaley, Warden, and Gould. There have been so many petitions and bills concerning the protection of fish before the session thus far that any report from the committee on fisheries is now received with shouts of derision. Most of them receive the label "indefinitely postponed." The committee itself entering into the spirit of the occasion reported a bill full of hits at different members who had bills referred to their committee. The new fox and hawk bill has passed the House and it now awaits the action of the Senate. The House is very much opposed to the appointing of commissions and only two I believe have been allowed to enter the Senate door and one of these has received the signature of the governor, concerning the other it is doubtful whether it ever finds its way out of the Senate.

The Speaker does not covet his honors all of the time thus far and seems disposed to share them with those, whom the House, as well as himself, considers to be any wise competent to fill the chair, Messrs. Stevens of Nashua, Sinclair of Bethlehem, Sargent of Concord, Cross, Topliff, and House of Manchester, Batchellor of Littleton, Hackett of Portsmouth, Norris of Epping, Warden of Monroe, Pierce of Hillsborough, John S. Hayes of Dover, Mann of Haverhill, Cummings of Exeter, Wood of Acworth, and Sturtevant of Keene. Mr. Edward P. Wallace of Newton, who had caused considerable merriment by his two able and witty speeches against the telegraph companies monopolizing and destroying the shade trees, has quite a patriotic history. He is lame and goes about with the use of a crutch and cane. At the commencement of the late war he sent $100 to the Treasury department to loan the government the use of it. He was informed that they could not so receive it and when the first lot of U. S. bonds were issued he received the first one printed and signed. He sent a substitute to the war. The post of the G. A. of R. in his town was named after him as was also a company of cadets. Last Thursday the members of the legislature were photographed by W. G. C. Kimball of Concord upon the State House steps. There are 190 members in this group.

Yours, A. B.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.

The failure to convict several men, alleged proprietors of a notorious gambling hell, who were on trial here a few days ago, has been productive of a good deal of harsh criticism upon the administration of justice in this District. Not one in a hundred conversant with city affairs, doubted the guilt of the indicted parties, I presume. It would not appear possible however for a jury to have brought in any other verdict than that of acquittal upon the evidence offered. But the suspicion of complicity between gamblers and other lawless characters of our city, and a portion of our police force, has been materially strengthened by the results of this trial. It has been known for years that gambling has been carried on almost openly and directly under the nose of our police without molestation. An occasional raid was ordered; but because of the indifference of the Courts or of timely warning to the offenders, convictions were rare. Nearly a year ago the churches united in a demand that the evil be suppressed, and an organized effort was made in that direction. But from a diversity of causes the knights of the green baize have been almost uniformily successful in every contest so far had, and their last victory has rendered them exultant and the law abiding citizen correspondingly depressed; and it is felt that there is small hope of success until a reorganization of our police force shall have been effected. A report, seriously implicating Senator Ingalls is occasionally heard here. It is stated that the Senator, as Chairman of Pension Committee, made a report in July 1876, favorable to placing on the pension rolls one Murdoch, a lieutenant in the volunteer service during the war, and at present a State Senator. Alleged ailment, total blindness of one eye and seriously impaired sight of the other, contracted in the service. A special act is said to have been hurried through by Mr. Ingalls during the tumultuous proceedings in Congress March 3, 1877, in favor of Murdoch on the ground above stated. It is claimed that the pretence is fraudulent; that Murdoch suffers from no such affliction, and it is sought to establish a connection between Ingalls' efforts in the matter, and his re-election by the Legislature of which Murdoch is a member. It is understood that Secretary Schurz has ordered an instigation and that we shall soon know all about it.

A late Cabinet meeting favorably considered the Howgate Polar expedition and the one proposed for the circumnavigation of the globe in the interests of science; but no definite action was taken with regard to either, and their further consideration was postponed to a future session.

Indian, Mexican and Louisiana matters are still the absorbing topics of gossip and have undergone no material change here since my last.

KNOX.

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 14.

The commanders of Spanish armed vessels may carry their, to them, very safe joke of bull-dozing, arresting and confining the officers of unarmed American vessels and breaking up their voyages, a step too far. Indeed, the American eagle unmistakably manifests incipient symptoms of irritation over the latest case of this kind reported. From the evidence filed it appears that about May 20th, while off the South Keys of Cuba, and while the boats were actively pursuing whales, the schooner Rising Sun, Capt. Taylor, was "brought to" by several shots from a Spanish cruiser. As in the case of the "Rizpah" her papers were demanded and declared unsatisfactory. Through the vigor of his protests her commander escaped arrest, but his mate, Mr. Atkins, was seized and held as hostage for the legitimate character and occupation of the vessel, until the arrival of an expert some days subsequently on a Spanish gunboat, who re-examined the vessel's papers and pronounced them regular and above suspicion. It is not stated whether the vessel was actually placed under restraint during the time, but it is intimated that a heavy claim for damages will be urged, as the prospective profits of the voyage were dissipated by the bully's illegal interference. These repeated outrages and wanton insults have aroused a good deal of indignation here and Mr. Evarts would be sustained in a peremptory demand for full reparation and satisfactory assurances that the recent offences will not be repeated.

It is thought sufficient time has elapsed and that we are sufficiently disabused of the conclusions of the sensational news-gatherers and makers, to enable us to correctly estimate the significance of the late move in Louisiana, the arrest of Madisen Wells and his Returning Board associates. The generally accepted theory is that the Ku Klux element of the Louisiana democracy set these prosecutions on foot, instigated by the leaders of the "wah" democracy North and South, including Tilden, probably; that they will be pushed to final conviction, and that if Gov. Nichols dares to interpose, by executive clemency, he will be promptly impeached. It is alleged that Secretary Sherman, Stanley Matthews, and others prominent in the Electoral and Louisiana Commission business are also to be disciplined; and such a programme is not deemed improbable by many here. There is much diversity of opinion as to just what it is expected to accomplish by this flagrant disregard of the terms of the agreement by which Louisiana was turned over to democratic control. Members of the Louisiana Commission who have been heard from agree that the movement is a virtual repudiation of the plighted faith of the democratic party of the State; and the public regard its perfidy as entirely in character with the action of the leaders in the "Wheeler compromise" adjustment of 1874. I think there can be no doubt that the President shares the indignation everywhere existing in Admiistration circles over the matter.

It appears to be the general impression that Diaz will feel called upon to formally protest against the recent invasions of Mexican soil by our forces in pursuit of Indian thieves, out of déference to popular home sentiment which is understood to be quite ferocious towards our government because of the late instructions to General Ord. But it is settled that marauders across the Rio Grande are to be punished, and Mexican bluster will prove ineffectual in bringing about any modification of these instructions. It is believed that if Diaz was left to indicate his own pleasure in the premises he would willingly co-operate in suppressing the robbers as a matter of policy, hoping thereby to more speedily secure his own recognition. Nothing decisive appears to have been yet effected by Gen. Howard in his pursuit of Chief Joseph. It would appear that the latter has made several strategic moves that have so confused our Generals as to enable the Indians to elude them. It is now a "stern chase," proverbially a long one. Our losses have been heavy compared with the advantages gained; and latest dispatches seem to indicate that among other obstacles to success, is the incompetency or something worse of some of Howard's subaltern officers.

It is reported that the Cabinet at a late meeting favorably considered the Howgate Polar Expedition, and the proposed circumnavigation of the globe by a scientific expedition; but no definite agreement was reached, and both matters will again come up for decision.

The testimony elicited by Mr. Morton's committee in Oregon appears very contradictory; but the tone of that which has reached us certainly has had little effect in dissipating the prejudice existing against Grover, but has increased it rather.

Suicide.

James A. Favor, whose connection with the sad fate of Mary Ella Harrington seemed to have been established beyond any reasonable doubt, drowned himself in the canal in Lowell, Sunday. When last seen, he had a bundle under one arm, done up in a brown paper, which some thought was a Bible, but which proved to be a heavy weight, to which a rope was attached. After going through the passageway leading to the canal landing, in rear of the block, he seemed quite nervous and uneasy. Persons employed in the workshops looking out upon the bank watched him at intervals during the twenty or thirty minutes after his arrival on the landing until he plunged into the canal. He walked up and down the bank of the canal several times, occasionally sitting down on a box filled with some refuse matter on the canal walk. At one time, when sitting on the box, he drew papers from his inner vest pocket and looked at them. He then put them in his hat, walked a rod or two to the basement steps at the rear of Southwick Block and sat down, adjusting the rope fastened to the weight, as is supposed, about his neck. Mr. Francis of the Locks and Canals Company, and some employes of the company, were measuring the water near by. Suddenly, when he saw that they were not looking at him, he walked rapidly and directly to the canal, a distance of about thirty feet, when he laid his hat down on the bank and jumped in. The hat was an old black dress hat. The papers were at the bottom of it, a handkerchief was over it, and a stone weighing about a pound was laid on the handkerchief. On one paper was written, "You will find my body in the canal. J. A. Favor." On another was written, "O lord of rest for thee I seek." The body was recovered after the water in the canal was partially drawn off, about three hours afterward. The weight attached to his neck by the rope was a square-shaped paving stone weighing about fifteen or twenty pounds. He had also a stone weighing about a pound in each pocket. The only other contents of his pockets were a knife and about $1.50 in money. Deceased was seventy-five years of age and leaves two sons, Joseph C., residing in Boston, and Horace, living in Manchester, N. H. He has lived in Lowell about twenty years, and was for a long time employed in the yard of Middlesex Mills Corporation.

The War.

A despatch from Bucharest says the Cossack advance has crossed the Balkans, and now occupy the valley of Trandja. They have penetrated the country as far as Jeni Sadergh, a railway station half way between Gamboly and Adrianople. A later despatch says 10,000 Russians are reported as having attacked Jeni Sadergh, which was defended by two battalions of Turks. The Turkish reinforcements are on their way to that place. The Russians have no field guns and their communications are insecure. The Turks were taken completely by surprise and great consternation ensued. They supposed that the Balkans had been crossed via Kozan, the strong Russian attack on Osman Bazar and Kozan masking the latter's movements.

News and Notes.

A short time ago John McMullen, and his son, John W. McMullen of New York were accidentally drowned, and Marilla McMullen, the widow of the one and the mother of the other, applied for letters of administration on the son's estate. On Friday Mrs. McMullen was at the Surrogate's office when Mary Agnes McMullen, the widow of the son, appeared to put in her claim upon the estate. The mother was not aware that her son had been married, but the production of a marriage certificate settled that matter. The two women were disposed to treat each other fairly, and the result was that the matter is to be left in the hands of the mother, who is apparently well satisfied with her new-found daughter-in-law.

Schooner Mary, of Dennysville, Me., was run down and sunk by steamer Eleanor in Long Island Sound on Friday night, and two men of her crew of three drowned.

The India nchief Joseph caught thirty-one Chinamen descending the Clear Water river in Idaho, and killed all but one of them. Gen. Howard reports a fight with the Indians on the 11th, in which the troops dislodged and drove the Indians, the killed on each side numbering thirteen, including Captain Bancroft and Lieutenant Williams.

Tennyson has recently had a windfall in the shape of a large estate in Lincolnshire.

The body of the late Queen of Holland was not embalmed, but was put into a leaden coffin wadded with white satin and filled with aromatic substance. This coffin was then deposited in one of oak, and this again in a mahogany one trimmed with silver.

A son of John Paro, four years old, fell into the Webster mill canal at Suncook, Saturday afternoon and was drowned. The water was drained off and the body found, and in taking it out the planking gave way, precieitating two men and three women into the canal. Joseph Morin was pulled out with a leg broken.

Mrs Emery E. Cobb, a young married woman of Manchester, fell backward down three steps Saturday morniug, and died from the effects of her injuries.

—"Are you going to make a flower bed here, Judkins?" asked a young lady of the gardener. "Yes, mum; them's the orders," answered the gardener. "Why, it will spoil our croquet ground!" "Can't help it, mum; them's your pa's orders; he says he'll have it laid out for horticulture, not for husbandry."

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.
AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brushy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.
As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

THE GRAVES OF A HOUSEHOLD.

"They grew in beauty, side by side,
They filled one home with glee."

In years gone by, four orphan sisters, the daughters of a ship-master, who had been bereft of their parents in early childhood, but were kindly cared for by a maternal aunt, left their birth-place with her for a residence in Boston. In her early womanhood, the eldest,* who had been remembered here for her personal loveliness and amiability of character, was brought home for a resting place in the North street Union Cemetery, where a tasteful memorial, placed there by the hand of affection, has long marked her grave. Another of her sisters was laid at her side in after years, and on Saturday last, a third was added to the number.

"And gathered thus they rest who played
Beneath the same green tree,
Whose voices mingled into one
Beside the parent knee."

*Miss Anna McLean.

NEWCASTLE AS A SUMMER RESORT.

As people often travel abroad to look upon scenes that are surpassed by those in their own land, or, not seldom, within a Sabbath day's journey of their own doors, so there are hundreds of the residents of Portsmouth who have as little idea of the attractions of the distant portions of Newcastle island, as the world at large had until recent years of the wonders of the Yosemite Valley. A more delightful region of the kind does not exist along the whole line of our New England seacoast, and each season it is becoming more and more apparent alike to visitors from other places and residents here. While it can be reached over two routes by land and bridge travel, an equally agreeable way is by rowing, in which many of the younger members of the fairer portion of creation have become so accomplished. The time is sure to come, soon or late, when the island will be dotted over, on its ocean side, with summer homes, as numerously as any of our popular seaside resorts at the present day, and in the more inland portion of the old village, will be seen plenty of such pretty retreats as that of Capt. Towle, with its blooming flower garden in summer days.

A large party of friends, with their visitors from New York, Boston and elsewhere, passed a day last week in a most attractive spot between the beach at Fort Constitution and the lofty bluff near the Hotel Wentworth, and the good time they had will not soon be forgotten, their enjoyments being as diversified as they were agreeable. Just such scenes were visible as may be found in the London magazines of summer enjoyments at the popular watering places of the English coast, including an artist as he rested upon a craggy rock, while sketching the scenery around him. While a group rested beneath the shade of willows that overhung the beach, upon which the surf was breaking in a tone that was music to the ear, others were straying along the pebbly shore; the more contemplative casting looks at huge boulders, varied in form and color, around them, and marvelling at the force it must have required to roll them thus far inland from their ocean bed. In a rocky retreat, over which huge waves rush in wintry storms, a group of half a dozen young ladies were most industriously employed upon species of the fancy work with which their sex are wont to occupy moments of leisure; others were viewing from seats of nature's construction among the rocks, the boundless view of old ocean before them, and chatting of scenes they had looked upon elsewhere on like happy occasions; following with the eye meanwhile the course of a party out upon the water in a boat, for which latter they were indebted to a generous-hearted young gentleman from the Empire City, whose presence is ever welcome, and whom every one likes for the simple reason that they cannot help it if they would; like another magnetic young gent., who came late, but by way of compensation, bringing with him a very fair addition to the company. Still another party went in search of a cave by the shore, which tradition asserts as having once been occupied by a descendant of the dragon so valiantly slain by St. George several years before the erection of the Hotel Wentworth, but the tide had arisen so high they were unable to pass the point around which the cave is located, and had to be content to wait until their next visit for a sight of it; and yet another detachment ascended to the summit of a lofty elevation near by, and in the magnificent views they obtained, thought themselves amply rewarded for their labor in doing so. A sumptuous repast was partaken of beneath the shade of the willows, for which the sea-air had furnished the keenest of appetites, and then the company broke up into sections who went as before their several ways to re-enjoy the recreations that suited best their varied fancies. During the day the excursionists were visited by friends from the hotel and the cottages in its vicinity, and in taking their departure for home, all acknowledged that it had been to them one of the happiest of summer days. HACK REGULATIONS.

Mr. Editor: I see by the report of the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Thursday last that the hack ordinance, (relative to which so much discussion has ensued among the parties introduced and some others of the public) is to come up for final action by special assignment at 9:30 (?) on Thursday evening next. I know not how the matter will be disposed of. I know not how the honorable Board views the subject in question. But I hope some restrictive measure will be imposed upon our hackmen and teamsters at the depots and steamer landing in our city. The hacking business, like every other trade or calling here, is overdone; making competition sharp, and so sharp in the business of getting patronage at the depots that it takes more than ordinary courage for a lady or ladies, unattended by an escort, to run the gauntlet of the importunate crowd of hack and wagon drivers that are in faithful attendance on the daily arrival of the several trains from East and West. I shall hope that our City Fathers will endeavor to right this wrong without doing any injustice to the hackmen and yet protect the public from an already too long-standing nuisance. TRAVELLER.

JOTTINGS.

Mr. Gibson, of Boston, owner of the sunken schooner Ceres, is in town with a wrecking gang resumes operations for raising the vessel to-day.

Fishing schooner American Eagle, at the Shoals on Sunday, reports having picked up on the 10th, off Cape Ann, the mainmast of a small vessel with sail attached. The sail was double-reefed and the boom broken. The wreck was supposed from its appearance to be from some yacht.

The annual picnic of the Universalist Sunday School will be held Wednesday at Pinkham's Grove. Music by Harlow's band. Trains will leave Eastern depot at 9 and 11 A. M. and 3 P. M. Fare for the round trip 30cts.; children under six years, free,

The North Parish will have a picnic at Dow's Woods and Wallis' Sands, Wednesday. Carriages will leave the chapel on Middle street at 8:30 A. M.

The Episcopal Sunday School will have a picnic at Wallis' Sands on Thursday. Carriages will leave the chapel on State street at 8:30 A. M.

The Methodist Sabbath School will have a picnic and chowder at Sagamore Grove on Wednesday. Those wishing to ride will be at the vestry on Daniel street at a quarter to nine o'clock. Fare down and back, for children, 10 cts; adults, 20 cts.

The members of Sagamore S. F. Engine Co., No. 2, are having new uniforms made.

Mr. Henry R. Stoddard has bought the interest of Mr. R. H. Beacham (of the firm of Beacham & Stoddard) in the Rockingham livery and boarding stables on Fleet street.

Mr. Joseph H. Foster, Treasurer of the Portsmouth Savings Bank, has disposed of his bookstore at No. 1 Congress Block to Mr. Myers, for $9000.

The Newcastle bridges are receiving at the hands of the lessee a thorough overhauling and repairing. The planking is being laid lengthwise the bridges, which makes the smoothest and most agreeable riding imaginable. Work will be continued on them about one week longer, when they will be in better condition than for many years. Public travel has not been (nor will it be) stopped for a single day. The drive around by Hotel Wentworth, along the shore of the ocean and Newcastle, and Fort Constitution, and up the river over these bridges, is by far the pleasantest, coolest and most picturesque in our vicinity. The distance around is six miles and three-quarters.

B. B. Tobie, Esq., of Franklin, N. H., has made the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals a liberal donation. At the last meeting of the Directors he was elected an honorary member of said society.

Funny Legislators.

The following report, made by the committee on fisheries last Thursday, in the Legislature caused an immense amount of fun at the time, and has since been engrossed with the classic literature of the session.

The committee to whom was referred the bill protecting pouts, eels, kivers and other equally delectable fish, having considered the same report as follows; The pout and eel have been much in need of protection from immemorial. There has existed a prjudice against them on account of their color, and though their cases are covered by the 14th and 15th amendments to the constitution, your committee is unable to learn that their condition has been improved thereby. The best evidence obtainable by the committee tends to show that they are still hooked, skinned and in many instances thrown alive into the frying pan and drowned in scalding fat, and it does not appear that any of them have ever been permitted to vote or represent their towns in the general court or exercise in any way the rights of an American citizen. With kivers your committee have no personal acquaintance, but in our opinion a man who spells kiver as does the author of this bill, is entitled to no protection from this House. The term, "other delectable fish," used in the bill, is somewhat indefinite, but on inquiry we learn that it refers to red herring, sharks and whales. The herring is famous in history as the only fish which is always sold for (and with) a cent. It was invented to show how mean a fish could be made and to make us grateful for suckers, alewives and other wives, and since it was discovered there has been no attempt to go further in that direction.

The shark is entitled to great respect, but being a delicate fish it has not been possible to so acclimate him as to render him able to withstand the rigors of our climate, and the few whales which have been planted in our waters have either perished from fever and ague or fallen a prey to suckers.

It has been reported, however, that a gentleman from Washington has lately secured, by the aid of the Manchester delegation, a legal title to the Merry-meeting Lake in the eastern part of the State for the sole purpose of raising whales for stocking the Atlantic by means of a canal upon which he is now engaged with 500 men connecting said lake and ocean. It was reported that a brewery was to be established near the lake, but it has leaked out that the gentleman from Washington is going into the oil business and will divide his profits with the expectant delegation at present representing the manufacturing interest of the State, located on the Merrimack. It is claimed by the said representatives that whales are injurious to water wheels, and like anchor-ice are liable to decrease the productive capacity of machinery. It is the opinion of your committee, however, that the whale belongs to a past age and a bygone generation; in the days of Jonah he was very useful to crawl into when there was a storm coming, but since the invention of rubber-boots and overcoats, he has not been used for this purpose. His fat, which was once in great demand as hair oil, has also gone out of fashion since the invention of baldheaded men and switches, and his bones are now a drug in the market, none of them being long enough to form the ribs of a fashionable bustle of today. In view of these facts, the committee report the following resolution, and recommend its passage:

Resolved, that the subject matter of this bill be recommitted to the member from Keene, with instructions to report thereon in the year of our Lord 1900.

W. H. SHEPARD, for the committee.

—An old gentleman took up a patent medicine almanac from a pile lying on a druggist's counter, at the same time asking the clerk, "Are these gratuitous!" To which that matter-of-fact young man replied, "Why, no, them's almanacs. Can't you read?"

—At a Sunday school a teacher asked a little boy if he knew what the expression "sowing tares" meant. "Courth I do," said he, pulling a part of his trousers around in front. "There's a tear my ma sewed; I teared it when I was sliding down hill."

—"It is not loud praying," says an Arkansas circuit rider, "which counts with the Lord so much as giving four full quarts to the gallon."

—A Baltimore belle, just from Vassar College, when told by the waiter that they had no goose-berries, exclaimed, "What has happened to the goose?"

To the Supreme Court.

ROCKINGHAM, SS. Law Term, June, 1877. No. 12.

EDWIN T. RICE of New York respectfully represents that ARABELLA RICE, late of Portsmouth, deceased, in 1873, testate, having in her will nominated your petitioner together with two other cousins to be Executors of her will: that both of the other persons nominated declined to accept the trust, and have since deceased.

And your petitioner having nearly completed the distribution of the residuum of said estate, upon the petition of Samuel E. Sewall, administrator of one of the residuary legatees who lived and died in Russia, at the Probate Court, holden at Portsmouth, September, 1876, was removed from his position as Executor of said will.

He further represents that his counsel was in Court when said removal was announced, and then and there in open Court claimed an appeal to this Court which was then and there allowed, and further requested the Register of Probate to prepare the proper papers to render said appeal effectual to this Court, and to hand the papers to the Clerk for entry; but, owing to some misunderstanding between the counsel of your petitioner and the newly-appointed Register of Probate, and not through any neglect, the proper papers were not seasonably filed to effect said appeal.

Wherefore, he prays that this Court will give him leave to appeal, according to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided.

EDWIN T. RICE, by
W. H. Y. HACKETT, his Att'y.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner notify all persons interested in the subject matter thereof, to appear at an adjourned law term of our Supreme Court to be holden at Concord in our County of Merrimack, on the thirteenth day of August, 1877, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in our County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said thirteenth day of August next.

A true copy. Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

Cease Racking the System

With drastic catharics and hurtful salivants, and use that rational and genial recuperant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the success of which in the eradication of disease and the building up of feeble constitutions has utterly confuted the preposterous medical theorists who insisted on the rationality of depleting the frame in order to restore it to health. Appetite, easy digestion, regular evacuations, a natural flow of bile, are as sure a result of the use of the finest of America's invigorants as increased loss of power and irritation of the system were of the old exhausting method. The new era of treatment inaugurated by the Bitters is indeed a happy one for the sick and feeble, for it has not only placed health within their reach, but saved them from the hurtful consequences of an absurd fallacy.

Veteran Teeth.

It is pleasant to see in the mouths of the aged, teeth that have withstood the ravages of time.

All teeth may be preserved perfect and serviceable, pure in color, and underanged in position during a whole life-time, by the regular use of Sozodont.

Everlasting attachments are made with Spalding's Glue.

WALTER BAKER & Co., received the highest awards at London, Paris, Vienna and Philadelphia for the Chocolate and Cocoas. The public endorses this verdict by a constant and ever-increasing demand for these excellent preparations.

Probably there has never been known to the world so efficient and successful a remedy for diseases of the Throat and Lungs, as Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syzup. Its success as a popular remedy is remarkable, and it has proved a blessing to the thousands who have used it. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

"Sulphuret Oil of Roses."

A wonderful External Remedy, almost miraculous in effect. By absorption it eradicates Rheumatic pains, Neuralgia, Nervousness and Throat Diseases. Sufferers do themselves positive injustice by not giving this Remedy a trial. Price 50 cents and $3. FLAVILLE, BROTHER & CO., Chemists, 30 Franklin street, Boston. ☞N. B. NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock M. of Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, for building the shells of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Miantonomoh," now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap-iron for the work to be furnished by the Bureau.

These turrets are to be 22 feet and 9 inches external diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 5 feet broad, and 10½ inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 20th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the revolling of the iron.

2d. For all the labor of building these turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be provided by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plates to be bent and planed according to plan.

Proposals will also be received under this advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets; the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plan, to be equal to the best quality of English turret iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware river, in such position as to be readily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to be the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building the shells of the pilot houses required for the same vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. d jy10 17 24 31

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

—o—

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

—o—

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alterative, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual remedy for a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who consequently their presence disorders. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Kidney, Bladder, and Urinary Diseases, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Gravel, Dropsy, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa or Whites, from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Speakin' Out in Meetin'.

It was a sister who spoke right out in meeting in Plymouth Church yesterday. As soon as the last word of the short prayer after Mr. Beecher's morning sermon was uttered she stood up—an elderly and somewhat despetic-looking woman—in a front pew of the rear gallery, and, brandishing her fan, said, acidly, with evident determination to secure a hearing: "I want to ask a question." She continued speaking in an excited manner, although Mr. Beecher said in a louder tone than usual: "We will sing the fourth hymn."

Inquiring female—But I want to ask a question.

Mr. Beecher—But we want to sing the fourth hymn.

Inquiring Female--But I must ask a question.

Mr. Beecher—But we must sing the fourth hymn.

Inquiring Female (brandishing her fan and gesticulating vigorously with both hands) I will ask a question.

Mr. Beecher (motioning to Chorister Camp to push things)—Sing the fourth hymn.

By this time nearly all the congregation were stretching their necks towards the gallery, and most of them were laughing. Mr. Beecher grew very red in the face with the excitement of the moment, but seemed to enjoy the fun. Old John Zundel, at the organ, struck up a lively prelude, which was too much for the inquiring female and drowned her voice. She remained standing during the singing of "Thine Earthly Sabbaths, Lord, We Love," with a determined look on her angular face, but during the singing she got no chance. When the last words of the hymn died out Mr. Beecher adroitly put in the benediction. Then a torrent of discourse began to flow from the gallery, accompanied with continued brandishment of the fan. As soon, however, as the woman resumed, which was at the moment Mr. Beecher finished saying "Amen," the full power of the $20,000 organ was brought into requisition for the ungallant purpose of quenching the sound of her voice. This made her indignant and increased the efforts she was making to secure a hearing. She seemed resolved to keep on until the organ voluntary should stop; and the organ sounded as if it meant to keep on all the afternoon. The congregation appeared to be forgetful of dinner in the desire to stay and see the thing through. A crowd of men and boys surrounded the woman, and presently Usher Beach, taking her by the elbow, told her she must go out of church This brought forth a fresh torrent of eloquence, and gave rise to renewed brandishings of the fan. The congregation regretfully gazed on the woman as under the management of Usher Beach she ascended the gallery steps and vanished through the door. Leaving the church by the Orange street exit, she went around the block till, in a state of violent indignation, she reached the rear door on Cranberry street, where she waited for Mr. Beecher, in order to give him in personal argument the views which the organ had deprived her of uttering in church. A waggish brother told her that Mr. Beecher had gone out the other way, and she departed, brandishing her fan. She is a stranger to the congregation.

Mr. Beecher in his sermon had contended that the danger to the Church and to religion was quite as great from undue rigor and severity in the presentation of gospel truth as it was from overlaxity of preaching, and perhaps it was this that troubled the sister. —N. Y. World.

A Castine Home.

There is the garret, not full of moth-eaten refuse and festooned with cobwebs, as are the garrets of romancers, but clean, light, and airy, the favorite play-room of the little folks, and the frequent resort of their elders when the bay is to be swept with a glass in search of an expected pleasure-boat, or a look-out kept for the first glimpse of a gaff-topsail as the "Spy" comes creeping around Light-house Head, hugging the shore too closely for unaccustomed eyes to distinguish the slowly gliding masts from the stationary objects on the bank above. There are heavy chests filled with the discarded finery of former generations, the flowered brocade of the great-grandmother who danced with the British officers being the chief treasure of the board. The now obsolete spinning-wheel occupies a distant corner, and ranged along the wall are decrepit chairs with wide carved backs, and claw-footed tables too cumbrous for the taste of the present day. Nor is there wanting even here that suggestion of the sea which gives a quaint touch and flavor to all the belongings of Castine. There are rows of huge conch-shells, for which fashion no longer demands a place upon the parlor mantel-piece, and boxes of curiosities collected by childish hands; there are masses of coral rock brought home by the boys from the ballast wharf, and delicate coral fans, the gift of some sailor friend from tropical seas; while the floor is ornamented with rows of star-fish and sea-urchins which the children of to-day have laid in the sun to dry. In the chambers below, the curtained beds and cushioned armchairs of old times are set off by quaint engravings or richly toned paintings, reminders of Mediterranean voyages and of hurried visits to art capitals along the coast.

The bay of Naples, or the villa-crowned height of Genoa, smiles from the wall upon the scarcely less beautiful panorama of sea and shore outside the windows; and the sewing-table is adorned with a basket of finest workmanship, the gift of the sailor son, who remembers in Eastern bazars his mother's patient stitching and mending in the days of his boisterous youth. Her daughter's bureau drawers in the opposite room are stored with foreign treasures. All her garments smell of myrrh, aloes, and cassia. When she goes to pay visits, she attires herself in a shawl so wondrously embroidered as to be above the caprices of fashion; and her ivory card-case is a miracle of Chinese art. The grave father of the family cuts his Boston Transcript with a sandal-wood paper-knife, and writes his business letters at a solid desk of camphor-wood, whose massive brass frame fairly lights up the corner of the sitting-room, where it has an abiding-place and a table of its own.

In the parlor the mantel-piece is gay with the artistically grouped feathers of tropical birds; upon the shelves of the what-not are glass jars of the spices of Ceylon, arranged in the various developments of their fruitage; the drawers of the book-case are full of Chinese pictures, innocent of perspective and brilliant in coloring; the table is strewn with ingenious puzzles; and a never-failing source of amusement for stranger guests is the Japanese fan, which, opened aright, offers a brave show of costumed figures, and reversed, tumbles into rags and empty sticks. Even the dining-room and kitchen partake of the foreign element which the great and wide sea brings to this remote shore. Every one in the house recognizes the subtle fragrance when a certain tiny saucepan is brought into requisition, and the children rejoice to see upon the tea-table the pale blue jar ornamented with a watery landscape, which hints of preserved ginger within.

Nor is it alone the great square houses that contain these cosmopolitan treasures. The neat white cottages by the shore are made picturesque by their imported belongings. Queer beads and heathenish necklaces dangle from the frames of the looking-glasses; exquisite shells adorn the bureau in the best room; and the tame gray parrot sits on the fence and scolds the passers-by in a foreign jargon, but with an emphasis unmistakably suggestive of his meaning.—Harper's Magazine for August.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1877.

Young Hackett's Funeral.

The funeral of Thomas L. Hackett, the young man who was butchered in so cowardly and brutal a manner by the Irish roughs of Montreal for trying to protect several ladies from their insults on the 12th of July, was buried by the Orangemen on Monday, with great pomp, all the Orange Lodges and kindred societies of Montreal turning out with full regalia, and many lodges from other cities participating. After the Orangemen, at the request of various Catholic and Protestant organizations, had given up their proposed parade on the 12th, the conduct of the Mayor of the city, P. J. L. Beaudry, in allowing mobs of the lowest and most vicious classes of the Irish Catholics to hold undisputed possession of the streets throughout the day and to insult and murder Protestants at pleasure, naturally excited the most intense indignation, and he is hotly denounced as a scoundrel—which he is, or an imbecile. The brutal murder of young Hackett instantly decided the Orangemen not to give up another parade, and the authorities were notified that he would be buried with full Orange ceremonies. Beaudry, the Mayor, still refusing to do his duty, a magistrate called out all the militia and took charge of them, and regiments lined the streets at short intervals from the starting point of the procession to the cemetery. But notwithstanding the excitement, and the irritating language of the Orangemen, the drunken roughs and bullies that held the streets and insulted every decent person on the 12th were not visible on this occasion; the cowardly ruffians knew that the Orangemen were "well heeled" for a fight, so they kept out of sight in their dens in the back slums, thus proving the justice of the strictures on the conduct of the Mayor, who could easily have prevented all trouble on the 12th by simply using the police force at his disposal. How the Orange societies regard the gross violation of a solemn compact by the Catholics is indicated by the following extract from the address delivered at the grave by Rev. C. A. Doudiet, Chaplain of the Orange Society:

"The resolutions of the Orange lodges subsequent to this murder have declared that henceforth they will exercise their rights, come what may. This was to be expected. It may bring forth stormy times; but even storms are necessary to clear the atmosphere, much as we love peace and good will. Many of those who pleaded for them this year will be silent in future. We would have healed the sore dissensions of the past; but how have we been met? Let the spirit of Thomas Lett Hackett speak from the grave where we have laid him. Let the occurrences of the last few days be written on sagranite obelisk that will mark his last resting place, that our successors in the days to come can clearly understand the origin of the coming struggle for equal rights. If your legislators are wise in time that struggle may be a bloodless one; but if there is still to be a suicidal policy of protection to one party and no protection to the other, let the consequences rest upon the heads of those who choose to ignore the value set by true Britons on religious and civil liberty."

The immense procession returned home in quick marching order, arriving at Orange Hall at 7:20 P. M., without a single incident. The military brought up the rear. Crowds of people lustily cheered the processionists in St. James street on their return. A drunken stevedore named Paddy Dwyer fired six shots from a revolver at two men, after the procession dismissed, but only succeeded in getting himself locked up. In the evening, as the Point St. Charles contingent Orangemen were on the way to their homes in the western suburbs, they were met at Wellington bridge by an immense crowd of the opposite party. The latter acted in a menacing manner, but did not attack them, however, as too many revolvers were in sight. The youths who lagged somewhat behind the Orangemen then came along, and the crowds of roughs made an onslaught on them with revolvers. The boys ran, but one was shot down, one ball striking him in the neck and another in the back. He was taken to the hospital. The dastardly ruffians had a jubilee over the affair. The police soon arrived, but made no arrests.

Concerning the "Orange and Green" troubles, Archbishop Lynch of Toronto, after celebrating high mass in St. Michael's cathedral on Sunday made some very sensible and temperate remarks. Alluding to the disturbance in Montreal, he said he was glad to be able to state that "the Bishop and clergy of that city, as well as the leading members of the National and other Societies, endeavored by every means in their power to prevent unpleasantness. The feuds and bitter animosities of the Old World should have no place in our prosperous new country. Seeing that no good can arise from senseless displays, he would wish that the Government should put an end to any party procession, inasmuch as they engender bad feeling and lead to strife and contention." That is probably the only way in which the silly controversy between the "Orange and Green" will ever be put out of the way of sensible people; for so long as the authorities act on the theory that one party is to be protected with the whole power of the government, and the other party is to receive no protection whatever, just so long these disgraceful scenes will be repeated.

A New Clock.

Elijah Clark, of Paris, Ky., has perfected an electrical clock which is said to be the most perfect and yet the most simple of recent mechanical inventions in this line. Weights and main-springs are dispensed with; it requires no winding, will run two or three years without attention, is a perfect time-keeper, and can be afforded at a price so low as to bring it within the reach of all. Mr. Clark has spent some of the best years of his life in perfecting this clock, having been some fifteen years in overcoming the difficulties that surrounded the application to it of electricity as the motive power, and according to the statements of competent judges he has been successful. Several of his clocks have been in successful operation, keeping good time without attention, the last twelve months. The movement is small and compact, and occupying a space about three by four inches and one inch in depth. The balance is locked and unlocked at every beat. The escapement is similar to that of the chronometer in appearance. The detent and detent springs unlock the escapement wheel, thus giving impulse to the balance-wheel. The detent and detent-springs are used for the purpose of closing and opening the circuit, at the same time giving the impulse to the balance and to the escapement wheel which moves the train, through the action of an electro-magnet that locks and unlocks an armature to which is attached the lever and pallets. The circuit is closed and opened, while the balance is moving in the same direction, and is only closed one-tenth of the time. A company is being formed in Waltham, Mass., for the manufacture of these clocks on an extensive scale, under the direction of I. B. Scott, formerly agent of the Boston Manufacturing Company, a gentleman of excellent business ability. Some of those interested in the project are so confident of success that they prophesy that in a few years this new industry will be conducted on as extensive a scale as the American Watch Company.

New York Letter.

NEW YORK, July 16.

Fashionable people have gone in quest of that "strange delightfulness in grass" which Ruskin writes about. Unfortunates left behind feel their insignificance, and aspire to little beyond a percale costume, contenting themselves with anticipations of so much the more finery next Fall. But there is a law of compensation, and in that percale suit, they really find about all the comfort there is in the way of clothing. For the most part, they are made with half-fitting jacket, which as everybody knows is cooler than if setting close to the person, while the light overskirt is of scarce appreciable weight. All would be lovely, but for the trailing under-skirt, but then one does not expect just now to have any good of one's right hand, so we travel along contentedly enough, knowing that we have opportunity for the exhibition of a pretty petticoat, and shoe to correspond. Dark solid shades of blue, brown, or green are preferred; ladies in mourning wear black, while in the way of trimming, we find knife plaitings, embroidered bands, and Smyrna lace. Little girls wear the cuningest dark percale costumes, gotten up in imitation of their elders, but for them Smyrna lace only is used in ornamentation. Irrepressible people who conclude still to hold up their heads, if they are in New York in July, buy also a bunting suit, for this summer there is quite a run made on bunting, which after all is a clumsy sort of material, and not likely to remain long in fashion.

COIFFURES: JEWELRY.

I would be recreant to the trust committed to me, did I neglect to mention a new invention in hair, called the "multiform," which has attracted much attention by reason of its superior advantages. It is graceful, easily arranged, the lightest coiffure ever devised, and can be disposed in an infinite variety of styles. Made in first quality hair only, prices are from ten to fifteen dollars, according to color. Full directions are given, and orders received at Helmer's Human Hair House, 16 East 15th street, or Mme. Demorest's, 17 East 14th street. In jewelry, scarce anything is so fashionable as a scarf pin, and in view of such demand, we find them in wonderful variety of design—in silver, gold, mosaic, enamel, onyx, jet, and precious stones. Ladies remain partial to bangles; slender rims are worn, but then again, the number of trinkets attached is not unworthy of note. Pendant from one, may be counted a trunk, tortoise, idol, basket, bell, serpent, book, five cent piece, horse shoe, and fish; on another, a cabbage, drum, satchel, harp, chair, hour glass, chest of drawers, lizard, boat and eagle.

NEW DESIGNS.

The Breton basque is tight-fitting, cut with side forms carried to the shoulders, and is at once novel and distingue, while the Habit basque, another stylish design, is tight fitting, with cut away fronts over a pointed vest, and the back is coat shape. The Celandine overskirt shows a long, broad apron closed diagonally and draped so far back that it hangs perfectly smooth in front, and a back with irregular drapery describing a point. The Vullia overskirt, in effect dressy and graceful, with drapery apparently complicated, is quite simple and easily arranged.

PRINCESS UNDERCLOTHING.

Just think of it. Imagine a corset cover prolonged out gradually until it reaches the ankles. By such prolongation, it becomes a petticoat, and while human ingenuity is taxed to the uttermost in order that the front and sides shall hang close, closer, closest to the figure, the back from about a foot below the waist, becomes a mass of ruffles, flounces and frills made to set out "like quills upon the fretful porcupine," in order that the train—a point peculiarly dear to the human heart at present—may find due support.

GILMORE'S GARDEN.

Life would be a burden without Gilmore's Garden. 'Tis there we find our chief recreation, and everything is so pleasant that the oftener one goes the oftener one wants to go. Cool fountains, caves of the winds, grottoes, water falls, to say nothing of refreshing verdure everywhere, afford charming variety, while music of high artistic merit gives the finishing touch. We make the most of Gilmore, this season, for next summer, D. V., he will be in Europe—fearlessly entering into competition with the bands of France, Germany and England. He looks the polished society man, rather than the absent-minded artist, and his manners, at once courteous and cordial, have rendered him very popular.

The War.

Two Turkish monitors are reported to have destroyed the Russian bridge across the Danube at Sistova. One of the monitors was afterward destroyed by a Russian torpedo. The despatches from the Danube and Asia Minor are contradictory to the last degree, and it is evident that both Russians and Turks are doing some magnificent lying right along, whatever their fighting may amount to.

Russian official despatches say two Pachas and 6000 troops were captured at Nikopolis.

The Turks on the 16th claimed to have defeated the Grand Duke Nicholas in Bulgaria. On the 17th the retreat of the Turks is announced.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when fade d or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and healthy—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its graceful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

RARE FLORAL DISPLAY.

Some weeks since a night blooming cereus in Pearson's greenhouse on Broad street opened a flower, and for about six hours was a grand centre of attraction to two score or more of admirers. On Thursday night last the same plant bloomed again, two flowers appearing this time; and over two hundred admirers called to pay their respects to the rare and beautiful exotic. The flowers were nine inches in diameter, somewhat resembling immense water lilies, but far more beautiful; and the delicious fragrance exhaled by them during their brief existence filled the house, to the complete overerpowing of the odors of all the other plants. Shortly after midnight the regal blossoms commenced to wear a tired look, and before daylight they had closed, never to open again. The plant, which has thus borne three flowers in a season, now seems very much exhausted, and will probably take a rest of seven or eight years more before blooming again.

IS IT DANGEROUS.

Mr. Editor: In the short distance of a mile on the Dover road, near Gravelley Ridge schoolhouse, there were during the heavy thunder storm of two or three weeks ago from twenty-five to fifty telegraph poles either knocked down or split by the lightning. Now no one can believe that these poles were all struck at separate times and by different flashes of lightning; it is evident that the mischief was all done by one discharge of electricity striking the wire and running along it, and that the glass insulators around which the wire is fastened were insufficient to keep the electric fluid attracted to the wire from leaving it and passing down the poles to the ground. Now, as the telegraph wires pass over this city in various directions and are fastened to the ridgepoles of many buildings by these same glass insulators, is not there great danger of the lightning passing down through the buildings and causing loss of life and serious injury to property? I am aware that telegraph wires on the top of a house are claimed to be a great protection, and that it is said no house thus protected has ever been struck by lightning; but suppose the bolt which struck the wire at Gravelley Ridge had struck it in this city instead, what would have been the result? Would it have waited until it got outside the city before ignoring the insulators and seeking a passage to the ground? I, for one, do not believe it would have done anything of the kind; and since I have seen how the lightning served a long row of telegraph poles that were "protected" by wires, I am resolved that my house shall never be protected in that way if I can prevent it. REDNUHT.

DIDN'T WANT HIS COMPANY.

As a large party were about returning after a delightful day spent at Newcastle last week, an overpowering sense was given them of their near proximity to one of those animals whose absence is always preferred to their presence. Supposing the "critter," without doubt, very near by, they made all haste to take Dogberry's advice in Shakspeare and get out of bad company, but to their surprise, on reaching there, found him some hundreds of yards away in the barnyard of the gentlemen upon whose grounds they had been having such a good time, where he had been slain by a stone as unceringly thrown as that which killed Goliah. He was by no means a bad-looking animal, the black upon his coat being the darkest shade of that color, and the white as spotless as new-fallen snow, and had he "behaved as well as he looked," as is sometimes remarked to naughty boys, he would not have come to so ruthless an end.

At the time, some months ago, when the species of animals above referred to, were so numerous about town, a gentleman had a sight of half a dozen of them together one day in his yard, and asking a man who was at work in a drain upon his premises where he supposed they came from, was told that they probably belonged to a neighbor, who was the reluctant possessor of about that number of the species. Meeting the neighbor next day, the gentleman said to him, "We had a visit from your family of skunks yesterday, ——, but they did no harm." "We brought them up well," was the good-natured response of the other; and a relation of the incident at the Athenæum the same afternoon, drew out various reminiscences of the odoriferous animal; one having to tell of half a dozen growing up from infancy, in his boyhood, in his father's cellar, and of another being favored with the presence of about an equal number upon his own premises, until they were shot, one by one, as opportunity offered.

JOTTINGS.

The two men (Corbett and Taylor) who were arrested in this city by the police some weeks ago and sent back to Gardiner, Maine, for the theft of a yacht, it seems did a good deal of river and harbor pirating along the coast of Maine before coming here with their stolen sloop. Among other things, they stole a yawl-boat at Bath; and the Boston Traveller says that the captain of the tug "Aid," of Saco, which was raided on, has recovered $150 worth of silver and clothing stolen from his boat by these thieves.

We have received from Pierce Burton & Co., publishers, of Aurora, Ill., "The Origin and Destiny of Man," a series of fourteen Sunday evening lectures delivered in the First Methodist Episcopal church in Aurora during the winter of 1875-76, by Rev. H. W. Thomas, D. D. The book is excellently printed on heavy paper, and very handsomely bound. The lectures are an able presentation of the author's views, and can be read with interest and pleasure even by those who dissent from his premises and his conclusions. The book is sold only by subscription; price $1.75. Agents wanted.

It is rumored that Mr. Eben F. Brackett, of this city, in charge of painters in bureau of yards and docks at the navy yard, has been removed and a man from Maine appointed in his place. Mr. Brackett is a competent painter and respectable man, and it is not stated under which civil service rule he is removed.

The committee of arrangements for the Light Artillery's visit to Europe next year, are preparing a complete history of that organization from 1775 to the present time, detailing the part borne by the company in the revolutionary struggle, its reception of Washington and Lafayette in the last century, its participation in the erection of the pole at Liberty bridge, July 4, 1824, the reception of Lafayette in September of the same year, its memorable visit to Boston in 1843, and of every incident worthy of note down to the present time, including the trip to the Centennial last year. It will be handsomely bound in cloth and gold. Many copies will be given away by the company while abroad next year, as souvenirs of the visit. Any one having any information concerning the history of this company is requested to communicate with the committee.

ODE TO THE FLAG.

The following is the "Ode to the Flag" composed by Samuel W. Foss, a graduate of 1877, and sung at the Exhibition of the High School, July 12th, to the tune of "The Red, White and Blue:"

O Flag, that our fathers have cherished,
And guarded o'er land and o'er sea,
'Neath whose folds countless heroes have perished
To keep the flag of the free:
A hundred long years have departed—
Our fathers have gone to their rest—
Since the down-trod of earth, lighter-hearted,
First hailed the young Flag of the West.

CHORUS.--Three cheers for the "Red, White and Blue" etc.

Our fathers, with just indignation,
With the Queen of the sea dared to cope,
And established themselves as a nation,
Arrayed 'neath the banner of hope.
That banner has since been the token
Of freedom to all earth's oppressed,
With its first vows and pledges unbroken,
'Tis still the free Flag of the West.

And may we, like worthy descendents
Of the noblest and bravest of earth,
Maintain the old flag's independence
And be true to the land of our birth;
And may our loved banner forever
Wave over the land God has blest,
And traitors and enemies never Disgrace the proud Flag of the West.

A full statement of facts concerning the seizure of the whaling schooner Rising Sun has been forwarded to Washington by F. B. Goss, Collector of the Cape District. They are substantially the same as have been heretofore published. It is rumored that an agent of the Spanish Government has been in Provincetown, Mass., trying to adjust the matter of the seizure of the whaling schooner Ellen Rizpah. The agent for the owners, however, refused to accept any compromise, observing that it was a matter to be settled by our Government and not by him personally.

About two weeks ago a terrible tragedy occurred on the Calcasieu River, a little above the northern line of this parish. A young lady named Gunter had eloped with a young man named Bass. Her father and brother pursued them to the residence of a neighboring magistrate, where a few minutes before they had been married. The father entered the house at one door and the son at another, and immediately the former discharged a double-barrelled gun loaded with buckshot in Bass' breast. The latter, though mortally wounded, returned the fire by two shots from a revolver, both taking effect in the elder Gunter's head. Both parties fell to the floor, and young Gunter plunged a bowie knife repeatedly into Bass' body. The latter died instantly. Young Gunter then took up his father, who is likely to recover from the pistol shots in his head, as they were glancing shots, and fled. Being pursued by the sheriff and a posse, he turned on his pursuers with a revolver, and was shot by the posse, dying from his wounds a day or two after. The elder Gunter is in the custody of the sheriff.—Lake Charles (Ohio) Echo.

What other preparations fail to do, Hall's Hair Renewer surely accomplishes. It renews the hair and especially restores its color when gray and faded. As a dressing it is unsurpassed, making the hair moist, soft and glossy. The most economical preparation ever offered, its effects remain a long time, and those who have once made a trial of it will never use any other.—Advertiser and Union, Fredonia, N. Y.

The firemen on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad struck on Monday, and took possession of the railroad at Martinsburg, West Virginia, refusing to allow any of the "new men" procured by the company to run the engines. The Governor, Matthew, was called on by the railroad company for troops, and two companies were sent. A train was started, but the strikers then fired on the troops, one soldier being wounded. The soldiers returned the fire, killing one striker. After this the strikers cut the couplings of the cars, and up to noon on Tuesday prevented the moving of trains, holding their own against the military.

ROCKINGHAM, SS. Law Term, June, 1877. No. 12.

EDWIN T. RICE of New York respectfully represents that ARABELLA RICE, late of Portsmouth, deceased, in 1872, testate, having in her will nominated your petitioner together with two other cousins to be Executors of her will: that both of the other persons nominated declined to accept the trust, and have since deceased.

And your petitioner having nearly completed the distribution of the residuum of said estate, upon the petition of Samuel E. Sewall, administrator of one of the residuary legatees who lived and died in Russia, at the Probate Court, holden at Portsmouth, September, 1876, was removed from his position as Executor of said will.

He further represents that his counsel was in Court when said removal was announced, and then and there in open Court claimed an appeal to this Court which was then and there allowed, and further requested the Register of Probate to prepare the proper papers to render said appeal effectual to this Court, and to hand the papers to the Clerk for entry; but, owing to some misunderstanding between the counsel of your petitioner and the newly-appointed Register of Probate, and not through any neglect, the proper papers were not seasonably filed to effect said appeal.

Wherefore, he prays that this Court will give him leave to appeal, according to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided.

EDWIN T. RICE, by
W. H. Y. HACKETT, his Atty.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner notify all persons interested in the subject matter thereof, to appear at an adjourned law term of our Supreme Court to be holden at Concord, in our County of Merrimack, on the thirteenth day of August, 1877, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in our County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said thirteenth day of August next.

Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

Relationship of Brain and Stomach

is a close one, indeed. They are connected by that wondrous elastic link, the sympathetic nerve, which communicates the abnormal sensations of the organ of digestion to that of thought. Now, if digestion is disordered, the brain being the great focal point of the nervous system, all the nerves are in some degree affected. The main cause of nervous trouble is impaired digestion, and that is usually produced by weakness of the stomach. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters rectifies this, and overcomes nervous debility by infusing increased energy into the operation of the organs of nutrition. Through the agency of this beneficient tonic, not only are the nerves vitalized, but the entire organism acquires vigor and regularity.

Ladies

Who use Sozodont have only to open their lips to prove its excellence. Their white, gleaming, spotless teeth, and fragrant breath will tell the story. There is more demand for this wholesome and unexceptionable preparation than for any other dentifrice in the market. One day its use will be universal.

The 8th grand drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company will take place on the 7th of August next.

Daily Chronicle.

—Four men were taken out of a ball room at McDade, in Lee county, Texas, and hung to a tree, recently, by a party of fifteen disguised men.

—The following story is told by a correspondent of the London Times at Varna: The coolness of Englishmen is well known, but for a real calm disregard for personal peril I can recommend a Turk. The other day at a station here a quantity of gunpowder was being packed in trucks for Shumla. One of the tin cases got damaged, and some wiseacre sent for a brazier to repair it where it stood. The man came with his fire and soldering-iron, mounted the truck, and was followed by a score of soldiers anxious to see the fun. He was just about to commence operations when the station master jumped up after him and unceremoniously pitched him and his hot iron on to the platform, told the soldiers that they might kill themselves if they liked, but that he was responsible for the station and nobody should blow that up while he was there.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock M. of Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, for building the shells of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Miantonomoh," now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap-iron for the work to be furnished by the Bureau.

The turrets are to be 22 feet and 9 inches external diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 5 feet broad, and 10½ inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 20th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the rerolling of the iron.

2d. For all the labor of building these turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be provided by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plates to be bent and planed according to plan.

Proposals will also be received under this advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets, the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plan, to be equal to the best quality of English turret iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware river, in such position as to be readily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to be the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building the shells of the pilot houses required for the same vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. d jy19 17 24 31

"A Fascinating Work on an Entrancing Topic.
HE WILL COME;
BY STEPHEN H. TYNG, JR., D. D.
This work is not prophetical. It discusses the topic in a Divine manner. It aims to interpret the narrative of a Christian's experience of the revealed facts in the second dispensation. There is no line of controversy in the volume. Yet it is full of bold and original thought, apt illustration, and forcible writing, and it is a work which no one who is "watching and waiting" for the Lord can afford to miss. DR. QUAIN'S
CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for years with Dyspepsia, and for the past two years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 6th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so, for I know this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story, I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting around Saratoga springs, and I am suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherret, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1876.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst Cases. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

in a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual combination for all complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who's substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Itch or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

The Battles in the Pacific.

The fight of the rebel ram Huascar with the Peruvian iron-clad frigate Independencia and the wooden corvettes Union and Pilcomayo, May 27th, near Pisaqua, and that of the Huascar with the British frigates Shah and Amethyst the following day, were very lively affairs, and the rebel commander, Pierola, showed much skill and pluck. The Huascar, in the first action, simply moved around in a circle, firing but few shots, while those of the enemy glanced from her iron plating. At one time, however, the Union, having twelve seventy pounders, got up so near the Huascar that the men of the latter began discharging rifles and revolvers at those of the former, apprehending an attempt at boarding. The Union, as soon as she got near enough, let drive a broadside which so damaged the Huascar's turret that no further use could be made of the two three-hundred pound guns mounted in it. The Independencia fired ten shots with her pivot guns of one-hundred and fifty pounds, and thirty with her seventy pounders in battery. The Pilcomayo, well ensconced behind the Independencia, fired shells at the ram. The Huascar got away, having damaged the other vessels but little.

Immediately on the refusal of Pierola next day to haul down the Peruvian colors, the Shah opened her broadsides, which are discharged by electricity, the Amethyst lying off and attempting to rake the ram. The Huascar replied with its heavy three-hundred pound Blakeleys. Soon everything on the Huascar's decks, except the mast, turret and smoke-stack, had disappeared, but she kept firing. A shell from the Amethyst entered one of her forward ports, killing one man and wounding several, but the Amethyst was shortly seen with a thick smoke issuing from amidships steaming out of action, and did not return for twenty minutes. The Huascar now attempted to ram her adversary, but the splendid handling of the Shah prevented. On being approached, as the Huascar's officers state, the Shah appeared to move as if by instinct, and her heavy batteries were brought to bear on the assailant. A small Gatling gun stationed in her tops very seriously incommoded the combatants on the ram, and her smoke-stack is riddled with musket bullets. One three-hundred pound shot struck the turret of the Huascar, penetrated the iron two inches and then rebounded. On the side, she was hit twice by the same class of shot with precisely the same result. The Peruvian also made some unsuccessful dives at the Amethyst. The Huascar finally retired toward the shore, after a contest of three hours, all the primers of the turret guns having been destroyed, and the enemy did not pursue.

—A distinguished Japanese traveller in this country writes home: "The chief branch of education of young men here is rowing. The people have large boat-houses called 'colleges,' and the principal of these are Yale and Harvard."

—Two young ladies were once singing a duet in a concert room. A stranger, who had heard better performances, turned to his neighbor, saying: "Does not the lady in white sing wretchedly?" "Excuse me, sir, I scarcely feel myself at liberty to express my sentiments; she is my sister." "I beg your pardon, sir," answered he in much confusion, "I mean the lady in blue." "You are perfectly right there," replied the neighbor. "I have often told her so myself; she is my wife."

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, prevents baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

THURSDAY, JULY 19, 1877.

Concord Correspondence.

CONCORD, July 16.

The Governor and Council have appointed Moses Humphrey of Concord a trustee of the Reform School in place of Hon. Daniel Marcy of Portsmouth, who declined a reappointment. They have also appointed Charles S. Eastman of Concord, Commissioner of the Board of Pharmacy for the term of three years.

I am informed that the State Prison committee have agreed unanimously to report back the bill for the erection of a new State Prison with the amendments offered by the Senate, and to recommend its passage. The principal amendments are: the commissioners shall not be confined to any particular building spot in Concord, but that it shall be somewhere in Concord; the number of cells shall be 200; the work shops shall be large enough to accommodate 200 workmen; a plan specific in detail, shall be drawn of not only the external, but the internal design of the prison and buildings, and left open to inspection for the public for a certain time; the old prison shall be sold at public auction, due notice of such sale having been given, and not at private sale; the contract shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder who complies with the provisions of this act.

The House met at eight o'clock. A communication was received from the Senate. They deemed it inexpedient to legislate upon the act to relieve the Ten Cent Savings Bank of Portsmouth. They sent down a bill entitled "an act for the protection of oyster beds." This bill prohibits the taking of oysters from Great Bay in Rockingham county in the months of May, June, July and August, unless bedded by private persons, under a penalty of not less than $20 and not more than $100 for each offence.

House bill No. 37 caused considerable discussion upon a motion to refer it to the judiciary committee, the evident design being to smother it. It was finally ordered to a third reading. This bill relates to public printing. It will receive a thorough airing and possibly suffer a defeat.

The committee on Insurance reported a bill "to protect policy holders in life insurance companies" with a recommendation that the bill be read once and then printed and referred to the next legislature at its opening.

The railroad lobby has come in large numbers to-day to defeat the bill introduced by Mr. Ordway of Warner in regard to the taxation of railroads. The committee on finance have had three meetings upon the subject to-day.

The following is the message relating to the veto of the Magdalena River Railroad Charter:

"I return herewith to the House of Representatives in which it originated, the bill entitled, 'an act to incorporate the Magdalena River Railroad,' without my signature or approval. The primary and most proper objects of our State legislation are those which relate to interests within its own limits; and peculiar circumstances alone can justify a departure from that course of legislation. But this bill relates to an enterprise without the limits and jurisdiction of this State, the construction and operation of a railroad in South America, and the corporators named in it are mainly non-residents of this State. It is not apparent therefore that many persons or interests in this State can properly ask for this legislation. It is very clear that the provisions of the bill so far as they purport to grant any authority to construct and operate a railroad in a foreign State, and to acquire real estate and other property, and to exercise powers in that State for these purposes, would be entirely nugatory so far as any actual operation in that State, in those respects would be concerned. But the bill also authorizes the issue of bonds with mortgages of the road and other property of the corporation for security; a power which might be exercised in this State, through the provisions of the bill with regard to the proposed security for the payment of those bonds would be inoperative. And the only effect of this bill in that respect, therefore, would be to sanction the implication of a security, which, in fact, might not have any existence whatever. We cannot be too jealous in guarding the legislation of our State from being used for purposes foreign to its proper objects, and from enactments which however honestly intended, yet can be used for improper purposes. If this corporation desires or expects the protection of the United States government, I am clearly of the opinion that the Congress of the United States should grant the charter, for it is to the general government they must look for protection, and not to the State of New Hampshire. It seems to me that in the press of business, the peculiar character and provisions of this bill, and the considerations I have suggested, may not have received all the attention they deserve, and therefore I return it with these my objections to it, so that it may received farther consideration by the legislature."

CONCORD, July 17.

Early this morning Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth moved that the report of the committee on Banks (which had reported that the act to incorporate the Piscataqua Savings bank ought not to pass and which was laid upon the table on Mr. Hackett's motion) be taken from the table and considered. Mr. Hackett moved to amend the report by striking out the word "not," so that the report should read "and recommend that the bill ought to pass." The amendment was adopted and the bill was then ordered to a third reading. In the afternoon under a third reading it came up again, and Mr. Langdon moved that it be laid on the table; a viva voce vote resulted in the negative. Mr. Langdon then called for the yeas and nays, and the negative of the question prevailed. The bill was then passed.

House bill No. 27, which is "An act defining the representation of towns of less than six hundred population as shown by the Census of 1870," came up for a third reading. Immediately upon the reading of the bill the democrats moved to adjourn, to lay on the table, and to adjourn, all of which were voted down by viva voce, division, and yea and nay votes. The yeas and nays were then called as to whether the main question should be put, resulting in the affirmative. The bill passed by a vote of 190 yeas to 90 nays. As a last resort Norris of Epping moved to amend the title of the bill, but the Speaker refused to entertain the motion.

On motion of Mr. Patterson of Hanover the "act to provide for a topographical and hydrographical survey of the State" was taken from the table and referred to the next legislature.

The following bills were passed: An act to prevent towns and cities from aiding railroads and other corporations; an act for the better protection of children; a bill on the State printing. When the bill for State printing came up there was a determination to suppress it if possible. A motion was made to refer the bill to the commission on taxation. It was discussed by Messrs. Norris, Vilas, Wood, Batchellor, Stevens of Concord, Fellows, and Ide. In the course of the debate one speaker said "New Hampshire can afford to have its printing done as cheap as any other man."

A resolution was passed that no member shall speak more than five minutes on any question at any one time, nor a second time unless by unanimous consent of the House.

House bill No. 30 (Normal School bill) occupied most of the time of the House during the forenoon. The bill calls for an appropriation of $6000 annually for ten years. It provoked a good deal of discussion, Messrs. Mosher, Batchellor, Patterson, Barton, and Sargent speaking in favor, while Messrs. Gould, Clarke, Warden, and Whitcher spoke against. Mr. Clarke of Atkinson moved to put it back to a second reading so as to strike out the word annually. A division being called for it resulted in 152 affirmative and 86 negative, not two-thirds voting in the affirmative; the yeas and nays were then called for, which resulted in 109 nays and 152 yeas, again not two thirds voting in the affirmative. Mr. Stevens of Nashua came to the rescue and moved to lay it on the table so that the friends of the bill might make some changes which would be agreeable to the House, and it was so ordered.

There are to be two reports from the committee on finance, one with four signers that the bill as introduced by Mr. Ordway be recommended that it pass; the other that the matter be referred to a commission on taxation.

One of the amendments to be offered tomorrow to the cider bill is that grocers shall be allowed to sell enough sweet cider just before Thanksgiving to make mince pies. Mr. Ide of Claremont moved to amend the bill by striking out the words "ten gallons" and inserting the words "two gills."

Yours, A. B.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16.

The reported decision of the President that his recent order, divorcing the civil service from politics, does not apply to members of the National Republican Committee has provoked much adverse criticism here. By it a Postmaster is allowed to retain his position as Chairman of that Committee, and Assistant Secretary McCormick remains its Secretary. The ground upon which this exemption is based—the fact that we are more than three years away from a Presidential election—is regarded as glaringly inconsistent by the logicians; and its untenable nature is pointed out by the republican departmental clerk who has just been ordered to sever his connection with his State Association, a politico-social organization, or vacate his office.

The collapse among the Life Insurance companies from the swindling and thieving management of their affairs, has operated to bring that form of investment into almost universal disrepute here. Agents have probably found the Departments among the most fruitful fields in the country, and they have been industriously worked. Provident employees have pretty generally availed themselves of this method of providing their families against the poverty that would otherwise result from their death, every cent that could be saved from current expenses having been, in many cases, applied to this purpose for years; and they are suddenly brought face to face with the fact that the money saved by years of the most rigid economy and complete abstinence from every form of extravagance, has all been swallowed up by the unconscionable thieves and robbers who acted as the swell officers of the "busted" companies. Could Mr. Furber and other insurance sharpers be brought to trial for their many crimes before a jury selected from the departmental victims, there would be small chance for them to ply their infamous vocation in the future.

Advices from the republicans of Ohio render it probable that Stanley Matthews will have to rest content with what Senatorial honors he can gather up during the brief time for which he was elected last Winter. Whether well founded or not, he seems to have awakened a general feeling of distrust at home and abroad; and notwithstanding the fact that Garfield is classed as an opponent of remonetization, while Ohio republicans are generally favorable to the extent at least of replacing the one and two dollar greenbacks with silver, he appears to have gained what Matthews has lost; and in case of their success this Fall, he will, it is admitted, succeed that gentleman in the Upper House. KNOX.

Democratic Management.

Let any one who wishes to study democratic management examine the records of New York city. That city has for many years been ruled by Tammany, and Tammany is not merely the representative democratic organization of the country, but the ruling power in the democratic party as well. The city of New York is nearly as badly governed and as badly plundered today as it was in the time of the great Sachem, Tweed. Tammany has changed its leaders, but not its principles. The city debt, deducting the sinking fund, is over $130,000,000, and has been increased $17,000,000 within the last six months; and of this increase the sum of $14,000,000 is in anticipation of the taxes for the current year! The rate of taxation is $2.65 on the $100, and the whole amount to be raised exceeds $28,000,000. This enormous expenditure has begun to toll upon the trade and business of the city, and threatens to seriously interfere with its permanent prosperity. The whole city government is in the hands of Tammany, which is the most corrupt political organization in the country, and which is mainly sustained by the votes of men who have little stake in the country. The contrast between the financial management of the federal government and that of New York, illustrates the difference between republican and democratic rule. While the debt of the federal government, incurred in the defence of the country, has been gradually diminishing, the debt of New York, incurred largely by reason of the plundering of Tammany, has been steadily increasing, until the annual charge reaches nearly to one-tenth of that of the national debt.

The War.

A despatch from Vienna says Nicopolis has been reduced to ashes, but the two hills completely sheltered the Turks from the Russian fire. The threatened breaking of the Sistova Bridge rendered the taking of Nicopolis essential in order that the Russians might establish another crossing. The assault was finally made, the Russians meeting a terrible fire from the Turkish artillery, but the whole Russian line steadily advanced on Sunday afternoon, and the Turks were driven from the heights, thus commanding Nicopolis, which place the Turks shortly abandoned. The Russians entered the town on Monday morning, finding many wounded Turks in the streets and houses. Another bridge will be thrown across the Danube at this point, and an immense quantity of stores and war material will be shipped over. The Russians can now go forward to Tirnova, sure of their base of supplies. The capture of Nicopolis is the most important event in the Bulgarian campaign.

It is officially announced that the reported attack by Turkish monitors on the Sistova bridge is untrue.

The Turks have evacuated and the Russians occupied Medjidie and Mangalia in the Dobrudscha.

A despatch from Constantinople says the Turkish Minister of War does not confirm previous official reports of the Grand Duke Nicholas' defeat, and despatches allege that the Turks retreated from Yeni Zaghra on Adrianople. The Russians are firmly established on a commanding position in the Kusarik Pass, and an early Russian attack on Adrianople is anticipated.

A Ministerial crisis is said to be impending in Constantinople. The Sultan is reported as strongly inclined to make peace, having already given Namyk Pasha at Shumla personal instructions on this subject. The Young Turks oppose this policy.

The War in West Virginia.

The striking firemen at Martinsburg held full control of the railroad throughout Tuesday night. The strikers and their friends, to the number of 1000, marched about defying the military and civil authorities. The strike is confined to the fireman and brakemen, none of the engineers or conductors having joined. Eighty engines are detained at Martinsburg, and none are allowed to depart; the engineers have been notified that any of them attempting to take a train out of the town will be immediately shot. Passenger trains are not interfered with, the strike being among freight train men. More troops were expected Wednesday morning.

—The School Director of Portland, Oregon, has dismissed the Principal of the High School and several other male teachers in the schools because they did not vote for him. Several female teachers have been dismissed for using their influence against him.

—The Richmond Whig tells of a sad case of a reverse of fortune to a young lady of that city, who was worth $100,000 a year, but married a man who squandered her property and has left her and gone to Europe. She is now penniless, peddling small articles in the streets for a livelihood, and not yet eighteen years of age.

—Two persons testify through the newspapers to having been cured of consumption—one by drinking all the lemon juice, with a little sugar in it, that he could digest, and the other by eating all the salt he could without nausea four times a day. Probably their diseases were more of the stomach and the blood than of the lungs.

—The Springfield quarters of the Harvard students this summer displayed the courteous placard, "Reporters and loafers not wanted here." The reporters took the hint and stayed away, but the loafers remained at the quarters, kept on training, and won the race, beating the gentlemen from Yale and other colleges.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.
AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus healthy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stablished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, disease of the scalp are impossible.
As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

This sum will be at once forwarded to the Mayor of St. John, to be applied to the purpose for which it was contributed,—and considering the great depression of business in this city, which has suffered even more than most other places, owing to the long-continued suspension of work on the navy yard, on which the city so much depends, we regard the response to the call for aid as most liberal and creditable. We should have considered the efforts of the sub-committee successful and gratifying had they collected but five hundred dollars, which sum we hardly expected they would secure when they first started out.

JOTTINGS.

A bill passed by the State Senate was sent down to the House on the 16th, prohibiting the taking of oysters in Great Bay during the months of May, June, July and August, unless where previously bedded by private parties, under a penalty of not less than $20 nor more than $100 for each offence.

Our harbor has been visited by an unusual number of yachts this season. There were five of them lying in port Wednesday evening—two from New York and three from Boston.

Schooner Mary S. Hontvet, Hontvet master, arrived from the Grand Banks on Wednesday with 150,000 pounds of split fish.

The U. S. S. Enterprise was floated out of the dry dock at the navy yard on Tuesday evening, the 17th.

The bill incorporating the Piscataqua Savings Bank of this city, which together with an adverse report from the committee on banks was laid on the table on motion of Mr. Frank W. Hackett some days ago, on motion of Mr. Hackett was taken from the table and passed by the House on the 17th. Mr. Hackett has been one of the working members of the House from the day of its opening, seeming to fall into the harness as readily and to pull as effectively as any of the old stagers.

Sheriff J. Horace Kent is arranging for a fish chowder, picnic and general good time at Dow's Woods, and has invited the County Commissioners, Deputy Sheriffs and other gentlemen to participate. We are informed that the same "doctor" who has administered to the needs of the Piscataquaico Chowderheads in years past will concoct the chowder for Mr. Kent's guests, in which case we guaranty the entire success of the chowder.

U. S. S. Speedwell was lying at the navy yard Wednesday evening, steamed up and only waiting orders to sail for New London, Conn., there to take on board the Fish Commissioners and their gear, after which she proceeds to Salem, Mass., her headquarters for the season. She is under command of Lt. Comdr. A. G. Kellogg; masters, James E. Smith (executive officer) and Hugh Kuhl. Mr. Joseph H. Edmonds of this city is paymaster's yeoman, and Robert C. Sides, Jr., machinist. She carries a crew of twenty-four men.

News and Notes.

The Indians are becoming more aggressive in the Deadwood district of the Black Hills. On the afternoon of the 17th, as the Bismarck stage reached a point two miles north of Bear Buttes and ten miles from Crook City, they came upon the bodies of two men and one woman lying in the road. The men were shot and scalped. The woman was shot, scalped and horribly mutilated. The murdered party were travelling by ox team. The contents of the wagon were scattered promiscuously about. The Indians, about twelve in number, after killing these travellers attacked a party of teamsters corralled a few miles back, but ran away at the first fire. Freighters coming in picked up the bodies and took them to Crook City.

There is great excitement in Oldtown, Me., over the discovery of gold on Treat and Webster's Island. Robert Gustin, who was excavating for a reservoir for the town, struck his pick into what seemed to be a crevice in the ledge, and broke off quite a large piece of rock, which on examination proved to be quartz filled with pure gold. The rock was thoroughly examined and pronounced by the old miners to be the same as the gold-bearing quartz rock of California, and very rich.

The San Francisco Alta publishes a statement of Capt. Resser of the brig Potomac, recently from Marquesas and Tahiti, who says that the tidal wave of May 10th was not felt at Tahiti; but at Nukiha, in the Marquesas group, and the Bay of Taiohoe, the water rose and fell all day, the greatest rise being fourteen feet. The tide swept away houses and other property. The warehouses were all washed away, and the inhabitants compelled to flee for their lives. The most remarkable phenomenon is that it had not rained for years on the island, when it commenced just prior to the tidal wave, and at the time of the Potomac sailing it had been raining heavily for twelve days, washing bridges, etc., away and doing considerable damage.

The Orangemen and Young Britons of Montreal, after returning from young Hackett's funeral on the evening of the 16th, paraded the streets with bands playing "Boyne Water," "Croppies Lie Down" and other party tunes, evidently aiming to exasperate the Catholic Irish into attacking them; but the respectable Irish kept their tempers, and the roughs—who attacked unarmed men and helpless women so bravely—were thoroughly cowed by the Orangemen's evident readiness for a desperate fight, and could not be coaxed out of their holes.

The lightning did serious mischief in various places, on the 17th inst. Mrs. Sandow and her child, and a boy fourteen years old, were killed at North Bergen, N. J., in a shed in which they had taken refuge from the rain. At Clarenceville, L. I., a Mrs. Light was killed and her husband injured. At Bridgeport, Conn., Mrs. William Ryan was killed. Two markers in the pits at Greedmoor, where a match was being shot, were struck by lightning, but not killed.

One of the Prince of Wales' "friends" is a Mrs. Hungerford, and Mr. Hungerford has now sought consolation by eloping with Lady Ernest Tempest. This has raised Tempest, Lord Ernest McDonnell Vane-Tempest, and he swears he will shoot. Lady Tempest was the daughter of a gentleman of Durham, and married in 1869 to her husband, who was somewhat her elder. The whole affair is likely to increase the murmurs at the tone imparted to noble society by "the first gentleman of England."

Affairs in Carter county, Ky., are still in an unsettled state. A young man named Hamm was shot there Saturday by some of the Underwood party. All the prisoners arrested by the militia were tried—and acquitted! The civil authorities are unable to enforce the laws since the withdrawal of the militia.

The last new nonsense connected with schools is reported to us from a Massachusetts city in which the graduating class of the High School sent cards of invitation to the exercises of examination day, which were in the elegant and costly style of wedding invitations. Each expensive envelope contained the general card of invitation and also that of the young lady or ladies sending it. With what pleasure must a poor man or woman, supporting a family by ill-paid labor, and keeping a daughter in school only by means of constant and pinching economy, have paid his or her proportion of this "high-toned" affair. And if any girl, we beg pardon, any young lady was positively unable to join in this folly, how agreeable must have been her position. We are not informed whether or not cake and wine were provided for the guests, but we are sure that with the addition of these delicacies and a reporter of the Jenkins school to describe the dresses and the manner of the graduates, there would have been nothing lacking to make the occasion, as Jenkins would say, recherche. How grateful we ought to be that we live in a land of simple habits where common sense dictates expenditures of all sorts.—Providence Journal.

—In a discussion in the board of aldermen of a neighboring city while they were debating a proposition to supply the place with a new style of lamp-posts, one member got up and innocently remarked that he, for one, had always found the old ones "good enough to stand by."

—A Western paper has improved on the original plan, and now says, "No communication will be published in this paper unless accompanied by the full name of the writer and a five dollar bill; these are not requested for publication, but as a guaranty of good faith."

—The New York Herald tells of a clerk in one of Gotham's greatest dry goods stores who had his hair cropped a little too short the other day, and so he was discharged.

The farm buildings of Robert M. Shirley in New Boston were destroyed by fire on Saturday, the 14th, the hired man having foolishly set fire to a wasp's nest in the barn. Loss $2500 and no insurance.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic, CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly prove how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

ROCKINGHAM, SS. Law Term, June, 1877. No. 12.

EDWIN T. RICE of New York respectfully represents that ARABELLA RICE, late of Portsmouth, deceased, in 1873, testate, having in her will nominated your petitioner together with two other cousins to be Executors of her will: that both of the other persons nominated declined to accept the trust, and have since deceased.

And your petitioner having nearly completed the distribution of the residuum of said estate, upon the petition of Samuel E. Sewall, administrator of one of the residuary legatees who lived and died in Russia, at the Probate Court, holden at Portsmouth, September, 1875, was removed from his position as Executor of said will,

He further represents that his counsel was in Court when said removal was announced, and then and there in open Court claimed an appeal to this Court which was then and there allowed, and further requested the Register of Probate to prepare the proper papers to render said appeal effectual to this Court, and to hand the papers to the Clerk for entry; but, owing to some misunderstanding between the counsel of your petitioner and the newly-appointed Register of Probate, and not through any neglect, the proper papers were not seasonably filed to effect said appeal.

Wherefore, he prays that this Court will give him leave to appeal, according to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided.

EDWIN T. RICE, by
W. H. Y. HACKETT, his Att'y.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner notify all persons interested in the subject matter thereof, to appear at an adjourned law term of our Supreme Court to be holden at Concord in our County of Merrimack, on the thirteenth day of August, 1877, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in our County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said thirteenth day of August next.

Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The due compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most efficient cure of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed those dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Relationship of Brain and Stomach

Is a close one, indeed. They are connected by that wondrous elastic link, the sympathetic nerve, which communicates the abnormal sensations of the organ of digestion to that of thought. Now, if digestion is disordered, the brain being the great focal point of the nervous system, all the nerves are in some degree affected. The main cause of nervous trouble is impaired digestion, and that is usually produced by weakness of the stomach. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters rectifies this, and overcomes nervous debility by infusing increased energy into the operation of the organs of nutrition. Through the agency of this beneficient tonic, not only are the nerves vitalized, but the entire organism acquires vigor and regularity.

Ladies

Who use Sozodont have only to open their lips to prove its excellence. Their white, gleaming, spotless teeth, and fragrant breath will tell the story. There is more demand for this wholesome and unexceptionable preparation than for any other dentifrice in the market. One day its use will be universal.

Mend your broken chattels with Spalding's Glue.

To save time is to lengthen life. Why will you waste time when you have a severe cold or hacking cough, or even suffering from the destroyer, Consumption, hunting for a remedy, when you can obtain instant relief by using Dr. A. J. Fingg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Even the worst cases have been cured. Ask your druggist for it.

The 8th grand drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company will take place on the 7th of August next.

WALTER BAKER & Co., received the highest awards at London, Paris, Vienna and Philadelphia for the Chocolate and Cocoas. The public endorses this verdict by a constant and ever-increasing demand for these excellent preparations.

—It is calculated that every billiard player loses one week's time out of a year in chalking his cue.

—There is a prisoner in the California penitentiary who was once severely bitten by a catamount, and who now, as a supposed result, has terrible spasms, during which he is apparently animated by the most savage of feline instincts. The spasms do not at all resemble those produced by hydrophobia, and do not injure his general health.

—The wife of a Royal Academician of vast popularity, wrote to a butler, about whose character she had inquired, that she cold not engage him, finding he had left his last two places on account of his temper. This note, in an unfastened envelope, was the same day returned to the R. A.'s house, with this written on the fly-leaf; "Cotterell thinks it is not on account of temper, but which you cannot pay proper wages out of a paint-pot."

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock M. of Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, for building the sheds of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Miantonomoh," now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap-iron for the work to be furnished by the Bureau.

These turrets are to be 22 feet and 9 inches external diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 5 feet broad, and 10½ inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 20th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the rerolling of the iron.

2d. For all the labor of building these turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be provided by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plans to be seen and planed according to plans.

Proposals will also be received under this advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets; the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plans, to be equal to the best quality of English turret iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware river, in such position as to be readily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building the sheds of the pilot houses required for the same vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. d jly 16 17 24 31

This work is not prophetical. It discusses the topic as a Divine promise. Its plan is to follow the narrative of a Christian's experience of the revealed tactagle the next dispensation. Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual and safe series of compounds which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, health and healthy appetite disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Making Hay.

The old saw which tells the farmer to "make hay while the sun shines" does not go far enough in the way of advice, for much poor hay is made in the best of haying weather. A man cannot make good hay of poor material; consequently, he must not only have some good plant to begin with, but must cut it at the proper stage of its growth. The best of timothy and red-top, or any of the clovers, if allowed to stand until ripe and the leaves drop, are worth little more for hay than so much rye straw; and it is to the importance of cutting hay early that we wish to call special attention. There is never too much fodder saved anywhere for the use of stock in winter; but there is a vast quantity gathered which is almost worthless, because the operation is delayed until the plants are past their best.

Haymaking consists essentially in expelling moisture from green herbage cut in a succulent stage, and it ought to be so conducted as to expel only water, while retaining as much of this as will secure the perfect conservation of the hay. If too large a quantity of moisture is retained, fermentation, followed by deterioration of value, results. The best time to cut a crop for hay is at the completion of growth in the stature of the plant, when the formation of seed has commenced. If the operation is delayed, the stem begins to lignify, or becomes woody, and the most important nutrient principles are absorbed by the seed, which is generally lost by falling out, becoming scattered during harvesting, or while the hay is being fed out to the stock. —Exchange.

An Interesting Will Case.

John D. Lewis, head of the dry goods firm of Lewis, Haviland & Co., New York, about a year ago was thrown from a carriage and killed. He left a will bequeathing $15,000 to different parties, and directed that the income of his estate be paid to Miss Lizzie Barton Taylor until she was lawfully married. If she had any children, the estate was to go to them; and if not married or without children when she died she was to be buried in the same grave with the testator, and the estate expended in decorating their grave. It was suspected that Mr. Lewis had negro blood in his veins, and the will was contested by Henry Lewis and Mary Smith, brother and sister, and both with full negro blood in their veins and claiming to be half-brother and half-sister of the deceased. On trial it was proved that Lewis was the son of a Virginian slave woman and a Canadian, the mother having fled to Canada during the existence of slavery in the United States. Judge Barrett in a special term of the Supreme Court gave his decision in the case. He sweeps away all objections of the will except that giving Miss Taylor the income of the estate until she is lawfully married, and whether she has children or not the estate then goes to Lewis and his sister.

FEDERAL INTERFERENCE IN STATE AFFAIRS!

"FEDERAL BAYONETS" IN THE SOUTH!!

The Tyrant's Heel on the Prostrate Freeman's Neck!!!

At a meeting of the President and Cabinet, on Tuesday, the 17th, a telegram was received from Governor Matthews of West Virginia in regard to the riots on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and intimating that it might be necessary to call on the President for United States troops to aid the State officials in preserving the peace. Notwithstanding the forewarning considerable surprise was manifested in official circles on Wednesday afternoon, when Secretary McCrary received from Governor Matthews a telegram dated Wheeling, W. Va., stating that the strikers on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad had become so riotous and incendiary that he was unable to quell the disturbance with the force at his command, and requesting that United States troops be placed at his disposal to put down the mob. Secretary McCrary immediately repaired to the White House and laid the telegram before the President. The two then entered upon a short discussion of its contents and concluded that it did not contain sufficient information to justify the calling out of the United States troops. The President desired Secretary McCrary to telegraph to Governor Matthews for more explicit information on the subject, which he did as follows:

"Your despatch to the President, asking for troops, is received. The President is averse to intervention, unless it is clearly shown that the State is unable to suppress the insurrection. Please furnish a full statement of facts; what force can the State raise and how strong are the insurgents?

GEORGE W. MCCRARY, Sec. of War."

The following despatch was promptly received by Secretary McCrary in return:

"The only organized force in the State consists of four companies; two of them are at Martinsburg and in sympathy with the rioters, who are believed to be 800 strong. Another company is thirty-eight miles from the railroad, and only one company of forty men efficient. There is no organized militia in the State. Will send Colonel Delaplane to see the President if desired. He is at Martinsburg. I have been reluctant to call on the President, but deemed it necessary to prevent bloodshed.

HENRY W. MATTHEWS, Governor."

After the exchange of the foregoing correspondence, it was intimated to Governor Matthews that a call for United States troops, made as provided for by the Constitution and laws, would receive proper attention, and shortly thereafter the following telegram was received.

"Owing to an unlawful combination at Martinsburg and other points along the line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, it is impossible with any force at my command to execute the laws of the State. I therefore call upon your Excellency for the assistance of the United States military to protect the law-abiding people of the State against domestic violence and to maintain the supremacy of the law. The Legislature is not now in session and could not be assembled in time to take any action in the emergency. A force of from two to three hundred should be sent without delay to Martinsburg, where my aid, Colonel Delaplane, will meet and confer with the officer in command. HENRY M. MATTHEWS, Governor of West Virginia."

The President immediately referred the above despatch to the Secretary of War, with directions to send all the available troops stationed in Washington and at Fort McHenry, Baltimore, to Martinsburg as speedily as possible. Secretary McCrary promptly issued the necessary order to the Adjutant-General of the Army, and telegraphic instructions were sent to General Barry at Fort McHenry to send all his available force as directed by the President. The force amounts to eight officers and about 120 men. Orders were also issued to General French, commanding at the Washington Arsenal to prepare all his available force for shipment to Martinsburg with the greatest despatch. The force sent from Washington amounts to twelve officers and 200 men. The combined forces were under the immediate command of General French. Secretary McCrary, in reply to the call of Governor Matthews for troops, notified him of the favorable action of the President. He also notified the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad authorities of the probable movement of troops to Martinsburg, and suggested that the railroad company make arrangements for prompt transportation to that point. The Adjutant-General of the Army has furnished to General French for his guidance copies of the correspondence in relation to the employment of the military force of the United States to suppress insurrections, which passed between General Grant, General Buchanan and General Meade in 1868, upon the occasion of Governor Warmoth's call for United States troops to aid in the suppression of domestic violence in Louisiana. This correspondence embraces the full text of Article 4, Section 4, of the Constitution of the United States, and the acts of Congress approved February 28, 1795, and March 3, 1807: also an elaborate opinion of Mr. Evarts on the subject-matters of the correspondence. Mr. Evarts at that time was Attorney-General of the United States.

President Hayes on Wednesday evening issued a proclamation commanding "all persons engaged in said unlawful and insurrectionary proceedings to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes, on or before 12 o'clock noon of the 19th day of July instant, and hereafter abandon said combination and submit themselves to the laws and constituted authorities of the State."

Righteous Retribution.

For years the landlords, hackmen and residents generally at Niagara Falls have been noted for their extortions upon travellers; every point of interest was fenced in and roofed over, and could only be seen after handing over untold shekels; it cost the unhappy visitor twenty-five cents every time he breathed; he could not carry his valise from the depot to a hotel for less than ten dollars; and if he employed a hack, what little money he had left after paying his fare was appropriated by the hotel landlord for a night's lodging. In short, the shark and vulture were crowded into obscurity as emblems of voracious rapacity, the Niagara landlord and hackman taking their places.

It is with pleasure that people who have been so mercilessly fleeced by these extortioners in the past now hear a wail go up that "the slanders of the newspapers have ruined the Falls as a summer resort," and learn that the worthy people of that region are despondent to the last degree. Niagara should be the leading summer resort of the country,—was such, formerly, and would still have been but for the very men who now so sadly lament the falling off of summer travel in that direction; it was they who killed the goose that laid the golden egg,—and the once plundered pleasure seeker now laughs at their calamity. The harpies plundered the public for years, and thought they could do it forever; and now that they find they cannot they are very sorry—sorry that their plundering days are over. They have recently employed a correspondent of the New York Times to "write up" the Falls and the cheapness of hotels and hacks thereat, but it is of no use; so many people have been plundered by the extortionate charges there that one man's writings to the contrary will go but a little way toward moulding public opinion. A few years of hard times at the Falls may make things so that a man with $100,000 in his pocket will be able to stop there an entire week without getting dead broke; then, and not till then, will Niagara again become a place of popular resort.

Howl, Brothers, Howl!

We know that the Hayes administration would blunder at last, and call forth the savage denunciations of the democratic State Sovereignty press, and now it has been and gone and done it—at least, we suppose so. Hayes has sent troops into a Southern State! Federal Bayonets again flash in the rays of the setting sun of Southern Liberty, and the hob-nailed boots of a Military Despotism press heavy on the necks of the prostrate citizens of that unhappy section. Howl, brethren of the democratic press, howl. Do, just for this time, give us one good, old-fashioned democratic howl about "federal bayonets" and "military despotism"—such a howl as you sent up when Grant sent troops into Louisiana and South Carolina, to aid the State authorities in preserving the peace.

There is a little difference in the circumstances, it must be allowed. Neither Kellogg nor Packard asked for troops until many scores of murders had been committed, whereas Matthews called in federal bayonets before a single man had been assassinated. Except in this one point the cases are similar; Matthews, like the republican governors, called for aid because the State was powerless to enforce the State laws; also, he called for troops without waiting the action of the State legislature—just as Chamberlain did, and for the same reason, viz: that the legislature was not in session. Thus you see, brethren of the democratic press, what a magnificent chance you have got to howl. Blaze away, boys; call Matthews a pusillanimous imbecile, and demonstrate that a governor who cannot enforce the laws has no business in the gubernatorial chair; give us a few lectures on local self-government; blather a little about "Hayes' satraps" and "military despotism;" but above all, don't forget the "federal bayonets." A good democratic yell about federal bayonets would seem like an old acquaintance just now. So never mind the fact that it is a democratic governor who has called in the troops, but yell at Hayes for doing his duty in the premises under the Constitution, just as you did at Grant under the same circumstances. Howl, brothers, howl!

The War.

A despatch from Pesth, Hungary, says that the passage of the Balkans by the Russians has produced a most profound consternation there. The Hungarian journals energetically demand the immediate action of Austro-Hungary against Russia. The semi-official organs are less emphatic, and urge delay until after a decisive battle. Other despatches say that Italy will make alliance with Russia if Austria interferes.

A Bucharest despatch says 20,000 Russians are now south of the Balkans, and hold both Shipka and Demir Kapu passes. A flying corps occupy all the stations on the Jamboli (Adrianople) line. Raouf Pasha, who at first believed he had repulsed the main body of the Russians on the south side of the Balkans, merely drove back a small body sent against him as a feint, while the bulk of the army passed on behind.

The President's Policy Endorsed.

At Concord, Wednesday evening, the House committee on National affairs made two reports, as follows:

MAJORITY REPORT.

Whereas, by the voice of the people, as well as the decision of Congress, Rutherford B. Hayes became the lawful and rightful President of the United States, and since his accession to the Presidency has in good faith aimed to secure the permanent pacification of the country and the protection of all its citizens in the full enjoyment of all rights; therefore,

Resolved, by the House of Representatives in General Court convened, That we condemn as factious and mischievious all attempts to reopen the Presidential dispute or to question the right or title of the President to his high office.

Resolved, That we approve the general conduct of the National Administration, which is designed to restore peace and prosperity to the country, by extending an equal regard and protection of law to the rights of all citizens, by the extinction of sectional lines and race animosities, by the encouragement of education, the revival of industry, the restoration of commerce, the resumption of specie payments, the reduction of expenditures and taxation, the reformation of the civil service, and by maintaining the rights and honor of the nation at home and abroad.

Resolved, That in the character, patriotism and services of President Hayes, both as a soldier and a statesman, and in the clear and noble utterances of his State papers, we have a pledge that he will give to the country a just, wise and beneficient administration of public affairs.

Resolved, That while the people of New Hampshire earnestly desire the speedy restoration of peace and good-will in every section of the country, they view with apprehension and alarm the atrocities, political persecutions and murders in the lately reconstructed States; and if the efforts of the Administration to restore confidence and good-will between the States are abused by the madness of sectional animosities, it will leave those so rejecting them, without excuse and without pity, to such stern measures as may be demanded for the protection of personal rights, and the maintenance of public order.

MINORITY REPORT.

The undersigned, a minority of the committee on national affairs, respectfully submit the following resolution, as a substitute for the resolutions reported by the majority of said committee, and recommend its passage:

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, that the acts of the National Administration, in the removal of United States troops from the States of Florida, Louisiana and South Carolina, and in the restoration of self-government to those States, and the order forbidding the connection of Federal office-holders with what is styled "the machinery of politics," for the purpose of controlling partisan organizations, caucuses, or conventions, and prohibiting the assessment of office-holders for partisan purposes, deserve our emphatic approval.

A motion was made to substitute the minority for the majority report. This was lost and the majority report was then adopted without discussion.

—A dispenser of stimulants at a popular seaside resort very appropriately signs himself "Yours, cordially."

—The other day Mr. L. B. Milliken of Saco was walking upon the beach at Old Orchard when he observed a small animal leave the grass, run across the sand to the surf, and in a few moments plunge in and commence to swim. It came ashore again, ran a short distance and then took to the water again. Mr. Milliken's small dog gave chase and then the animal commenced to run around in a circle, each time drawing nearer to Mr. Milliken. Finally Mr. Milliken decided to await the approach of the animal and when it came around it lay down between his feet. It proved to be a small striped squirrel. Its conduct throughout was singular, and it evidently lay down at Mr. Milliken's feet for protection.—Biddeford Times.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.
AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strength-ened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stablished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.
As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

WRECK OFF BOON ISLAND.

The schooner Dom Pedro, 140 tons burthen, Captain David Speight, from Boston, bound for St. John, her hailing port, was run down and sunk Wednesday night about 11 o'clock off Boon Island by the U. S. revenue cutter Grant. At the time of the collision the cutter was under steam, running for New York, and at 10 o'clock was going at half speed, as she was approaching a fog bank coming from the southeast. At intervals the fog lifted, shutting down thick in the next few minutes. At 10.50, the steamer still moving cautiously and blowing its whistle every twenty seconds, the lookouts discovered a schooner about three-quarters of a mile ahead, one point on the starboard bow. In the next moment saw her starboard light distinctly, and then the fog covered the schooner. The cutter's engine was slowed, and it was expected that the schooner, running before a moderate breeze with a following sea, would pass the steamer. Almost immediately thereafter the schooner appeared heading to the eastward across the steamer's course. The engines were at once stopped and backed, and the helm put hard-a-starboard, but the schooner came on at the rate of about six miles an hour and struck the starboard bow of the Grant. In an instant the steamer was clear of the schooner, having gathered stern way. The schooner was cut in her port fore-chains so badly that she was sinking. The captain, crew and passengers, with a portion of their effects, were taken off by the Grant, which arrived at Boston Thursday morning. The cutter lost her starboard cat-head and jib-boom, but is apparently not injured otherwise. The schooner's company consisted of nine persons, three of whom were women and two boys. The Dom Pedro was about ten years old, English built, valued at about $6000, and had a general cargo valued at about $5000.

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, July 19th.

Thomas Anderson, for being drunk, was ordered to pay a fine of $3, costs taxed at $6.90.

Artie Barney, Olive Austin and Sarah Bartlett were charged with being common street walkers. The first named was dismissed, the evidence not sustaining the charge; the other two promised to leave the city immediately and keep out of it for not less than four months if they were let off, on the strength of which promise they were allowed to go.

Artie Barney was then arraigned for being drunk, but escaped conviction on this charge also.

JOTTINGS.

The Universalist Sunday School had a picnic, dance, etc., at Pinkham's Grove, Dover, on Wednesday; the picnic was largely attended and all had a good time, though the weather was rather oppressive; Harlow's Orchestra furnished the music. On the same day the North Parish had a picnic at Dow's Woods and Wallis' Sands; and the Methodist Sunday School a picnic and chowder at Sagamore Grove. The Episcopal Sunday School picniced at Wallis' Sands on Thursday.

Samuel H. Fillsbury of Biddeford has been appointed quarterman pattern-maker at the navy yard.

The Legislature adjourned sine die at about four o'clock Thursday afternoon. The Piscataqua Savings Bank bill, and the bill for the protection of oysters in Great Bay, were passed by the Senate Thursday forenoon. The bill altering the time of electing Inspectors of Elections in this city was killed in the Senate. The bill providing for the election of School Committee in this city by the Board of Aldermen has become a law. The cider bill passed, with a "local option" amendment.

United States Deputy Marshal Joseph P. Morse of this city has this week, by virtue of a writ in favor of the Eastern Railroad Company against the Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway railroad, attached all the franchise and real estate belonging to said road, to the amount of five hundred thousand dollars. The cause of the action is not yet explained.

A man named William Cutter, employed on the U. S. S. Enterprise, ran away from that vessel on Tuesday afternoon with a considerable amount of funds belonging to one of the messes, and though vigorous search has been made, no trace of him has yet been found.

A gentleman passing along Middle street one morning recently, noticed an Irishman looking at a beautiful elm in front of Capt. Pray's residence with such evident admiration that he addressed him with "That's a very handsome tree, sir." "Indeed it is," was the reply; "I planted that tree myself, twenty-three years ago, when it was so small that I brought it up from Little Harbor in my hand. Mrs. Cushing told me to bring it up and set it out in front of Dr. Peabody's house, and I did—and this is it." The tree is now nearly eighteen inches in diameter, and is perhaps the finest of the many fine elms on that street. If the man who makes two blades of grass grow where one grew before is a benefactor, Mr. Daniel Murphy has a right to be proud of the beautiful tree he set out so long ago.

News and Notes.

Gen Howard on the 13th captured chief Joseph's camp, with provisions, ammunition, etc. Joseph then made overtures for peace, and was told he could surrender.

Ellen Campbell was murdered in a most cruel manner at Auburn, Mass., Wednesday, by James Mulcahy, alias Williams, who is under arrest and is supposed to be insane.

Even now, it is not known exactly how many lives were lost by the St. John fire. Eighteen persons at least met sudden deaths at the time.

The exiled Modocs are living peacefully on their reservation in Kansas, and occasionally turn a penny by selling bows, arrows and Indian notions to the whites.

In New York one Thomas Kelly, a boy of fifteen, has just confessed his share in a plot to throw a long train off the track of one of the Long Island railroads, in order to kill a certain number of passengers, whose dead bodies might then be robbed! And this young villain's father is serving out a life sentence for murder! The young man comes honestly by his devilish disposition.

Capt. Thomas Connell, in charge of the lightship at Manicongan Station, Gulf of St. Lawrence, reports that on July 3d he picked up a bottle floating past the lightship, and on opening it found a slip of paper with the following words: "Whoever finds this bottle let them tell our families we are now burning to pieces—steamship Pictou. I must run. I cannot say more." Capt. Connell says the paper was scorched and much decayed, with no signature or date. The steamship Pictou left Quebec on the 14th of November, 1873, and was last seen off Pictou, Nova Scotia. All that was ever found of her was some spars and other pieces of the wreck.

The London World well says that "there are too many enterprising men on both sides the Atlantic to allow of a long-continued monopoly in telegraphic business. The great business houses could not afford to let it go on. The rate when competition existed was a shilling a word; it is now three shillings, and there is talk of still further raising the price. It cannot last, and we already hear rumors of a new cable company." Cheap telegraphing is imperatively needed on each side of the Atlantic.

The Pennsylvania railroad now places on the rear car of freight trains a signal light so arranged that, when the train is at rest, the light is steadily in view; but when in motion the light "flashes," or alternately appears and disappears, and thus the movement and speed of the train can be estimated.

On the 18th, at Indianapolis, the local "Blues" beat the Manchester Base ball club, two to nothing.

Barque Amphitrite, at Quebec from Bristol, Eng., reports on June 26th spoke schooner New Bedford, (twenty feet long,) Capt. Crapo, bound to England, in longitude forty- three west.

Apropos of the authenticity of General Stark's laconic speech at Bennington, and in further confirmation of the statement that he called his wife by the pet name "Molly," notwithstanding it was Elizabeth, it is stated on authority of Miss Abby Stark, his granddaughter, now living at Manchester, that the General did not limit himself to one pet name, but frequently addressed her as "Deborah." He also had fancy names for others of his family.

United States Minister Pierrepont has received a gold watch for Capt. Gifford of the American whaler Young Phœnix, presented by nine survivors of the British emigrant ship Strathmore, and their friends, which was wrecked in the South Pacific. Capt. Gifford rescued the survivors.

Samuel J. Tilden and Cyrus W. Field sailed for Europe on Wednesday.

New Hampshire Items.

Ella Brown and two other girls stole a gold watch and chain and a quantity of clothing from Mrs. Charles Annis' boarding-house in Great Falls, and were arrested at Biddeford and most of the property recovered. The girls were then given a short time to leave the city.

At Stratham, on the 14th, the large two-story house, barn and all the outbuildings on the farm formerly belonging to the late Captain Levi Hoag were burned. They were occupied by George P. Hoag and Daniel J. Wiggin, who lost all their wearing apparel except what they and their families had on, and saved but few of their household goods. The men were away from home at the time. A defect in the chimney is supposed to be the cause. The buildings were owned by Dr. George W. Kittredge of Newmarket. Insured for $1150. Hoag and Wiggin had no insurance.

Mrs. M. H. Bowles' summer boarding-house on Jefferson Hill, Lancaster, was burned Wednesday morning. The furniture was nearly all saved. Loss $2500; fully insured in the Faneuil Hall Company.

Rev. Mr. Ketchum, of Contoocook, has accepted a call to supply the Congregational Church at Poquonnock, Conn., for the ensuing year.

Albert P. Little's house and barn at Dunbarton were struck by lightning Tuesday afternoon, the 17th, and consumed. The barn was full of hay; insurance, $800. James P. Eaton's barn, near Massabesic Lake, was also struck; damage slight.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic, CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. ROCKINGHAM, SS. Law Term, June, 1877. No. 12.

EDWIN T. RICE of New York respectfully represents that ARABELLA RICE, late of Portsmouth, deceased, in 1873, executed a will in her will named your petitioner together with two other cousins to be Executors of her will: that both of the other persons nominated declined to accept the trust, and have since deceased.

And your petitioner having nearly completed the distribution of the residuum of said estate, upon the petition of Mr. Jacob A. Sewall, administrator of one of the residuary legatees who lived and died in Russia, at the Probate Court, holden at Portsmouth, September, 1876, was removed from his position as Executor of said will.

He further represents that his counsel was in Court when said removal was announced, and then and there in open Court claimed an appeal to this Court which was then and there allowed, and further requested the Register of Probate to prepare the proper papers to render said appeal effectual to this Court, and to hand the papers to the Clerk for entry; but, owing to some misunderstanding between the counsel of your petitioner and the newly appointed Register of Probate, and not through any neglect, the proper papers were not seasonably filed to effect said appeal.

Wherefore, he prays that this Court will give him leave to appeal, according to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided.

EDWIN T. RICE, by
W. H. Y. HACKETT, his Att'y.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner notify all persons interested in the subject matter thereof, to appear at an adjourned law term of our Supreme Court to be holden at Concord in our County of Merrimack, on the fifteenth day of August, 1877, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in our County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said thirteenth day of August next.

Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed those dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Relationship of Brain and Stomach

Is a close one, indeed. They are connected by that wondrous elastic link, the sympathetic nerve, which communicates the abnormal sensations of the organ of digestion to that of thought. Now, if digestion is disordered, the brain being the great focal point of the nervous system, all the nerves are in some degree affected. The main cause of nervous trouble is impaired digestion, and that is usually produced by weakness of the stomach. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters rectifies this, and overcomes nervous debility by infusing increased energy into the operation of the organs of nutrition. Through the agency of this beneficient tonic, not only are the nerves vitalized, but the entire organism acquires vigor and regularity.

Ladies

Who use Sozodont have only to open their lips to prove its excellence. Their white, gleaming, spotless teeth, and fragrant breath will tell the story. There is more demand for this wholesome and unexceptionable preparation than for any other dentifrice in the market. One day its use will be universal.

Mend your broken chattels with Spalding's Glue.

To save time is to lengthen life. Why will you waste time when you have a severe cold or hacking cough, or even suffering from the destroyer, Consumption, hunting for a remedy, when you can obtain instant relief by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Even the worst cases have been cured. Ask your druggist for it.

The 8th grand drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company will take place on the 7th of August next.

WALTER BAKER & Co., received the highest awards at London, Paris, Vienna and Philadelphia for the Chocolate and Cocoas. The public endorses this verdict by a constant and ever-increasing demand for these excellent preparations.

B. T. Beauregard, formerly Collector of Internal Revenue for the Second District of Baton Rouge, has arrived at New Orleans in custody of a Deputy Marshal, charged with the embezzlement of over $5000. Mortimer Carr, ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives, has also been arrested, charged with crookedness in some cotton transactions.

On Monday afternoon, the 16th, the three-masted schooner Alice C. Noyes, Capt. Baker, from New York for Haverhill, entered Newburyport Bay and set her flag for a pilot. After waiting until the tide was ebbing he spoke a fisherman and desired him to bring him in. Mr. Chas. Lunt went on board, and the signal was hauled down. After getting inside the bar he was hailed by a pilot, but declined his services and stated that he should not pay him. The pilot brought her to an anchorage below the piers, and she went up Tuesday morning and passed to Haverhill. The captain claims under the recent decision of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts that he is exempt from compulsory pilotage.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock at. of Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, for building the shells of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Miantonomoh," now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap-iron for the work to be furnished by the Bureau.

These turrets are to be 22 feet and 9 inches external diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 5 feet broad, and 10½ inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 20th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the rerolling of the iron.

2d. For all the labor of building these turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be provided by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plates to be bent and planed according to plan.

Proposals will also be received under the advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets; the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plan, to be equal to the best quality of English turret iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware river, in such position as to be readily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building the shells of the pilot houses required for the same vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. d jy10 17 24 31

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2½ years with Dyspepsia and for the past year Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. have suffered all the pain I could endure, and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well, and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May, John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-one pounds, but I lost one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of DR. QUAIN'S PILLS. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; as I send you another testimonial. My rheumatism has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be heard of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, expecting, in cold weather, it would have ago ladvised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck, and I do not know how I have suffered physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been troubling and suffering with dropsical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, as that climate was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel. Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON!

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is audorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative. and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.
WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, forms a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very common and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who a substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the illness they produce disappears, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

LANGDON PARK
PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

THE citizens of Portsmouth are respectfully informed that any person can obtain permission to set out one or more Trees in the Park, on application either to a member of the Board, or to Mr. GEORGE E. SMART, Keeper, at No. 2 Mt. Vernon St. Or any citizen or son of Portsmouth resident elsewhere, may have a Tree set in his name, of any variety as he may indicate, by sending $5, or any larger sum he may feel disposed, to the Treasurer or any member of the Board—as has already been done by many, and their names and trees placed upon the roll.

☞ Trees which are dead may be replaced by others in the same positions, by the same parties who planted the first.

The funds which were placed in the hands of Trustees by citizens and others have been entirely expended in the improvements thus far made in the Park. They, therefore, would hereby inform all interested that they are ready to expend in further adornments and improvements of the grounds, such sums as may be donated for the purpose; and contributions of any amount are hereby solicited to be sent at any time to the Treasurer or either of the other Trustees.

The Triple Crown of the Pope.

The papal tiara is, like the crowns of sovereigns, sumptuously adorned with precious stones, the most prominent of which is a splendid diamond. Rich as it is, however, it is far from equalling those, about ten in number, which were possessed by the Vatican. The number of these tiaras had been going on increasing since Pope Boniface VIII., and each surpassed its predecessor in value. Financial difficulties more than once forced the Popes to sell the jewels set in these crowns, in order to pay their debts; at the accession of Pope Pius VII. there was only one left. The original tiara at the Vatican was a pasteboard one, with imitation jewels. After the Concordat, about 1801, Napoleon I. made Pius VII., a present of a new tiara. It is the same that is now used, and was valued at £220,000. Its cupola consists of eight rubies, twenty-four pearls and one emerald. The cross is composed of twelve brilliants. The tails are studded with rubies and pearls. Two gold cords serve to fix the tiara on the head of the Pope, who, by the way, scarcely ever wears it. This tiara was carefully concealed in 1848, and only taken out of its hiding place after the French troops had entered Rome. The principal diamond of the papal tiara has a history attached to it which begins from Charles the Bold, Duke of Burgundy. This prince had a passion for jewelry, and there was not a wealthier man than he in the fifteenth century. Whenever he was engaged in a campaign, his gold and silver vessels, his diamonds and jewels, invariably accompanied him. Now, having been beaten by the Swiss at Granson, he fled, leaving his treasures on the field of battle, and among them three beautiful diamonds. The first was discovered, by a soldier, under a cart. It was the largest and most valuable, having been sold to the Duke of Burgundy by the Great Mogul. The lucky finder, not having the slightest idea of the value of the stone, flung it into a field, but repenting of his act, picked it up again, and sold it for a crown (ecu) to a priest, who resold it for three to a Bernese citizen. The latter, who was better informed, disposed of it for 5000 ducats; it passed through other hands for 7000, and was purchased for 14,000 by the Duke of Milan, Ludovico il Moro, who sold it to Pope Julius II. for 20,000 ducats. The second diamond is the well known Sancy, and a third adorns the crown of Austria, and is valued at 3,000,000 francs.

—The King of Bavaria, meeting a soldier with a wooden leg, asked him when he was wounded. "In the war of 1866," replied the warrior bluffly, whereat the King, in a tone of pique, inquired, "Don't you know me?" The reply was, "No. How should I? You don't go to the wars and I don't go to the opera."

—Dr. Darling, homœopathic physician of Thomsonville, Conn., recently visited a patient on Enfield street accompanied by his wife and infant child, whom he left in the carriage while he went in to visit his patient, but just before he got to the door a frightened horse came rushing from the hay field with a horse rake attached, making straight for the Doctor's carriage. The Doctor rushed out and threw his box of medicines at the horse, which struck him in the side of the head, causing him to turn just enough to escape hitting the carriage. After this, who shall say there is no virtue in homœopathic medicines? Had he been one of the old school doctors and had simply thrown a prescription, there would have been a different and perhaps fatal result.

—Of "Jack Russell," well known in the West of England as the "sporting parson," the following characteristic anecdote is told: "When the late Bishop of Exeter, Dr. Phillpotts, was holding a visitation in North Devon, he asked 'Jack Russell' if he could have a talk with him, and the answer was 'Certainly, my lord.' Thereupon the Bishop referred to his friend's celebrity as a sportsman, and went on, 'Of course hunting is in itself very innocent. But you are a master of hounds, and no doubt when you are put out you may be tempted to use strong language. That would not be becoming a man in your position, and your ministrations would not carry the same weight as they ought to do.' 'If that is all, my lord, you need not trouble yourself,' replied 'Jack,' 'for my parishioners ride such bad cattle that I am always a couple of fields ahead of them, and they never hear what I say.'"

—The Emperor Nicholas, father of the present Emperor of Russia, was a man of very quick temper, and on one occasion was stung by an absurd contretemps into a tremendous outburst of passion on Easter morning. On that day it is the custom for the Czar to go forth from his palace, and, embracing the first man whom he meets, who is almost invariably the sentinel at the palace gate, he exclaims: "Christ is risen!" to which the reply is: "He is risen indeed!" uttered with great manifestations of joy. So on this particular morning forth sallied the Czar, kissed the sentinel on both cheeks, according to custom, and uttered the invariable exclamation, "Christ is risen!" "So it is said," answered the soldier, in a thoroughly stolid way. The man was a Mohammedan from one of the Tartar provinces of the Empire. The wrath of the Czar was unbounded, and since that day the orthodoxy of the sentinel who is to guard the palace on Easter Sunday is always very carefully ascertained beforehand.

The Press Excursion.

Two years without an annual excursion found the Press Association prepared, on the morning of Friday, the 13th, to enjoy a brief season among the mountains. The objective point was the Mt. Mansfield House in Stowe, Vt., which was reached from Concord by way of Northern and Central Vermont Roads. The Mount Mansfield House is owned by a company, prominent in which is our friend Bailey of the Patriot, and Hon. W. H. H. Bingham of Stowe. The latter is a lawyer by profession, a business man and a gentleman of the old school. He was recently the democratic candidate for Governor of Vermont, and polled the largest vote ever given by his party to any candidate for Governor. He is called Governor by every one in Lamoille county and readily passes for one of the Ex's. His attentions to the excursion party were constant. The hotel is admirably kept, entertains company of the most refined and agreeable character, and guests year by year return to enjoy the attractions of the region. The principal feature of the place may be said to be the "nose" on Mount Mansfield, whither the party on Saturday morning were conveyed in stages furnished by Messrs. Bruce and Ladd, who do the staging and teaming between the Central and P. & O. railways, and keep a large number of horses for all purposes. A substantial carriage road to the summit enabled us to ascend the mountain comfortably and our driver handled his six-in-hand in the short turns and narrow ways with consummate skill, transporting a large coach-load of excursionists in perfect safety. The view from the summit of the mountain is alike grand and pleasing. The immensity of the mountain's height is forgotten in looking over the broad expanse of green hills, fertile valleys and lake scenery, which so delights the visitor. A hotel at the summit furnishes a good dinner, while the nine miles ride and the fresh mountain air served to stimulate

"The hungry edge of appetite."

The ascent of Mount Mansfield was voted one of the proper things to do in this life, and on this occasion was enjoyed by every one of the party to the fullest extent. Returned to the hotel the Blaisdell Orchestral Club furnished music in the dancing hall, for the hotel has not only an immense parlor (where vesper services were held by Rev. H. F. Hill of the Episcopal Church on Sunday,) but a large hall, and in addition, a theatre, with all the appointments. The dance was enjoyed as the first of the season. Here the graceful avoirdupois of the newly elected State Printer vied with the genial Bailey in the rapid changes of the "Virginia Reel" to the tune of Zip Coon, while the waltzes and the more sedate lancers divided the time and attention of the guests ranged all around the hall.

Sunday was a day of rest, with the exception of the fact that a few Boston editors insisted upon accepting Col. Bailey's invitation to visit Smuggler's Notch, a wonderful spot eight miles distant, when a due courtesy to our Massachusetts friends compelled the representative of the dailies in Portsmouth, Manchester, Concord and Nashua to accompany them. Nature seems to have formed Smuggler's Notch that the Vermont people might have something with which to rival our far famed White Mountain and Dixville Notchs. It is a wonderful exhibition of the awful in nature, calculated for the time being to make even an editor think what an insignificant part of creation he is, compared with the world at large. The Sabbath evening services were well attended, and as the party carried its own chaplain and choir the services were interesting throughout.

On Monday morning the departure of so many guests caused an unusual stir upon the piazzas of the hotel. The house, generally a model one in point of quiet and decorum, was a scene of lively activity. The long line of coaches gathered before the door shew that the pilgrims were about to start. On the Saturday previous the stages loaded with excursionists were photographed by a resident artist, and some of the party bought the stereoscopic view as a reminder of the scene.

The journey to Morrisville was made over a pleasant road which gave the visitors a good idea of the farming lands of Vermont. At Morrisville the cars of the Portland & Ogdensburg R. R. were ready to convey the party to St. Johnsbury, over a circuitous and in some places difficultly constructed railroad. At St. Johnsbury the places of local interest were visited, and the day and evening were pleasantly passed by most of the party.

Business requirements compelled some of the members to leave in the three o'clock train, some for Concord, others for the Fabyan House. The next morning the party, with the exception of those who went to witness the opening of the Portland & Ogdensburg railroad to Swanton, came from St. Johnsbury and passed through the White Mountain Notch in the cars of the P. & O. R. R.; some returned to pass a night on Mt. Washington, while others came to Portsmouth and thence to Manchester, Concord, Keene, etc.

The excursion was brief, but enjoyable in every respect. The comfortable sojourn at Mount Mansfield Hotel was far more pleasing than a long journey or a hurried trip of greater length. The party was composed of those who appreciate good air and a proper enjoyment of life's blessings in Vermont at this season of the year. Among the guests were A. Ross of the Boston Advertiser, Messrs. Stockwell and Holden of the Journal, Proctor of the Cape Ann Advertiser, Marden of the Lowell Courier, and Albert H. Tuttle of the Rutland Daily Herald, who made his first visit to the Mountain in our company.

E. M. Smith, the wide awake and ubiquitous Vermont correspondent of the Boston Journal, met the party at the State line and was unremitting in his attentions during the party's presence in the Green Mountain State. Among the guests at the Mount Mansfield House were Admiral Wm. Rogers Taylor of the Navy, William U. Moulton of the True Flag, (formerly of this city,) and the family of Judge Bradley of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The situation of the Mt. Mansfield House is fortunately far enough from railroads to be comfortable. The approach is by the easy going pace of the stage coach of our childhood. It has a repose free from the scream of the locomotive and the click of the telegraph in the house,—In fine, it is comfortable and enjoyable, and one saunters on the broad piazzas with an air of easy abandon, and not as if he were having "five minutes for refreshments" and was to leave when the engine bell gave warning. The whole excursion was well projected and thoroughly enjoyed, and the season was one which will be pleasantly recalled by every participator in its privileges.

Concord Correspondence.

CONCORD, July 19.

At last the curtain drops, the last scene is enacted, and the Great and General Court of New Hampshire for the year 1877 has adjourned sine die. The House did but little during the day except to wait upon the Honorable Senate. The Senate passed the bill to reorganize and equalize the Senatorial Districts according to the amended Constitution; the act defining the representation of towns of less than six hundred population as shown by the Census of 1870; the act regulating the sale of cider; an act to change the time of holding the election for the choice of town officers. During the forenoon Mr. Pierce of Hillsborough offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of this house be and hereby are tendered to the Hon. Augustus A. Woolson for the ability, impartiality, and courtesy, with which he has discharged the duties of Speaker during the present session.

On motion of Mr. Colony of Keene this was unanimously adopted. The same gentleman offered the following, which was also adopted:

Resolved, that the thanks of the House be and are hereby tendered to the chaplain, clerk, assistant clerk, sergeant-at-arms, doorkeepers, and pages for the faithful and courteous discharge of the duties devolving upon them during the present session, and that the House express its obligations to the several reporters for their accurate and satisfactory reports of the legislative proceedings.

Speaker Woolson, upon resuming the chair, appeared to be very much affected by the merited bestowal of praise upon him, and he replied with much feeling.

The compromise on the State Normal School was that the word "annual" should be stricken out and that $5000 should be substituted for $6000. When the cider bill came up in the House various methods were attempted to kill it, and it would have received that fate had not Mr. Lamprey of Manchester offered an amendment which was adopted and which saved the bill. The amendment was that the bill should take effect only in such towns as should by a majority vote so decide.

Judge Cross of Manchester tried hard to get the House to reconsider the vote whereby the House voted to indefinitely postpone the general railroad law. The House refused to stultify itself, by a vote of 96 yeas and 185 nays. The Senate knocked the bottom out of the act in relation to public printing by putting a tag upon it with the words "inexpedient to legislate" written upon it. The House voted to indefinitely postpone—by a vote of 184 yeas to 91 nays—the act providing for the representation of New Hampshire in the National Gallery at the Capitol in Washington. The House ratified the amendment offered to the State prison bill by the Senate.

Mr. Ordway labored long and hard to have the minority report upon the taxation of railroads adopted. He made a powerful speech, claiming that great influence had been brought to bear upon the members since last Friday, and the vote upon the adoption of the minority report seemed to warrant his assertions. The two principal speeches in opposition were made by Messrs. Kaley of Milford and Sawtelle of Lynne. The House refused the substitution by a vote of 97 yeas to 185 nays. The majority report was then adopted by a vote of 172 to 58. The majority report has the whole subject referred to the commission to be appointed by the Governor and Council to inquire into the subject of taxation. A happier set of men were not to be found anywhere than were the railroad men when Mr. Ordway's report was rejected. Report is that during the evening those members, who were so inclined, received whatever they wished in shape of "treat," and were told whatever damage was done would be paid for. The members at the Eagle did not sleep much during the night.

The cost for the pay of the members during the session is $50,075.50, and their mileage is $4,741.20, making a total of $54,816.70. This does not include the cost of printing and incidentals. The whole number of days from the commencement of the session to the close were forty-four. There have been forty-three roll calls of the House; to Mr. Langdon of Portsmouth are the members indebted for having the yeas and nays called more times than to any other member. The session has been characterized by very little unpleasantness. There have been only three political debates, and these of so short duration that the members ceased to talk about them as a general thing in a few days. Democrats and republicans met cordially, and pleasantly greeted one another, which is a marked contrast to the session of last year, when party strife and feeling ran so high that a member of one political party hardly deigned to speak to a member of the other. Friendships have been formed, some of which will be lasting between members of the different parties.

Last evening a mock session was held after the regular business was disposed of. It was destitute of those vulgarities which have characterised it in former years. A number of capital hits were made and were loudly applauded. The committee having the matter in charge are entitled to great credit for the manner in which it was arranged and carried out. Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth was appointed Speaker, Sturtevant of Keene, Clerk, and Sise of Portsmouth, Sergeant-at-arms. Hope the next session will follow the example.

Yours, A. B.

The War.

A despatch from Vienna, via London, dated the 20th, states that the Russian attack on Jamboli is supposed to be only a feint while the main army corps is advancing by the Maritza Valley on Adrianople, and at the same time Phillipopolis is menaced. A reign of terror exists in Constantinople. The country lying between that city and Adrianople is really defenceless, and the Christian population are unarmed and fear a massacre by Turkish irregulars.

The Striker's War.

A despatch from Martinsburg, W. Virginia, Thursday evening, says: "The military have full control here now and a train is leaving every few minutes, but in every case under a guard. During the afternoon efforts were made by the strikers to stop some trains which were being sent out, but they were quickly thwarted by the prompt and determined action of the troops. In one instance a fireman was induced to desert his post, but his place was soon filled, and the train proceeded on its way. At four o'clock a freight train was made up and started for the West. As in the case of the eastern-bound trains she had on board a United States officer and ten soldiers to protect her. The departure of this train occasioned intense excitement and rage among the strikers, who made a dash toward the track, but they were at once confronted by the bayonets of the soldiers and they fell suddenly back. The sheriff arrested one ringleader this afternoon about five o'clock. There was no resistance."

The strike has spread into Pennsylvania and Ohio. Gov. Hartranft was called on for troops by the sheriff of Allegheney county, Thursday, and ordered the 18th regiment to Pittsburg at once. At Keyser, W. Va., a handful of United States troops find themselves unable to disperse the strikers, who are in great number there. The governor of Ohio has been asked to call out the troops. Strikes on the Pan Handle, Cumberland, and Erie railroads are threatened.

News and Notes.

We are happy to bear testimony to the superior management of the American House, Boston. Order, neatness and comfort reign throughout the establishment. Boston will doubtless be crowded with visitors this season and all will find at the "American" such facilities for comfortable enjoyment, as are offered at but few first-class Hotels.—Atlanta Constitution.

The New York Tribune says: "Mr. David Dudley Field is anxious about the conscience of the people. He wants to stir it up. Suppose he should succeed, what would become of him? His fate would be like that of the man who stirred up a keg of dynamite with a hammer." Another Tribune item: "The Civil Service Reform machine has been pointed straight ahead once more. It is a dreadful dodger, though."

The democratic papers have not yet begun to demand the impeachment of President Hayes "by the democratic House," for sending "federal bayonets" into the Southern States.

Tammany's organ in New York city has opened war on Speaker Randall. It charges him with being a republican to all intents and purposes, and pronounces him responsible for the failure to impeach Robeson and for the defeat of Tilden. This may not help Randall to the next Speakership, but it will raise him in the estimation of the public.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heal humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

JOTTINGS.

It is a little odd that the Legislature should have numbered the new Portsmouth Senatorial District "twenty-four"—seeing it is the oldest part of the State, and has been District No. 1 from time out of mind.

The train which left this city for Boston on Friday morning at 8:23 arrived in Boston promptly at 12 o'clock. The reason for this tearing speed was that the engine broke an eccentric-rod near Beverly.

Ex-Secretary of the navy Robeson was in town on Friday evening, driving a splendid pair of black horses.

The U. S. S. Speedwell sailed from the navy yard at an early hour Friday morning, bound for New London, Conn.

Don't cut holes in your boots any more. Dr. Welch, the celebrated chiropodist who removes corns without pain and treats all difficulties of the feet, opens rooms at the National House on Monday, July 23d.

A Portsmouth (N. H.) shipbuilder has constructed a vessel after the fashion of Robinson Crusoe's long boat. Just as he was about completing her an unhappy thought struck him. He went and measured the draw of the railroad bridge and found that one ship into one draw would go no times and three feet over. Whereupon he wept, and cursed his own stupidity? No; he didn't. He served a notice on the company that he was going to float his ship, and they must take their bridge out of the road. There would appear to be little need to despair of that man's making a way in the world, unless he should allow something to prey upon his hitherto undamaged check.—N. Y. World.

The New York World's special from Washington says that a member of the Cabinet intends to bring before it, at the earliest practical moment, the question of the violation of the franchise of the Direct Cable Company, so far as it exists by the legislation of Congress.

In the mock session of the House at Concord, the night before adjournment, among the other caricature bills introduced was "An act to gerrymander the State into Senatorial districts, and fix things generally." Section one of this bill provided that "The State shall be divided into twenty-four districts for the purpose of electing Senators, all of which districts shall be republican, except twenty-three, and in the other district such Senator shall be chosen as Ruel may see fit to appoint." Among the names given the new districts we find the following: "District No. 1 shall consist of the city of Portsmouth, and be known as the Frank Jones district." "District No. 23 shall consist of Newcastle, the navy yard, custom house and Tuckerman's Ravine, and be known as the Aaron Young district."

Quite an ovation was given Col. E. A. Peterson upon his arrival at the Greenland station Friday morning, after his arduous labors during the legislative session. Colonel Sise, standing on the platform, proposed "three cheers for Colonel Peterson, the protecter of oysters in Great Bay!" and they were given with a will. The delegation from Portsmouth look upon Col. Peterson as a sort of adopted son, and some of them are talking of putting him into training for governor. Seriously, the gallant representative from our neighboring town has made a host of friends among the members of both parties.

On Friday slips of paper were distributed around town, having printed on them "Citizens Ticket. For Mayor, John K. A. Hanson." As there is no apostrophe in "citizens" to show whether it is singular or plural, it is judged that the "citizens ticket" is the ticket of one citizen, viz: Mr. Hanson himself.

The Globe Printing Co., of East Hampstead, have published Carter's Diagraphical Chart of the Senatorial Districts of New Hampshire as they now exist, the boundaries of each district and of every town in the State being distinctly laid down, with the number and name of each district. It is a very neat and convenient map, and can be procured at Goodrich's bookstore, mounted on stout binders' board, for office use, at thirty-five cents a copy; pocket edition (sheet form) twenty-five cents.

The legislaure having at last adjourned, we shall now distribute the headline "Concord Correspondence," which the legislators forced us to keep standing three weeks longer than there was any reason in their doing, for they might as well as not have finished their work by the 4th of July. The well written and interesting letters we published during the session were from the pen of Mr. William H. Gardiner of this city, one of the doorkeepers of the House, who has the gift of writing good letters, as our readers are aware.

A POPULAR HOTEL.

The Nashua Telegraph of the 19th says: "The number of guests at the mountain houses last night is given as follows: At Fabyan's, 200; Crawford, 157; Profile, 135; Mountain, 85: Lincluir, Bethlehem, 97; Maplewood, 40; Tip Top House, 75; and about 200 at other small houses. About 150 persons visited the Tip Top House yesterday. The weather was fine and the scenery magnificent. Summer travel is large and on the increase from last year." On the same day (the 19th) the Appledore House at the Shoals was so crowded that intending guests were obliged to seek accommodations at the Oceanic; and on the Sunday previous every room at the Appledore was occupied, over 450 guests being entertained on that day. The "Laighton boys" have enlarged their hotel nearly every year for many years past, but they have never yet had quite room enough to accommodate all their would-be patrons; and their "season" commences a little earlier and holds on a little later than at any other watering-place in New England, besides. This long-continued success is not wholly due to the natural attractions of the Shoals, the personal popularity of the landlords having much to do with it,—the Laightons having ever paid far more attention to making their guests feel contented and "at home" than to what the boys call "slinging on style."

New Hampshire Items.

The Laconia Democrat has reduced its size and the Great Falls Journal has adopted a patent outside.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council, in Concord on Thursday, Isaac W. Smith of Manchester and John S. H. Frink of Greenland were nominated for Associate Justices of the Supreme Court. Luther S. Morrill of Concord was nominated for Special Justice of the Police Court at Concord.

An Observing Rat.

Kennedy, the Cambridge (Mass.) "fire bug," who was pardoned Wednesday, left the Massachusetts State Prison Thursday morning. After attiring himself in citizen's dress he asked to be allowed to take with him a pet rat, which has been his companion during many years of his confinement, and his request was granted. When he went to get the rat, however, the companion of his imprisonment did not recognize him in his new dress and ran from him. An officer, who was with Kennedy, suggested to him to put on his prison jacket and see what the effect would be. Kennedy did so and the rat quickly ran into his arms. Kennedy then received the "pet" and left.

—Dr. Bowditch thinks that the Anglo-Saxon race in America is not dwindling away, after all, and gives the statement of a lady of his acquaintance, that "London dealers in children's ready-made clothing recommend to American customers sizes adapted to English children one year older than those for whom the garments are purchased."

—The Wheeling (West Virginia) Intelligencer of the 13th inst., has this curious statement: "A meteoric stone, about the size of a large wine-glass, was found imbedded about two inches in the trunk of a tree standing near Captain Shockey's coal bank, in the Eighth ward, which was struck by lightning on Thursday evening."

No. 12.

EDWIN T. RICE of New York respectfully represents that ARABELLA RICE, late of Portsmouth, deceased, in 1872, testate, having in her will nominated your petitioner together with two other cousins to be Executors of her will: that both of the other persons nominated declined to accept the trust, and have since deceased.

And your petitioner having nearly completed the distribution of the residuum of said estate, upon the petition of Samuel E. Sewall, administrator of one of the residuary legatees who lived and died in Russia, at the Probate Court, holden at Portsmouth, September, 1876, was removed from his position as Executor of said will.

He further represents that his counsel was in Court when said removal was announced, and then and there in open Court claimed an appeal to this Court which was then and there allowed, and further requested the Register of Probate to prepare proper papers to render said appeal effectual to this Court, and to hand the papers to the Clerk for entry; but, owing to some misunderstanding between the counsel of your petitioner and the newly-appointed Register of Probate, and not through any neglect, the proper papers were not seasonably filed to effect said appeal.

Wherefore, he prays that this Court will give him leave to appeal, according to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided.

EDWIN T. RICE, by
W. H. Y. HACKETT, his Att'y.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner notify all persons interested in the subject matter thereof, to appear at an adjourned law term of our Supreme Court to be holden at Concord in our County of Merrimack, on the thirteenth day of August, 1877, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in our County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said thirteenth day of August next.

Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed those dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Relationship of Brain and Stomach

Is a close one, indeed. They are connected by that wondrous elastic link, the sympathetic nerve, which communicates the abnormal sensations of the organ of digestion to that of thought. Now, if digestion is disordered, the brain being the great focal point of the nervous system, all the nerves are in some degree affected. The main cause of nervous trouble is impaired digestion, and that is usually produced by weakness of the stomach. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters rectifies this, and overcomes nervous debility by infusing increased energy into the operation of the organs of nutrition. Through the agency of this beneficient tonic, not only are the nerves vitalized, but the entire organism acquires vigor and regularity.

Ladies

Who use Sozodont have only to open their lips to prove its excellence. Their white, gleaming, spotless teeth, and fragrant breath will tell the story. There is more demand for this wholesome and unexceptionable preparation than for any other dentifrice in the market. One day its use will be universal.

Mend your broken chattels with Spalding's Glue.

To save time is to lengthen life. Why will you waste time when you have a severe cold or hacking cough, or even suffering from the destroyer, Consumption, hunting for a remedy, when you can obtain instant relief by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Even the worst cases have been cured. Ask your druggist for it.

The 8th grand drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company will take place on the 7th of August next.

WALTER BAKER & Co., received the highest awards at London, Paris, Vienna and Philadelphia for the Chocolate and Cocoas. The public endorses this verdict by a constant and ever-increasing demand for these excellent preparations.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock M. of Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, for building the shells of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Miantonomoh," now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap-iron for the same to be furnished by the Bureau.

These turrets are to be 22 feet and 9 inches external diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 5 feet broad, and 10½ inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 20th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the revetting of the iron.

2d. For all the labor of building these turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be provided by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plates to be bent and planed according to plan.

Proposals will also be received under this advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets; the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plan, to be equal to the best quality of English turret iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware, in such position as to be readily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to be the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building the shells of the pilot houses required for the same vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. 4 j 10 17 24 31

"A Fascinating Work on an Entrancing Topic.

HE WILL COME;

BY STEPHEN H. TYNG, Jr., D. D.

This work is not prophetical. It discusses the topic as a Divine promise. Its plan is to follow the narrative of a Christian's experience of the revealed facts in the next dispensation. There is not a line of controversy in the volume. Yet it is full of bold and original thought, and illustration, and forcible writing, and it is a work which no one who is "watching and waiting" for the Lord can afford to miss. The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. I heard some one purchase one two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have no doubt I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which I owe to you as your pills are the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise, so I send you another testimonial. My health has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, until I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will agree with me. I make this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting in the Spring, and I suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that would be the chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure any body. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherre, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

Is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CITY HEALTH REGULATIONS.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies so much require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vendor of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or places over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal or fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

—o—

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

—o—

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, writes as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual solvent of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who continuance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the diseases they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Exaustion and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

The Lay Torpedo.

The experiments, in Cleveland, with the Lay torpedo, appear to have been entirely successful. The first day a boat was anchored a distance of a mile and a half from the shore, and the torpedo whizzed through the water, directly toward it, with a velocity about equal to that of an ordinary express. As it neared the torpedo the pressure on two of the three keys by which the motions of the torpedo are regulated sent it round the boat in a graceful curve. Just then the man who was giving the orders left his place to get a marine glass. The orders were then given by a lieutenant in the navy, and the operator failed to understand him. The result was that the torpedo broke away and drifted down the lake. Yesterday the experiments were renewed, and with entire success. The torpedo was sent out to the boat, described a curve around it, and came back directly to the shore. Then it was taken out of the water, and will be sent off, to-day, to the Government that has ordered it. The next time it is heard from the scene of its operations may be the Black Sea. It is stated that it can be sent toward a boat ten miles from shore, with all the precision that it went for that anchored a mile and a half distant. Of course it can be operated as efficiently from a vessel as from the shore. What chance an iron-clad has against one of these little monsters can be inferred by those who followed with any attention the exploits of the torpedo in the Danube. It is consoling to know that these devastating contrivances cost only $15,000 apiece, and that none have been made more efficient than those manufactured by Mr. Joseph Lay, of Buffalo. When this country wants them, it will not have to go far to get a supply.—Cincin. Times.

Four Widows.

At Prosperity, a station on the Greenville & Columbia Railroad, there dwell in reach of the sound of the whistle four widows whose names and deeds should be printed in letters of gold. We shall tell of them—to spare blushes—first as

No. 1. This lady—as in fact all the others—lost her husband during the war, and was left in straitened circumstances. Did she sit down and grieve at her fate? By no means. She has raised four children, besides fine crops, and to-day she has much of last year's cotton and flour on hand, is free from debt, and is able to pay cash down for what she wants.

No. 2 looks complacently on all of her last crop of cotton, and with a sense of perfect rest and absolute fulness on 3,000 pounds of flour, neither of which she sold because she had no use for the money—here's a widow for you. The only thing which disturbs her rest now is what to do with her new fodder, every place being occupied with the old. She might dispose of some of it to the editor of the Herald, who has been standing to the rack for three years, fodder or no fodder. She, too, like a true woman, has raised children and set them up under their own vines and fig trees.

No. 3 struggled through the years which have rolled on since the late unpleasantness, raised six children, given each at majority $500 in cash. Last year she bought a tract of land for which $1,400 in good money was paid. Has corn, fodder, and other things in abundance.

No. 4, like unto the others, has made a splendid fight and brought up a large family in the way they should go, has of last year's crops abundance, pays cash in trade and loans her earnings out on interest.

We have always had a high and tender regard for widows, and now more than ever; we feel drawn to them, the above mentioned particularly. Long may they live to enjoy the fruits of their energy, and may the memory of their virtues and noble deeds follow them down through the years to come.—Newberry (S. C.) Herald.

The Fly's Toilet.

The toilet of the fly is as carefully attended to as that of the most frivolous of human insects. With contempt for the looking-glass he brushes himself up and wabbles his little head, chuck full of vanity, wherever he happens to be. Sometimes, after a long day of dissipation and flirting, with his six small legs and little round body all soiled with syrup and butter and cream, he passes out of the dining room and wings his way to the clean white cord along which the morning glories climb, and in this retired spot, heedless of the crafty spider that is practicing gymnastics a few feet above him, he proceeds to purify and freshen himself for the refreshing repose and soft dreams of the balmy Summer night, so necessary to one who is expected to be early to breakfast. It is a wonderful toilet. Resting himself on his front and middle legs, he throws his hind legs rapidly over his body, binding down his frail wings for an instant with the pressure, then raking them over with a backward motion, which he repeats until they are bright and clear. Then he pushes the two legs along his body under the wings, giving that queer structure a thorough currying, every now and then throwing the legs out and rubbing them together to remove what he has collected from his corporeal surface. Next he goes to work upon his van. Resting on his hind legs, he raises his two forelegs and begins a vigorous scraping of his head and shoulders, using his proboscis every little while to push the accumulation from his limbs. At times he is so energetic that it seems as if he were trying to pull his head off, but no fly ever committed suicide. Some of his motions very much resemble those of pussy at her toilet. It is plain to the naked eye, that he does his work very thoroughly for when he has finished he looks like a new fly, so clean and neat has he made himself within a few minutes. The white cord is defiled, but Floppy is himself again, and he bids the morning glories a very good evening.

Daily Chronicle.

MONDAY, JULY 23, 1877.

Law vs. Mob-Rule.

Whatever may or may not have been the wrongs inflicted on the striking railroad men whose folly and violence have obstructed the business of the country for several days and at last culminated in bloodshed, there is but one course for the legally constituted authorities—State and National—now to pursue, and that is to put down with the strong hand, and without any whisper of compromise, the trade-union movement which has assumed the proportions of a serious insurrection. There must be no treaties made with mobs, no surrender to mob-rule; the riotous "trammen" must be suppressed—not bought off—even though it take the whole force of the Nation to do it.

This is not a question as to whether any railroad pays its employes proper wages, or not; it is a question whether a certain body or class of men shall set themselves up as superior to and above all law—save such law as they themselves may choose to make for others to obey! Capital may be tyrannical—may oppress those whose only stock in trade is labor; but it is not half so tyrannical and oppressive as the creed that a trade-union may properly dictate to a man for whom, when, where and for how much he shall work. A man or body of men may properly say they will not work under a given rate of wages; but when they assume to say that other men, who are willing to work at the wages offered, shall not do so, and resort to force to prevent the willing ones going to work, then the trade-union becomes the tyrant and law-breaker, and its insolent assumptions should be met with the argument of force.

Judge Black's Tirade.

Judge Jerry Black, who is as capable and persistent a scold as Dean Swift was, is almost as keen a satirist as he, and just as regardless as he of facts, has published in the last number of the North American Review a long tirade against the Electoral Commission, in which he proves very much to his own satisfaction that the democratic members of the Commission were quite right in voting solid for their party through thick and thin, and that the republican members were all wrong all the way through. If this long and bitter tirade of his—for it is nothing else—is a fair sample of Judge Black's "judicial mind," we had rather have his prejudices on our side than the facts and the law, if we had a case to be tried before him. If the premises do not suit him, he invents some; the fact that the premises are not such as to please Judge Black is prima facie proof that they are wrong. But one feature of his paper pleases us greatly; he does not pretend to deny, as most other democratic authorities have done, the violence and lawlessness which have for years existed in the Southern States; on the contrary, he admits them to the full extent of four thousand murders in Louisiana within three years and similar proportions in other States,—but he charges all the trouble upon the inefficiency and villainy of the carpet-bag governments. For the carpet-bagger Judge Black cannot find words to adequately express his hatred. He finds a great many words—and very hard words—it is true, but it is evident that all his vituperation goes but a little way toward relieving his over-charged feelings. No doubt many of the carpet-baggers were bad men; they all voted the republican ticket, (the moment they became democrats they ceased to be carpet-baggers,) which was of itself enough to make Judge Black desire to break a hole through the bottom of the bottomless pit in search of a lower deep in which to put them; but the carpet-baggers have long been out of power in Mississippi, where young girls are beaten and shot for the crime of having republican fathers, and then chivalrously allowed to die for want of medical aid,—and where the known assassins are allowed to go unpunished because a democratic governor thinks "it won't do to stir this thing up." And it is a long time since the carpet-baggers ruled Missouri, the State in which the Youngers and Jameses and kindred ruffians held sway for years until they raided into a republican State where they were hunted down like wolves. And the carpet-baggers never ruled Kentucky, the democratic Paradise where family feuds keep whole counties in a chronic state of war, and where the courts do not dare (or do not wish) to convict any one except a negro of murder, no matter what the evidence. Judge Black might have profitably studied the history of the troubles in Carter county, Ky., before he finished his article denouncing the carpet-baggers as being directly responsible for all the crime and lawlessness at the South. Neither the "Underwood" or the "Holbrook" gangs, that have kept up a reign of terror in that and the adjoining counties for years, are carpet-baggers; they are native Kentuckians; yet they have committed murder by wholesale, and the democratic State authorities are powerless to punish them. Troops were recently sent from Covington to arrest the Holbrook gang for the butchery of seven of the Underwoods; but the courts did not dare to convict the assassins, and they were acquitted in face of positive evidence; and the Sheriff himself gave a horse to the leader of the Underwoods to enable him to rejoin his gang, though he too was known to have committed more than one murder. Rather than talk any more such rubbish as that the carpet-baggers are solely responsible for all the disorders at the South, Judge Black had better borrow one of the carpet-sacks and bag his head.

The Idaho War.

The rout of Joseph's and White Bird's bands of Indians seems to be complete. They were certainly badly whipped, and despatches state that they are demoralized and quarelling among themselves. Small parties are constantly breaking away from the main band, coming in and surrendering to General Howard. It is certain the Indians lost heavily. A despatch from General Howard's camp, 17th inst., says: On the 16th, Red Heart, the Nez Perces chief, with sixteen warriors from Joseph's and Looking Glass' bands, with twenty-three women and children, surrendered themselves to General Howard. They were made prisoners and were told they would be tried; that the murderers of white men and outragers of women must be punished. Joseph did not surrender as he proposed to do, but instead started for the buffalo country with other hostile chiefs. The prisoners had but two guns and no ammunition or supplies. It is thought that this party who surrendered got separated from Joseph and were left without horses, arms and supplies, and were therefore compelled to surrender. Monday, the 16th, all the men that General Howard could mount were sent in pursuit of the fleeing hostiles. They are about twenty-four hours ahead of the troops. The prisoners say Joseph's men are getting short of ammunition.

The Eastern War.

Hassan Pasha, who was taken prisoner at Nikopolis, which he commanded, says that when he capitulated his ammunition was all gone, and he had been obliged to kill three or four soldiers with his own hand for leaving their duty.

A London Times despatch from Vienna reports Kazanlik taken by the Russians, who are rapidly advancing toward Philippopolis. The Standard's Constantinople special says the Russians are within three hours' march of Philippopolis. The Turkish governor of Philippopolis reports four towns burned by the Cossacks. The Times' Vienna correspondent telegraphs: It is reported from Constantinople that the Turks are now displaying great activity. Troops and munitions are being despatched in all haste. Unhappily the fortifications at Adrianople are very imperfect and not even armed. One hundred guns that had been announced for this destination have not been delivered. Some have been despatched in all haste, but are still on the railway. Complaints are heard of the want of about everything, soldiers, munitions and especially money.

The correspondent in Greece of the London News telegraphs that paper that it will be difficult to restrain the Cretans and Thessalians longer. The prestige of Turkey is completely destroyed by her failure to guard the Danube and Balkans. The misfortune is that Greece is not ready. In two months more Greece would have been well-prepared to assert her claims, but now some great risks must be run to avoid danger of trouble at home.

Hobart Pasha has sailed with two ironclads for the Black Sea, to supercede Hassan Pasha in command of the fleet. The utmost consternation prevails at Constantinople, and a levy en masse at Adrianople is ordered.

The Striker's War.

The great strike is assuming formidable proportions, and has already cost a number of lives. On Friday evening Gen. Brinton, commanding the first division of Pennsylvania National Guards, received orders from the Adjutant-General to move with his entire division of cavalry and artillery, dismounted, to Pittsburg, and report to Major-General Pearson. The division includes the First, Second, Third and Sixth Regiments, Keystone Battery, City Troop, Black Hussars, Washington Greys, Weccacoe Legion, State Fencibles and Grey Invincibles. These commands number about 2000 men.

The lawless proceedings of the strikers at Cumberland, Md., and other places along the line of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, having been reported to Governor Carroll of Maryland, he on Friday afternoon ordered the Fifth Regiment of Maryland National Guards, Col. Clarence Peters, of Baltimore, to proceed to Cumberland to aid the officers of the law; and a little later the Sixth Regiment also received orders to the same effect. At about seven o'clock in the evening three companies of the Sixth Regiment left their armory, marching down the stairway and into the street in column of twos, the three companies numbering about 140 men. On reaching the street they were received with a shower of heavy stones from a mob of 4000 or 5000 rioters, four of the soldiers being struck down senseless by the missiles, so that they had to be carried back into the armory, and many others injured. The mob continuing their attack the soldiers fired without orders, killing and wounding several persons, but immediately ceased firing in obedience to orders, and the two companies first out of the armory marched along the streets to the Camden depot, the mob following, throwing stones and firing pistols. When too hard pressed the troops would fire on their assailants without orders, and finally the three companies arrived at the depot, the third company having fought their way through other streets. At the Middle Police Station, at midnight, were eight dead men and two badly wounded ones, of the mob; several of the troops were in the hospital, badly wounded, and nearly every man in the ranks was more or less hurt. One hundred and fifty men of the Fifth Regiment marched to the depot with unloaded muskets and fixed bayonets, charging the mob several times on the way; but owing to the intense excitement in the city, Gov. Carroll, at the request of the Mayor of Baltimore, ordered the Fifth Regiment not to leave the city, and they returned to their armory. The depot was set on fire by the rioters, and the telegraph office "cleaned out;" and the fireman were prevented from putting out the fire until police were stationed at each engine with orders to shoot down any meddler.

Gov. Young, of Ohio, ordered out four companies of State troops, Friday afternoon.

The strike, Friday evening, embraced the Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania Central, Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago, Atlantic & Great Western, Pan Handle and Erie railroads, and it was considered probable that many other roads would also join.

While the Camden depot in Baltimore was on fire, Gov. Carroll telegraphed the President for assistance, and in return received an order placing all the troops in Fort McHenry, with their guns at his disposal. Five hundred troops from Fortress Monroe are ordered to Washington and Baltimore. Ten deaths have occurred from the fire of the Baltimore militia, and several other men shot, or cut by the sabres of the dismounted cavalry, will die.

News and Notes.

From the accounts received up to the time of writing this paragraph, it appears that in the collision between the mob of Baltimore roughs and the handful of citizen soldiers, the latter fired without orders, and only when hit by brick-bats or pistol-shots; and yet they managed to kill quite a fair number of their assailants,—though their first volley was mainly fired over the heads of the mob, too. We do not know how the sympathies of the general public may stand, but ours go with the soldiers; for we consider that in a fight with a Baltimore mob the only wrong soldiers can do is to leave any of the roughs alive. Holding this opinion, we are vexed that the soldiers killed so few; had they put in more bullets and aimed lower, they might just as likely as not have killed four times as many as they did.

The New York Staats Zeitung, of which Oswald Ottendorffer is editor, is really owned and managed by his wife. She was the wife of Uhl, the founder of the paper, when Ottendorffer was the foreman of the composing room. After Uhl's death Ottendorffer became editor and finally married the widow, who has a very keen eye to business.

A despatch from Montreal says the coroner's jury in the Hackett case rendered a verdict of murder by a person or persons to the jury unknown.

Gen. Bob Toombs on Friday introduced a resolution in the Georgia Constitutional Convention to repeal the prohibition against duelling. It was voted down by a vote of 119 to 38.

A curious response to the President's order has been received by the Postmaster-General. Mr. Wentworth, who is Postmaster at Islington, Mass., expressed his approval of the order and notified the Postmaster-General that he has resigned his membership of the Islington Democratic Town Committee.

Gov. Connor of Maine has appointed Geo. B. Goodwin of Biddeford a Justice of the Peace and Quorum for York county.

The Washington Republican gives a circumstantial account of the elopement of a young wife and mother of that city with "a very dashing army officer, of fine address and a handsome face." No names are given, but the woman's husband and father are said to be prominent citizens, the husband being very wealthy.

Public sympathy begins to go out toward Grover. The most scrupulous moralist cannot read the daily installments of picturesque and variegated lying which are sent out from Oregon without admitting that a man would be justified in resorting to bribery, or even to murder, to get sent out of such a community.

—A Kennebec (Me.) paper tells of a certain city official who pointed out to a clergyman friend, a house wherein a man laid three weeks, and his friends refused to bury him. "Why? What was that for?" inquired the interested clergyman. "The man was not dead," was the quiet response.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often removes the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilized; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and pliancy of tone it imparts.

JOTTINGS.

A cat which for two days had been ensconced high up in a tree near the residence of William J. Laighton near the corner of State and Atkinson streets, whither the feline had been driven for refuge from an angry canine, was rescued this forenoon from her elevation by Mr. Frank Hill, assisted by a Mr. Johnson. The cat was unable to make her descent unaided, and would no doubt have perished if the men had not assisted her.—Times, 21st.

An excursion to the Shoals under the auspices of the Woman's Temperance League takes place to-morrow, in steamer Appledore, Capt. Robinson; tickets, at 75 cents for the round trip, can be procured of David Kimball & Co.

The attachments of the Eastern Railroad Company of the franchise and real estate of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad, which were served last week, are to recover interest which the Eastern road had been paying on the bonds of that road during the term of a lease issued in 1871. The amount is thought to be about $420,000, less a balance of earning to $170,000.

Mr. J. C. Butler's regular bi-weekly excursion to the Shoals in steamer Appledore, Capt. Robinson, at 75 cents for the round trip, comes off on Thursday of this week. Tickets at Butler & Laighton's only.

One day recently a man undertook to land in a small wherry, through the surf of Seabrook beach. His boat was capsized, and he saved himself by swimming ashore. He was hospitably cared for by Sewell B. and Richard Fowler, who have fish houses on the beach. Charles Fowler took him to the depot next morning, and paid his fare to Gloucester, Mass., whence he hailed. After he had gone his benefactors found that he had worn off a pair of new rubber boots, belonging to Sewell Fowler's son. The boat he landed in has since been found to have been stolen from Ring's Island. The man arrived at Newburyport from Gloucester, and wishing to visit Black Rocks stole the boat for the purpose, but the tide was too strong for him to make the landing and he was carried out to sea.

The "American Journal of the Medical Sciences" for July is out, and contains the usual amount of matter of value to the profession, and more than the usual amount to interest the non-professional reader. The first paper, on the yellow fever epidemic at Savannah in 1876, by Surgeon Alfred A. Woodhull, U. S. A., and one by Dr. James of Frankfort, Ky., on the antipyretic treatment of pneumonia, are of especial interest. Published quarterly, by Henry C. Lea, Nos. 706 & 708 Sansom street, Philadelphia; $5 per year.

New Hampshire Items.

The New Hampshire politician is made of the genuine stuff. He stands by his party every time, and his idea of "standing by" is to hit the other fellow over the head every time he gets a chance. So when a democratic member of the Legislature, on mischief intent, introduced a resolution indorsing the President, the republican member shot it upon the table, and passed one of his own, giving the democratic party a first-class drubbing for attempting to reopen the Presidential question in New Orleans.—N. Y. Tribune.

David C. Smith, of Kensington, whose dwelling house was robbed about the 4th of July, expresses an earnest desire that the robbers or any one in possession of such property may return a coffin plate (engraved for his wife's coffin) and all accounts and commercial papers. He is very generous about the matter; don't ask to have even the above property returned to himself, but would thank parties to leave it beside the stone wall or hedge, so he can get it; or, they can notify him without signing a name. The household goods they are welcome to, although worth an hundred or two dollars. Smith cannot be called small or niggardly.

A Brentwood man writes: "For the past fifteen years one man in our community has kept, at times, several cows which were allowed to roam at their own will unmolested, and averaged more damage to the people living in the vicinity yearly, than they were in reality worth. Once they were started to the pound by an energetic woman, whose garden they had broken into and demolished; another time they arrived there, and their owner went for them and removed the lock and took them home, greatly enraged at the fancied injury he had encountered. Now the number is reduced to one, and she, having destroyed all traces of vegetation, except her owner's, within a mile of home, carefully avoiding potatoes where Paris green is used, was taken to walk and once more lodged in the pound, and her owner again removed the fastenings and took her home."

The State Antiquarian Society held its fifth annual meeting at Contoocook on the 17th. The Society now has 9490 books and specimens, among them 1764 manuscripts, mounted or bound and indexed, and about 200 others lately received, many of them concerning Daniel Webster and Timothy Dix. There is pressing need for larger accommodations, and a committee was chosen to secure a better Society building. Among several gifts, Mayor Jillson of Worcester, Mass., presented a perfect copy of Jabobus de Rossi's "Historia Florentini," printed at "Aulnegia" March 8, 1476; and Brigham Young sent a full set of the authoritative works and sacred books of the Church of Latter-day Saints. Rev. Silas Ketchum was re-elected President.

Albert E. Lawton of Boston has been appointed by Gov. Prescott, Agent for New Hampshire for the sale of spirituous liquors. He was first appointed in 1868, and held the position since that time, with the exception of two years.

The first number of the daily newspaper, "Among the Clouds," projected by Henry M. Burt, editor of the New England Homestead, to be printed on the summit of Mount Washington, has been issued. This is an eight-page paper, and will be printed during the season. Mr. Burt has a full equipped newspaper office, including a cylinder press. This is the first time that a daily newspaper has been printed on any mountain in this country, if not in the world.

The gold excitement in the White Mountain region about Milan seems to be at a high pitch, and so many prospectors have rushed in that the Grand Trunk Railway has established a station at the point of discovery, about a dozen miles from Gorham. The vein is said to be eighteen feet wide, running for over a mile, and a ten-ton blast recently assayed $250 a ton, fifty per cent. being copper, twenty per cent. each of gold and lead, and ten per cent. silver. H. K. Flagler of Boston has bought the farm of Mr. Fogg, its owner, for twenty years, and is undecided whether to work the mine himself or dispose of parts of it.

Lieut. E. A. Haskins, an old citizen of Nashua, who was a veteran of the Eighth New Hampshire, Company A, was buried with military honors by Post J. G. Forber, Thursday afternoon.

The Fish Commissioners appointed by the Governor to locate the State hatching-house will probably locate it at Livermore Falls, a mile and a half from Plymouth, as full grown salmon have been seen there.

Serious injuries were occasioned by the accidental discharge of a blast in a well at Orford a few days ago. In the case of Enoch Gilman amputation of the whole hand was necessary, a stone is now lodged in the lower jaw and his eyesight scarcely hoped for. Daniel Simpson and his son are out of danger.

"Sunstroke."

Probably the affection so designated is not the malady to which the term coup de soleil can be properly applied. The condition brought about is an exaggerated form of the disturbance occasioned by entering too suddenly the "hot" room of a Turkish bath. The skin does not immediately perform its function as an evaporating and, therefore, cooling surface, and an acute febrile state of the organism is established, with a disturbed balance of circulation, and more or less cerebral irritation as a prominent feature of the complaint. Death may suddenly occur at the outset of the complaint, as it has happened in a Turkish bath, where the subject labors under some predisposition to apoplexy, or has a weak or diseased heart. It should suffice to point out the danger, and to explain, by way of warning, that although the degrees of heat registered by the thermometer, or the power of the sun's rays, do not seem to suggest especial caution, all sudden changes from a low to a high temperature are attended with danger to weak organisms. The avoidance of undue exercise—for example, persistent trotting or cantering up and down the Row—is an obvious precaution on days marked by a relatively, if not absolutely, high temperature. We direct attention to this matter because it is obvious the peculiar peril of overheating the body by exertion on the first burst of fine weather is not generally realized. It is forgotten that the increased temperature must be measured by the elevation which has recently taken place, not the number of degrees of heat at present recorded. The registered temperature may be more or less than that which occurred a year ago, but its immediate effects on the organism may be determined by the conditions which have preceded it, and the violence of the change.—London Lancet.

Artistic Flower Pots.

A writer in Appleton's Journal complains of the ugly pots at present used for flowers and plants, and says: Attempts have been made, and are made, to introduce fancy flower pots; but these schemes have all started out with two defects—lack of taste and want of gumption. The few feeble experiments in this direction have given us showy vessels that are either detestable with many glaring colors, or which violate an imperative canon of taste by imitating something to which they do not and should not bear likeness. A flower pot that weakly pretends to resemble a log of wood, or that puts on the form of a willow-ware basket, or tries to pass off for something which it is not, is in art an abomination, and should not disfigure either window or garden stand. The rude red pots of the florist are preferable. The vases we have in mind are something wholly different—truth, simplicity and pure taste being their essential characteristics. There are forms of the Greek vase well adapted for the purpose, and Greek decoration is peculiarly appropriate. Examples of those vases can be seen in almost any art museum, or in any book upon poetry. The material should not be costly—the ordinary clay used in our unglazed pottery is good enough; and the decoration should be severe rather than ornate, or else there is danger that the passion for vulgar display rather than true art taste will be encouraged. There is now everywhere a great mania for decorating pottery. We have not seen many products of the new-born zeal that called for special commendation; but decoration that looks rather rude for the mantel-piece would do very well for the out-of-door flower-vase. So, ladies who are in full tide of this new fashion may turn their skill and zeal to good, practical account by introducing examples of flower-pots and vases calculated not only to gratify and cultivate the art sense, but to make flower culture a new delight.

—A colored man, born and educated in Boston, and now holding an important position in an educational institution at the South, says many of the colored people of South Carolina are joining the Catholic Church, in the belief that this will enable them to secure their civil and political rights.—Boston Traveller.

ROCKINGHAM, SS. Law Term, June, 1877. No. 12.

EDWIN T. RICE of New York respectfully represents that ARCEMELLA RICE, late of Portsmouth, deceased, in 1872, testate, having in her will nominated your petitioner together with two other cousins to be Executors of her will: that none of the other persons nominated declined to accept the trust, and have since deceased.

And your petitioner having nearly completed the distribution of the residuum of said estate, upon the petition of Samuel E. Worcester, administrator of one of the residuary legatees who lived and died in Russia, at the Probate Court, held at Portsmouth, September, 1876, was removed from his position as Executor of said will.

He further represents that his counsel was in Court when said removal was announced, and then and there in open Court claimed an appeal to this Court which was then and there allowed, and further requested the Register of Probate to prepare the proper papers for review of said appeal effectual to this Court, and to hand the papers to the Clerk for entry; but, owing to some misunderstanding between the counsel of your petitioner and the newly appointed Register of Probate, and not through any neglect, the proper papers were not seasonably filed to effect said appeal.

Wherefore, he prays that this Court will give him leave to appeal, according to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided.

EDWIN T. RICE, by
W. H. Y. HACKETT, his Atty.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner notify all persons interested in the subject matter thereof, to appear at an adjourned law term of our Supreme Court to be holden at Concord in our County of Merrimack, on the thirteenth day of August, 1877, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer therein should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in our County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said thirteenth day of August next.

Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Relationship of Brain and Stomach

Is a close one, indeed. They are connected by that wondrous elastic link, the sympathetic nerve, which communicates the abnormal sensations of the organ of digestion to that of thought. Now, if digestion is disordered, the brain being the great focal point of the nervous system, all the nerves are in some degree affected. The main cause of nervous trouble is impaired digestion, and that is usually produced by weakness of the stomach. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters rectifies this, and overcomes nervous debility by infusing increased energy into the operation of the organs of nutrition. Through the agency of this beneficient tonic, not only are the nerves vitalized, but the entire organism acquires vigor and regularity.

Ladies

Who use Sozodont have only to open their lips to prove its excellence. Their white, gleaming, spotless teeth, and fragrant breath will tell the story. There is more demand for this wholesome and unexceptionable preparation than for any other dentifrice in the market. One day its use will be universal.

Mend your broken chattels with Spalding's Glue.

To save time is to lengthen life. Why will you waste time when you have a severe cold or hacking cough, or even suffering from the destroyer, Consumption, hunting for a remedy, when you can obtain instant relief by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Even the worst cases have been cured. Ask your druggist for it.

The 8th grand drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company will take place on the 7th of August next.

WALTER BAKER & Co., received the highest awards at London, Paris, Vienna and Philadelphia for the Chocolate and Cocoas. The public endorses this verdict by a constant and ever-increasing demand for these excellent preparations.

—If the case of Miss Cannavassogh had occurred in America it would have been set down here as an illustration of the too much freedom of a new country. A young Greek officer deceived a Greek maiden at Athens. Miss Cannavassogh was the lady's name. She met him in the street, drew a revolver, and shot him dead. In due course she was a prisoner. Nay, she was tried. The law even went so far as that. But she was speedily acquitted, on the traditional view of the case that the murdered officer had been visited by Nemesis, and that it would be blasphemous to interfere. A throng of delighted Greeks and "Greekesses" went home with her, and she has had ten distinct and individual offers of marriage.

—An eminent French physician says that the decrease of dyspepsia and billious complaints in Paris is owing to the incresed consumption of apples in that city, which he affirms is an admirable prophylactic and tonic, as well as a very nourishing and easily digested article of food. The Parisians devour one hundred millions of apples every year.

—It has been decided in Texas that a negro can marry a white woman whenever he finds one willing. Which calls to mind the ante-bellum inquiry, "Would you have your daughter marry a nigger?"

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock M. of Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, for building the shells of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Miantonomoh," now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap-iron for the work to be furnished by the Bureau.

These turrets are to be 22 feet and 9 inches external diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 5 feet broad, and 10½ inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 20th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the revolving of the iron.

2d. For all the labor of building these turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be provided by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plates to be bent and planed according to plan.

Proposals will also be received under this advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets; the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plan, to be equal to the best quality of English turret iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware river, in such position as to be readily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building the shells of the pilot houses required for the same vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. d jy10 17 24 31

"A Fascinating Work on an Entrancing Topic.

HE WILL COME;

BY STEPHEN H. TYNG, JR., D. D.

This work is not prophetic, but it discusses the topic as a Divine promise. Its plan is to follow the narrative of a Christian's experience of the revealed facts in the next dispensation. There is not a line of controversy in the volume. Yet it is full of bold and original thought, and, including their terrible writing, and it is a work which no one who is "watching and waiting" for the Lord can afford to miss. 12mo., 216 pp., $1.25 in cloth; $2.50 in Morocco. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from persons who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 7 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for 2 years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, and two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 20th of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength every day, all of which I owe to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cause them of late and pain caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Indivised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing of them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What more him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say as I say. I do this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE!

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for about twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that would cure me for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. M. D. Ellis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and oncee Mrs. Laura Street, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON!

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians and has been constantly in use from that time to the present, and for dozen years spent in experimenting with it before it was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured for me and others, in my employ, patents. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effects has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

A Man Who Says He Doesn't Sleep.

The man who does not sleep, Saunders, now resides near Parkersburg, Va. Some time in 1861 or 1862 Saunders enlisted in the Fourth West Virginia Volunteers. For several years he had not slept at all, so he says. But it becoming known directly in camp that he made such pretensions, it aroused the curiosity of many of the men and officers, and they set a watch upon him. I am told by a Colonel that he and many others lost a great many nights' sleep in endeavoring to entrap Saunders, but during the whole time that he remained a member of the Fourth he was never caught asleep. He stood guard night after night, and week after week, paid by sleepy-headed soldiers to take their turns, but never was caught napping. He hauled coal several weeks in succession, only stopping long enough to eat and change horses, and ploughed in the fields with five or six stalwart men until he wore them out completely, but never seemed to tire. During the year 1863, I think it was, he went to Philadelphia and was examined by the leading physicians of the country. They sat up with him in relays of five, night and day, and kept up an almost constant stream of conversation with him, and at the termination of twenty-nine days discharged him with a certificate, but could give no explanation of this freak of nature. Many stories of the untiring energy and activity of this man are told, and all agree who know him that this antipode of Rip Van Winkle is the most sleepless man they ever met.

Mr. Saunders is now about fifty-six years of age, and says that he has not known what sleep is for eighteen years. He himself cannot account for it, as he says the change in his physical organization occurred within three days, and that he never was sick in his life, and took medicine but once, and that was when he had a catarrh, about three years ago. He is a hale, hearty man, and bids fair to live many years yet. He is conscientiously opposed to making a display of himself or no doubt would long ago have been before the public as one of the human curiosities of the world.

A Disastrous Young Woman.

As an instance of what hot temper and rash action can accomplish to ruin a life, an affair that occurred at Sharon, Pa., is one of the best illustrations. A young lady, Miss Kate McGilvery, was out driving alone, and when on State street she desired to get a head of a wagon. She called out to the driver to turn aside so that she could pass. He was adeaf, infirm old man named Bell, and at first did not hear what she said, but after a second or third call did as requested. Misunderstanding Mr. Bell's delay, the young lady on her arrival at home told her father that the old man had tried to frighten her horse. Mr. McGilvery is very impetuous and this made him so angry that he started down town to find Mr. Bell. He met him in front of a store, and, without warning, knocked him through the window, cutting his head badly though not seriously. Mr. Bell was removed to his residence, and his son Richard was so maddened by his father's condition that he determined to punish his assailant. He found him in front of the very store where the first assault had been made, and picking up a two-pound brass weight he hurled it at Mr. McGilvery's head, fracturing the skull. The wounded man died in a few hours. Miss Kate, the innocent cause of all the trouble, has lost her reason, and is now a raving maniac, though her physician has slight hopes that she may recover from the shock. Young Bell is now under custody.

—Young ladies at the hotels are grumbling because they have to dance with each other, as there are no other eligible young men.

—A rich manufacturer placed over the entrance to his factory the motto, "Ora et Labora." A journeyman weaver in search of work approached the head book-keeper as he was crossing the yard and asked: "Are you Mr. Ora, sir?" "No," replied the latter, pointing to a window where his employer sat smoking an Havana, "there is Ora, I am Labora."

—An impossibility—Two barristers of the names of Doyle and Yelverton were constantly quarrelling before the bench. One day the dispute arose so high that the incensed Doyle knocked down his adversary, exclaiming vehemently: "You scoundrel, I'll make you behave like a gentleman!" The other smarting under the blow as he lay on the ground, energetically replied: "No, never! I defy you! You cannot do it, sir!"

—James Moore, an ex-Confederate soldier, living in Burke County, N. C., was in a battle in Virginia where a Federal officer fell wounded before him and began begging piteously for water. Moore, heedless of the hot shot pouring upon the breastwork behind which he was concealed, filled a canteen and gave it to his enemy. The grateful soldier offered his gold watch to Moore, which he refused, but gave his name, the wounded man insisting upon it. A few weeks ago Moore received a letter from the officer to whom he had given a cup of cold water, saying he had settled $10,000 upon him, to be paid in four annual installments of $2,500. The Raleigh (N. C.) News says this story is strictly true.

The Striker's War.

The great railroad strike continues, and has spread and increased until the whole central belt of States from the Atlantic to the Mississippi is in a state very like civil war.

PITTSBURG, PA.

At Pittsburg, Pa., there was a terrible outbreak, resulting in the destruction of millions of dollars' worth of property, the loss of many lives, and a season of frightful disorder and terror. The Philadelphia militia ordered to Pittsburg by the Governor to assist in preserving the peace arrived at about two o'clock P. M., Saturday, and on their arrival attempted to assist Sheriff Fife in arresting some of the rioters. A large mob, composed of striking railroad men, coal miners, and citizens in sympathy with the rioters, opposed the arrests, and several persons were killed and wounded. This conflict exasperated the mob to the last degree, and in less than an hour thousands of workingmen from the rolling mills, coal mines and various manufacturing establishments, hurried to the scene of the conflict, determined to have revenge on the troops and railway officials. By eight in the evening mobs were moving about the city in various directions, sacking stores to secure arms, breaking into armories of the military companies and preparing themselves to execute the threats freely expressed of massacreing the entire Philadelphia command. By this time the military had withdrawn from the railroad crossing where the first conflict took place, and were ordered to one of the round houses, where they could find better protection. About ten in the evening a mob, numbering several thousands, had congregated about the round house. They had previously captured the guns belonging to Hutchinson's Battery, a local organization, and planted them so as to command the round house. Several solid shots were fired at the building and a breach was made in the walls; but when the infuriated mob attempted to rush into the building, the military were ordered to fire. The volley of musketry that followed and the rumor that the Gatling guns of the command were being brought into requisition, caused a panic, and the mob fled precipitately for several squares, the military meanwhile keeping up a fusilade. The rioters were soon reassured, and, as thousands were flocking to their assistance, they returned to the attack. Finding it difficult to dislodge the military from the building, the mob resolved to burn them out; and vast numbers of cars loaded with coal, kerosene, and other merchandise, were set on fire and run close up to the round-house. The fire department rallied, but the rioters, who were well supplied with arms from plundered stores, refused to allow the fire to be extinguished. The militia, amounting to but a few hundred men, were now in imminent danger of being roasted to death, and were preparing to make one desperate attempt to cut their way through the infuriated mob when, from some unexplained reason, the mob suddenly left. The soldiers hastily left the building and formed on Liberty street, and then marched to the U. S. Arsenal, pursued and assailed all the way by the rioters, who had come back to the attack as suddenly as they had before given it up. On the way to the Arsenal a number of the soldiers and several of the assailants were killed. The commandant of the Arsenal refused to admit the harassed militia, as he had only ten soldiers to defend the property under his charge, and could not hope to resist an attack of the mob; he however did allow several wounded militiamen to be taken to the hospital. From this point the militiamen retreated to the Sharpsburg Hills, across the river, where according to the account received Monday morning they scattered to escape their pursuers, leaving their field pieces in the hands of the rioters. Another account says the troops opened on the crowd with a Gatling gun; but it is conceded that the mob was too strong for the force opposed to them, and held full possession of the railroad depots and works until over $2,000,000 worth of property was burned or stolen.

At the first start of the trouble the sympathy of many of the citizens of Pittsburg was evidently with the rioters. The secret of the sympathy of the Pittsburgers for the strikers is on account of alleged unjust discriminations of the railroad for years past, but the wholesale destruction of property by fire, and the wholesale thieving of the rioters, caused a rapid change in public sentiment and taught the better class of citizens the folly of giving over their city to the control of the reckless and criminal classes, even for the sake of having revenge on an obnoxious corporation. After the city had been ruled by the mob for twenty-four hours, at six o'clock Sunday evening large bodies of respectable citizens suddenly appeared on the street armed with base ball bats and pistols and wearing white handkerchiefs on their left arms, and commenced making arrests; these men called themselves a vigilance committee,—but their efforts do not seem to have amounted to much, for the report at half-past nine P. M. was that the incendiary fires were spreading and the whiskey maddened roughs threatening to raid on the banks.

The destruction of property, Saturday night and Sunday, was enormous. The Union depot and freight and passenger sheds, two round-houses and 135 locomotives, 2000 loaded freight cars, car building and repair shops, Union Depot Hotel, Pan Handle engine house, offices and freight depot of the Adams Express Company, and scores of private houses and other buildings, were burned. During the riots immense crowds of men, women and children were engaged in plundering the cars, and the whole scene must have been very like those of the last days of the Paris Commune.

BALTIMORE, MD.

In Baltimore there was but little trouble from the time of the bloody riot of Friday evening, in which ten of the mob lost their lives, up to Sunday night. Gov. Carroll issued another proclamation on Saturday. Sunday morning 400 U. S. troops, from Fort Columbus, in New York harbor, and Fortress Monroe, arrived in Baltimore, and Gen. Hancock assumed immediate command. Many arrests were made on Sunday by the police, but the Mayor, terrified by the rioters, released them as fast as they were locked up. Several oil-trains were burned during the day by the strikers. The Baltimore American in an extra issued Saturday, urged a compromise between the authorities and the mob, and a call was circulated for a mass meeting of citizens to induce the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to adopt some conciliatory measures with their employes. But Gen. Hancock, Gov. Carroll, Gen. Bond and others had a consultation and unanimously decided that order must be preserved at all hazards, and force met with superior force; and that no compromise was possible between the authorities and armed gangs of murderers and incendiaries.

OTHER PLACES.

At Vergennes, Ind., all trains were stopped by the strikers on Sunday, and serious trouble is feared there.

Government troops have been ordered from Providence, Boston, New York and Columbus, to assist in enforcing the laws of the States that have called for aid, and to protect the U. S. Arsenals.

Gov. Hartranft, of Pennsylvania, was absent in the far West when the outbreak occurred, and immediately started for home. On Sunday night it was reported that the Governor had telegraphed orders to call out every militia company in the State; also, that he had also telegraphed the President of the United States, calling for troops and suggesting the propriety of a call for volunteers.

At Altoona, Pa., a train of cars containing two companies of militia was stopped by the strikers; one company stacked arms and refused to do anything, and the other company was attacked and driven off by the mob.

The entire Fourth Division of Pennsylvania National Guards was placed under marching orders on Sunday, to concentrate at Harrisburg Sunday night. The Second division and Eighth Regiment were also ordered to Harrisburg.

At Cumberland, Md., two companies of U. S. troops are stationed, and there is no trouble, though rioting is feared when the freight is put in motion.

At Hornellsville, N. Y., the Erie Railroad strikers stopped the trains; they were joined by some Lake Shore workmen and a crowd of Attica roughs, and held the place Saturday night and Sunday. Troops from Buffalo arrived at Hornellsville Saturday night, and the Twenty-Third Regiment N. Y. N. G. left Brooklyn for the same place Sunday evening.

At Reading, Pa., Sunday night, shortly after 10 o'clock, upon the arrival of the passenger train from Philadelphia, about 1000 men followed after the train to the new passenger depot. The night trains were prevented from leaving the depot and several hundred persons commenced obstructing the tracks of the Lebanon Valley Railroad leading to Harrisburg. The Lebanon Valley Railroad bridge, a splendid structure across the Schuykill, costing over $150,000, was fired at the western end shortly before midnight and totally destroyed. The object in destroying the bridge was to prevent the passage of troops through the city to Harrisburg and points on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

At Allentown, Pa., the strikers tore up the tracks and fired freight cars, Sunday evening.

Gen. Hancock has been ordered to assume personal command of the troops in Pennsylvania, and Gen. Schofield, commandant of the Military Academy, is ordered to Pennsylvania to report to Gen. Hancock.

The first riotous outbreak at Philadelphia occurred early Monday morning, when 400 strikers assembled near Fairmount bridge, and when ordered to disperse assailed the police with showers of stones. The police, 80 in number, charged the mob and dispersed it, capturing several prisoners.

It was reported, Monday afternoon, that the Pan Handle managers had given in to the demands—or, rather, the threats—of the strikers, and agreed to pay the wages demanded and employ all the strikers.

Monday nights' report from Buffalo, N. Y., was that the Lake Shore and Erie strikers, aided by a mob of roughs, took possession of the New York Central at that place on Monday and drove off all the employes, stopping 500 freight cars in transit.

FEDERAL ACTION.

An extra session of the Cabinet was held at ten o'clock Monday morning to consider the question of Federal action relative to the railroad strikes, all the members being present. It is understood that Mr. Evarts was very anxious to have the Government abstain from any extreme measures unless the Federal authority should be openly defied. He holds that the Federal Government has no right to engage in railroading, and that so long as the State authority is not wholly swept away the Federal Government can do nothing but to aid in the preservation of the peace and the suppression of disorder when such aid is properly requested by the State authorities.

The Cabinet, after a two hour's session, determined that the President should issue a proclamation commanding the disturbers to desist in Pennsylvania on the same terms as the previous proclamations issued on account of the violations of order in other States. The proclamation was issued soon after noon.

The Eastern War.

Osman Pasha officially announces that he has defeated the Russians at Plevna in two battles, killing "innumerable" Russians, and taking three trains of ammunition, one train of artillery and enormous quantities of small arms and equipments.

A Bucharest despatch says the Russians have taken Yeni Saghra, and that the Grand Duke Nicholas' position at Tirnova is rendered secure by reinforcements. A Vienna paper says that the bombardment of Rustchuk by the Russians under the Czarowitch, will be commenced without delay. The Ninth Russian Army Corps is marching against Widdin, and a heavy siege train has been sent to the corps in the Dobrudscha.

New Hampshire Items.

A three-year-old daughter of Levi Davis of Durham was run over by horses attached to a hay wagon on the 13th inst., and so injured that she died in an hour.

The loss on the Varney tannery at Wolfboro has been adjusted at $3481.29, on a total insurance of $4000, the Worcester Insurance Company paying $931.29 and the Meriden and Roger Williams $1250 each.

The heaviest thunder-shower of the season occurred at Hanover Friday night. Great damage was done to roads and crops. Several bridges and culverts were entirely washed away and travelling rendered impossible on several roads.

A terrific thunder-shower passed over Enfield, July 17, during which the lightning struck the house of Simeon Garland, shattering windows and doors, upsetting stoves and passing through the kitchen where six persons were sitting, but doing them no injury, though the concussion was like the discharge of a heavy cannon in the house.

An Infernal Machine.

A man holding a large cylindrical machine between his knees excited considerable attention in a Boston car recently. An old gentleman who had been talking about the war, cast his eyes on it and said: "Let 'em go ahead with their ironclads; some Yankee'll invent a torpedo that'll fix 'em. You see." Instantly the man with the cylinder became the centre of attraction. "Ain't loaded, is she?" said a lank countryman, giving it a rap with his horny knuckles that would have exploded a twenty-four pounder, and causing a nervous man to hastily seek the rear platform. "An invention of yours, my friend?" said a bald-headed man with spectacles, on the opposite seat, bending over curiously, in which he was joined by his neighbors. "Waal, not edzackly," said the man with the cylinder, tugging at the top of it until the whole car was aroused. "I'm an agent for it," he continued, as he pulled off the cover. "It's Jenkins' patent back-action family biler. Kin put yer week's wash in the bottom, and bile yer dinner in the top; will fit enny cook stove; price only dollar narf; take a cirkelar, it's the only relia—" Putting the man off the car was certainly justifiable, but jamming the tin kitchen over his ears on to his shoulders and booting him from the front platform seemed unnecessarily severe.

—A man made a bet that he would pass twenty-five men over Waterloo Bridge, London, without toll being taken from them, and won. He marshalled his men and asked the tollman in a nonchalant way to count them. As soon as the last man had passed the turnstile and all were walking briskly away, he entered into a dispute with the tollman as to the number that he had passed. "Twenty-five," said the tollman. "I vow it was twenty-seven," asserted the other. The dispute continued until the last man was out of sight, when the speculator paid his half-penny and said: "Well, after all, it is no matter of mine. Good morning."

—Mr. R. H. Dana, Jr., told the following "little story" at a dinner party in Boston not long ago: "He was passing a negro church at the North End one night, and took it into his head to look in. After a few moments' observation and listening, he was quietly retiring, when one of the "official members" stepped up and expressed regret that they could not offer him more attractive preaching. Mr. Dana remarked politely that it was very good, but the colored brother insisted on apologizing, "Not much in de way ob preachin', sir, only a New York man."

—A California paper says of one of the artists there that "she is a nice dumpy little soul, with eyes that have a slight tendency toward toeing in."

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proved that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilized; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

JOTTINGS.

The U. S. S. Speedwell, Lt. Comdr. Kellogg, which left this port early Friday morning, arrived at New London, Conn., Saturday evening.

The excursion to the Shoals in steamer Appledore, under the conduct of the Woman's Temperance League, comes off to-day, the steamer leaving the wharf near foot of Deer street at 11 o'clock A. M., and the Shoals at three o'clock P. M. Fare for the trip, 75cts; tickets to be had at David Kimball & Co's.

The Court street Christian Church was filled on Sunday evening to listen to Col. Kent's temperance address. It occupied about an hour in its delivery, and although the atmosphere of the room was unpleasantly warm on account of the crowd in attendance, the speaker held his audience to the end. We learn that Col. Kent has been applied to by the managers of different reform clubs in this State and Massachusetts to lecture for them in the fall. Any club will do well to secure him.

Sunday evening was a very good season for drunken rows in this city, we are informed. There was one good sized row on Bridge street, where a crowd of Irishmen had a fight with two or three young fellows from Dover; and the same parties kept up a series of supplementary boxing matches all the way down to Market square. Then there was a noisy row near the beer shop and rummery called "The Old House at Home," on Daniel street,—a very common Sunday evening performance, by the way, for that neighborhood. A little judicious severity would be a good thing to try on in this case, to see if it would abate what is fast becoming a notorious public nuisance.

A company of United States regular troops, of late stationed at Portland, Me., passed through this city Monday forenoon on the 11:18 train, bound to Pittsburg to assist in looking after the rioters.

It is rumored on the streets that the authors of the noisy and dangerous "joke" by which the windows of Rice's bakery, Ham's periodical store and other buildings were broken on the night of the High School reunion, have settled the matter by paying $50 to cover the actual damages done. As we hear the story the affair was intended simply as a bit of harmless fun, nothing being further from the jokers' thoughts than the commission of any malicious mischief; and if the names of the parties given us are correct we have no doubt this statement of the case is true. They simply desired to astonish the public; and they succeeded admirably, for the public—including the jokers—were very much astonished by the noise of the explosion and the damage done by it. We do not think any of that party will play any more jokes with substances of the effects of which they are not well acquainted.

Hon. John S. H. Frink, of Greenland, on Monday notified Gov. Prescott that he declined to accept the position of Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of New Hampshire, recently tendered him. It is to be regretted that Mr. Frink could not see his way clear to accepting the judgeship, as he would have conferred honor on the position; but his private practice is undoubtedly to important to permit it.

POLICE COURT.

John Lever and Dennis Welch, drunk, each sentenced to pay $9.90, fine and costs.

Charles Fernald, common drunkard, three months in Brentwood, costs $8.04.

News and Notes.

According to the Hartford papers, Henry J. Furber was paid in the aggregate a salary of $44,967 in 1876, by three life insurance companies, for his services as manager, viz: by the North American $12,000, by the Universal $20,967, and by the Charter Oak, $12,000. An opinion appears to prevail that he did not earn his wages.

A nine-year-old daughter of John Morgan of Biddeford fell down stairs Saturday, breaking her right thigh and one jaw. The chances of her recovery are doubtful.

The Baltimore and Ohio is a riotous railroad. There have been five outbreaks since 1830. The worst was in 1857, when there was fighting and train wrecking, quite a number of persons being injured. The company carried its point at the end of six days. It is desirable that the strikers should now be made to feel that they have no right to use violence.—Worcester Gazette.

The Secretary of the Navy decides that Commander Whitehead of the United States steamer Yantic had reasonable grounds for leaving the battery of the vessel at Cape Town, Africa, the vessel being too badly out of repair to safely carry guns.

The Postmaster at Sanborn, N. Y., considers his privileges as a citizen and member of the Republican State Central Committee of more consequence than his federal appointment, and resigns the post office.

John Quinn of Vernon, Conn., complained of Margaret Dowling for being naughty. The case was tried before Justice Talcott, who fined her $2 and costs, amounting to $18. Margaret then made two similar complaints against John, and he was fined on both. Total damage, $19. Now it was John's turn. He entered a complaint against Margaret for selling liquor without a license, and she was bound over in the sum of $200 to the County Court. Margaret now went for John's son, Edward, who was mean enough to attempt to poison her well by throwing into it snakes and other disagreeables. The Justice found Edward guilty, and he was put under $100 bonds to answer for the grave charge at the Superior Court.

The High School graduation at Newport, R. I., Thursday, was notable in the fact that a colored girl, Josephine A. Silone, took the gold medal for highest scholarship and gave the valedictory, her average in every study being within a fraction of the maximum mark. The case is the more remarkable as the girl has supported herself, her mother being a cook, and has taken the last two years' study in one year. She is going to college.

A ten-year-old French lad, name unknown, while playing about the staging of the Maine street bridge at Saco, Saturday afternoon, fell into the river and was drowned. His body was not recovered.

A despatch from London, Sunday, says: "The whale boat New Bedford, which made the daring voyage across the Atlantic, arrived at Mounts Bay, Cornwall, at 11 o'clock, Saturday night. Capt. Crapo and his wife landed at Penzance this morning. They encountered three gales, lost some of their clothing and were obliged to lie to fifteen days. They intend proceeding to London in the New Bedford, Monday, the weather permitting."

The Bankrupt Law.

There is a growing sentiment in business circles in favor of a repeal of the bankrupt law, and Congress at its next session will undoubtedly be petitioned to that effect. The first bankrupt act was passed by Congress in the year 1800. This law continued in force three years, and served to wipe out the old scores of the first quarter of our national century. The next act was passed in 1841, and was repealed in 1843, thus affording opportunity for settlements necessitated by the panic of 1837, and starting the country on a fresh record after that eventful period. We weathered the storm of 1857 without a bankrupt law, but two years after the close of the war, when the consequences of the high commercial pressure of that period began to manifest themselves, another bankrupt law was enacted, with a view to settling the country down to safer methods of a condition of peace.

The purpose of all these laws was to afford a temporary period of relief, to clear up the record and start on a fresh page of our commercial history. In the first two acts this purpose was adhered to in their repeal after a sufficient time had elapsed to enable them to accomplish their object. This last act has continued in force more than ten years, and it has for some time been a question whether it should not be repealed. The condition of our commercial and industrial interests during these ten years has been at all times precarious. There have been reasons for the extension of the indulgences of bankruptcy during part of that time that had never existed before. It was pretty generally thought that the time had come for the repeal of the law when the panic of 1873 threw the country into a new state of disturbance, and postponed effort in that direction. But since the panic of 1873 as much time has elapsed as was given to the continuance of bankrupt laws on two former occasions when Congress created them. The depression following that panic has brought all business down to a more moderate and safer basis and the question of repeal now presents itself with peculiar force.

It is the judgment of the most intelligent commercial opinion of the country that the bankrupt law should be repealed as soon as possible. In the language of Dun's Mercantile Agency, "the facilities which wholesale merchants themselves afford for effecting settlements at fifty cents on the dollar and less, and which the national bankrupt law encourages, are not unfrequently an effective premium to the greatest rascality and poorest capacity!" There are doubtless still many honest men who are forced by the vicissitudes of business to seek relief in the bankrupt courts, but there is a widely extended popular suspicion that the bankrupt law is working most favorably in the interest of speculative, not to say dishonest tradesmen. It is believed that there are persons in this country who stretch their credit to its utmost capacity, go into business, live extravagantly as long as it lasts on presumed profits, then go into bankruptcy on depleted assets, and after surrendering everything, are no worse off than they were at the start, and have to their credit several years of comfortable living at the expense of others. Says a writer on this subject: "It is a bad thing for the country, it is a bad thing for any community, it is a bad thing for the individual, that a man should see his way too clearly, to the loss of others, out of liabilities which he may incur. It is better for all hands that every debt should be incurred under the prospect of having to pay the whole of it and straining every nerve to meet in, in order to avoid ill repute. It is not healthy to have these side doors out of which one can step, leaving behind only a trunk half full of soiled linen to meet his landlord's board bill."

The principal sufferers from the present bankrupt law are the manufacturers and wholesale merchants. These unite in saying that there is no difficulty in selling goods on credit, but they also unite in the declaration that their losses through the bankruptcy of their creditors are simply enormous; the fact is, honest merchants, engaged in retail trade, find it almost impossible to continue in business, because of the competition of reckless and unprincipled dealers who, under the bankrupt law, have no fears of failure, but who, on the contrary, enter into business with the deliberate intention of receiving, sooner or later, a visit from the sheriff. This being the case, the law ought to be repealed, or greatly modified, and we have no doubt that Congress will take the same view of the matter when it re-assembles.—New Haven Register.

—A rich, and parsimonious, and very old gentleman, on being taken to task for his uncharitableness, said: "True, I don't give much; but if you only knew how it hurts when I give anything, you wouldn't wonder. I am in hopes to feel different when I inherit brother Bill's property."

—Hobart Pacha, the commander of the Turkish fleet in the Black sea, is an Englishman, and when he gives the directions for an attack on a Russian town, with a name containing four or five "H's," three times out of five his men go off and bombard the wrong town.

ROCKINGHAM, SS. Law Term, June, 1877. No. 12.

EDWIN T. RICE of New York respectfully represents that ARABELLA RICE, late of Portsmouth, deceased, in 1873, testate, having in her will nominated your petitioner together with two other cousins to be Executors of her will: that both of the other persons nominated declined to accept the trust, and have since deceased.

And your petitioner having nearly completed the distribution of the residuum of said estate, upon the petition of Samuel E. Sewall, administrator of one of the residuary legatees who lived and died in Russia, at the Probate Court, holden at Portsmouth, September, 1876, was removed from his position as Executor of said will.

He further represents that his counsel was in Court when said removal was announced, and then and there in open Court claimed an appeal to this Court which was then and there allowed, and further requested the Register of Probate to prepare the proper papers to render said appeal effectual to this Court, and to hand the papers to the Clerk for entry: but, owing to some misunderstanding between the counsel of your petitioner and the said well-appointed Register of Probate, and not through any neglect, the proper papers were not seasonably filed to effect said appeal.

Wherefore, he prays that this Court will give him leave to appeal, according to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided.

EDWIN T. RICE, by
W. H. Y. HACKETT, his Att'y.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner notify all persons interested in the subject matter thereof, to appear at an adjourned law term of our Supreme Court to be holden at Concord in our County of Merrimack, on the thirteenth day of August, 1877, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in our County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said thirteenth day of August next.

Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The many few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Relationship of Brain and Stomach

Is a close one, indeed. They are connected by that wondrous elastic link, the sympathetic nerve, which communicates the abnormal sensations of the organ of digestion to that of thought. Now, if digestion is disordered, the brain being the great focal point of the nervous system, all the nerves are in some degree affected. The main cause of nervous trouble is impaired digestion, and that is usually produced by weakness of the stomach. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters rectifies this, and overcomes nervous debility by infusing increased energy into the operation of the organs of nutrition. Through the agency of this beneficient tonic, not only are the nerves vitalized, but the entire organism acquires vigor and regularity.

Who use Sozodont have only to open their lips to prove its excellence. Their white, gleaming, spotless teeth, and fragrant breath will tell the story. There is more demand for this wholesome and unexceptionable preparation than for any other dentifrice in the market. One day its use will be universal.

Beauregard and Jubal Early.—Tickets are only two dollars.

To save time is to lengthen life. Why will you waste time when you have a severe cold or hacking cough, or even suffering from the destroyer, Consumption, hunting for a remedy, when you can obtain instant relief by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Even the worst cases have been cured. Ask your druggist for it.

The 8th grand drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company will take place on the 7th of August next.

—Curious that scrub players are the least apt to make clean scores.

—The New York World tells a good story about a certain Dr. Sayers, an army chaplain, the clergyman in charge of the spiritual interests of the soldiers in Fort St. George, Madras, who likes to tell "his lads" occasionally a piece of his mind in the plainest terms from the pulpit. He closed up a recent sermon of his with the following: "My brethren, this is a 'charity sermon' I'm preaching. I want rupees—mind you—I want rupees, and not dirty pieces of paper in the bag, having written on them, 'Sayers, old cock, how are you?' I won't have it, mind you, I won't. I've stood it long enough."

—They have rough and ready doctors in the Turkish service. A soldier went to the hospital tent and complained of toothache. Up jumped one of the Turkish doctors, seized a pair of blacksmith's pincers, and going behind the fellow, threw his arm round his neck as if about to strangle him. In an instant a capital double tooth, as sound as a young elephant's sucking tusk, was lying on the earth on the other side of the tent. The patient, who had never winced, mildly suggested that the wrong one might have been drawn, as he felt the offender at work still. "Haide, haide!" "Be off, be off!" said the operator, pushing him out of the tent with his pincers. Then, calmly resuming his seat on the floor, he lit a fresh cigar.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock M. of Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, for building the shells of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Miantonomoh," now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap-iron for the work to be furnished by the Bureau.

These turrets are to be 22 feet and 9 inches external diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 5 feet broad, and 10½ inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 20th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the revolting of the iron.

2d. For the labor of building the outer turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be provided by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plates to be bent and planed according to plan.

Proposals will also be received under this advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets; the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plan, to be equal to the best quality of English turret iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware river, in such position as to be readily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building the shells of the pilot houses required for the same vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. d jy10 17 24 31

"A Fascinating Work on an Entrancing Topic.

HE WILL COME;

BY STEPHEN H. TYNG, JR., D. D.

This work is not prophetical, but it discusses the topic as a Divine promise. Its plan is to follow the narrative of a Christian's experience of the revealed facts in the next dispensation. There is not a line of controversy in the volume. Yet it is full of bold and original thought, apt illustration, and forcible writing, and it is a work which no one who is "watching and waiting" for the Lord can afford to miss. No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $12.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 20th of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and thirty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of Dr. Quain's Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; and I send you another testimonial. My wife has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad she he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. As soon as ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am not. I remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. P. PEVARE!

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried in vain to get relief from physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting hoping for a change, but suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One doll I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, as I thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON!

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nervous I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. F. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times provalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CITY HEALTH REGULATIONS.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 19, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water or houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by the owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by order of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and aldermen, and by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

—o—

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

—o—

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, writes:—

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who's substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, as—Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Jaundice and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

ROBIN'S RAIN-SONG.

O Robin, pipe no more of rain!
'Tis four days since we saw the sun,
And still the misty window pane
Is loud with drops that leap and run.

Four days ago the sky was clear,
But when my mother heard you call,
She said, "That's Robin's rain-song, dear;
Oh, well he knows when rain will fall!"

Fair was the morning, and I wept
Because she would not let me stray
Into the woods for flowers, but kept
My feet from wandering away.

And I was vexed to hear you cry
So sweetly of the coming storm,
And watched with brimming eyes the sky
Grow cold and dim from clear and warm.

It seemed to me you brought it all
With that incessant, plaintive note;
And still you call the drops to fall
Upon your brown and scarlet coat.

How nice to be a bird like you,
And let the rain come pattering down,
Nor mind a bit to be wet through,
Nor fear to spoil one's only gown!

But since I cannot be a bird,
Sweet Robin, pipe no more of rain!
Your merrier music is preferred;
Forget at last that sad refrain!

And tell us of the sunshine, dear—
I'm wild to be abroad again,
Seeking for blossoms far and near;
O Robin, pipe no more of rain!

Old Time Chronicles, No. 153.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

The last was an account of the Warren Hastings trial. Another character over the waters in England, frequently alluded to in this country, will now be described. This was John Hamden. Some in writing articles of a certain class for newspapers have used the signature "John Hamden."

Notwithstanding bad defects in the characters of several of the sovereigns of England for a long time previous to 1603, it must be acknowledged that every one that filled the throne had good powers of mind and respectable executive abilities. But in the year named the House of Stuart came in power, and there was a change. The nation felt it. A man was wanted in the machine, as President Lincoln in later times said. James I. reigned twenty-two years, ending in 1625. Charles I. succeeded, and after a reign of twenty-four years, the throne was overturned and the monarch beheaded. His reign was a troublous one. The people felt that they had not their just rights. It was in this time that John Hamden was on the stage and an actor. After the overthrow of the king, Oliver Cromwell was at the head of affairs, as Protector. In the previous commotions Hamden was associated with Cromwell, and in 1635 these two with two others, took ship, proposing to leave the country for good and come to America, but were forbidden by the king. Charles had reason to repent of this act afterward. Had he gotten rid of Cromwell he would have been free from an able, wily foe.

The king had obtained the consent of the judges to levy a tax, not customary nor lawful, in case he should deem it necessary. Hamden's tax of twenty shillings, he refused to pay. In thus refusing, like a true patriot, his object was to take a noble stand in defence of the laws and liberties of his country. He was brought to trial as he knew he would be. He was condemned, as he had every reason to expect. How long the trial lasted, we are not informed. Probably not much time was necessary for the evidence, but the arguments occupied twelve day. Four of the judges decided in his favor, but others, a majority, were against him. But Hamden obtained the object for which he had aimed. The nation was aroused. It was seen that the rights, laws and liberties of the realm were being subverted. In a few years more the nation was alive to the situation. The sentence against Hamden was cancelled. Later Hamden and a few of his associates were accused of treason and an effort was made to impeach them. But the king's power was waning, and but little came of this. Civil war came on. The party for the king were called royalists. Opposers were for the constitution, laws and privileges of the realm. In 1643 in a skirmish with the royalists Hamden was mortally wounded. The king was not far away at the time and either from some affection for this great man or from policy he intended to send to him his own surgeon to cure him, if possible. But Hamden was dead. And thus ended the life of a man of great enterprise, of great eloquence in debate, penetration and discernment in council, and in private life of virtues that ennoble the human character.

A Novel in One Chapter.

The following is from a Paris paper. It may be true, but it is more likely to be a product of the imagination. As a story it is rather good:

"Here's the story of an unfortunate young lawyer. This unlucky wight was head over heels in love with a beautiful girl, and was about to be married to her. On the eve of the wedding day he was called in to defend an awful miscreant—a man of thirty, who had poisoned his mother and father. The case seemed a lost one, and when the prosecution had closed, the young lawyer was about giving up the struggle without an effort. Suddenly he perceived in the far extremity of the court room his beloved and her parents, who had come to see what stuff he was made of. The presence of the one he worship changes his train of thought. He feels that he must make a show of talent, and commencing his argument, rises to the highest flights of eloquence. In a word, he succeeds in showing that the criminal is an upright, virtuous and much abused man, and obtains his acquittal. In the evening, the lawyer, with triumphant air, calls at the house of his future father-in-law, expecting that his success will ensure him a warm reception. To his surprise, he finds the young girl cold and her parents much embarrassed. He asks what this sort of reception means. 'My friend,' says he whom the young man had already begun to call father-in-law, 'I must tell you—my daughter loves another.' 'Another! Who is the man?' 'The good and virtuous man whom you to-day, by your eloquence, restored to society,' replies the father."

No Time For Compromise.

Monday evening it was reported that the Pan Handle railroad managers had surrendered to the rioters, agreeing to pay the wages demanded and to employ all the strikers. This rumor had not been confirmed up to Tuesday evening, and is probably untrue, for it is certain that the corporation that could so weakly yield would not only receive the hearty contempt of every supporter of law and order, but would assure the ruin of the property under their charge, for no railroad or manufactory could exist under full control of an irresponsible mob.

The question at issue is not at all one of wages; it is not whether or no any railroad or combination of railroads has refused to pay the wages honestly earned by the employes, or ordered to be paid by some demagogue who never did a day's honest labor in his life though he now heads a "working-man's club" or "trade-union;" it is whether the recognized rules of society and the statutes of the land shall be overthrown by organized ruffianism,—whether the torch of the incendiary and the bullet of the assassin, or the law, shall be paramount. The spirit of the great railroad strike is evidently the spirit of the Paris Commune or the trade-unions of the "black country" of England and Wales—the spirit of rapine and murder; and any surrender, —any compromise with that spirit would be the ruin of the State or Nation that yielded.

The striking railroad men had an unquestioned right to say they would not work for any rate of wages they deemed unsatisfactory; but the moment they interfered to prevent other men from working at any rate of wages they pleased, that moment they became criminals, to be dealt with only by force. That the roughs and thieves from the slums of the great cities, the Molly Maguires of the Pennsylvania coal districts, and the criminal classes generally, flock to the aid of the strikers in their work of lawless violence, adds nothing to the guilt of the latter; their great crime lies in their assumption of the right to dictate to other men as to the rate at which they may be permitted to sell their labor, and their wholesale scoundrelism at Pittsburg and Baltimore and Reading and a hundred other places are but incidentals.

There can be no safe compromise with the managers of and participators in this great strike. The railroads have lost heavily, and their losses will no doubt be greater yet; but unless they would submit to utter ruin they must fight it out now and to the bitter end, and emancipate themselves from the tyranny of the trade-unions,—and the power of the States individually, and the whole power of the United States, if need be, must be employed in sustaining the right of the individual to dispose of his labor as he pleases, the dictum of a trade-union to the contrary notwithstanding.

Death of a Prominent Citizen of Exeter.

Abner Merrill, Esq., a well known business man of Exeter, died in that town on Monday morning, in the 87th year of his age.

Mr. Merrill was well known in this county and in Boston as extensively engaged in a successful wool business at Exeter. He was a man of good judgment, clear foresight and sound business views, and believed in accumulating a fortune by the old fashioned method, of late gone out of practice; and the result of his thrift and close business habits was a handsome competence. In Feb., 1858, Mr. Merrill was elected a Director in the Granite State Bank, of which bank he was chosen President in April, 1862. This position he retained in this Bank, and its successor, the National Granite State Bank, until the annual meeting in January, 1876, when he declined a re-election and was succeeded by his eldest son, Mr. Jeremiah L. Merrill. The senior Merrill, however, remained in the board of direction until his death, making a continuous service as Director for nearly twenty years.

To Mr. Merrill, Exeter has been greatly indebted in a business point of view. He furnished employment to many workmen at his manufactory. He built one of the most ornamental and substantial buildings devoted to business purposes in the State, and his habits and example were always on the side of good morals and probity. He raised a large family, and his sons in business in Exeter and Boston are each of them noted for their sound views in business matters, and their industry and sagacity. Mr. Merrill lived to a ripe old age, his mental faculties remaining clear and firm to the last. In his departure our neighboring town loses one of her most prominent and widely appreciated residents, whose long and successful career as a business man and citizen is a striking example of the results of a development of the strong New England traits of which he was possessed in great abundance.

The Strikers' War.

There were no such extensive tragedies anywhere on Monday as the Pittsburg and Baltimore affairs, but the mob-spirit developed itself in many new spots throughout New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland and Baltimore.

The number of persons killed at Pittsburg in the communist riots is not yet even approximately given. One train of cars to the eastward is said to have taken 300 wounded soldiers. Eight hundred soldiers went into the round-house at Pittsburg on Sunday, and it is stated that only 600 escaped from the mob. It is feared that many were burned in the building. Soldiers were killed in the retreat from the round-house. The mob allowed none to touch the bodies but Roman Catholic priests. The strongest rallying cry of the rioters during the fire was "Let her burn, boys! it will give us work to do." The militia were not re-enforced nor well supplied with ammunition. The police sympathized with the strikers. Five hundred well officered, resolute men would have saved five millions of property.

The cannon captured by the rioters at Pittsburg on Sunday were given up on Monday. The citizens continue to arm and organize in defence of their property and in support of the law, having heartily tired of the rule of crime and mob-law.

The strikers in many places not only drive away men who are willing to work on the railroads, but compel the employes in workshops and factories that have nothing to do with railroads to strike also.

At Reading, Pa., Monday evening, a mob that had been tearing up the railroad track all day managed to get up a fight with a militia company. The soldiers fired on the rioters, and fortunately killed four, besides wounding quite a number.

At Buffalo, N. Y., Tuesday, a company of militia were driven and the rioters stopped all traffic on the railroads. The militia fought well; two of them are reported killed, but they killed two of the rioters and dangerously wounded seven or eight others.

Gov. Van Zandt of Rhode Island has notified President Hayes that that State is ready to do her part in preserving the country from the horrors of mob-rule. All the militia of New York and Pennsylvania are under arms.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21.

The interest of the average Washingtonian, which has been divided between Gen. Howard's Nez Perces campaign, Gen. Ord's Rio Grande movements, the Turco-Russian campaign in Europe and Asia, and the "battle of the Boyne" as lately refought in Montreal, is now concentrated upon the hostile demonstrations of the railroad strikers. * * * The West Virginia militia appear to have been wholly inefficient, surendering their arms and being badly scared. Their present record is not dissimilar in the brilliancy and gallantry of their achievements to that made by the State troops when perambulating the country about Harper's Ferry in 1859 in search of, or to avoid, old John Brown, who was shut up with his score of followers in the Arsenal buildings; and the prompt appeal of West Virginia's democratic Governor to the National authorities for protection, reminds the public of Virginia's constitutional abhorrence of Federal troops, especially marked in the case of a half dozen stationed in Petersburg at the last election, and regarded as an insult of so flagrant a character as to have convulsed the democratic House of Representatives with indignation, Mr. Wood even suggesting that their presence was an impeachable offense on the part of the Chief Executive. But the organized cry for relief was duly heeded by sending several companies and batteries from the Arsenal here and from Fort McHenry; and it is not believed the strikers will fly directly in the face of Providence by an attempt to resist these regulars. Should their infatuation lead them to do so they will probably be taught a wholesome lesson that will prove useful to all disturbers of the peace and to mobocracy for all coming time.

This organized revolt has attracted attention to another, inaugurated more than two weeks ago, and much more disastrous in its effects to this district, but which has failed to become generally known because of the pacific attitude of the strikers. The Baltimore & Ohio railroad and the Chesapeake & Ohio canal are rivals for the carrying trade of the Cumberland (Md.) mines, the coal reaching tide water by canal at Georgetown, or by the road at Baltimore. After many remonstrances at the low freights allowed, the majority of the boatmen struck for $1 per ton as the lowest possible living figure, the shippers declining on the ground that such rates would be ruinous in the present depressed condition of the coal market. No violence has been offered, but an effectual blockade has been established at Sir John's Run, through which no boat could pass without the aid of the strikers, which has been accorded to all save coal laden boats. Pastures have been hired and the mules and men are all enjoying a vacation, living like fighting cocks, it is said, upon the best of fare, mysteriously supplied by outside parties. Georgetown and Alexandria are both languishing from this interruption to their trade, several vessels chartered to load coal having already gone away in ballast, there being no immediate prospect of a resumption of work. Of course, Baltimore and Garrett's road are benefitted by this arrangement, and the latter is accused of having instigated the strike, and now "his chickens have come home to roost."

Political matters are rather quiet. Since it was made public that Gov. Matthews of West Virginia is pecuniarily interested in the receipts of the White Sulphur Spring hotel, it is understood that the President has definitely declined to give eclat to the proposed meeting of the democratic savans by his presence, and the movement has fallen into disrepute.

The successful effort to reinforce Howard has inspired a much more hopeful feeling relative to that officer's ability to cope with the Idaho and Oregon hostiles; and while his late victory, it is believed, has operated to deter other tribes from casting their lot with Chief Joseph, it has also brought to an untimely end the intrigues of his enemies here, who were laboring to effect his disgrace by the substitution of some other officer in his place.

The President has revised his first decision relative to the members of the National Republican Committee, and according to the latest executive fiat, approved by a majority of his Cabinet advisers, Messrs. McCormick, Filley, Connell, Cumback, Keogh and Noyes must elect whether they will serve upon the Committee and resign their Federal positions, or vice versa. KNOX.

News and Notes.

The American Powder Mills, in Acton and Maynard, Mass., blew up on Tuesday and killed two men.

There was an anti-Chinese riot in San Francisco, Monday night, but the police quelled it.

At Newburyport, Monday, J. E. Wolfe, editor and publisher of the Word of Truth, for libel on Celia Sliney of the unlicensed Harbor House at Salisbury, was held by the Police Court to answer at the October term of the Superior Court at Lawrence in $2500. Senator Swett of Haverhill furnished bail.

Addie Rivers, aged 22 years, while walking on the track of the Boston and Maine Railroad, at Saco, Me., was run over by the Monday afternoon mail train. One shoulder was broken, three toes cut off, and she received bad bruises.

A valuable cow, belonging to Henry Whiting of West Sutton, Mass., was taken with the hydrophobia on Wednesday afternoon. She bellowed and struggled in great agony during the spasms, became loose from the stanchions and broke off one of her horns. She was shot by Dr. Rawson on Thursday afternoon. The cow was bitten in the jaw by a dog, while being driven from the pasture with others, about two weeks ago.

New Hampshire Items.

George Dean of Gilsum accidentally shot himself Sunday afternoon. He cannot recover.

Mrs. Mary T. Conner, wife of Charles Conner, Esq., of Exeter, died suddenly on Friday at the age of seventy-one years. She was a niece of the late Gov. John Taylor Gilman, and her long life was one of rare usefulness. The deceased leaves two children, Mr. Charles G. Conner, Clerk of the Supreme Court of New Hampshire, and Daniel G. Conner of New York city.

How a Young Man Made a Fortune.

If a full history of the world-famous New York Ring could be given in all its phases, it would not be less interesting to lovers of like reading than the Newgate Calender or the lives of such heroes as Dick Turpin; as a single specimen will show. About the time the Hon. William Tweed & Co. commenced their career of thieving on a large scale, two young men, who had been reporters in the office of an evening journal, procuring a few hundred dollars' worth of printing materials, started a small sheet to which they gave the name of "The Transcript," filling it for the most part with the names of travellers arriving at the New York hotels, the type of which was hired from an evening paper after it was done with in that sheet, and a class of legal advertisements, that, so long as they can be produced in court when wanted, printed in something in the form of a newspaper, those who insert them care little whether they are ever seen or not. A brief sketch of the Common Council proceedings was soon added, and then the diminutive sheet, of which not a hundred copies were printed, was a "corporation paper," with the emoluments arising from the city advertisements as well as the Common Council proceedings, all paid for at the same rate of price. The youthful proprietors, having from their vocation been on familiar terms with the "city fathers," as they are poetically termed, a joint stock concern was entered into between them, under the title of the New York Printing Company, thus laying the foundation for one of the most gigantic frauds. The little attic printing office, from whence the enterprise first emanated, became ere long an immense concern, occupying two or three of the largest and loftiest kind of buildings, to which book-binding, the manufacturing of stationery, etc. were added, the business of all of which consisted in the turning out of sheets, pamphlets, maps and bound volumes of corporation matter, the whole of no more use than a reprint of last year's almanacs, or of auctioneers' catalogues after the sales for which they are prepared are over. Before the concern had reached a third of its final magnitude, more than $600,000 was drawn by it from the city treasury in a single half year, while at the same time, one of the enterprising young gentlemen who originated the idea in their little sheet, was holding half a dozen sinecures under the Corporation, the chief duties of which consisted in receiving his semi-monthly pay; one of his positions being that of acting as head of the Election Bureau, a plan for robbery as rank as was ever entered into by a gang of burglars; the result being, so far as the one of the pairs referred to was concerned, that, starting with but a single week's wages when leaving his employment as a reporter, he was able to retire, when the Ring explosion took place, to some halcyon retreat, the Lake of Como perchance, on the other side of the ocean, with a million of dollars at least of the savings of his industry, where he is likely to stay for the remainder of his days;—and thus, while a poor wretch was recently sent to Blackwell's Island for stealing a pair of shoddy pants from the door of a Chatham street Jew, to cover his nakedness, the laws of New York are not strong enough to punish the stealer of a million of dollars from the city treasury. J. H. B.

A Bully Well Killed.

Tom. Stivers, a big bully of Kentucky, was well killed recently by a boy named George Moody. The story is almost as good as that old one of little David and the giant Goliah. Whit. Moody, a large property owner of Kingston, Ky., sent his son George to a house of ill-fame to collect rent over due. Stivers was in the house, and commenced abusing the boy by pulling his ears and slapping his face. The boy stood it a little while, and then quietly said: "Tom, I don't want to hurt you, but I've had enough of this." Stivers then ordered him out of the house, but the boy said that he was not going until he had transacted his business. Stivers then knocked the boy across the room against the wall, and kicked him as he fell. That was more than enough. The boy jumped up, drew a small revolver and fired and kept firing. The first shot struck Stivers over the left ear and came out on the other side of his head; the second entered the chest and struck the lower part of the heart. As Stivers was falling a third shot entered the back and lodged in the very centre of the heart. The doctor said that any one of these shots would have produced death, and Stivers was well killed. A judge thought so, too, for young Moody was acquitted at the examining trial.

—A northern gentleman while at Jacksonville, Fla., asked one of the natives in the neighborhood if he ever ate an alligator. "Wa-a-al," replied the Floridian, "I kin truly say I hev; but that war a time when alligators war plenty and table scrapins war skurse."

JOTTINGS.

William Spinney of this city was struck by a train on the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, between Portsmouth and Newington, Monday evening, and received a severe cut on the head. It is feared he is injured internally.

The Temperance folks hold a picnic today at Pinkham's Grove. Fare forty cents. Harlow furnishes music for dancing throughout the whole day, which length of time ought to satisfy the most devoted disciple of Terpsichore. There are also plenty of other amusements, so that those who attend cannot fail to be suited and have a good time.

The alarm of fire at about one o'clock Tuesday afternoon was occasioned by the partial burning of an old fish-house on Noble's Island, belonging to the Noble estate. The fire caught on the roof, probably from a spark from a locomotive. But little harm was done, as it is not possible to do much damage to such a building.

The house of Mr. Jedediah Hoyt, of Kittery Point, was burned Monday night, the fire probably catching from a defective chimney. A large barn between Mr. Hoyt's house and the house of his next neighbor, Mr. Fernald, took fire and was torn down to save Mr. Fernald's house. Most of Mr. Hoyt's furniture was destroyed. Total loss about $3500; insured $2800. The barn destroyed belonged to Mr. Fernald. By the united efforts of Messrs. Kean, Safford and others, the fire was prevented from spreading to the neighboring houses.

The Direct Cable Company obtained an act of incorporation from Congress, with permission to land their cable at Rye Beach, by stipulating that there should never be any amalgamation with any other company. It having been shown to the President and Cabinet that the company is violating the spirit of this stipulation by going into liquidation so as to transfer its interests to another company, the Cabinet has directed Secretary Evarts to notify the officers that they can no longer use the United States coast unless present proceedings are suspended and the company resume business on the old basis. Good enough.

Political.

The approach of the Fall campaign in New York finds the democratic party more unmistakably by the ears than ever. In the multiplicity and obstinacy of its factions, the democracy in Ohio cannot compare with it. There are Tilden and anti-Tilden men, Kelly and anti-Kelly men, Short-hair and Swallow-tail, Tammany, Hayloft and Cheesepress, all engaged in the pleasing occupation of cutting each other's throats. Unless these little matters can be reconciled and some capable person found, in Mr. Tilden's absence, to take charge of the customary frauds, we greatly fear that the democracy of the Empire State are doomed to defeat.—Cincinnati Gazette.

We will never, never consent to voting an appropriation for the army, unless coupled with the provision that it shall not invade the State of West Virginia. Are we not to have local self-government in the Southern States? Must the democratic Government of West Virginia be propped up by Federal bayonets?—Cinn. Times.

A Lucky Gold Miner.

The richest strike made in this country for many years, and as rich perhaps as was ever made, we here have the pleasure of recording. A. O. Bell, commonly called "Pike" Bell, who, with his family, has lived for many years on Bald Hill, a few miles north of Auburn, as many know, is a dauntless prospecter. Though occasionally making a strike of some considerable importance in the past, he has managed, like most modern prospectors, to keep poor. Last winter, in particular, he was in very straitened circumstances, and having no money, and the merchants refusing to credit him, he offered his only horse, worth about $50, for $10, that he might buy bread for his children, and, failing in his efforts to sacrifice his horse, he pawned a ring from his wife's finger to obtain the necessaries of life. Day by day he continued his searches for the glittering treasure, and whether the passing day had revealed a color or not, his spirits were always jubilant, apparently kept up by the hope that seemed never to desert him of doing better on the morrow. At last the lucky day came.

It was about three weeks ago when, hunting around over the hills, he struck his pick into a little mound which resembled somewhat in appearance an ant-hill, and to his delight he unearthed some pieces of decomposed quartz, attached to which were some colors of gold. Encouraged at this prospect, he began to sink his new lead, and was rewarded by finding more or less gold at every stage of descent. Last Saturday he had reached a depth of about thirty feet, and had taken out in sinking that far, rock estimated to be worth about $1500. The rock being extremely rotten, or what is called by quartz miners decomposed, he had with little effort pounded out in a mortar enough to pay expenses as he progressed. He had hired men to assist him in working the mine, and on last Monday morning they went to work as usual. The gouge, as we should call it, as it is too rotten to be properly called a ledge, was discovered by noon to have become suddenly richer. In the afternoon chunks of almost pure gold were taken out, and the decomposed stuff that filled the interstices between the rocks was so rich in gold that Pike began to wash it out with a pan. From three pansful washed Monday afternoon he obtained gold estimated to be worth between $4000 and $5000.

That evening he came into town, and, giving us a hint of what he had got, invited us to go and see it. On Tuesday afternoon, in company with Sheriff McCormic, we visited the mine. We found Bell with a pan of gold in his hands worth from $1000 to $1500, which he assured us all came from one pan of dirt. "But," said he, "if you don't believe it, I will wash another and show you." We told him to wash. The pan was sent down into the shaft and soon returned filled with a mass of muddy, rocky stuff that sparkled all over with pieces of gold. This was washed out and found to contain fully as much of the precious metal, if not more than the one he had just finished panning when we arrived. On Wednesday evening Mr. Bell (it is "Mr." now—it was Pike before) informed us that he had taken out, all told, up to that time, between $30,000 and $35,000, and that he had an offer and was about to sell for $20,000. When asked his notion for selling, he said he would get away with about $50,000 and that was money enough for him.—Placer (Cal.) Herald.

Actors in a Pekin Theater.

A warlike drama followed. Processions of "supers" with banners of different colors, according to the party they belonged to, passed up and down the stage. Princes, magnificently arrayed in gilt cuirasses and velvet boots, and accoutered with huge quivers and broad, stiff belts, and with their faces painted red and black, kept blowing into their beards to indicate the violence of their anger, insulted each other in song, and met in single combat with mace and lance. They bounded in turn like tigers or acrobats over their adversary's head, and broke off in the midst of their encounters to drink a cup of tea brought to them by a servant in ordinary modern attire. One of them suddenly gave vent to a shrill cry like the crow of a cock, and then the audience, usually so apathetic, warmed as it were by these various feats, the glitter of lances and battle axes, and the waving of multitudinous banners, began to exclaim, "Hao, hao!" in sign of approbation. The actors, despite their strange and conventional style, are not devoid of talent, but the absence of scenery and properties necessitates having recourse to some singular maneuvers. If a warrior wishes to mount a steed he takes several strides in a majestic manner, lifts his right foot from the ground, and swings his leg over the back of an imaginary animal. The audience understand from this that he is in the saddle, and when he switches the air with a stick they know that he has started off full gallop. A severe-looking old man, broken down by age, advances, holding in either hand a square of canvass, on which is painted a wheel. This signifies that the Emperor has arrived in his chariot. An upright mandarin, unappreciated by his sovereign, flees in desperation to a wood. His mother follows him, carrying in front of her a canvas representation of a rock, which, after having expressed her sorrows in song, she deposits in a corner. The son, on his part, resolves to set fire to the forest, and to avenge himself in Chinese fashion by committing suicide. A resinous torch is brought to him, and he lights it, thereby giving the audience to understand that the forest is on fire. He next brandishes the torch and blackens his face with the smoke. The mother utters shrieks; but disregarding them he opens his mouth, bites as it were at the flame, and falls, supposed to be reduced to something like a cinder.—London Society.

—A Confederate Colonel was introduced to Gen. Grant at a reception in London. This gentleman, having taken Gen. Grant's hand, remarked: "General, it is a long time since we met." "Have I met you before?" asked Grant, scrutinizing the Virginian's face. "Yes," was the reply, "and under very different circumstances from these. It will be fifteen years on the 3d of July next." Grant's eyes ranged round the room, then over the ceiling, then came back illuminated by memory, and he exclaimed: "Vicksburg!" "That was the place, sir," said the Colonel; "on the heights I met you, and stood by Pemberton when he surrendered."

—A gentleman in England committed suicide, and left a paper stating that he did so because his wife was a great deal too good for him. That's why the jury returned a verdict recording their opinion that deceased was of "an unsound state of mind."

A Solace for the Aged.

In the decline of life, as the vigor of the system wanes, and infirmities attack it to which in early life it was a stranger, the use of a safe medicinal stimulant is highly advisable. Nothing, as experience shows, is so admirably adapted to the wants of old people as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is a real solace to the aged, and the best safeguard they can possibly use against the complaints to which they are peculiarly liable. It invigorates the body and cheers the mind, is pure, agreeable and effective. Rheumatism, lumbago and gout are more frequently developed in age than in youth or middle life. Hostetter's Bitters are an excellent remedy for those painful disorders, and also fortify the system against them. They never create undue excitement, are gentle in their action, and are infinitely purer than the unmedicated stimulants of commerce.

A Tooth for a Tooth,

that is to say an artificial tooth for a real one, is not a good exchange. Therefore, keep your natural teeth unimpaired, and in order to do so use that famous preservative tooth-wash, Sozodont. It is a whole, some botanical preparation, unrivalled as an anti-putrescent and antagonist of decomposition and decay.

Nothing welds things together like Spalding's Glue.

If one could only be fortunate in these days of misfortune, it would be worth one's while to write M. A. Dauphin, Box 692, P. O., New Orleans, La., for the particulars of the August drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, under the supervision, as commissioners, of Generals P. T. Beauregard and Jubal Early.—Tickets are only two dollars.

To save time is to lengthen life. Why will you waste time when you have a severe cold or hacking cough, or even suffering from the destroyer, Consumption, hunting for a remedy, when you can obtain instant relief by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Even the worst cases have been cured. Ask your druggist for it.

The 8th grand drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company will take place on the 7th of August next.

WALTER BAKER & Co., received the highest awards at London, Paris, Vienna and Philadelphia for the Chocolate and Cocoas. The public endorses this verdict by a constant and ever-increasing demand for these excellent preparations.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Daily Chronicle.

—A rheumatic old gentleman, whose son was careless about shutting the front door after him, called out to him one cold day, when he had left the door swinging wide, "See here, young man, you leave that door open too much!" "Do I?" was the response. "Then how much open shall I leave it?" "I mean you leave it open too often!" thundered the old gentleman. "Oh, well, how often shall I leave it open?" politely inquired the son. The father did not dare trust himself to reply.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often restores the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable, and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilized; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock M. of Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, for building the shells of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Miantonomoh," now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap iron for the work to be furnished by the Bureau.

These turrets are to be 22 feet and 9 inches external diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 2 feet broad, and 10½ inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 20th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the rerolling of the iron.

2d. For all the labor of building these turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be provided by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plates to be bent and planed according to plan.

Proposals will also be received under this advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets; the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plan, to be equal to the best quality of English turret iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware river, in such position as to be easily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building the shells of the pilot houses required for the above vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. d jy10 17 24 31

"A Fascinating Work on an Entrancing Topic.
HE WILL COME;
BY STEPHEN H. TYNG, JR., D. D.
This work is not prophetical. It discusses the topic as a Divine promise. It also gives the narrative of a Christian's experience of the revealed facts to the next dispensation. There is not a line of controversy in the volume. Yet it is full of bold and original thought, apt illustration, and forcible writing; and it is a work which no one who is "watching and waiting" for the Lord can afford to miss. 18mo., 216 pp.; $1.25 in Cloth; $2.50 in Morocco. DR. QUAIN'S
CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well average Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are represented to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try the pills. I enclose $12.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month after a Wonderful Cure by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected them in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and forty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for fear the disease may come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been an free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I want the good news of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Conditions Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for some twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partially relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for other ills, and could only get partially relieved, and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; that I had used me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars, send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON!

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for my self and one for a friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

ABOUT PIKE'S PEAK.

A Chicago clergyman's son, of about fifteen years, perpetrated this unique poem upon his father, who had visited "Pike's Peak" at an unusual time of year when climbing to its summit was deemed especially difficult and dangerous.

Where snows had fallen thick and deep,
There, up the mountain side did creep
An editor, with a hickory pole,
His face turned upward to the goal,
"Pike's Peak or bust!"

His limbs were stous, his eye was clear,
His step was firm, he knew no fear,
But gazing wildly to the front,
He now and then was heard to grunt,
"Pike's Peak or bust!"

"No minister can stand the sleet,
The snow will be your winding sheet,
So go you not;" the old man said,
The tough old traveller shook his head,
"Pike's Peak or bust!"

His kind friend said, "be not so bold,
Stay, Doctor, stay, you'll find it cold."
His pitying friend did urge in vain,
Again was heard the lonel refrain,—
"Pike's Peak or bust!"

In time he gained the topmost height,
His muscles weak, his gills all white,
But grit as yet not quite played out,
And once again he tried to shout,
"Pike's Peak or bust!"

An editor in a gulch was found,
His deer horns by him on the ground,
The snow in heaps about him rose,
And in his mouth the words were froze,
"Pike's Peak and bust!"

Adventure Under an Umbrella.

Of all the men of my acquaintance, for a really kind-hearted, well-meaning fellow, I think Bobkins is the most unfortunate. The other evening Bobkins came into the club-room in a high state of self-satisfaction and jubilation, and exclaimed:

"O, I've had such an adventure! You see I'm not wet,—and yet I came away from home without an umbrella, and was caught in this tearing shower."

It was at that moment raining furiously, and the shower had come on very suddenly only a short time previously. We asked Bobkins to explain, and he told his story.

"Ha, ha, ha—ho, ho, he-e!" he laughed, holding his sides as he sat down his glass, "O, it was so good! You see, this shower caught me just as I was coming down Beacon street, opposite the Athenæum, and I had time to dodge up into a portico before it struck hard. I had not more than fairly got ensconced when I saw a man coming down the street under a very large umbrella—just my style and my need for the occasion. Thinks I to myself, like a flash, I must get under that umbrella. So, as he came along, I slipped down, and caught his arm.

'My dear fellow,' said I, as though I hak known him for years, 'you're here in just the nick of time. And, do you know, I was thinking of you this very afternoon, and wondering where you were. I wanted to tell you about that horse of Tom Hapgood's.'

And then I rattled on. When we struck into Tremont street, I found him going just my way,—and so down Bromfield into Washington; and then right by our club-house door; and I kept my tongue running the whole distance without giving him a chance to put in a word edgeways. O! what a sell! And I kept as dry as a cracker. Upon my soul! I think he gave me more of the 'brella than he took to himself. I know he did. And of course he thinks that I was the victim of a great mistake,—and he will always think so. I declare, I almost wanted to invite him in when I found myself at our door, but I wouldn't. I only bid him good-night, and shake hands, and then dodged in, dry and snug. Aha! I call it a pretty good dodge all through. It takes brass to do such a thing, but I flatter myself I did that pretty well. And now who's for a game of billiards?"

With this Bobkins put his hand to his watchpocket; it being a cherished habit of his to consult that magnificent gold repeater whenever he was about to commence a new move. A gasp broke from his lips, and he turned suddenly pale. His watch was gone! He put his hand upon his hip-pocket, where he carried his purse, and that was also empty!

With a groan that came from the very depths of his heart, Bobkins sank down into a great stuffed chair, and stared vacantly at a picture on the wall—stared as though he were looking through and beyond the picture on the wall upon a young, well dressed accommodating man upon the sidewalk, carrying a big umbrella!

Alas, poor Bobkins! He had, by the merest chance in the world, picked up an accomplished pickpocket under the umbrella; and he did not now wonder that the man had patiently listened, and willingly given up more than half of his protecting canopy.

However, Bobkins was able to bear the loss, and if people won't ask him any more to tell the story of his "woolling" the man with a big umbrella, he will soon get over it.—New York Ledger.

A Grouse Flirtation.

In the breeding season the cocks select some hollow fallen tree and strutting up and down, beat it with their wings, making a muffled, drumming sound that can be heard for half a mile. The beat is at irregular intervals, beginning slowly and measuredly, and gradually increasing in quickness, until it ends in a roll. If the bird succeeds in finding a log perfectly hollow and well placed, his tattoo of welcome can be heard a mile, and is one of the pleasent-est of woodland sounds. It has the same accelerated pace, and is about the same duration as the call of the raccoon, and is only heard in the day time, as the raccoon's is only heard at night. When its mate hears the drumming, she slowly approaches, and coquettishly picking at seeds she does not want, comes within sight of the drumming-log. No maiden is seemingly more unconscious of the man she desires to attract than is this russet dame of her gallant musician. A small is on the May-apple plant right before her; she pecks at it three times before hitting it, and then scratches negligently at imaginary seeds. The cock raises his ruff till it looks like Queen Elizabeth's; the yellow skin beneath flushes with pride; he spreads his tail like a fan, he thrums his guitar, clucks an introductory welcome or two, and launches himself out and flies to his bride. If, however, another cock hears the drumming, he feels insulted at the sound on what he considers his own domain. He flies at the drumming-log and dashes at the brave drummer, and the one who is inferior in courage and strength yields his place to the bolder and retires discomfited.—"Midsummer Holiday Number" of Scribner.

THURSDAY, JULY 26, 1877.

Who Is Pulling the Wires?

That the great communist movement commenced on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad was planned and is being directed by some one of far greater organizing ability than any of the laboring men engaged in it, and that the great uprising of railroad men, notwithstanding its apparent spontaneity, has been conducted on some prearranged and carefully considered plan, is certain. One single feature of the great strike is sufficient to substantiate these assertions, and that is—the fact that amid all the lawlessness and ruffianism developed the strikers have not in a single instance interfered with the United States mails! It is certain that this wonderful discretion is not due to the good sense or prudence of the tens of thousands of men—largely illiterate and made recklessly bold by their initial successes—who appear as the prominent actors in the strike, and it is equally certain that some powerful influence, as yet hidden from the public view, is directing matters and using the striking laborers as tools,—for only a thoroughly organized influence extending thoughout the States in which the strike has prevailed, could so long and successfully direct and control the rage and lawlessness of the mobs as to prevent them in every case from coming in conflict with the United States, while defying the individual States to the utmost.

At present the only question is how most quickly and effectively to put down the insurrection; after it is quelled it will be interesting to know what man or men arranged for and started and directed it. It is, we repeat, the work of some powerful and highly organized society, with ramifications in all the States: and we shall be very much surprised if it does not turn out so on the investigation which must come sooner or later, unless society is overthrown and anarchy reigns.

It is not yet out of the public mind that Mr. Arthur, who engineered the unsuccessful strike on the Boston & Maine Railroad some months ago, made certain boasts as to his power over the railroads of the country. Mr. Arthur is the chief of a powerful, highly organized and widely spread society, intimately associated with railroads; but he has not been heard of to any extent lately. It would be satisfactory to know if it is Mr. Arthur who is sitting behind the screen out of sight of the audience, and pulling the wires to make the puppets on the stage dance.

The Strikers' War.

No further riots of magnitude were reported Wednesday, though the excitement is spreading all around the compass, the employes of railroad after railroad joining in the strike.

At Albany and West Albany, Syracuse, and other places in New York, the strikers stopped all freight traffic and forced the men who were willing to work to give it up, but did not interfere with passenger or mail trains.

In Ohio the trouble had assumed the most serious proportions Tuesday. At Cincinnati, Columbus and Zanesville the citizens were forming vigilance committees to protect property and life.

At Chicago the mob compelled all workmen to cease work, but they resumed as soon as the mobs left. The Grand Army of the Republic in Chicago is armed as a vigilance committee.

In St. Louis the strikers were very threatening, and one mob wanted to burn the Republican (a democratic newspaper) office. The citizens of St. Louis propose to raise a volunteer force of 5000 men to act under Gen. Marmaduke.

The strike is general in Indiana. All traffic is stopped out of Indianapolis, only postal cars being allowed to leave. The Mayor of the city and the Governor of the State refuse to interfere.

All freight business is stopped on the Canada Southern Railroad.

At Pittsburg, Pa., mob law is at an end, the reputable citizens having come to the assistance of the authorities en masse.

Vanderbilt has ordered the discharge of every man on the pay roll of the New York Central Railroad, and the absolute stoppage of all trains.

The news from all over the country is that the strike is extending and the strikers as determined apparently as ever, but the people are everywhere arming and organizing, so that a Communistic reign of terror is now not likely to take place. The Pittsburg ruffianism and the lawless proceedings in other places have weaned the great body of law-abiding citizens from any sympathy with the strikers, and it is hourly becoming more patent that the fight is between law and lawlessness.

Queer Law-Upholders.

The striking firemen and brakemen of the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad had a meeting at Columbus, Ohio, on Tuesday, July 24th, and were very emphatic in denouncing the action of the mob that forced the closing of business establishments with which the railroads have nothing to do, the day previous. The strikers announced, through a committee, that while they "are firm in the purpose of maintaining a strike and preventing the running of freight trains," they at the same time "utterly repudiate all riotous, incendiary or lawless proceedings."

A queer conception these men must have as to what constitutes lawlessness. They announce their determination to prevent the running of freight trains, which they can only do in utter defiance of the law, by violently preventing unemployed men who wish to go to work from doing so, or forcing men already employed to quit work against their will, and in the same breath announce that they "utterly repudiate all lawless proceedings!" They evidently regard illegal violence, if directed solely against a railroad, as entirely lawful,—an error which many well meaning but very short-sighted sympathizers with the vast mob movement seem to share, and of which they as well as the strikers must be disabused at whatever cost, if society is to hold together and the republic continue to exist.

It is strange that unemployed laborers cannot see that this great railroad strike is as much of an attack on their rights as it is on the rights of the railroads. It is a declaration by men who have been in employment that those who have been out of employment shall not accept work when offered them, however much they may desire to do so. If there had not been plenty of unemployed men eager to go to work no force would have been required on the part of the strikers to prevent the moving of trains, and the employment of force shows that the railroads were paying a market (even if not a just) price for labor, and that the very men who claimed that the railroads were infringing on their right to be fairly paid for their labor, were abundantly ready to infringe on the right of other and even less fortunate workingmen than themselves to sell their labor at a price at which they were willing and anxious to sell it. The right of workingmen to attempt to better their condition by quitting work cannot be disputed; and it is legitimate for them to strike at such a time as will most embarrass their employers, and to use persuasion and argument to prevent other workmen from taking their places. But when a body of men, influenced by their wrongs, or their fancied wrongs, or the loud mouthings of demagogues who are so devoted to the interests of the workingmen that they never do any work themselves, not only leave their work but use violence to prevent those working who wish to, their action then becomes a crime—and a crime more against labor than capital.

And such movements, almost invariably, are promptly taken out of the hands of the prime movers by the demagogues and the "dangerous classes," and carried to lengths not dreamed of by the first law breakers. This is shown by the incidents of the present trouble, where all the great outrages have been committed mainly by men having no connection at all with railroading. At Columbus the mob visited various manufactories and asked the employes to strike, and on the latter answering that they had no reason for striking, as their work and pay were satisfactory, they were ordered to leave work at once or the manufactories would be burned down! In another city eleven hundred carpenters, bricklayers and laborers, engaged at work on a huge hotel, were driven from their work by the mob; and similar instances have occurred in nearly every place where the commune has appeared in force. That such proceedings can in any way benefit the honest laborer no one will pretend; but they are the legitimate outcome of the first lawlessness of the strikers. The only safe course to pursue, for labor as well as capital, lies within the bounds of the law.

News and Notes.

A railroad bridge over the Little Miami river, near Cincinnati, fell with fifteen laborers on the 24th, and seven of the men were killed.

Just after Gov. Van Zandt, of Rhode Island, telegraphed President Hayes that the militia of that State were ready to support the government, the pleasant discovery was made at Newport that the State militia has no cartridges, and a dead comrade's grave went unsaluted, last week, because the Colonel made three requisitions for ammunition and failed.

Gotfreid Zeigler, the German who murdered Samuel Kuhl in a dye house at Boston Highlands last April, has pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree and been sentenced to the State prison for life at hard labor.

Wm. H. Porter, of Danvers, Mass., has boe arrested for a series of burglaries extending over two years. Over $3000 worth of stolen property was found in his house, and also counterfeiter's tools.

Mackerel made their appearance in the mouth of the Merrimac at Newburyport, Saturday, for the first time in twenty years.

Allen Wyman, of New Portland, Me., was recently killed by a stone thrown by a boy in sport.

Schooner Urania, Capt. Lee, sailed from Khodiah, Alaska Territory, on the 29th of December, 1875, for San Francisco, and not having been heard of for a long time after was supposed to have been lost with all on board, her crew and passengers numbering sixteen persons. Some months ago a report was brought to San Francisco that the crew of an American vessel, numbering fifteen men and one woman, were ashore on an island in Dampier's Straits,—at least this was the report as published in the newspapers, though it is hard to see how a vessel bound from Alaska to San Francisco could get down to Dampier's Straits, which is a passage between two of the islands called Papua-land or New Guinea, situated near the northeasterly coast of Australia. A government vessel was at once sent out to rescue the castaways, and the papers now announce that the sixteen persons on board the lost Urania, including Mr. Sheeran, the former United States Collector of Alaska, and Mrs. Lee, the captain's wife, have all been saved from the island of "Lokia." Where Lokin may turn out to be we do not know, but presume it is on the northwest coast of America somewhere and not in the South Pacific.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says the people of the West are heavily burdened and that the have been paying interest to their Eastern masters for many years. The fact that outside of New York, Cincinnati was the highest and Chicago the next in the subscriptions to the new loan looks as if the West will be able to bear the burdens imposed by Eastern masters a while longer. —Boston Post.

Barque Ambassador, Parker, from New York for Melbourne, Australia, has put into Cape Town, Cape of Good Hope, leaky, having encountered a heavy gale. The captain, second officer and three men were washed overboard.

The widow of the late Gen. Custer has come East and is in New York on her way to be present at the final interment of her husband's remains in the West Point Cemetery. The gallant Indian-fighter is to lie in the historic little burying-ground next to Major-General Hartsuff. Two generations of Indian-fighters are thus brought together. Hartsuff fell in the Florida Everglades, pierced by three Seminole bullets, about the time Custer was born. He lived to be washed ashore in the Lady Elgin disaster, and to receive another bullet at the head of his division at Antietam; but he carried the Seminole bullet, as well as that from Antietam, with him to his grave. The time for the ceremonies connected with the final burial of Custer has not yet been fixed.

Recent developments of the great disorder go to show more plainly that the mob element has little or no interest in the question of wages on railroads, and that it is the vagabond classes rather than the train men that have given this demonstration its violent character. The San Francisco riots illustrate this very clearly, in which the long-suffering Chinaman was made the object of attack. The unfortunate Reading affair developed the fact that it was not strikers, but grocers, newspaper men, children, policemen and washer-women against whom the troops were marshalled. In Philadelphia, of the ringleaders of the mob who were arrested not one has ever been employed on a railroad. The uprising might better be termed the rebellion of the discontented and vicious.—Post.

New Hampshire Items.

Joseph Young was arrested in Middleton, July 20th, on the charge of stealing two yoke of cattle from G. W. and O. K. Otis of Farmington, the 20th of June. The cattle were driven to Lyman, Me., and sold to Jonas Taylor. He was brought before the Police Court at Farmington on the 23d, and bound over in the sum of six thousand dollars for his appearance at the September term of Court at Dover.

The runaway of a village livery team Tuesday morning, July 24th, near Maplewood Hotel in Bethlehem, occasioned a serious and possibly fatal accident. The occupants thrown out were two Misses Cart and brother of New York and Miss Burt of Springfield. One of the former ladies had her wrist broken and received serious flesh wounds about the head. The other ladies were slightly injured. The young man, about nineteen, has received internal injuries which may possibly prove fatal.

The town meeting at Amherst has voted a gratuity to the Manchester and Fitchburg road by a two-thirds vote.

County Solicitor Greene of Merrimac county was horsewhipped recently by a citizen of his town, and now the avenger of private wrongs is under bonds to appear and answer at the Supreme Court.

The hotels at Hampton Beach are filled to overflowing.

Mr. J. R. Pierce of Newport has adopted a form of telephone whose simplicity and cheapness brings it within the reach of all who desire such a contrivance. He has made two tin drums, one for each end of the route, which are connected by a linen string reaching from his shop to his dwelling-house, a distance of forty rods. Ordinary conversation at the house can be distinctly heard at the shop, and vice versa. Music from a violin and other instruments can also be transmitted without the loss of a single note.

Moses King, a student at Exeter Academy, who began Latin in January, 1876, and caught up with the class the following summer, has continued as he began and by close application has completed the four years' course in one year and five months. This is said to be the most rapid progress ever made through the Academy course. Occasionally, though very rarely, a very bright scholar may skip a class, but three years' work performed in one year is a feat which stands entirely alone in the history of the school. Mr. King resides in St. Louis.

Major Frederic M. Edgell, of Georgetown, Mass., died a few weeks ago, and his remains were recently carried to Orford, N. H., and deposited in the tomb of the Edgell family. The deceased was born in Lyme, in 1828, and at the age of eighteen years he removed to St. Louis, Mo. At the breaking out of the difficulty with Mexico he enlisted in the First Missouri Battery and served through the entire war. In 1850 he returned to Orford, and at the opening of the Rebellion War he was instrumental in recruiting the First New Hampshire Battery and entered the service at First Lieutenant. Subsequently he was promoted to a Captain and also rose to the rank of Major, and while holding the latter position was inspector of artillery and at one time chief of the same in Hancock's corps. He went through twenty-two of the severest battles of the Potomac unharmed. He was brave and reliable and while in the army was greatly esteemed by officers and men. The deceased left a widow and one daughter.

Rev. Frank W. Tolman, pastor of the Baptist Church at South Hampton, died a few days since at the age of 35 years. He was a native of Harrison, Me., and graduated at a theological school at the West in 1869. Previous to his going to South Hampton he had been settled at Farmington and Dexter, Me., and at Campton Village, in this State. He possessed a high order of ability, but impaired health induced him a few months ago to take charge of the small parish at South Hampton, but even the duties there were too much for his failing strength, and death took him away. The deceased left a widow and a little girl five years old.

JOTTINGS.

Dr. Brainard Dearborn, having spent the past winter and spring in study in the hospitals and dispensaries of New York city, has resumed practice in this city, at No. 6 Islington street.

There was an alarm of fire shortly before nine o'clock, Tuesday evening, and the bells and steam whistles made a glorious clatter; the firemen turned out in a hurry, rushed their machines around the square and back to the engine houses, and the alarm was supposed to have been a groundless one. But it seems there were two incipient conflagrations, one on Church Hill and one near the railroad depots. The Church Hill fire burned up a bed, and the fire near the depots ruined five or six shingles.

Not unfrequently persons who find small articles leave the same at the police station to be returned to the owners if called for; there is no provision made for advertising such articles, (and comparattvely few of them are worth advertising, though often of value to the owner,) and they are in consequence never called for. There are now in possession of the City Marshal a bunch of keys, "of no use to anybody but the owner," a lady's pocket containing a number of articles, and other things picked up and handed in at different times, which the Marshal will be pleased to hand over to any one calling and proving ownership.

The yachts of the Dorchester Club visited Appledore, July 25th. There were six vessels in the squadron, viz: schooners Mist, Bettie and Hermes, and sloops Violet, Effie May and Eva.

The City Marshal's report for the last quarter gives the number of lodgers at the station house during the quarter as 265; number of arrests for being drunk, 159; for assault, 13; brawl and tumult, 9; larceney, 6; breaking glass, 6; insult, 4; vagrants, 4; disorderly house, 3; Sabbath breaking, 3; deserters from house of correction, 3; throwing stones, 3; disturbing the peace, 2; stealing team, 3; playing ball in street, 2; suspicion, 2; stealing boat, 2; rude and indecent behavior, 2; adultery, 1; letting building for sale of liquor, 1; keeping liquor for sale, 1; cruelty to animals, 1; attempt to break into freight cars, 1; disorderly conduct, 1. Total number of arrests, 221. Amount of fines collected $63; amount of costs, $131.41, making a total of $194.41. Amount paid for warrants and witness fees, $9.93.

The schooner Dom Pedro, run down and sunk off Boon Island by the revenue cutter Grant on the night of Wednesday, July 18th, was seen on the 24th by schooner Mary, twenty miles south of Cape Elizabeth, Me.

Ship Anna Decatur, of this port, 1209.45 tons register, has been sold to William Bohne for $23,000.

NOT MISINFORMED AT ALL.

The CHRONICLE this morning goes off on a tangent about "drunken rows" in this city on Sunday night. Evidently Dick is misinformed, as neither residents or the police are aware of any such "times." That paper also speaks of "a noisy row near the beer shop and rummery called 'The Old House at Home,' on Daniel street," and adds that it is "a very common Sunday evening performance, by the way, for that neighborhood." The proprietor of what the CHRONICLE is pleased to term "a notorious public nuisance" was down river on Sunday, and his shop was closed, as it always is on that day, and on his return he found two men, who were somewhat intoxicated, trying to get into his shop. The city marshal was immediately notified and officers White and Stringer proceeded to the spot and arrested John Deven and Dennis Welch, who were brought before the police court and fined,—and that's all there was about it.—Times, July 24th.

We assure our neighbor that we were not "misinformed" at all as to the Sunday night rows. There was one opposite Mr. Whalley's store on Bridge street; a short time after, the same parties, or some of them, had another one in front of Fay's store on Congress street; and a few minutes later there was a third disgraceful affair in front of Mr. Walker's clothing store on Market square. These disturbances, joined to the noisy squabble on Daniel street, we think fully support our assertion that Sunday night was a good night for drunken rows.

And the Times' account of the Daniel street row is not "all there was about it," either. There was some fighting, more cursing and yelling of drunken men, and not a little shrieking of women, making a noise that was distinctly heard on Market street, as we happen to know. As to the "Old House at Home," we did not call it a notorious public nuisance at all, as we plainly referred to the Sunday evening rows which occur in that neighborhood, and with altogether too much frequency,—and they are a notorious public nuisance, and should be stopped. The proprietor of the "Old House at Home" asserts that he prides himself on keeping a quiet and orderly house, and sells nothing on Sundays, which may be all true for aught we know to the contrary; but that does not alter the fact that there was a disgraceful drunken row at the foot of Daniel street on Sunday evening, and that such rows are not nearly so rare in that locality as they should be.

Morrissey's Club House.

Last evening I strolled into the intellectual department of the Hon. Mr. Morrissey's club house—where, by the way, you can get a better dinner than at any other place in Saratoga, not even excepting those charming little dinners at Moon's Lake House, which consist chiefly of fried potatoes, fish, and young turkeys cut down at an extremely tender age and made to do service as chicken partridges. I found at Morrissey's a goodly number of sports in full evening dress—white hats, cocked on one side; yellow and other colored vests; blue, green and rose-colored scarfs—in a word, an array of gorgeous and impossible colors. The whole delegation, from the aristocratic centre of American culture, were standing around, waiting for something to "turn up;" and when it did turn up it was not always satisfactory. Among those thus standing, intently engaged in watching the tables, were statesmen, merchants, bankers, brokers and men of fortune, well known in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, representing an aggregate of millions of dollars. I saw punting away gravely at roulette a gentleman who, last summer, is said to have lost in one sitting, at Newport, $30,000. Jimmy Watson's Newport successors make it very pleasant and lively for those young bloods who are fond of fighting the tiger in good company. There was no heavy play at Morrissey's on Saturday night. Some Western men are expected next week who bet very heavy here last season, and likewise during the past winter in New York. Possibly things at the club house may move more briskly when they arrive.—Saratoga Letter.

Democratic Assertion as seen in Practice.

In spite of all the sneers that have been cast upon the employment of United States troops in the Southern States, and the great boast that all the South wants is to be "let alone," we have, within a few days, been treated to the spectacle of two southern governors applying to the President of the United States for military assistance to quell a riot which they thought the organized law abiding resources of the States were not able to take care of. The democratic party, before it went out of office, in 1860, used its power to make the pathway of the rebellion smooth and easy, and so distributed the munitions of war that they could be made effective in resisting the authority of the government, in case that extreme measure should subsequently be thought necessary. But, by the aid of the army, through a succession of dismal and bloody years, the authority of the government was maintained. A dozen years pass by, and the same old democratic party once more so far recovers its lost power that it obtains control of one branch of the legislative department of the government. Next to the effort to ferret out and expose corruption which it did not and could not prove, its most conspicuous act was to deny an appropriation for the maintenance of the army which preserved to us a country to live and find protection in. The reason it refused this, was because it preferred no army to the employment of the army to maintain order and protect the life and property of citizens in the Southern States. The democratic House adjourns and goes home, happy in the consciousness that no great amount of mischief can be done by the army in attempting to enforce laws which the regular State governments are so abundantly able to take care of. Nineteen weeks elapse, and the next sight is that of a couple of Southern democratic State Governors applying to President Hayes for United States troops to protect a great line of public travel in localities where there is not enough organized loyalty to popular rights and "the forms of law" to frown down a riot having no show of justification. The same condition of things also follow in one Northern State. Upon the whole, this succession of facts is quite suggestive. —Salem Mercury.

—The following story was told to show the folly of tectotalers, but it really sets forth exactly the opposite thing: Mr. O'Connor Powers, in a recent speech in the British Parliament on the bill closing public-houses in Ireland on Sunday, told a story of an Irish farmer. He was a respectable and sober fellow, and was just setting off to the fair to sell a pig, when he bethought himself of asking his wife, who kept the purse, to give him a shilling to buy some beer. "No," said she, "I'll do no such thing. Be off and sell my pig." "Well," said he, "if you won't give me a shilling to get a glass or two of beer, I'll drink the pig." He kept his word, and when he sold the pig he went to work and drank the price of it, and although he had never been drunk in his life before, he came home tipsy and without a penny in his pocket.

—The Australian Blondin, Mr. H. L'Estrange, has several times crossed the Middle harbor at Sydney on a rope extended from cliff to cliff on either side. The length of the rope is 1400 feet, and the height above the water is considerably more than 300 feet. He proposes coming to America in the course of this year, in order to cross the Niagara falls. He is a native of Fitzroy, in the vicinity of Melbourne, and is about thirty years of age.

—Did you ever have a ten pound cobble stone in the heel of your stocking? If you have, you can imagine something of the enjoyment of getting a raspberry seed wedged underneath the plate of your false teeth.

A Solace for the Aged.

In the decline of life, as the vigor of the system wanes, and infirmities attack it to which in early life it was a stranger, the use of a safe medicinal stimulant is highly advisable. Nothing, as experience shows, is so admirably adapted to the wants of old people as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is a real solace to the aged, and the best safeguard they can possibly use against the complaints to which they are peculiarly liable. It invigorates the body and cheers the mind, is pure, agreeable and effective. Rheumatism, lumbago and gout are more frequently developed in age than in youth or middle life. Hostetter's Bitters are an excellent remedy for those painful disorders, and also fortify the system against them. They never create undue excitement, are gentle in their action, and are infinitely purer than the unmedicated stimulants of commerce.

A Tooth for a Tooth,

that is to say an artificial tooth for a real one, is not a good exchange. Therefore, keep your natural teeth unimpaired, and in order to do so use that famous preservative tooth-wash, Sozodont. It is a wholesome botanical preparation, unrivalled as an antiputrescent and antagonist of decomposition and decay.

Nothing welds things together like Spalding's Glue.

It seems very strange that there should be such general complaint heard everywhere as to the hardness of the times and the scarcity of money—gold, silver, or paper—when one remembers that about the first of every month, Generals P. T. Beauregard and Jubal Early, as the commissioners of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, give away hundreds of thousands of dollars. Write to M. A. Dauphin, Box 692, New Orleans, La.

Since the opening of the new and excellent Hotel Devonshire, opposite the main entrance of Grand Central Depot, first class accommodations at reasonable rates can be had in this most convenient locality. By all means stop at the Hotel Devonshire on your next visit to the city.

If one could only be fortunate in these days of misfortune, it would be worth one's while to write M. A. Dauphin, Box 692, P. O., New Orleans, La., for the particulars of the August drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, under the supervision, as commissioners, of Generals P. T. Beauregard and Jubal Early.—Tickets are only two dollars.

To save time is to lengthen life. Why will you waste time when you have a severe cold or hacking cough, or even suffering from the destroyer, Consumption, hunting for a remedy, when you can obtain instant relief by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Even the worst cases have been cured. Ask your druggist for it.

The 8th grand drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company will take place on the 7th of August next.

WALTER BAKER & CO., received the highest awards at London, Paris, Vienna and Philadelphia for the Chocolate and Cocoas. The public endorses this verdict by a constant and ever-increasing demand for these excellent preparations.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most efficient cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed those dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Daily Chronicle.

—A young druggist of Philadelphia, having amassed a fortune, determined recently to erect in one of the suburbs, a mansion which should contain every possible comfort, and to which he would retire to enjoy his honest means during the remainder of his days. He had somehow heard that over the entrance to a retreat erected with similar intentions, were the words "otium cum dignitate." He knew the English of this expressive phrase, but, as the sequel shows, was not so sure of the Latin, for over his door was painted, in brave array, "opium cum digitale."

—The London Times contains the following: "From H. to L. Your letters are destroyed, and you have nothing to fear from my indiscretion. Your ring, etc., is ready packed, and will be sent when opportunity offers or you choose to indicate a way. Your 'forever' lasted five months, and I was a fool to expect it would be otherwise."

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often restores the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilized; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock M. of Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, for building the shells of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Miantonomoh," now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap-iron for the work to be furnished by the Bureau.

These turrets are to be 21 feet and 9 inches exterior diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 2 feet broad, and 10½ inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 20th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the revetting of the iron.

2d. For all the labor of building these turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be furnished by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plates to be bent and planed according to plan.

Proposals will also be received under this advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets; the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plan, to be equal in every quality of English turret iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware river, in such positions as to be readily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building the shells of the pilot houses required for the same vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. d jy19 t7 24 31

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 7 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I have eaten well and sleep well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, for two of my neighbors wish to try them. I remain, etc.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 20th, that I was well and that I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds. I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Wasn't he pleased him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because of the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, NOV. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I have tried all the best of many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I feel the direst most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. I thought I could not get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was all ready to get ready to go to Florida when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO. Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative ever used prescribed, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS, CURES CATARRH CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who consequently disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Dyspepsia of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

A Solace for the Aged.

In the decline of life, as the vigor of the system wanes, and infirmities attack it to which in early life it was a stranger, the use of a safe medicinal stimulant is highly advisable. Nothing, as experience shows, is so admirably adapted to the wants of old people as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is a real solace to the aged, and the best safeguard they can possibly use against the complaints to which they are peculiarly liable. It invigorates the body and cheers the mind, is pure, agreeable and effective. Rheumatism, lumbago and gout are more frequently developed in age than in youth or middle life. Hostetter's Bitters are an excellent remedy for those painful disorders, and also fortify the system against them. They never create undue excitement, are gentle in their action, and are infinitely purer than the unmedicated stimulants of commerce.

A Tooth for a Tooth,

that is to say an artificial tooth for a real one, is not a good exchange. Therefore, keep your natural teeth unimpaired, and in order to do so use that famous preservative tooth-wash, Sozodont. It is a wholesome botanical preparation, unrivalled as an antiputrescent and antagonist of decomposition and decay.

Nothing welds things together like Spalding's Glue.

It seems very strange that there should be such general complaint of hard times where as to the hardness of the times and the scarcity of money—gold, silver, or paper—when one remembers that about the first of every month, Generals P. T. Beauregard and Jubal Early, as the commissioners of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, give away hundreds of thousands of dollars. Write to M. A. Dauphin, Box 692, New Orleans, La.

Since the opening of the new and excellent Hotel Devonshire, opposite the main entrance of Grand Central Depot, first-class accommodations at reasonable rates can be had in this most convenient locality. By all means stop at the Hotel Devonshire on your next visit to the city.

If one could only be fortunate in these days of misfortune, it would be worth one's while to write M. A. Dauphin, Box 692, P. O., New Orleans, La., for the particulars of the August drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, under the supervision, as commissioners, of Generals P. T. Beauregard and Jubal Early.—Tickets are only two dollars.

To save time is to lengthen life. Why will you waste time when you have a severe cold or hacking cough, or even suffering from the destroyer, Consumption, hunting for a remedy, when you can obtain instant relief by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Even the worst cases have been cured. Ask your druggist for it.

The 8th grand drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company will take place on the 7th of August next.

WALTER BAKER & CO., received the highest awards at London, Paris, Vienna and Philadelphia for the Chocolate and Cocoas. The public endorse this verdict by a constant and ever-increasing demand for these excellent preparations.

BLOODY WORK AT CHICAGO.

Thursday evening's despatches from Chicago report bloody work there between the communists and the authorities. A mob of 10,000 or more of the roughs, bullies and thieves of the back slums threw a passenger train from the track at West 12th street, and robbed the passengers. A small squad of police attempted to disperse the mob, but were driven back. The Second Regiment of militia was called out, and a squad of mounted veterans also, to assist the police; the latter charged the mob with drawn sabres, and 150 of the ruffians were wounded and ten killed outright. A little later two others were killed. Six policemen were wounded. The mob reassembled at Sixteenth street and were driving the militia and police, when a regiment of light artillery (said in the despatches to be U. S. regulars) arrived and opened on the communists with grape and canister, with what result was not reported up to Thursday night—but it is to be hoped they left at least 10,000 of the rioters dead on the field.

The Communist Insurrection.

The Communist insurrection is evidently weakening, though it has not yet, apparently, reached the full extent of its spread. At Pittsburg and Reading, Pa., the roughs are growing scarce through the number of arrests and many of the ringleaders in the riots have fled to the woods. The terrible distress which has already come upon the working men of the blockaded districts and their families, has taught them that the mobs' action has not been ruinous to the railroads alone, and they are getting tired of it. At Reading, coal trains are running.

The punishment of the citizens of Pittsburg and the surrounding districts, for their criminal encouragement of lawlessness or their cowardly submission to it, has already commenced; starvation threatens the poorer classes in Pittsburg, women and children in vast numbers being begging on the streets for the means of sustaining life, and in many smaller places it is said not a week's supply of provisions is held, and prices have gone up tremendously.

Baltimore, too, is suffering heavily, trade having decreased 75 per cent.; the town of Frederick, Md., is cut off from supplies and has 4000 people in it, idle and almost famishing. In all these places it is of course the working classes who suffer most.

Freight is again moving on the New York Central, Gen. Carr having effectually cowed the rioters at Albany. He announced that he should move the cars on Wednesday, "blood or no blood;" that he should warn all rioters as a mob, but should commence firing promptly, with ball cartridge, and his men would aim low. The rioters wanted nothing to do with any such man. At Hornellsville, N. Y., the strikers and roughs have disappeared; and at Binghampton the Erie trainsmen are waiting orders, ready to move freight or anything else. At Buffalo the communists have had several rows with the police, in which the latter have had the best of it. The great "Internationals' Mass Meeting" in Tompkins square, New York city, Wednesday night, was a rank fizzle; the police and military arrangements were so complete that the participants did not dare to start any disturbance.

The Piedmont, West Virginia, strikers have issued a circular, in which they declare that the miners of the anthracite coal region and the Mollie Maguires are in league with them. This alliance with the Mollie Maguires may explain the murderous character of some of the outbreaks.

The New Jersey Central men struck Wednesday night. The governor has not yet called out the militia, but will if they are needed.

In St. Louis the citizens are organizing under old Federal and Confederate officers, thousands of veterans and reputable citizens enrolling themselves. Gen. Marmaduke is one of the leaders.

The Grand Army of Illinois has armed in defence of law and order. In Chicago the turbulent element had several collisions on Wednesday, in one of which six rioters and one officer were killed.

In Louisville, Ky., there was a general strike on Wednesday. The mob paraded the streets, compelling all laborers to quit work. The Mayor called for volunteers, and many thousands of the best citizens—many of them veterans of the war—responded. Gen. Basil Duke is one of the citizens' leaders, other Confederate and many Federal officers being assistants.

There is a strike on the Texas Pacific road, but no violence is reported.

The roughs and "hoodlums" of San Francisco, to the number of 10,000, attempted to burn the Pacific Mail Co's property and steal all they wanted "in the interests of the working men" on Wednesday, but some thousands of vigilantes and the police quelled the mob without the aid of troops. Three citizens and a dozen or more roughs were killed. The vigilantes have received 4000 rifles, 1000 revolvers and plenty of ammunition, from the U. S. Arsenal.

Despatches Thursday evening say the Erie Railroad is clear, and running freight. Buffalo, Hornellsville and Albany were quiet all day; many leaders of the riots are under arrest, and some of the soldiers have been sent home.

More Good Shooting in Manchester.

Not long ago a big rough undertook to "kick the stuffing out of" a Manchester policeman, and was so handsomely shot by the officer that he died. On Wednesday afternoon the same city had another somewhat similar sensation, when a rough named Charles McAlpine, alias Brown, attempted to murder Horatio W. Longa, Assistant City Marshal, at the police station. It seems that McAlpine was arrested in February last for drunkenness and fined $5.18. He called at the police station several times before finding Longa. About 3:30 P. M. he called again, and some words ensued, McAlpine claiming that he had been bull-dozed for five dollars by the police, and, suddenly drawing a revolver, fired at Longa, the ball taking effect in the leg of Police Officer Colburh. The ruffian then ran, pursued by the police. Within a short distance of the police station he turned and fired again at the officers in pursuit, when Officer Dunn fired, striking McAlpine in the small of the back directly over the spine, bringing him to the ground. The ball was embedded in the spine, and the wound is believed to be fatal. He is 29 years old, unmarried, and was born in Halifax, but has resided in the States for several years, and was recently employed at sail-making in Boston.

Serious Charge Against a Former Member of President Grant's Cabinet.

A writer of letters from Rye to the Times seems to have made a discovery which escaped the vigilant scrutiny of the Democratic Investigators, who discovered just what it cost to run the kitchen operations of Ex-Secretary Robeson, and gave us kindred information in relation to his domestic affairs. The writer tells us that he whom the world regarded as a gay and festive bachelor when he led to the altar the accomplished widow of the late Commodore Aulick of the Navy, had already married Mrs. Secor, whose husband had been a contractor, and we think, years ago, had something to do with the dry dock at Portsmouth navy yard. We infer that this was before the sea monster wed Mrs. Aulick, though it may have been since. But what we wonder at is, why this did not come out before. In former investigations, the committee would go just far enough to find a large democratic cat, of the Randall or Hanscom school, under the marine meal, but here is something of which no democrat need have stood in fear; and yet it is left to a democrat of Rye to discover what the entire Tilden-Tweed crowd failed to find, bigamy, added to the calendar of horrors laid at the door of the jolly Ex-Cabinet Minister. "Angels and ministers of grace defend us!" Can this be true, or is it possible that the writer who seeks to assail the patrons of our seaside resorts by questionable personal gossip, is mistaken? A lady so well known in diplomatic, naval and social circles at Washington as is Mrs. Robeson, ought to be spared, when recruiting at the seaside, such unbecoming flings as the correspondent indulges in; but if the naughty George has been and gone and married a Mrs. Secor it may not be too late to investigate the question whether or not the trosseau was provided from the contingent fund of the Navy or from the capacious pockets of the contractors.

Strikes on New England Railroads.

The Boston Post of Thursday says:

"Those who expected or hoped for a repetition of the horrors of the strike in Boston are doomed to disappointment. There was never better order about the railroad stations in this city than existed yesterday. No employe could be found who was in favor of a strike, and there were never better preparations made to instantly squelch a mob or riot. Indeed, concerning this last point few are acquainted with the facts and none will realize them unless there is imported an element to test them. There is now no special reason for a strike on any of the roads running out of Boston. The Boston & Providence system of promotion and general good treatment of their men gives the company a perfect protection from any outbreak on the part of their employes. There has been no cut on the Boston & Albany for two years, and the same is substantially true of the Old Colony. The Eastern Railroad does not pay large prices, but it is well understood that they cannot, and so those who remain there are inclined to be satisfied with what they get. The Boston & Lowell treats its men well and pays them liberally. It is also earning money, is in better condition than for a long time before, and will be able to pay a dividend this year. The men on the Fitchburg are loyal, and to a certain extent consider themselves part and parcel of the road. If a strike should occur anywhere in this vicinity it would more likely come at the Boston & Maine, whose new men complain that they do not get the pay of their predecessors. It is said that if this is a fact it can probably be accounted for by a large falling off in business, which allows little margin after paying running expenses and interest."

The Commune at Pittsburg.

An able correspondent of the New York Tribune, who has been carefully investigating the matter he writes of, says that close inquiry into the Pittsburg riot shows that the great trouble there was the lack of support from the local police and the Pittsburg militia, whose conduct is declared to have been shameful. Everywhere the troops from outside were hooted and treated as invaders, instead of protectors of public and private property. As for the Pittsburg militiamen, they not only gave no aid in suppressing the disturbance, but evidently sympathized with the rioters. When they moved forward to disperse the mob they were first fired upon, and received besides a volley of stones from the hillside. They only fired in reply by orders, and soldiers have to obey orders without questioning their wisdom. The fact that innocent persons, mingling with the mob as spectators, were killed, does not affect the case, for such is the result of all collisions between mobs and soldiers executing the law; and yet on this account there arose a frantic cry for vengeance. It seemed as if the crowd were crazy for blood. The Philadelphia troops were even denounced in the Sunday papers, pandering to the passions of the mob, as Philadelphia roughs, when, in fact, the Philadelphia troops sent to Pittsburg are among the finest citizen soldiery in the country, and have repeatedly proven their discipline and courage. The rioters closed in upon them with cannon and small arms, intent upon massacring every man of them. Not a finger was raised in their behalf by the local military or police; no wonder they determined to leave the city to its fate. They moved out of the city in good order, covering carefully their Gatling guns, marching with a slow step, and, by command of their officers, refraining from firing on the mob, which was keeping up a desultory fusilade upon them, until they got out of the settled districts, where there were women and children. Then they turned and gave their pursuers a volley which put them to flight. In this march they lost seven men killed. There is no difficulty in finding where the blame really belongs. The conduct of the two Pittsburg regiments was disgraceful. If they had done one-half their duty, the cars would not have been fired nor the depots destroyed. A resolute bearing on their part would have arrested the whole shameful catastrophe. But, instead, they actually disbanded, slunk off to their homes, took off their uniforms and left their brother national guardsmen from Philadelphia to be butchered. The behavior of the police was beneath contempt. It does not appear that they tried to suppress the mob. As to the citizens, even the better class appear to have looked on the fearful havoc as a spectacle, until the fire menaced their own property. The most charitable view possible to take of their conduct is that they were stunned by amazement into supineness and cowardice. Five hundred organized as special police Sunday morning would have saved five millions of property, and, better still, saved Pittsburg from a great and lasting disgrace.

News and Notes.

The Boston Pilot is the only New England paper we have seen that justifies the rioters at Pittsburg; but it is not strange it should do so when it defends the infamous Mollie Maguires. It says: "The corporations of Pennsylvania first drove the miners into Molly Maguireism and murder, and then virtuously hounded them to the scaffold. The same corporations have caused the present strikes, and have dragged down on themselves the fire of their burning wealth and the blood of many victims. The riots in Pittsburg last Saturday and Sunday were no common riots for pillage and outrage. 'We will protect private property,' said the mob; 'but we will burn the property of the railroad company.' No mob in the history of the world ever made such a discrimination." A defender of assassination, and arson, and resistance to law, an admirer of the forbearance of the Pittsburg rioters, like the author of such words, would be a fit leader of a mob of murderers or a fit "body-master" of a lodge of Mollie Maguires.

The Franconia Iron and Steel Company at Wareham, Mass., has at work, in the laborers' department of the rolling mill, the son of the Postmaster-General of Sweden.

Edward McDonald of Springfield and Michael Grogan of New York, workmen on the new capitol building at Hartford, Conn., were killed Thursday afternoon by the fall of an over-laden derrick.

Scott and Dunlap, the Northampton, Mass., bank robbers, were on Wednesday convicted of the burglary of Cashier Whittlesey's house.

Two or three years ago, a noted burglar, whose real name is John Abrahams, distinguished himself at Hartford, Conn., by getting from the freedom of the street to the confinement of the State Prison in Weathersfield in a single day. He robbed a jewelry store, was caught, indicted, tried, sentenced and committed before he slept. Recently he got out by an even more summary process. He sawed a window bar in the front story, and let himself down by his bed rope.

The tax-payers in all those cities where the strike has made such terrible havoc will be assessed to pay every dollar of the damages caused by the mobs. Pittsburg will be obliged to pay millions of dollars to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and others for the mischief done so far by the rioters. Baltimore and other cities which have not protected property within their limits cannot shirk the obligation of making good the losses. The draft riots of 1863 cost the city of New York in money paid for private buildings burned or gutted, and valuables destroyed, $1,748,456.89. A far larger sum of losses came out of business men in the injury to trade during those days of chaos; but this one loss rested upon the taxpayers alone.

The reported deficiency of ammunition among the Rhode Island militia, which occasioned some mirth in view of Gov. Van Zandt's patriotic despatch to the President that Little Rhody is ready to do her duty, turns out to extend only to blank ammunition for firing salutes, the Rhode Island troops having plenty of ball cartridges—just what will be needed should the commune break out in that State, or the troops be called to fight communism elsewhere.

The events of the past few days are suggestive of the fact of the extremely limited resources of the General Government in the way of troops to quell disturbances that are liable to occur in any section of the Union. As a nation and with the experience of European history before us, it is not unnatural that we should be jealous of a standing army and that this should be a theme for many a Fourth of July oration. It is not unnatural that when democrats use the army to force slavery into Kansas, that republicans should not only oppose the act, but be led into patriotic disquisitions against an army as detrimental to the safety of a republic. When republicans use an army to enforce a practical recognition of a Southern governor, who the democrats think has not been legally chosen, we find the former quite as ready to oppose an army in the abstract as the act which they think uses the army unjustifiably. But there is nevertheless legitimate use for an army, and there should always be an army large and effective enough to meet any emergency within the range of reasonable possibility. This need is not now met.—Salem Gazette.

Ex-Gov. Moses has been arrested in South Carolina, on the charge of having issued fraudulent pay certificates when Speaker of the House in 1872. The charge is probably true, and the arrest is unquestionably in the interests of good government and decent morals. It was for the refusal to commission this scoundrel as a Judge that Gov. Chamberlain lost the good will of the Supreme Court of South Carolina—the Chief Justice being the scoundrel's father.

The U. S. S. Plymouth has been ordered to cruise off Vera Cruz, Mexico.

The Manchester police carry pistols throwing bullets as big round as a wagon-wheel. The Eastern War.

The bombardment of Rustchuk has been recommenced from the other side of the Danube, and the Russians are approaching it with a seige train from another direction.

The defeat of the Russians at Plevna is confirmed.

Official dispatches from Biela announce that a Russian steamer and two sloops, armed with cannon and mitrailleuses, engaged a Turkish monitor near Silistria. She was set on fire and considerably damaged and several of the crew killed and wounded. The Russian vessels sustained insignificant damage and no loss.

Five Turkish steamers and two monitors going from Rustchuk to Silistria were attacked by the Slobosea batteries. Three of the steamers were burned and one sunk.

A Strange Battle.

One day last week an alligator was seen swimming in Sampit river, near the wharf. Captain David's bull-dog was soon brought forward, and, upon viewing the enemy, plunged off the wharf to meet it. The alligator saw what was up, and made for the dog. While they approached each other not a sound could be heard from the spectators, who were expecting, the moment they met, to see the dog submerged, never to rise again, but the dog got the first hold, plunged his ugly teeth into the head of the ferocious monster, and caused it to sink. It soon reappeared looking as fierce as ever. The dog and the alligator were mouth and mouth, nip and tuck, until it was thought that the dog had conquered, the alligator disappearing. The alligator, however, soon appeared, and made for the opposite shore. Several persons got in boats and pursued him until he passed under the wharf. It was nip and tuck again for a while, but the dog soon gaining advantage, brought out his foe dead. The reptile measured five feet and several inches.—Georgetown (Fla.) Comet.

AID FOR ST. JOHN.

The following letters between Charles H. Mendum, Esq., of this city, and the Mayor of St. John, N. B., explain themselves:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., United States, July 19, 1877.

To HON. S. Z. EARLE,
Mayor of St. John, N. B.:

Sir, Enclosed please find cheque on National Exchange Bank of Boston for six hundred and ninety-seven dollars, contributed by some of our citizens for the purpose of doing something to alleviate the sufferings of your people caused by the late fire. With sympathy and kind regards I remain

Yours, etc.,
CHARLES H. MENDUM, Treasurer, for the Committee.

Mayor's Office, ST. JOHN, N. B., July 24, 1877.

CHAS. H. MENDUM, ESQ.,
Portsmouth, N. H.:

Dear Sir, Your favor of the 19th inst. came duly to hand, with enclosed cheque, for which we beg to tender you our most sincere thanks.

To the citizens, who so kindly contributed for the relief of our suffering people, please convey to them our heartfelt gratitude.

With thanks for your kind expressions of sympathy,

We remain, dear sir,
Yours, very truly,
S. Z. EARLE, Mayor.

NO COMMUNE HERE.

The Portland Advertiser says that a messenger from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has been sent over the Eastern and Boston & Maine roads, trying in vain to incite a strike among the employes of those roads. The Boston Post, in a short article which we reproduce in another column, expresses the opinion that there will be no strikes on any of the roads leading out of Boston, and gives its reasons for the belief. We never have anticipated that any such scenes of riot and ruffianism as have disgraced many other sections would occur in New England, unless possibly in the extreme western part, in the vicinity of New York; and we feel certain no such violent acts could be successful for more than a few hours, in New Hampshire, if they were attempted. The intelligent public opinion of this State we do not believe could be bull-dozed into permitting the lawless interference with traffic which has marked the communist insurrection everywhere, and the railroad men as a class are too intelligent and law-abiding to desire it; and should the torch-bearing, thieving, murdering gangs of cut-throats that have appeared in many places as the "workingmen's champions" show themselves in New Hampshire, they would not find the militia so ready to fraternize with them as they were at Pittsburg and in the Molly Maguire districts of Pennsylvania.

THE DIRECT CABLE.

When the Direct United States Cable Company applied to Congress for a charter and permission to land their cable at Rye Beach, the incorporators pledged their faith through a clause in the articles of incorporation that the new company should never amalgamate with the Anglo-American or any other trans-Atlantic line, or in any way combine to restore the oppressive monopoly which the Direct Company was formed to break up. On the strength of this assurance the required action was taken by the United States government; the government of the Dominion of Canada, also, on the same terms granted permission to the company to land cables on the coast of the Dominion. The new company, as soon as the cable was laid, put tolls down to a reasonable figure and immediately took possession of one-third the entire amount of telegraphing between England and this country, the Anglo-American of course having to reduce its previously exorbitant rates to the rate demanded by the Direct Cable—one shilling a word. Thus, while the new company did a heavy business at a fair rate, and made a good profit on it, the amount of work done by the old monopoly was greatly increased (owing to the great increase in the total amount of telegraphing consequent on the reduction of rates) while the profits were reduced. The old line therefore sought to get control of the Direct Cable, so as to again impose the high rates, and through the skillfull engineering of Mr. Pender of the Globe Telegraph Company, (which controls the Anglo-American,) and the connivance of some of the heavy stockholders in the Direct Co., the matter has been arranged very much to the satisfaction of the monopoly and the dissatisfaction of the general public, which does not like to pay three shillings a word (the rate to which tolls were at once raisod) for telegraphing across the Atlantic, after the Direct Cable Co. had demonstrated that one shilling a word is a fair rate. Indignant at the shameful display of bad faith on the part of the British capitalists, the Dominion government notified them, when the amalgamation project was first broached, that its fulfillment would result in their cable's further connection with the shores of the Dominion being prohibited; and the United States government on Wednesday gave similar notice, when Secretary of State Evarts, in pusuance of a decision of the Cabinet, telegraphed Minister Pierrepont as follows:

Give notice to Direct United States Cable Company that the meditated arrangement, as understood by this Government, whereby that company proposes to release its cable from the obligation of the fundamental clause of its organization, prohibiting an amalgamation with or participation in the profits of other trans-Atlantic telegraph companies, will be regarded by this Government as just cause for terminating its assent to the laying and working of the company's cable, and for severing its connection with this country.

How great an effect the proposed cutting of the cable's connection at Rye Beach and on the Dominion coast will have on the value of the company's property, we cannot say; that it will result to the company's disadvantage is certain, as the concession to land would not have been asked had it not been of some advantage. In England, too, it is intimated, a powerful influence is being brought to bear to prevent the consummation of Mr. Pender's scheme; but in the meantime his project seems to go on in a way to suit him and the other monopolists, and three shillings a word is the regular rate for sending messages—that is, unless the tolls have been once more raised since we commenced to write this article.

PICNICS.

This is emphatically a season of picnics. Hardly a pleasant day passes that does not find a Society of some name enjoying itself in one of the many delightful groves in the environs of our city. This fact indicates that our people are growing sensible. It also shows that more thoughtfulness is being bestowed upon the real welfare of children,—to the giving them healthful recreation and innocent enjoyment during the summer vacation. On Wednesday, the Temperance Reform Club had a picnic at Pinkham's Grove, Dover, and on Thursday Rev. Mr. Goss' society held a similar gathering at Wendell's Woods, near Sagamore Creek. That of the Temperance people on Wednesday was largely attended. The nine o'clock train took up quite a goodly number, and Harlow's band having been engaged for the day, dancing commenced about as soon as the crowd reached the grounds. Notwihstanding the heat there were those who danced (judging by the manner in which they danced) who never danced before, and those who always danced wanted to dance some more. Thus the hours sped away until eleven o'clock or past, when a reinforcement arrived and then there was more dancing, with a game they called Copenhagen thrown in, for those whose scrúples would not allow them to trip to the sound of music. Sanborn's lemonade, Mrs. Pickering's ice cream (Robeck's best) and Lewis' coffee and chowder were well patronized and sufficed to keep up the equilibrium lost in the sports of the occasion, so that all had a happy time. A merrier party never was seen there, and all went home apparently well satisfied.

JOTTINGS.

At a meeting of the General School Committee held on Wednesday evening, Mr. A. R. Dickinson, of Bath, Maine, was elected to succeed Mr. Durgin as Principal of the grammar school at the Academy. Mr. Dickinson, although comparatively a young man, being but forty-three years old, has had great experience as a teacher, having taught for twenty successive years, the last twelve as Principal of a school in New Jersey, from which place he brings the highest testimonials. There were twelve applicants at the competitive examination, Mr. Dickinson standing the highest.

Schooner J. C. Craig arrived at Portland, July 25th, from a fishing cruise, and reports having on board the foremast with rigging attached of the schooner Dom Pedro, before reported sunk after collision with the cutter Grant, off Boon Island. The Craig picked up this wreck stuff off Cape Elizabeth, near where the hull of the Dom Pedro was seen by the schooner Mary, on the 23d.

The Times insists that our report of the drunken rows on Sunday evening was "badly overdrawn." It wasn't; we drew it mild. There were four rows within less than an hour, that we know of; and one of them disturbed a wide neighborhood and called forth the use of wooden arguments by the police before it was quelled and several of its getters-up safely lodged in the station house.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

By a law passed at the late session of the Legislature, the Mayor and Aldermen are required to appoint a Board of Instruction, who with the Mayor as chairman shall have charge of the schools in this city. The Aldermen on Thursday evening made the appointment and fixed the term of service of each member, as required by law, and the Board for the ensuing year is as follows:

The Mayor, ex officio, chairman;

James DeNormandie, Charles W. Gardner, Joseph H. Thacher, Andrew B. Sherburne, three years each;

James R. May, Edward S. Ryder, Andrew P. Wendell, William H. Hackett, two years each;

John H. Hutchinson, Charles A. Shannon, John Pender, Mercer Goodrich, one year each.

Uses of Dogs.

There is a firm doing business in San Francisco who purchase the thousands of dogs slaughtered by the poundmaster of that city, or that may have been otherwise killed, for which they pay forty cents each. The carcasses are conveyed to their manufactory at South San Francisco, where the skins are removed and sold to the tanneries, the hair taken off and resold to plasterers, the hide tanned, made into gloves and sold in the market. The denuded carcass is then thrown into a huge cauldron and boiled until the bones are easily separated from the flesh, when they are removed and sold to the sugar refineries, where they are ground to a fine powder and used to clarify sugar. The oil that rises to the surface of the boiling mass is skimmed off, and the remainder is used for the purpose of fattening hogs.

—Her husband had been playing base ball, and when the doctor came she exclaimed, "Poor Adolphus! He got a pitcher in his centre-field and he can't walk." The doctor thought it more likely that he had been playing short stop to a jug.

—Miss Corisando was born only two years earlier than her brother Tom. When Tom was ten years old she gloried because she was twelve. When Tom was known to be fourteen she confessed to sweet sixteen. When Tom proudly boasted of eighteen, she timidly acknowledged herself past nineteen. When he came home from college, with a mustache and a vote, and had a party in honor of his twenty-first birthday, she said to her friends, "What a boyish fellow he is; who would think he is only a year younger than I?" And when Tom declared he was twenty-five, and old enough to get married, she said, "Do you know, I feel savagely jealous to think of Tom getting married. But then I suppose twins are always more attached to each other than other brothers and sisters." And two years later, at Tom's wedding, she said with girlish vivacity to the wedding guests, "Dear old Tom; to see him married to-night and then think how when he was only five years old they brought him in to see me, his baby sister; I wonder if he thinks of it to-night."

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, lichens and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closets for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

—A bright little three-year-old girl in Hartford, having become a little mixed between her religious instruction and her nursery rhymes, gravely recited: "The Lord is my shepherd, and he has lost his sheep, and he don't know where to find them."

—The imitative propensities of birds is a subject to which a good deal of attention has been devoted of late. It has been observed that flowers of a new variety will remain safe for a long time, while those of the old variety are regularly destroyed by sparrows. If, however, it is seen, from the example of a venturesome sparrow, that it is safe to extend the process of destruction, the new flowers are readily attacked. Pigeons will refuse beans, if they have been raised on wheat and other small grains, until they notice a bean-eating pigeon take the unusual food. It is difficult, sometimes, to make British fowls eat maize, but once they get over the first effort they devour it greedily. Rabbits, also, have displayed similar conservative habits with regard to their food.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often restores the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilized; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for lawn hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., July 9, 1877.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair will receive proposals until 12 o'clock M. of Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, for building the shells of the turrets of the double-turreted monitor "Miantonomoh," now at Chester, Pennsylvania; scrap-iron for the work to be furnished by the Bureau.

These turrets are to be 22 feet and 9 inches extra diameter, and will be constructed of plates 9 feet long, about 5 feet broad, and 10 inches in thickness, according to plans which will be for exhibition at the Navy Yard, League Island, on and after the 26th of July instant.

Separate proposals will be received under this advertisement as follows:

1st. For the entire work of completing these turrets, including the revolling of the iron.

2d. For all the labor of building these turrets, the materials, ready for use, to be provided by the Bureau.

3d. For rolling the iron required in their construction. (The scrap to be furnished by the Bureau.)

Plates to be bent and planed according to plan.

Proposals will also be received under this advertisement for furnishing all the materials which may be required in the construction of these turrets; the plates to be of the size mentioned above, bent and planed according to plan, to be equal to the best quality of English tinned iron, and all iron furnished will be subject to such tests as the Bureau may direct.

It is desirable that these turrets should be constructed on some wharf on the Delaware river, in such position as to be readily placed on board the ship.

No proposal will be received except from parties known to possess the requisite facilities to perform the work in a satisfactory manner, and the Bureau reserves the right to reject any and all offers, if considered to the interest of the Government to do so.

Proposals will be received at the same time for building the shells of the pilot houses required for the same vessel, subject to the same conditions observed in building the turrets. d jy16 17 24 31

They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Find No Relief Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and I say they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and I wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was sick four years ago, I lost twenty-five hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I hope with faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Indreed him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been an hour from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half, the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE!

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for about twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get relief by using a tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case incurable and most distressing. I had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; he advised me to go home and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Dr. H. M. Mullis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that your pills will cure any disease, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherman, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO. Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medi ca could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a eading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alterratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very common and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs; Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Fever Sores, Scrofula, Syphilis, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

THE LITTLE ACTRESS.

The power of fascination, so familiar to all playgoers, over her auditors by a young and popular actress, even while possessed of but a moderate share of personal attractions, was never more fully illustrated than in the case of Lucy Somers, though known on the boards under a different name, who figured upon the British stage at the time when Fanny Kemble was running her brief but brilliant career in the same profession. Wherever she went her triumphs were the same, literally "bringing down the house," in theatrical parlance, whenever she appeared before the footlights. A youthful member of one of the wealthiest and most aristocratic families of London sent her anonymously, after witnessing her performance of Julia in the Hunchback, a ring containing a brilliant of rare lustre and high value; and when, in acknowledging, the evening following, her enthusiastic reception by the Drury Lane audience, she held up its sparkle to the light, and gracefully touched her lips to the gem, as a token, known only to the giver, of her appreciation of the much-prized compliment so delicately and tastefully bestowed, he would at once have set about seeking her for a wife, but for the fear of disinheritance by his aristocratic parents.

While on a summer tour in the rural districts of England, when the London season was over, a young gentleman, the son of a wealthy landholder, and himself the possessor, by inheritance from a bachelor uncle whose name he bore, of a large property, became so enamored of the popular favorite, without ever having seen her off the stage, as to solicit his father's consent, being yet a minor, to his making her a proposal of marriage. Knowing from his peculiar temperament that it would be useless to attempt to dissuade him from the fancy he had taken, he replied that he would think of the matter, and let him know his decision on the following day. In the meantime he called on the fascinating little histrionic, opened the subject very freely to her, and after the remark that he did not imagine her at all disposed to give up her triumphs upon the stage at so early an age, as she was scarcely twenty, for the dull life of a country village, offered her a £50 note if she would receive his son, when he had given his consent to his request, in such a way as entirely to dispel the enchantment she had unconsciously thrown around him. With too strong an attachment for a profession in which she had attained such distinction, to wish soon to leave it, she very gracefully declined the pecuniary portion of the proposal, setting as little value upon it as the conquest she had made of the young gentleman's affections, but at the same time assuring the father that he need be under no apprehension with regard to his son so far as she was concerned, and that he might with perfect safety give him permission to call on her that afternoon if he chose to do so. When, after some considerable labor at his toilet, and arrayed in his latest London suit, the enamored young gentleman arrived at the inn where the dramatic company were quartered, he was met at the door by the landlady, who had been forewarned of his visit, and who replied to his question if the young lady he sought was within, by asking what he wanted of an actress—adding that he would find her in a room upon the third floor, at the head of the stairs. While on his way thither, his ears were saluted by strains of an Irish song in a brogue whose nationality there was no mistaking, and on rapping at the door to which he had been directed, was told in a voice anything but musical to "come in." On entering, a sight so unanticipated was presented to his vision as nearly to deprive him of the power of speech. In an uncarpeted and uncurtained room, with a few articles of dilapidated furniture scattered around, a female of most untidy appearance in dress, while her face and hands looked as if soap and water would much improve them, was engaged in sewing up the holes in a pair of stockings that might have been white at some earlier period in their history, but had lost all claim to that color in their existing condition. Her hair was partially knotted in papers, while the remainder hung in loose locks about her neck and shoulders, reaching to her waist, and in her mouth was a short-stemmed pipe, black from long use, that did not much improve her enunciation when she spoke. On recovering from his surprise, and fancying that he had got into the wrong room, he inquired where he could find the object of his search. "I am the young woman you are searching for, I suppose, though that is not my name; but what do you want of me? I don't know you." The spell was broken as instantaneously as some of the transformation scenes occur on the stage.—for if the youth had one pot weakness above another, it was that for personal neatness—the cure as effectual as those produced by the ninety and nine patent nostrums of our day, if we may believe the certificates that accompany them. One of the most amusing features of the case was the acknowledgement of the father of the young gentleman, that he had been himself so fascinated by the fair representative of Shakspeare's Juliet of the previous evening, in his interview with her, so pretty and so good withal as she seemed in private life, away from the ideality of the stage, he would have been much inclined to make a proposal on his own account had he been a single gentleman instead of a married one, and the father of rather a numerous family.

Another passage in the theatrical life of our heroine has not less of interest. Among the young men of fashion and fortune she was accustomed often to meet, from their being able to obtain admittance behind the scenes at Drury Lane, was the son of a citizen of London, of large wealth, and a member of Parliament. Familiar as she was with seeing such persons in the exercise of her profession, she paid little heed to him or his attentions until noticing him on an evening when she appeared as Shakspeare's Juliet, in company among the audience with a very beautiful young lady who seemed as much absorbed in him as he was with her performance. She noticed them as much as opportunity offered without diverting her attention from the part she was sustaining while the scene was in progress, and then through a loop-hole prepared for such purposes when the curtain was down, coming to the conclusion that with whatever feeling the young gentleman might regard his fair companion, she was deeply attached to him. On the night succeeding, when she had not been cast in the concluding performance, as he stood at her side while she stopped at a side-wing for a moment to observe the opening scene, on her way to the carriage in waiting to convey her home, he poured into her ear a passionate tale that would have done honor to the most ardent lover in the mimic scene of the drama; even the love-sick Romeo who had shared with her the honors of the previous evening. When he had concluded, she replied in a tone that gave him little to hope in the way of a return of his passion:

"We are all given to desire that most which is the least attainable; and if our wishes are gratified, the coveted object proves as often as otherwise

'Like Dead Sea fruits, that tempt the eye,
But fade to ashes on the lip.'

It is best to marry in one's own sphere of life,—not much above, in no degree below it; and while I feel myself the equal of your family in all else but that which the world regards as our relative social positions, they would not esteem me as such. I feel honored by your affection, still more by the offer of your hand in marriage, and thank you from my inmost heart for favors I shall ever remember with pleasure; yet, under the circumstances that exist, it would add, I fear, little to your happiness or mine if I could return your affection to a degree that alone would induce me to become your wife. There is one with far more of personal beauty than I can boast of, and if I read her face aright, amiable and intelligent, who loves you deeply. If you will forget me as aught else than a friend whose best wishes you have for your happiness, you may find, I doubt not, in her affections, all you have sought in mine."

Though fully conscious that his little friend was not acting then, and scarcely less so that all she had uttered was both wise and good, still the listener could not be convinced against his will, or give up the purpose in which he fancied his happiness for life was involved. She had supplanted all others in his affections to a degree that after time, he deemed, could bring with it no bitterness surpassing that conveyed in her refusal to become a sharer of his lot.

"To him there was But one beloved face on earth," and if he loved her ere this scene had passed between them, it was idolatry now with which he regarded her. They had removed at the commencement of the interview to a position that excluded them from observation, and when, after again urging him, with tearful eyes, to accept, for his own sake, the counsel she had given him, he took the little ungloved hands she presented in token of parting with a kind "good-night," and pressed them passionately to his lips, imploring her to reconsider her refusal, and give him some hope that his wishes might yet be gratified. Life should be to her, if he could make it so, but one bright summer day; and what she had urged in relation to the estimation in which she would be held by his family, he doubted not would prove but the idlest fancy when then came to know and love her as he was sure they would do. Impetuous of disposition, childlike in manner, and inexperienced as he was in the world though some three years her senior, she was touched by his earnest pleadings, and at length consented to an interview with him next day at her lodgings, ere he handed her to her carriage in parting for the night. When this meeting took place, after learning from him that there was none who could claim his affections from any word that had ever fallen from his lips, she gave him encouragement to hope, after thinking of the matter as she had done in the interval since they parted the previous night, that if he could obtain the free consent of his parents to his wishes, and if there was nothing in his habits or otherwise that would bring sorrow to her in after days, she would venture to promise that she might give him her hand in marriage. The only one that survived of the children of their earlier married life, he was to his parents above all the gifts of fortune that had been so liberally bestowed upon them, and being ever most obedient to their wishes, as well as free from the foibles and vices of most young men of similar age and position in life, waiving all family pride, they ere long consented to accede to his wishes if satisfied there was nothing in the previous life of the object of his affections to cast dishonor upon her name, and equally so that she would detract in no degree from the happiness of all by their receiving her as an equal among them. So far as the reputation and past history of the object of their scrutiny subsequently proved on investigation, none could present a more unblemished record. Left an orphan at an early age by the death, at about the same period, of her parents, most worthy people of the same profession as her own, by her amiability and blameless life she had won the love of all with whom she had associated in later years. It was near the close of the London dramatic season, and when the father and mother of the young gentleman had become satisfied that the popular favorite, whose loss in the profession would be sadly deplored, would do them no discredit, after being charmed by her beautiful delineation of Juliet, and not less so by her bearing in private life during interviews they had with her in their own home, they invited her to accompany them to their country-seat, on the banks of the Thames, where they were accustomed to pass the summer. This was all that was needed to afford her an opportunity, in being thus domesticated with them, by her gentle and winning ways, to complete the conquest over their affections already begun; and long ere their return to town they gave a glad consent to her union with their family in so near a relation,—an event that transpired when they were again established in their London home.
